2. Surveys showing the amounts and kinds of food purchased by families of different income levels indicate that the diets of many persons in the United States are deficient in one or more of these vitamins and minerals required as added ingredients in enriched flour and bread. Inadequate diets occur most frequently among families in the low income brackets. The consumption of enriched flour and enriched bread has not entirely overcome these deficiencies. (R. 349–353, 417, 475–479, 485, 494, 514–515, 528–529, 536, 755–758, 779, 794; Ex. 24, 31, 33, 41, 43, 45.)

3. Persons of Italian antecedents frequently live in urban communities and many are in the lower income brackets. These persons constitute a significant population group in the United States. (R. 251–252, 501, 542, 719, 794–795; Ex. 11.)

4. Food Surveys in certain urban communities containing large numbers of persons of Italian antecedents disclose that the diets of consumers in the lower income brackets are deficient in most of the vitamins and minerals added to enriched flour, that these consumers use much larger amounts of macaroni and noodle products than the national average, and their diet would be materially improved by the enrichment of macaroni and noodle products. (R. 437–439, 449–460, 467, 791, 847, 898, 959–960; Ex. 11, 45.)

5. Persons of Italian antecedents consume large quantities of bread. The type of bread preferred by these persons is frequently unenriched. (R. 758, 787, 788, 791; Ex. 34, 40.)

6. There is a tendency for persons who eat macaroni and noodle products to consume correspondingly less of other cereal foods, which are inexpensive sources of energy, including bread. (R. 501–502, 539, 549–550, 719, 862–863; Ex. 42, 46, 47.)

7. Some macaroni and noodle products containing miscellaneous additions of vitamins and iron, or ingredients of high vitamin and mineral content, have been manufactured and sold. Such additions have led to representations designed to promote the sale of these products which have resulted in the confusion of many consumers as to the benefits which they could expect to receive from these products. (R. 31, 51, 235–241, 259, 317–328, 360, 373, 391, 397, 400, 410, 770–771, 846; Ex. 1, 7, 26, 27, 28.)

8. In preparing macaroni and noodle products for consumption they are generally boiled in excessive quantities of water and the remaining water discarded. This causes a loss to the consumer of a large proportion of the water-soluble constituents, particularly the water-soluble vitamins and minerals. (R. 70, 109–113, 166–167, 309–316, 421, 603, 633, 670, 917; Ex. 1, 5, 6, 7, 8, 12, 23, 38, 39, 41, 42.)

9. In preparing enriched macaroni products for consumption the losses of water-soluble vitamins and minerals vary, depending on time of cooking, amount of water used, whether blanched, etc., but reasonable estimates of such losses are as follows:

Thiamine	50%.
Riboflavin	30%.
Niacin	40%.
Iron (metallic)	very small or none.
Vitamin D	very small or none.
Calcium	very small or none.

(R. 65–67, 74, 76, 81–83, 88, 109–113, 125–130, 137–138, 213–218, 246–247, 254, 263–266, 272, 289, 309–315, 620, 651–658, 924–927, 935–936, 940–941; Ex. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 12, 23, 30, 38, 39.)

10. The record contains no specific evidence of losses of vitamins and minerals in the cooking of enriched noodle products. However, since noodle products are similar in composition to macaroni products, and are cooked in the same manner, there is adequate basis for concluding that the cooking losses are approximately the same. (R. 205–206; Ex. 1.)

11. In order to prevent consumer confusion and probable deception, macaroni products or noodle products known as "enriched" should have the same required and optional enriching ingredients as enriched flour. The minimum amounts of such ingredients in enriched macaroni products and in enriched noodle products should be adequate to compensate for cooking losses and reasonable maximum limits should be prescribed to maintain the identity of these foods. Maximum limits 25% higher than minimum requirements are reasonable for the purpose of maintaining identity. (R. 163, 244, 353, 361, 367–368, 397, 421, 502–505, 513, 954)

12. The uniform distribution in macaroni and noodle products of the ingredients used to enrich flour presents no manufacturing difficulties, when harmless carriers are used to achieve such distribution. Little loss of the enriching ingredients occurs in the manufacturing of enriched macaroni and noodle products. (R. 85–86, 89–90, 261–262, 365–366, 421, 626–628, 636, 940; Ex. 10)

13. The approximate cost of vitamins and minerals which must be added in the preparation of enriched macaroni and enriched noodle products to compensate for reasonable cooking losses is 5.4 cents per 100 lbs. based on the wholesale prices of these substances at the time of hearing. Ample supplies of the necessary vitamins and minerals are available. (R. 359, 623–625, 774–775, 857, finding 9 ante)

14. Partially defatted wheat germ is a suitable ingredient for enriching macaroni products and noodle products within the limits prescribed therefor in the definition and standard of identity for enriched flour. (R. 27, 57, 345, 364, 675, 857, 937–939; Ex. 4, 41, 44)

15. The record contains no evidence of protein deficiency in the diet of persons in the United States, and no evidence showing any need for a special macaroni product or special noodle product containing additional protein derived from wheat germ or yeast. Dried yeast, due to its high content of the vitamin thiamine and niacin, is suitable for use as an ingredient for supplying all or part of the required amounts of such vitamins in enriched macaroni products and enriched noodle products. (R. 50, 52, 345, 396, 552, 640–641, 661–666, 675, 677–678, 680, 937)

Conclusions. Based on the foregoing findings of fact it is concluded that:

(a) To amend the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni products, milk macaroni products, whole wheat macaroni products, wheat and soy macaroni products, vegetable macaroni products, noodle products, wheat and soy noodle products, and vegetable noodle products, so as to permit the use of vitamins, minerals, wheat germ and dehydrated yeast as optional ingredients in each of these foods, will not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

(b) To establish definitions and standards of identity for enriched macaroni products and enriched noodle products will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

Therefore, It is ordered, That the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni products, milk macaroni products, whole wheat macaroni products, wheat and soy macaroni products, vegetable macaroni products, noodle products, wheat and soy noodle products, and vegetable noodle products, be not amended to provide for vitamins, minerals, wheat germ, and dehydrated yeast as optional ingredients in such foods.

It is further ordered, That the following regulations fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for enriched macaroni products and enriched noodle products be and are hereby promulgated:

C. A. sec. 41; 52 Stat. 111), and because of their violations, as alleged in Count II herein, of Section 2 (a) of an act of Congress entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes," commonly referred to as the "Clayton Act," as approved October 15, 1914, and amended June 19, 1936 (38 Stat. 730; 15 U. S. C. A. sec. 12, 49 Stat. 1526; 15 U. S. C. A. sec. 13, as amended).

COUNT I. THE CHARGE UNDER THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION ACT

PARAGRAPH 1. Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act, and by virtue of the authority vested in it by said act, the Federal Trade Commission, having reason to believe that the parties named in the caption hereof, and more particularly described and referred to hereinafter as respondents; have violated the provisions of section 5 of said act, and it appearing to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be in the public interest, hereby issues its amended complaint, stating its charges in that respect as follows:

Nature of Charges

PAR. 2. Respondent National Lead Company is charged in this Count I of the amended complaint with having monopolized and attempted to monopolize the interstate sale of lead pigments and with having acted unlawfully to secure a monopolistic control over the prices of lead pigments in the United States, and with having combined, conspired and cooperated with the other respondents to hinder, lessen and eliminate price competition in the sale of lead pigments in the United States. It and each of the other respondents are charged with using unfair, oppressive and discriminatory acts, methods and practices in connection with the sale of lead pigments in the United States.

Description of Respondents

PAR. 3. Each of the respondents is particularly named and described as follows: (a) National Lead Company, a New Jersey corporation with its principal offices at 111 Broadway, New York, N. Y. (sometimes hereinafter referred to merely as National). (b) Eagle-Picher Lead Company, an Ohio corporation with its principal offices at 901 Temple Bar Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, parent corporation of respondent Eagle-Picher Sales Company. (c) Eagle-Picher Sales Company, a Delaware corporation with its principal offices at 901 Temple Bar Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, the wholly-owned subsidiary of respondent Eagle-Picher Lead Company (sometimes hereinafter respondents Eagle-Picher Lead Company and Eagle-Picher Sales Company both are referred to merely as Eagle-Picher). (d) Anaconda Copper Mining Company, a Montana corporation with its principal office located at 25 Broadway, New York, N. Y., parent corporation of respondent International Smelting & Refining Company (sometimes hereinafter referred to merely as Anaconda). (e) International Smelting & Refining Company, a Montana corporation with its principal office at 25 Broadway, New York, N. Y., a wholly-owned subsidiary of respondent Anaconda Copper Mining Company (sometimes hereinafter referred to merely as International). (f) The Sherwin-Williams Company, an Ohio corporation, with principal offices at 101 Prospect Avenue Northwest, Cleveland, Ohio (sometimes hereinafter referred to merely as Sherwin-Williams). (g) The Glidden Company, an Ohio corporation with principal offices located at Union Commerce Building, Cleveland, Ohio (sometimes hereinafter referred to merely as Glidden).

Definitions and Explanation of Terms

PAR. 4. Some of the terms hereinafter used are defined and explained as follows:

A. Lead pigments. This term includes the lead pigments commonly known in the industry as white lead (both basic carbonate and basic sulfate of lead); blue lead; red lead (or red oxide of lead); litharge (or monoxide of lead); orange mineral and grinders' lead paste. Such pigments are marketed either as dry products, in the form of dry powder, or in oil, in the form of a paste after mixture with linseed or other oils.

B. Pig lead. Pig lead is a product derived from the smelting and refining of lead ore or lead "concentrates." The pig lead is secured after the smelting and refining has removed sulphur and other impurities from the lead ore and which are found in it as it is taken from the mines.

C. Commerce. The term commerce as hereinafter used means "commerce" as defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act.

Description and History of Industry and the Commerce of Respondents

PAR. 5. The respondents herein, either directly or indirectly through subsidiary corporations or operating divisions, are engaged in the manufacture, sale and distribution of lead pigments in commerce, and some of them, including respondents National, Eagle-Picher, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, are also engaged in the use of lead pigments in their manufacture of paint. The lead pigments thus produced are an important item in commerce between and among the several States. They are a principal item used in the manufacture of paint, and the paint produced from such pigments is held in high esteem by builders and users as of the highest possible quality for application to exteriors of buildings, ships and other structures. Such pigments have other important industrial and commercial uses too numerous to mention herein.

For a part of the period covered by this amended complaint the respondent Eagle-Picher Lead Company directly sold and distributed lead pigments in commerce, and it has also indirectly sold and distributed such products in commerce since the formation and incorporation in the State of Delaware of its wholly-owned subsidiary, respondent Eagle-Picher Sales Company, which now serves respondent Eagle-Picher Lead Company as a marketing medium for products of the parent company.

During a part of the period covered by this complaint, respondent Anaconda Copper Mining Company engaged in the production and distribution in commerce of lead pigments through a subsidiary corporation, Anaconda Lead Products Company, and since about 1936 Anaconda Copper Mining Company has distributed in commerce the lead pigments produced by its wholly owned subsidiary, respondent International Smelting and Refining Company through Anaconda Sales Company, Pigments Division, a subsidiary of Anaconda Copper Mining Company.

The production of the National Lead Company and the other producing respondents accounts for substantially all of the lead pigments produced and sold in the United States, while that of National accounts for more than half of the total production of the respondents. Therefore, in the aggregate, the producing respondents are the manufacturers and primary sellers to whom purchasers and users of lead pigments must turn for supplies of lead pigments, and respondent National is the dominant producer in the field. The production and distribution of pig lead, from which lead pigments are produced, is also concentrated in the hands of a few corporations, including respondents National and Eagle-Picher.

Offenses Charged

PAR. 6. Respondent National Lead Company has violated and is now violating the provisions of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act by monopolizing, attempting to monopolize and acting to control the sale of lead pigments and the prices thereof in commerce. Respondents National Lead Company, Eagle-Picher Lead Company, Eagle-Picher Sales Company, Anaconda Copper Mining Company, International Smelting & Refining Company, The Sherwin-Williams Company and The Glidden Company have violated and are now violating the provisions of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act by combining, conspiring, hindering, suppressing and eliminating competition in prices and terms of sale of lead pigments in commerce. Each of said respondents has violated and is now violating the provisions of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act by engaging in and continuing unfair, oppressive and discriminatory acts, methods and practices in connection with sales and offers to sell lead pigments in commerce.

Charges Particularized

PAR. 7. Respondent National Lead Company at the time of its inception, in 1891, embarked upon the execution of a plan and program to secure unto it a monopoly of and a monopoly power and control over the manufacture, pricing, sale and distribution of lead pigments in commerce. Pursuant to, in furtherance of, and in order to effectuate the purposes of that plan and program, respondent National has engaged in, continued and is now doing and performing and carrying on the following acts, methods and practices:

A. Bought, merged and otherwise acquired control over or confederated with and secured the cooperation of other producers, buyers and sellers of pig lead destined for use in the manufacture of lead pigments. In furtherance of that part of its plan and program to monopolize the lead pigments industry and to secure control over the pricing of lead pigments in commerce:

(1) National, on or about December 7, 1891, succeeded to the control which had prior thereto been exercised by the National Lead Trust over the operations and activities of approximately sixteen previously independent firms engaged in the manufacture, sale and distribution of lead pigments, linseed oil and kindred products, and thereafter continued its expansion by acquiring control over additional units in the lead industry.

(2) National, in 1906, acquired control of the United Lead Company which had previously been formed through the acquisition of what had been numerous independent producers and refiners of lead.

(3) National, in 1907, acquired all of the stock of the Magnus Metal Company (Magnus Company, Inc.).

(4) National, shortly thereafter, acquired control of the business of Heath & Milligan Manufacturing Company of Chicago, the largest paint manufacturer in the West, but in 1919 transferred the control of that paint manufacturer to The Glidden Company, respondent herein.

(5) National, thereafter, acquired all of the stock of the Carter White Lead Company of Chicago and Omaha, the Matheson Lead Company, the River Smelting & Refining Company, Bass-Huerter Paint Company (then the second largest manufacturer of linseed paints and varnishes on the Pacific Coast), San Francisco, Calif., the National Lead Company of Argentina, and Hirst & Begley Company (an Illinois corporation engaged in the crushing of linseed oil which was subsequently reorganized into an operating branch of the National Lead Company).

(6) National has also secured control over a substantial part of the capital stock of respondent Eagle-Picher Lead Company. Up to February 1943, a still more substantial part of the Eagle-Picher Lead Company stock was held by one Edward J. Cornish, who had served as president of respondent National.

(7) National asserts and represents that the price of pig lead f. o. b. New York, N. Y., is the principal factor in its determination and fixing of its price for lead pigments, since pig lead is the principal item used in the manufacture of lead pigments.

(8) National through its acts, methods, practices and the relationships it has maintained and now maintains with American Smelting & Refining Company and others, through its employees, agents, representatives, officers, directors and owners, exerts a monopolistic influence upon and is an important factor in the determination and quotation of the "market" prices on pig lead in the United States and upon the pig lead prices that it incorporates as an element of and factor in computing its prices of lead pigments. American Smelting & Refining Company holds a dominant position in the sale and production of pig lead in the United States, as well as in other parts of the world and quotes prices on pig lead in terms of cents per pound f. o. b. New York City. The prices thus quoted are "accepted" and treated as the "market" prices of pig lead not only by American Smelting & Refining Company but also by respondent National Lead Company and are used by both corporations as a basis for trading in that important product throughout the United States.

B. Respondent National has also combined and conspired with the few remaining small and ostensibly independent manufacturers and primary sellers of lead pigments in the United States. In so doing, it has cooperated with and received assistance and cooperation from respondents Eagle-Picher Lead Company, Eagle-Picher Sales Company, Anaconda Copper Mining Company, International Smelting & Refining Company, The Sherwin-Williams Company, The Glidden Company, and the Lead Industries Association in which organization all respondents are members, in doing and performing the following acts and engaging in the following methods and practices:

(1) Agreed to adopt and have adopted and maintained a system of delivered price quotations which prevents reflection of any differences in the cost of delivery between the respective places of manufacture of respondent producers, the primary sellers and to the respective locations of intending purchasers of lead pigments;

(2) Agreed to adopt and have adopted and maintained a plan whereby the United States is divided into so-called zones whereby price offers made by the producing and primary selling respondents to all purchasers of a class throughout any one of such zones, regardless of location and the differences in freight rates from shipping point to destination, are matched, except that by prearrangement and understanding the offers made by respondents Glidden, Sherwin-Williams and International are permitted in some instances to be made and maintained at fixed differentials below the matched offers of respondents National and Eagle-Picher;

(3) Agreed to seek and secure and have sought and secured the advice, assistance and cooperation of the Lead Industries Association, its officers, employees and agents in fixing, adopting, publishing and using noncompetitive terms and conditions of sale in connection with sales and offers to sell lead pigments in commerce;

(4) Exchanged directly and through the office of the Lead Industries Association and with the cooperation of officials of that Association price factors and information concerning price factors expected by respondents to be used and which at times have been used by the primary sellers of lead pigments, including the respondents, in calculating, determining and announcing their offers to sell lead pigments in commerce;

(5) Agreed to adopt and have adopted, maintained and used terms and conditions of sale embodied in so-called "consignment" or "agency" agreements under the leadership of respondent National Lead Company for the purpose of preventing dealers selling white lead from making offers to sell such products at levels lower than the offers made by the respective respondent producers whose names were affixed to such "consignment" or "agency" agreements;

(6) Agreed to fix, and have fixed and included in offers to sell, the prices, terms and conditions at which lead pigments are sold and offered for sale in commerce;

(7) Respondent National entered into contracts and understandings with E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company, Inc., a large paint manufacturer, for the purpose and with the effect of promoting maintenance of the levels of price fixed by National and other producing and primary sellers of white lead.

PAR. 8. Each respondent, in offering for sale and selling lead pigments, divides the country into geographical zones for the purpose of price quotations. To all buyers of the same class located in the same zone, each respondent quotes the same delivered cost, irrespective of the location of the buyer within the zone. A "par" or "base" price is quoted to buyers in the "par" or "base" zone, and buyers in other zones are quoted at a fixed differential above the "par" or "base" zone price, irrespective of the transportation costs involved in selling and shipping to such customers on a delivered basis.

A. In offering for sale and selling lead pigments in steel kegs of 100 pounds or less, each respondent quotes and sells upon the basis of the geographical divisions and delivered cost differentials set out in the map inserted herein immediately following this paragraph and made a part hereof.[1]

B. In offering for sale and selling dry white lead and lead sulphate in barrels or in bags, each respondent quotes and sells at the same delivered cost to all customers in the par or base zone, and 25% per 100 pounds is added to the par or base price for delivery to customers located in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, the par or base zone comprising all other states than those named.

C. In offering for sale and selling dry red lead, litharge and other pigments in barrels or bags in less-than-carload lots, each respondent quotes and sells at the same delivered cost to customers within the par or base zone; 25¢ per 100 pounds is added for delivery to customers in Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas and west of the Cascade Mountains in Oregon and Washington; 50% per 100 pounds is added for delivery to customers in Colorado, Montana, New Mexico and Wyoming; 75% per 100 pounds is added for delivery to customers in Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, Utah and east of the Cascade Mountains in Oregon and Washington. The par or base zone comprises all other states than those named.

D. In offering for sale and selling dry red lead, litharge and other lead pigments in barrels or bags in carload lots of 20 tons or more, each respondent offers to sell dry red lead at $2.50 and litharge at $1.50 per 100 pounds over the American Smelting and Refining Company's closing price of common pig lead at New York on the date the order is received, delivered to customers located in the par or base zone and 25% per 100 pounds is added for delivery to customers located in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah, Wyoming and east of the Cascade Mountains in Oregon and Washington. The par or base zone comprises all other States and areas than those named.

PAR. 9. Terms and conditions of sale quoted by each respondent in selling and offering for sale lead pigments in commerce have included the following:

A. Each of the respondents in selling and offering to sell lead pigments in commerce to agents and dealers for resale requires its customers to resell such products at prices and terms of sale fixed and determined and published by it, so that each of the respondents is responsible for the price levels to painters and consumers.

B. Each of the respondents in selling and offering to sell lead pigments quotes standard container differentials on keg products, by which 50 pound kegs are sold at a 25¢ differential above 100 pound kegs, 25 pound kegs at 25¢ above 50 pound kegs and 12½ pound kegs at 25¢ above 25 pound kegs.

C. Each respondent, in connection with the sale and distribution of lead pigments to paint manufacturers and large industrial consumers enters into quarterly contracts covering terms of sale and delivery of lead pigments, either at current published quotations or at a fixed differential over the quotation of the American Smelting and Refining Co. for common pig lead at New York. Such quarterly contracts establish the grades and qualities of lead pigments covered, the discounts applicable and the time within which deliveries must be made.

D. Each respondent issues cards or lists showing delivered quotations on lead pigments to various classes of customers for each type of pigment in various packages and quantities and applicable to the various zones and geographical divisions, and including the quotations which must be made by purchasers in reselling to consumers and others. Such "price cards" and other pricing information, when computed and calculated in accordance with the instructions and directions contained therein, cause to be presented to any given prospective purchaser of lead pigments, in any given quantity, in any given type of package, at any given destination, exactly matched offers to sell over the names of each of the respondents, except that in the case of white lead in oil the quotations to dealers or agents for resale of respondents Anaconda, Sherwin-Williams and, at times, Glidden, are matched at a small differential below the matched offers of National and Eagle-Picher.

PAR. 10. Each of the respondents uses the systematic method of quoting delivered costs on lead pigments described in Paragraphs Eight and Nine of this Count I for the purpose and with the effect of enabling the respondents to match exactly their offers to sell lead pigments to any prospective purchaser at any destination, thereby eliminating competition between and among themselves. Inherently and necessarily involved is a systematic discrimination against purchasers located near the factory of any of the respondents and in favor of customers located, freightwise, at a considerable distance.

Effects of Respondents' Actions

PAR. 11. The inherent and necessary effects of the adoption, use and maintenance by each of the respondents of the zone delivered system of pricing and other practices set forth in Paragraphs Eight and Nine of this Count to include the following, to wit:

A. Unfair and oppressive discrimination by respondents against the lead pigments purchasing and consuming public in large areas of the United States by depriving such purchasers of the natural advantage otherwise accruing to them from proximity to the factories of respondents and by compelling such purchasers to pay increases over what the net price of lead pigments to such purchasers would have been if fixed by competition among respondents, such increment in net prices to respondents approximating the advantages in freight rates to which such purchasers are entitled over purchasers remote from such factories. Such nearby purchasers are thereby compelled to pay not only the actual freight rates on the products purchased by them respectively, but in effect also to pay portions of the cost of transportation of such products to other and more distant purchasers from the respective factories;

B. A substantial lessening of competition among respondents in all parts of the United States, through action of each respondent voluntarily and reciprocally surrendering and cancelling the inherent advantage it has over all competitors within the territory nearer freightwise to its factory than to the factory of a competitor, in consideration of a similar surrender and cancellation by other respondents;

C. The fixation and control through respondents' concurrent and parallel action of an arbitrary and substantial portion of the delivered cost of the product to any and every purchaser upon a basis having no relation to differences in cost of production, in selling costs, and in actual transportation cost, on particular sales. Such arbitrary result is accomplished notwithstanding substantial differences in the delivered cost to the respective respondents of raw materials shipped to them and of lead pigments shipped by them to their respective customers;

Conclusion

PAR. 12. The combinations, agreements and understandings of the respondents and their acts, practices, pricing methods, systems, devices and policies as hereinbefore alleged, all and singularly, are unfair and to the prejudice of the public; deprive the public of the benefit of competition; create discrimination against some buyers and users of lead pigments and lead pigment paint; have a dangerous tendency and capacity to restrain unreasonably commerce in said products; have actually hindered, frustrated, suppressed and eliminated competition in such products in commerce; and constitute unfair methods of competition and unfair acts and practices in commerce within the intent and meaning of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

COUNT II. THE CHARGE UNDER THE CLAYTON ACT

PAR. 1. Pursuant to the provisions of section 2 (a) of an act of Congress approved October 15, 1914, entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes," commonly known as the Clayton Act, as amended by an act of Congress approved June 19, 1936, commonly known as the Robinson-Patman Act, the Commission, having reason to believe that the parties named in the caption hereof, and more particularly described and referred to hereinafter as respondents, have violated the provisions of said act of Congress as so amended, and it appearing to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be in the public interest, the Commission hereby issues its amended complaint, stating its charges in such respect as follows:

Nature of Charges

PAR. 2. The charges hereinafter contained in this Count II are that each of the respondents has been and is now unlawfully discriminating as between its customers in the prices it charges, demands, accepts and receives in connection with the sale of lead pigments in commerce.

Description of Respondents; Definitions and Explanations of Terms; Description and History of Industry and the Commerce of Respondents

PAR. 3–5. As Paragraphs 3 to 5, inclusive, of Count II, the Commission incorporates Paragraphs 3 to 5, inclusive, of Count I of this amended complaint to precisely the same extent and effect as if each and all of them were set forth in full and repeated verbatim in this Count II, except the definition of the term "commerce." The term "commerce" as hereinafter used means "commerce" as defined and set forth in the Clayton Act.

Offenses Charged

PAR. 6. Since June 19, 1936, and while engaged as aforesaid in commerce among the several States of the United States and the District of Columbia, each of the respondents National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, has been and is now, in the course of such commerce, discriminating in price between purchasers of said commodities of like grade and quality, sold for use, consumption or resale within the several States of the United States and the District of Columbia, in that each of the respondents has been and is now systematically selling such commodities to many purchasers at a price higher than the price at which commodities of like grade and quality are sold by it to other purchasers and users, including purchasers competitively engaged with others who pay either the lower or the higher discriminatory prices.

PAR. 7. Each of the respondents uses a "Zone delivered pricing method and practice" in calculating, determining, making up, announcing, publishing, and distributing its offers to its respective customers to sell them lead pigments in commerce. As an incident to and a part of such method and practice, the entire territory of continental United States has been and is now divided by each of such respondents for pricing purposes into geographical "Zones," as alleged in Paragraph 8 of Count I of this amended complaint and the map appearing at page 13–A.[1] Paragraph 8 of Count I is hereby incorporated in this Count II to the same extent and effect as if such Paragraph were set forth in full and repeated verbatim herein.

PAR. 8. In using its aforesaid "Zone delivered pricing method and practice," each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, so quotes prices in its offers to sell that when it sells lead pigments in commerce in accordance and in connection therewith, the delivered cost on a specified quantity of lead pigments as paid by any one of its customers located at or near the factory door of such respondent, amounts to as much as the delivered cost on the same quantity of lead pigments as paid to such respondent by any one of other customers located hundreds of miles away in the same "Zone," although substantial differences are involved in the costs of delivery to such nearby customer and the more distantly located ones.

PAR. 9. Systematic discriminations in net prices against nearby customers and in favor of their more distantly located customers are inherent in the use of the aforesaid "Zone delivered pricing method and practice" when sales are effected and the buyers pay in accordance with quotations of matched delivered costs as made by each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, to their respective customers.

PAR. 10. When sales are made to customers located at or near the borders of adjoining or contiguous "Zones" pursuant to the aforesaid "Zone delivered pricing method and practice," each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, charges, demands, accepts and receives higher prices from some purchasers than from other and competing purchasers in different zones and there is discrimination in the delivered costs of lead pigments to different purchasers by each of such respondents in addition to substantial differences in the mill net prices received by each of them.

PAR. 11. Each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden has been and is now classifying its customers to receive from such respondents quantity, trade and regional discounts from quoted prices so that, by virtue of such classifications and action pursuant thereto by each such respondent, it charges, demands, accepts and receives higher prices in conection with sales of lead pigments in commerce from some of its customers than from other customers, even though said customers who pay such higher prices are competitively engaged with the customers who pay such lower prices.

PAR. 12. Each of the respondents practices the aforesaid systematic discriminations in price for the purpose and with the effect of enabling respondents exactly to match their offers to sell lead pigments in commerce to any given prospective purchaser at any given destination, except that as to white lead in oil the purpose and effect has been to match exactly the offers to dealers and agents for resale of respondents Anaconda, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden at a prearranged differential below similar matched offers of respondents National and Eagle-Picher.

Effects of Price Discriminations Practiced by Respondents

PAR. 13. The discriminations in price practiced by respondents, as particularized and alleged in Paragraphs 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of this Count II, include the results and effects set forth as follows:

A. The allegations of the results and effects that are made and set out in subparagraphs A, B and C of Paragraph 11 of Count I hereof are hereby alleged as results and effects of respondents' price discriminations alleged in Paragraphs 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 of this Count II, and are hereby incorporated in this subparagraph of this Paragraph 13 of Count II to precisely the same extent as though each said subparagraph A, B and C of Paragraph 11 of Count I were set forth in full and repeated verbatim as a part hereof;

B. A further effect of the aforesaid discriminations in price by said respondents may be substantially to lessen competition in the sale and distribution of lead pigments between said respondents and their competitors, tend to create a monopoly in the line of commerce in which the respondents are engaged; and to injure, destroy and prevent competition between said respondents and their competitors in the sale and distribution of lead pigments;

C. Further effects of the aforesaid discriminations in price by said respondents may be substantially to lessen competition between the buyers of lead pigments receiving the lower discriminatory prices from respondents and other buyers competitively engaged with such favored buyers and who pay higher discriminatory prices; tend to create a monopoly in the lines of commerce in which buyers from respondents are engaged; and to injure, destroy and prevent competition in the lines of commerce in which purchasers from respondents engage as between the beneficiaries of said discriminatory prices and competing buyers who are required to pay the higher discriminatory prices.

Conclusion

PAR. 14. Therefore the aforesaid discriminations in price by each of the respondents constitute violations of the provisions of subsection (2) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936 (49 Stat. 1526; 15 U. S. C. A., sec. 13, as amended).

[Docket No. 5432]

WEST COAST PACKING CORP. ET AL.

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of West Coast Packing Corporation, a corporation, and Albert Vignolo, Sr., Eugene Giacomino, and Albert Vignolo, Jr., individually and as officers of corporate respondent, West Coast Packing Corporation. Docket No. 5432.

Complaint. The Federal Trade Commission, having reason to believe that the parties respondent named in the caption hereof and hereinafter more particularly designated and described, since June 19, 1936, have violated and are now violating the provisions of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act (U.S.C. Title 15, Sec. 13) as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936, hereby issues its complaint, stating its charges with respect thereto as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Respondent West Coast Packing Corporation is a corporation under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office and place of business at Long Beach, California. It was incorporated February 3, 1919, as the Italian Food Products Company, Inc., but by certificate of amendment to its articles of incorporation filed January 23, 1942, with the Secretary of State of California, changed its name from Italian Food Products Company, Inc., to West Coast Packing Corporation. Respondents Albert Vignolo, Sr., Eugene Giacomino and Albert Vignolo, Jr., are president, vice-president, general manager, and treasurer, respectively of the corporate respondent, and as such are responsible for and have participated in the acts and practices of said corporate respondent hereinafter charged as being unlawful.

PAR. 2. Respondents are now and have been since June 19, 1936, engaged in the business of buying, packing and selling and distributing fish and fish products, sea food and sea food products, and in the course and conduct of such business, respondents have sold, distributed, transported and caused to be transported, and now sell, distribute, transport and cause to be transported, such products in interstate commerce between the State of California and other States of the United States, and there is now and there has been since June 19, 1936, a constant current of trade and commerce conducted by said respondents in such fish and sea food products between and among the various states of the United States.

PAR. 3. Respondents sell and distribute some of their fish and sea food products through legitimate brokers or intermediaries who act as respondents' agents in finding buyers for respondents' products and in negotiating sales thereof at respondents' list prices and for such services, respondents pay such legitimate brokers or intermediaries commissions or brokerage fees. Such transactions are not challenged by this complaint.

Since June, 1936, respondents have also sold their products in commerce directly to buyers and buying brokers, and on such sales, have paid or granted and are now paying and granting directly or indirectly to such direct buyers commissions, brokerage or other compensation, allowances or discounts in lieu thereof. Respondents have accomplished this either by allowance thereof on the face of the invoice, by direct remittance to such buyers or by invoicing such buyers at a net price which reflected such commissions, brokerage, allowances or discounts in lieu thereof. In each such case, such buyers and buying brokers have purchased respondents' products from the latter in such buyers' own names and for their own accounts, taking title thereto and assuming and exercising all control, rights and risks of ownership thereafter and in the resale by them of such products.

Since June, 1936 respondents have also sold and distributed their fish or sea food products in commerce on fictitious "consignments" to direct buyers and buying brokers, in which transactions respondents would ship "on consignment" to such buyers, and before arrival of such "consignment" draw draft on such "consignee" for payment in full. These fictitious "consignments" are, in fact, sales, and the fictitious "Consignees", are in fact, buyers of respondents' products. Such buyers pay for and take full title to respondents' products, assume all risks incident to ownership and resell such products for their own accounts, at prices, terms and conditions of sale determined by such buyers. The latter then notify respondents of the quantities resold and the names of the firms to whom such buyers have resold such products; whereupon respondents remit brokerage thereon to such "consignee" buyers. Respondents mask these direct selling operations under the fictionalized designation of "consignments" for the purpose of concealing their true nature in order to impart a color of legality to the brokerage payments made by them on such sales to such "consignee" buyers.

PAR. 4. The acts and practices of respondents as set out and described hereinabove, except those described in the first sub-paragraph of Paragraph 3, are in violation of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended.

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 15th day of April, A. D., 1946, issues its complaint against said respondents.

Notice. Notice is hereby given you West Coast Packing Corporation, a corporation, and Albert Vignolo, Sr., Eugene Giacomino, and Albert Vignolo, Jr., individually and as officials of corporate respondent, West Coast Packing Corporation, respondents herein, that the 24th day of May, A. D., 1946, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission in the City of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said Act, to appear and show cause why an order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the complaint.

You are notified and required, on or before the twentieth day after service upon you of this complaint, to file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The rules of practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule IX) provide as follows:

> In case of desire to contest the proceedings the respondents shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondents shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respedents are without knowledge, in which case respondents shall so state.
> Failure of the respondents to file answer within the time above provided, and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondents, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.
> If respondents desire to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondents admit all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondents by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint, and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true.
> Contemporaneously with the filing of such answer the respondents may give notice in writing that they desire to be heard on the question as to whether the admitted facts constitute the violation of law charged in the complaint. Pursuant to such notice, the respondents may file a brief, directed solely to that question, in accordance with Rule XXIII.

In witness whereof, the Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its complaint, to be signed by its Secretary and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 15th day of April, A. D. 1946.

By the Commission.

Such quarterly contracts establish the grades and qualities of lead pigments covered, the discounts applicable and the time within which deliveries must be made.

D. Each respondent issues cards or lists showing delivered quotations on lead pigments to various classes of customers for each type of pigment in various packages and quantities and applicable to the various zones and geographical divisions, and including the quotations which must be made by purchasers in reselling to consumers and others. Such "price cards" and other pricing information, when computed and calculated in accordance with the instructions and directions contained therein, cause to be presented to any given prospective purchaser of lead pigments, in any given quantity, in any given type of package, at any given destination, exactly matched offers to sell over the names of each of the respondents, except that in the case of white lead in oil the quotations to dealers or agents for resale of respondents Anaconda, Sherwin-Williams and, at times, Glidden, are matched at a small differential [illegible] any their offers to sell lead [illegible] any prospective purchaser at any destination, thereby eliminating competition between, and among themselves. Inherently and necessarily involved is a systematic discrimination against purchasers located near the factory of any of the respondents and in favor of customers located, freightwise, at a considerable distance.

Effects of Respondents' Actions

PAR. 11. The inherent and necessary effect of the adoption, use and maintenance by each of the respondents of the zone delivered system of pricing and other practices set forth in Paragraphs Eight and Nine of this Count is to create the following effects, to wit:

A. Unfair and oppressive discrimination by respondents against the lead pigments purchasing and consuming public in large areas of the United States by depriving such purchasers of the natural advantage otherwise accruing to them from proximity to the factories of respondents and by compelling such purchasers to pay increases over what the net price of lead pigments to such purchasers would have been if fixed by competition among respondents, such increment in net prices to respondents approximating the advantages in freight rates to which such purchasers are entitled over purchasers remote from such factories. Such nearby purchasers are thereby compelled to pay not only the actual freight rates on the products purchased by them respectively, but in effect also to pay portions of the cost of transportation of such products to other and more distant purchasers from the respective factories;

B. A substantial lessening of competition among respondents in all parts of the United States, through action of each respondent voluntarily and reciprocally surrendering and cancelling the inherent advantage it has over all competitors within the territory nearer freightwise to its factory than to the factory of a competitor, in consideration of a similar surrender and cancellation by other respondents;

C. The fixation and control through respondents' concurrent and parallel action of an arbitrary and substantial portion of the delivered cost of the product to any and every purchaser upon a basis having no relation to differences in cost of production, in selling costs, and in actual transportation cost, on particular sales. Such arbitrary result is accomplished notwithstanding substantial differences in the delivered cost to the respective respondents of raw materials shipped to them and of lead pigments shipped by them to their respective customers;

Conclusion

PAR. 12. The combinations, agreements and understandings of the respondents and the acts and practices of each of them, as hereinbefore alleged, have had the capacity to restrain unreasonably commerce in said products; have actually hindered, frustrated, suppressed and eliminated competition in such products in commerce; and constitute unfair methods of competition and unfair acts and practices in commerce within the intent and meaning of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

COUNT II. THE CHARGE UNDER THE CLAYTON [illegible]

PAR. 1. Pursuant to the provisions of section 2 [illegible] of an act of Congress approved October 15, 1914 entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes," commonly known as the Clayton Act, as amended by an act of Congress approved June 19, 1936 commonly known as the Robinson-Patman Act, the Commission, having reason to believe that the parties named in the caption hereof, and more particularly described and referred to hereinafter as respondents, have violated the provisions of said act of Congress as so amended, and it appearing to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be in the public interest, the Commission hereby issues its amended complaint, stating its charges in such respect as follows:

Nature of Charges

PAR. 2. The charges hereinafter contained in this Count II are that each of the respondents has been and is now unlawfully discriminating as between its customers in the prices it charges, demands, accepts and receives in connection with the sale of lead pigments in commerce.

Description of Respondents; Definitions and Explanations of Terms; Description and History of Industry and the Commerce of Respondents

PAR. 3–5. As Paragraphs 3 to 5, inclusive, of Count II, the Commission incorporates Paragraphs 3 to 5, inclusive, of Count I of this amended complaint to precisely the same extent and effect as if each and all of them were set forth in full and repeated verbatim in this Count II, except the definition of the term "commerce." The term "commerce" as hereinafter used means "commerce" as defined and set forth in the Clayton Act.

Offenses Charged

PAR. 6. Since June 19, 1936, and while engaged as aforesaid in commerce among the several States of the United States and the District of Columbia, each of the respondents National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, has been and is now, in the course of such commerce, discriminating in price between purchasers of said commodities of like grade and quality, sold for use, consumption or resale within the [illegible] its who pay either the lower or the higher discriminatory prices.

PAR. 7. Each of the respondents uses a "Zone delivered pricing method and practice" in calculating, determining, making up, announcing, publishing, and distributing its offers to its respective customers to sell them lead pigments in commerce. As an incident to and a part of such method and practice, the entire territory of continental United States has been and is now divided by each of such respondents for pricing purposes into geographical "Zones," as alleged in Paragraph 8 of Count I of this amended complaint and the map appearing at page 13 A.[1] Paragraph 8 of Count I is hereby incorporated in this Count II to the same extent and effect as if such Paragraph were set forth in full and repeated verbatim herein.

PAR. 8. In using its aforesaid "Zone delivered pricing method and practice," each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, so quotes prices in its offers to sell that when it sells lead pigments in commerce in accordance and in connection therewith, the delivered cost on a specified quantity of lead pigments as paid by any one of its customers located at or near the factory door of such respondent, amounts to as much as the delivered cost on the same quantity of lead pigments as paid to such respondent by any one of other customers located hundreds of miles away in the same "Zone," although substantial differences are involved in the costs of delivery to such nearby customer and the more distantly located ones.

PAR. 9. Systematic discriminations in net prices against nearby customers and in favor of their more distantly located customers are inherent in the use of the aforesaid "Zone delivered pricing method and practice" when sales are effected and the buyers pay in accordance with quotations of matched delivered costs as made by each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, to their respective customers.

PAR. 10. When sales are made to customers located at or near the borders of adjoining or contiguous "Zones" pursuant to the aforesaid "Zone delivered pricing method and practice," each of the respondents, National, Eagle-Picher, Anaconda, International, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden, charges, demands, accepts and receives higher prices from some purchasers than from other and competing purchasers in different zones and there is discrimination in the delivered costs of lead pigments to different purchasers by each of such respondents in addition to substantial differences such classifications and action pursuant thereto by each such respondent, it charges, demands, accepts and receives higher prices in conection with sales of lead pigments in commerce from some of its customers than from other customers, even though said customers who pay such higher prices are competitively engaged with the customers who pay such lower prices.

PAR. 12. Each of the respondents practices the aforesaid systematic discriminations in price for the purpose and with the effect of enabling respondents exactly to match their offers to sell lead pigments in commerce to any given prospective purchaser at any given destination except that as to white lead in oil the purpose and effect has been to match exactly the offers to dealers and agents for resale of respondents Anaconda, Sherwin-Williams and Glidden at a prearranged differential below similar matched offers of respondents National and Eagle-Picher.

Effects of Price Discriminations Practiced by Respondents

PAR. 13. The discriminations in price practiced by respondents, as particularized and alleged in Paragraphs 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of this Count II, include the results and effects set forth as follows:

A. The allegations of the results and effects that are made and set out in subparagraphs A, B and C of Paragraph 11 of Count I hereof are hereby alleged as results and effects of respondents' price discriminations alleged in Paragraphs 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 of this Count II, and are hereby incorporated in this subparagraph of this Paragraph 13 of Count II to precisely the same extent as though each said subparagraph A, B and C of Paragraph 11 of Count I were set forth in full and repeated verbatim as a part hereof;

B. A further effect of the aforesaid discriminations in price by said respondents may be substantially to lessen competition in the sale and distribution of lead pigments between said respondents and their competitors, tend to create a monopoly in the line of commerce in which the respondents are engaged; and to injure, destroy and prevent competition between said respondents and their competitors in the sale and distribution of lead pigments;

C. Further effects of the aforesaid discriminations in price by said respondents may be substantially to lessen competition between the buyers of lead pigments receiving the lower discriminatory prices from respondents and other buyers competitively engaged with such favored buyers and who pay higher discriminatory prices; tend to create a monopoly in the lines of commerce in which buyers from respondents are engaged; and to injure, destroy and prevent competition in the lines of commerce in which pur- [illegible] spondents [illegible] violations of the provisions of [illegible] of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936 (49 Stat. 1526, 15 U.S.C.A. sec. 13, as amended).

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 12th day of April, A. D., 1946, issues its amended complaint against said respondents.

[illegible] is hereby given to National [illegible] Eagle-Picher [illegible] Company, a corporation, [illegible] Corporation, a corporation, [illegible] Company, a corporation, [illegible] Company, a corporation, and [illegible] Company, a corporation, that the [illegible] day of May, A. D. 1946 at 2 o'clock [illegible] afternoon is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission, in the city of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this amended complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said act, to appear and show cause why an order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the amended complaint.

You are notified and required, on or before the twentieth day after service upon you of this amended complaint, to file with the Commission an answer to the amended complaint. If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The rules of practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule IX) provide as follows:

In case of desire to contest the proceeding the respondent shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state.

Failure of the respondent to file answer within the time above provided and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.

If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true.

Contemporaneously with the filing of such answer the respondent may give notice in writing that he desires to be heard on the question as to whether the admitted facts constitute the violation of law charged in the complaint. Pursuant to such notice, the respondent may file a brief, directed solely to that question, in accordance with Rule XXIII.

In witness whereof, the Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its amended complaint, to be signed by its Secretary, and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 12th day of April A. D. 1946.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. 5432]

WEST COAST PACKING CORP. ET AL.

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of West Coast Packing Corporation, a corporation, and Albert Vignolo, Sr., Eugene Giacomino, and Albert Vignolo, Jr., individually and as officers of corporate respondent, West Coast Packing Corporation. Docket No. 5432.

Complaint. The Federal Trade Commission, having reason to believe that the parties respondent named in the caption hereof and hereinafter more particularly designated and described, since June 19, 1936, have violated and are now violating the provisions of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act (U.S.C. Title 15, Sec. 13) as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936, hereby issues its complaint, stating its charges with respect thereto as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Respondent West Coast Packing Corporation is a corporation under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office and place of business at Long Beach, California. It was incorporated February 3, 1919, as the Italian Food Products Company, Inc., but by certificate of amendment to its articles of incorporation filed January 23, 1942, with the Secretary of State of California, changed its name from Italian Food Products Company, Inc., to West Coast Packing Corporation. Respondents Albert Vignolo, Sr., Eugene Giacomino and Albert Vignolo, Jr., are president, vice-president, general manager, and treasurer, respectively of the corporate respondent, and as such are responsible for and have participated in the acts and practices of said corporate respondent hereinafter charged as being unlawful.

PAR. 2. Respondents are now and have been since June 19, 1936, engaged in the business of buying, packing and selling and distributing fish and fish products, sea food and sea food products, and in the course and conduct of such business, respondents have sold, distributed, transported and caused to be transported, and now sell, distribute, transport and cause to be transported, such products in interstate commerce between the State of California and other States of the United States, and there is now and there has been since June 19, 1936, a constant current of trade and commerce conducted by said respondents in such fish and sea food products between and among the various states of the United States.

PAR. 3. Respondents sell and distribute some of their fish and sea food products through legitimate brokers or intermediaries who act as respondents' agents in finding buyers for respondents' products and in negotiating sales thereof at respondents' list prices and for such services, respondents pay such legitimate brokers or intermediaries commissions or brokerage fees. Such transactions are not challenged by this complaint.

Since June, 1936, respondents have also sold their products in commerce directly to buyers and buying brokers, and on such sales, have paid or granted and are now paying and granting directly or indirectly to such direct buyers commissions, brokerage or other compensation, allowances or discounts in lieu thereof. Respondents have accomplished this either by allowance thereof on the face of the invoice, by direct remittance to such buyers or by invoicing such buyers at a net price which reflected such commissions, brokerage, allowances or discounts in lieu thereof. In each such case, such buyers and buying brokers have purchased respondents' products from the latter in such buyers' own names and for their own accounts, taking title thereto and assuming and exercising all control, rights and risks of ownership thereafter and in the resale by them of such products.

Since June, 1936 respondents have also sold and distributed their fish or sea food products in commerce on fictitious "consignments" to direct buyers and buying brokers, in which transactions respondents would ship "on consignment" to such buyers, and before arrival of such "consignment" draw draft on such "consignee" for payment in full. These fictitious "consignments" are, in fact, sales, and the fictitious "Consignees", are in fact, buyers of respondents' products. Such buyers pay for and take full title to respondents' products, assume all risks incident to ownership and resell such products for their own accounts, at prices, terms and conditions of sale determined by such buyers. The latter then notify respondents of the quantities resold and the names of the firms to whom such buyers have resold such products; whereupon respondents remit brokerage thereon to such "consignee" buyers. Respondents mask these direct selling operations under the fictionalized designation of "consignments" for the purpose of concealing their true nature in order to impart a color of legality to the brokerage payments made by them on such sales to such "consignee" buyers.

PAR. 4. The acts and practices of respondents as set out and described hereinabove, except those described in the first sub-paragraph of Paragraph 3, are in violation of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended.

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 15th day of April, A. D., 1946, issues its complaint against said respondents.

Notice. Notice is hereby given you West Coast Packing Corporation, a corporation, and Albert Vignolo, Sr., Eugene Giacomino, and Albert Vignolo, Jr., individually and as officials of corporate respondent, West Coast Packing Corporation, respondents herein, that the 24th day of May, A. D., 1946, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission in the City of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said Act, to appear and show cause why an order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the complaint.

You are notified and required, on or before the twentieth day after service upon you of this complaint, to file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The rules of practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule IX) provide as follows:

> In case of desire to contest the proceedings the respondents shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondents shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respedents are without knowledge, in which case respondents shall so state.
> Failure of the respondents to file answer within the time above provided, and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondents, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.
> If respondents desire to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondents admit all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondents by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint, and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true.
> Contemporaneously with the filing of such answer the respondents may give notice in writing that they desire to be heard on the question as to whether the admitted facts constitute the violation of law charged in the complaint. Pursuant to such notice, the respondents may file a brief, directed solely to that question, in accordance with Rule XXIII.

In witness whereof, the Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its complaint, to be signed by its Secretary and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 15th day of April, A. D. 1946.

By the Commission.

Said seller respondents, and each of them, are, and since June 19, 1936, have been, engaged in the business of selling commodities particularly foodstuffs, groceries and allied products to numerous buyers, including the buyer respondents hereinafter set out. Said seller respondents are fairly typical and representative members of a large group or class of manufacturers, processors and producers engaged in the common practice of selling a substantial portion of their commodities to buyers who purchase through respondent I. G. A. as intermediary for buyers. The respondents in this paragraph named are hereinafter designated and referred to as "buyer respondents." Each of the said buyer respondents is engaged in the wholesale grocery business and is affiliated and under contract with respondent I. G. A. and is a stockholder of the respondent Grocers Company. Said buyer respondents are named as parties respondent, both individually and as representative of a group or class of a large number of wholesale grocery concerns, each of whom is likewise affiliated and under contract with respondent I. G. A. and is a stockholder of respondent Grocers Company.

PAR. 4. Respondent I. G. A., since its organization in 1927, has sponsored and is now sponsoring the so-called "I. G. A. movement"; in pursuance to which respondent I. G. A. has entered into, is now entering into, and acting in accordance with franchise agreements with wholesale grocers, located throughout the United States, whereby said wholesalers are granted "exclusive rights to all the merchandising, publicity, sales and promotion service" of respondent I. G. A., in certain specified territories, in connection with I. G. A. merchandise which consists of foodstuffs and other articles to which has been applied trade names, trade marks or insignias owned by respondent I. G. A.; said affiliated wholesalers agree to cooperate and do cooperate with respondent I. G. A. in the furtherance of the said I. G. A. movement, in enrolling and maintaining qualified retail grocers known as "I. G. A. Stores" within specified territories; purchasing all I. G. A. merchandise through I. G. A. or through mutually agreed sources, and selling or distributing such merchandise for resale only to duly qualified I. G. A. stores within the specified territory, paying to I. G. A. $4.75 per month for each I. G. A. store in such specified territory, plus a monthly fee of $40.00, plus an additional sum equal to one-fourteenth of one percent of the average monthly sales of the wholesaler during the preceding calendar year. Respondent I. G. A., in accordance with such agreements, agrees to instruct and does instruct the personnel of the wholesalers in the effective administration of the I. G. A. plan; cooperating with such personnel in supervising I. G. A. stores; making available, without cost, a consultation, advisory and follow-up service; furnishing merchandising service and advertising materials to and for the wholesalers and for the I. G. A. Stores; continuing to maintain a complete brokerage department through which the wholesalers agree to purchase and do purchase the fullest extent of their requirements; furnishing to wholesalers full and complete market information relative to commodities handled by the wholesalers. The affiliated wholesalers have the privilege of renewing such agreements from year to year provided that they have actually and fully cooperated with I. G. A.

As of January 1, 1939, there were affiliated and under contract with respondent I. G. A. approximately 97 wholesale grocers who in turn sponsored approximately 4836 I. G. A. retail stores. Three of the six directors of respondent I. G. A. are representatives of affiliated wholesalers.

PAR. 5. All the capital stock of respondent I. G. A. was formerly owned by the Market Specialty Company, an Illinois Corporation; the said corporation was organized merely for the purpose of holding said stock; all the capital stock of the Market Specialty Company is held by four individuals who were the original promoters of the I. G. A. movement, three of whom are directors of respondent I. G. A.; and are also the officers and directors of Market Specialty Company. In 1933, as a result of the efforts of affiliated wholesalers to protect their interest in and expected benefits from respondent I. G. A., respondent Grocers Company was organized as a holding company and purchased 50% of the capitalization of respondent I. G. A. or 100,000 shares from the Market Specialty Company for $500,000. The greater portion of this purchase money came from the earnings of respondent I. G. A. All the capital stock of respondent Grocery Company is held by wholesalers affiliated and under contract with respondent I. G. A.

PAR. 6. Respondent I. G. A. is now and since June 19, 1936, has been engaged in the business of providing, purchasing and other services for its affiliated wholesalers who are referred to as buyer respondents in Paragraph 3 hereof.

In the course and conduct of its business, respondent I. G. A. receives orders from the buyer respondents to purchase commodities for them and transmits such orders as agent for said buyer respondents to the seller respondents and other sellers, as a result of the transmission of said orders, by said buyers to respondent I. G. A., the execution of same by said respondent I. G. A., for and in behalf of said buyers, and the acceptance of said orders by said seller respondents and other sellers, commodities, particularly foodstuffs, are by each of the said seller respondents and other sellers shipped from the State in which such commodities are located at the time of sale into and through the various other states of the United States directly to each of said buyer respondents.

In the course of the buying and selling transactions hereinabove referred to resulting in the delivery of commodities from seller respondents to the buyer respondents, said seller respondents, since June 19, 1936, have transmitted, paid and delivered and do transmit, pay and deliver to the respondent I. G. A. so-called brokerage fees or commissions, the same being percentages of the total sales prices agreed upon by the said seller respondents and the respondent I. G. A. Respondent I. G. A., since June 19, 1936, has received and accepted and is receiving and accepting such so-called brokerage fees or commissions upon the purchases of the buyer respondents. In 1937, respondent I. G. A. received such brokerage fees and commissions amounting to approximately $557,026.88; in 1944, such brokerage amounted to $346,667.39.

PAR. 7. In all of the buying and selling transactions hereinabove referred to, the so-called brokerage fees or commissions are paid and transmitted by the seller respondents and other sellers to and received and accepted by the respondent I. G. A., upon the purchases of the buyer respondents, while the said respondent I. G. A. is acting in fact in its own behalf and for and in behalf of buyer respondents, and for said so-called brokerage fees or commissions no services whatsoever have been rendered or are being rendered in connection with such purchases for or to said seller respondents and other sellers by respondent I. G. A.

Prior to the enactment of the Robinson-Patman Act in June, 1936, 80% of the so-called brokerage fees and commissions paid by the seller respondents and other sellers to respondent I. G. A., as intermediary upon the purchases of the buyer respondents were transmitted to and received and accepted by the buyer respondents. After the enactment of said Act, respondent I. G. A. discontinued the practice of remitting such brokerage and commissions, directly as such, to the buyer respondents; respondent I. G. A. in lieu thereof passed on, and now passes on, such brokerage and commissions to respondent buyers in the form of services, including advertising allowances by way of "territorial advertising contracts" which, in 1944, amounted to over $250,000 and in the form of dividends on 50% of the stock of respondent I. G. A. paid to its stockholder, respondent Grocers Company, for the benefit of the affiliated wholesalers who own the entire capital stock of said respondent Grocers Company.

PAR. 8. The payment, by seller respondents and others, of brokerage fees or commissions to the respondent I. G. A. upon the purchases of buyer respondents and the receipt and acceptance thereof by the respondent I. G. A. and its directors; Grocers Company and its directors; and the buyer respondents, in the manner and form hereinabove set forth, are in violation of the provisions of section 2, subsection (c) of the Clayton Act as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936.

DRAPER CORP.

NOTICE OF HEARING

Complaint—Count I. The Federal Trade Commission having reason to believe that Draper Corporation, hereinafter called respondent, since June 19, 1936, has violated and is now violating the provisions of section 2 (a) of the act of Congress entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes", approved October 15, 1914 (the Clayton Act), as amended by section 1 of the Act of Congress entitled "An act to amend section 2 of the act entitled 'An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes', approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C., title 15, Sec. 13), and for other purposes", approved June 19, 1936 (the Robinson-Patman Act), hereby issues this its complaint against respondent and states its charges with respect thereto as follows, to-wit:

PARAGRAPH 1. Respondent, Draper Corporation, is a corporation organized, existing and doing business under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Maine, with its general office and principal place of business at Hopedale, Massachusetts. It is now, and since its organization on or about July 5, 1916, has been engaged in the manufacture of single shuttle cotton, silk, rayon and other synthetic fiber automatic looms, and repair and replacement parts therefor, temples, automatic bobbins, shuttles and rings for such looms, and in the sale thereof to mills engaged in the manufacture of textiles, chiefly silk, cotton, rayon and other synthetic fibers, and of textiles made of mixtures of silk, cotton, rayon and of other synthetic fibers. The respondent on November 20, 1916, or thereabouts, acquired the property and the loom manufacturing business of a firm known as the Draper Company, which business had been established in 1816 or thereabouts, and had been carried on continuously from its establishment until its acquisition by the respondent which, since such acquisition, has continued the business originally established by the said Draper Company. The looms manufactured by said Draper Company, and since its acquisition by the respondent, have been and are still known and sold as Draper looms. In April, 1927, or thereabouts, respondent acquired and still owns all of the properties, assets and business of the Hopedale Manufacturing Company (a loom manufacturer) located at Milford, Massachusetts. The looms manufactured by such Hopedale Manufacturing Company, and since its acquisition by the respondent, have been and are still sold and known as Hopedale looms. On December 3, 1921, or thereabouts, respondent acquired and still owns all of the properties, assets and business of the Stafford Company (a loom manufacturer) of Reedville, Massachusetts. The looms manufactured by such Stafford Company, and since its acquisition by the respondent, have been and are still sold and known as Stafford looms.

PAR. 2. The respondent is now and since its organization in 1916 has been the only manufacturer of single shuttle cotton, silk, rayon and other synthetic fiber automatic looms in the United States, which said single shuttle looms are preferred by a substantial portion of textile manufacturers for the manufacture of textiles composed of silk, cotton, rayon and other synthetic fibers, and of textiles composed of mixtures of silk, cotton, rayon and of other synthetic fibers. The purchasers of its looms are approximately 1,100 in number, many of such purchasers having more than one mill. Since its organization the respondent has been and still is engaged in the sale of such looms, replacement and repair parts for such looms, temples, automatic bobbins, shuttles and rings therefor, to textile mills located throughout the several states of the United States, the Territories thereof and in the District of Columbia, causing said products, when sold by it, to be transported from the places of manufacture to the purchasers thereof located in the various states of the United States, the Territories thereof and in the District of Columbia. There is now, and at all times since the organization of said respondent has been a constant current of trade and commerce in said products between and among the various states of the United States, the Territories thereof and in the District of Columbia.

PAR. 3. In the course and conduct of its said business as herein described, respondent has been for more than three years last past and still is in substantial competition in the sale of looms, repair and replacement parts therefor, automatic bobbins, temples, shuttles and rings therefor, in commerce between and among the various states of the United States, the Territories thereof and in the District of Columbia with other corporations and with firms and persons, a number of whom are engaged only in the manufacture and sale of temples, bobbins, shuttles, and rings therefor, and repair and replacement parts for looms, in the commerce aforesaid.

PAR. 4. In the course and conduct of its said business described in Paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 hereof, respondent is now and for more than three years last past has been discriminating in price between different purchasers of such temples, bobbins, shuttles and rings therefor, and repair and replacement parts for looms, of like grade and quality, by selling its said product to some of its customers at lower prices than it sells and has sold products of like grade and quality to others of its customers. Included among such discriminations have been those arising from and as a part of sales by respondent to mill owners and contracts for sale by respondent with mill owners by which such mill owners are allowed a 5% discount from respondent's regular charging price for loom repair and replacement parts and complete mechanisms for looms of its manufacture, and also for looms made by the aforesaid Hopedale Manufacturing Company or by the said Stafford Company. The effect of said discriminations may be, has been, and is to substantially lessen competition with respondent in such temples, bobbins, shuttles and rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms, in the commerce aforesaid, to tend to create in respondent a monopoly in the aforesaid commerce in such temples, bobbins, shuttles and rings, repair and replacement parts for looms, and to injure, destroy and prevent competition with its competitors engaged in the sale of temples, bobbins, shuttles and rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms, in the commerce aforesaid.

PAR. 5. The foregoing acts and practices of respondent constitute a violation of the provisions of section 2 (a) of the above-mentioned act of Congress entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes", approved October 15, 1914 (the Clayton Act), as amended by section 1 of the act of Congress entitled "An act to amend section 2 of the act entitled 'An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes', approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C., title 15, Sec. 13), and for other purposes", approved June 19, 1936 (the Robinson-Patman Act).

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 22d day of April, A. D. 1946, now issues this its complaint against Draper Corporation stating its charges as hereinabove set out.

Count II. The Federal Trade Commission having reason to believe the Draper Corporation, hereinafter called respondent, has violated and is now violating the provisions of section 3 of the act of Congress entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes", approved October 15, 1914 (the Clayton Act), hereby issues this its complaint against respondent and states its charges with respect thereto as follows, to-wit:

PAR. 1. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 1 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 1 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 1 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 2. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 2 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 2 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 2 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 3. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 3 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 3 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 3 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 4. In the course and conduct of its business described in Paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of Count I of this complaint, the respondent in the course of such commerce has made sales and contracts for sale and is still making sales and contracts for the sale of temples, shuttles, bobbins, rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms, and has fixed and is still fixing prices charged therefor, or discount from or rebate upon such prices on the conditions, agreements and understandings that the purchasers thereof shall not use or deal in the temples, shuttles, bobbins, rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms, or other goods, wares, merchandise, machinery, supplies or other commodities of a competitor or competitors of the respondent. Included in such sales and contracts for sale have been and are those in which discounts from and rebates upon its prices have been allowed and given to some of its purchasers in consideration of the agreement by such purchasers to purchase their entire requirements of loom repair and replacement parts for the aforesaid Draper looms, Hopedale looms and Stafford looms from the respondent to the exclusion of other sellers and of other prospective and potential sellers. The effect of such sales and contracts for sale on such conditions, agreements and understandings may be, has been and still is to substantially lessen competition with respondent and tends to create and has created in respondent a monopoly in the commerce aforesaid of temples, shuttles, bobbins, rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms.

PAR. 5. The aforesaid acts of respondent constitute a violation of the provisions of section 3 of the hereinabove mentioned act of Congress entitled "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes", approved October 15, 1914 (the Clayton Act).

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 22d day of April, A. D. 1946, now issues this its complaint against Draper Corporation stating its charges as hereinabove set out.

Count III. Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act, and by virtue of the authority vested in it by said act, the Federal Trade Commission, having reason to believe that Draper Corporation, hereinafter referred to as respondent, has violated the provisions of the said act, and it appearing to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be in the public interest, hereby issues its complaint, stating its charges in that respect as follows:

PAR. 1. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 1 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 1 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said paragraph 1 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 2. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 2 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 2 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 2 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 3. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 3 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 3 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 3 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 4. For its charges under this paragraph of this count the Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 4 of Count I of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 4 of said Count I were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 4 of said Count I is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 5. For its charges under this paragraph of this count said Commission relies upon the matters and things set out in Paragraph 4 of Count II of this complaint to the same extent and as though the allegations of said Paragraph 4 of Count II were set out in full herein, and said Paragraph 4 of Count II is incorporated herein by reference and made a part of the allegations of this count.

PAR. 6. The acts and practices of the respondent as herein alleged are all to the prejudice of competitors of respondent and of the public; have a dangerous tendency to and have actually hindered and prevented competition in the sale of temples, bobbins, shuttles, rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms, in commerce within the intent and meaning of the Federal Trade Commission Act; have unreasonably restrained such commerce in temples, bobbins, shuttles, rings, and repair and replacement parts for looms and constitute unfair methods of competition in commerce within the intent and meaning of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 22nd day of April, A. D. 1946, now issues this its complaint against Draper Corporation stating its charges as hereinabove set out.

Notice. Notice is hereby given you, Draper Corporation, respondent herein, that the 31st day of May, A. D. 1946, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission in the City of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said Act, to appear and show cause why an order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the complaint.

You are notified and required, on or before the twentieth day after service upon you of this complaint, to file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The rules of practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule IX) provide as follows:

> In case of desire to contest the proceeding the respondent shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state.
> Failure of the respondent to file answer within the time above provided and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.
> If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true.
> Contemporaneously with the filing of such answer the respondent may give notice in writing that he desires to be heard on the question as to whether the admitted facts constitute the violation of law charged in the complaint. Pursuant to such notice, the respondent may file a brief, directed solely to that question, in accordance with Rule XXIII.

In witness whereof, The Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its complaint, to be signed by its Secretary and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 22d day of April A. D. 1946.

The Commission by order dated April 14, 1942, pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "act"), having directed among other things that The North American Company (hereinafter sometimes referred to as "North American" or as the "Company"), a registered holding company, sever its relationship with all of its subsidiaries, other than Union Electric Company of Missouri and certain subsidiaries of the latter company, by disposing or causing the disposition, in any appropriate manner not in contravention of the applicable provisions of said act or the rules and regulations thereunder, of its direct and indirect ownership, control and holding of securities issued and properties owned, controlled or operated by said subsidiary companies, the names of which subsidiary companies are more fully set forth in paragraph 1 of said order dated April 14, 1942; and

The North American Company having filed a petition to review the said order dated April 14, 1942, in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit; said Court having affirmed the decision of the Commission; and the United States Supreme Court having on April 1, 1946, affirmed the decree of said Circuit Court of Appeals affirming said order of the Commission;

It appearing appropriate to the Commission that the said proceedings herein should be reconvened for the purpose of entering such further orders as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out said order dated April 14, 1942, at which proceedings there may be considered any plans for that purpose proposed by North American or by any person having a bona fide interest as defined by rules and regulations of the Commission.

II. Notice is hereby given that The North American Company has filed with the Commission an application under section 11 (e) of the act for approval of certain Plans of that Company dated April 18, 1946, which Plans are characterized in said application as Plan A, Plan B and Plan C. All interested persons are referred to said Plans, which are on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed. Concurrently with the filing of said Plans dated April 18, 1946, The North American Company has filed a Notification of Abandonment of and Withdrawal of its application for approval of its earlier Plan of Reorganization dated August 4, 1943.

The provisions of Plans A, B and C are hereinafter summarized in this notice and order. Plan C is not being included within the subject matter of the hearing hereinafter ordered, but will be considered at other hearings to be made the subject of a separate order. For that reason the summary of Plan C hereinafter set forth is not comprehensive and is included merely for the purpose of clarity in connection with the statements of Plans A and B.

Plan A. 1. The plan provides for the issuance, to each of the holders of the 8,572,626 shares of outstanding common stock of North American, of transferable purchase warrants, each of which will permit the purchase, by such stockholders, within a period of six months from date of issue, of one "divestment unit." The purchase price required to be paid by each holder of such warrant for the acquisition of such divestment unit is to be supplied by amendment to the plan and is stated to be such amount (less than $6.00) as will produce from the sale of such divestment units approximately the sum necessary to pay the secured bank loans of the Company outstanding at the time of such payment.

2. Each divestment unit will consist of:

One-fifth of one share of common stock of The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company;

One-fourth of one share of common stock of Wisconsin Electric Power Company;

One-fifth of one participating unit of common stock of Washington Railway and Electric Company (each such participating unit representing the beneficial ownership of one-fortieth of one share of common stock of that Company);

One-tenth of one share of capital stock of The St. Louis County Gas Company, after effectuation of a charter amendment pursuant to which the presently outstanding 41,000 shares of common stock of that Company would be increased to 857,263 shares.

3. At any time before Plan A becomes effective, the Company reserves the right to sell, with the approval of the Commission, any of the shares of stock covered by the purchase warrants, the proceeds to be applied in reduction of the bank loans. It is stated that in this case the share-holdings covered by the purchase warrants would be reduced, with a corresponding reduction in the purchase price per divestment unit.

4. The right to exercise the proposed warrants will expire six months after date of original issue thereof. It is proposed that so long as any purchase warrants remain outstanding, dividends or distributions received by North American on the shareholdings covered by such warrants will not be set aside or accrued for the benefit of the holders of such warrants, but will be received by North American for its own benefit as part of its general corporate funds. Fractional scrip will be issued in transferable form in lieu of fractions of shares purchased on exercise of the warrants, such scrip having no rights as stock except the right in combination with other scrip to receive full shares of stock in exchange.

5. On the expiration of the right to exercise the warrants, the Company will sell so much of the shareholdings covered by unexercised purchase warrants as shall be necessary to realize the purchase price per divestment unit represented by the unexercised warrants, plus the expenses of such sales. The Company will select in its discretion the particular securities so to be sold. Any unsold balance of shareholdings covered by unexercised warrants will thereafter be distributed pro rata to the holders thereof upon surrender of their warrants.

6. At or before the sale of stock covered by unexercised purchase warrants the Company will sell or distribute 13,494 shares of 6% preferred stock and at least 56,000 additional shares of common stock of Wisconsin Electric.

7. On the basis of Plan A, the following numbers of shares of common stock of the four subsidiaries affected would respectively be distributed to the stockholders, sold, or retained by The North American Company:

Name of subsidiary	Distributed to stockholders	To be sold	To be retained	Percent of voting power retained	Carrying value on North American's books of securities retained [1]
	Shares	Shares	Shares	Percent
Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.	1,714,525		133,383	5.17	$2,772,979
Wisconsin Electric Power Co.	2,143,156	56,000	294,554	9.92	3,646,578
Washington Railway & Electric Co.	[2] 1,714,525		[2] 358,598	5.98	1,854,563
St. Louis County Gas Co.	857,263

Plan B. 1. It is proposed that a new Delaware Company be organized which will, at an appropriate time in connection with the consummation of Plan C, acquire:

(a) The securities of West Kentucky Coal Company, North American Utility Securities Corporation, 60 Broadway Building Corporation, and Hevi-Duty Electric Company;

(b) Other investments and current assets not otherwise disposed of under Plan A, including residual interests in Cleveland Electric, Wisconsin Electric and Washington Railway, as more fully set forth above, and including shares of Pacific Gas and Electric Company; and

(c) Other investments and assets as are not to be retained by the Company or its successor under Plan C, after divestment pursuant to such Plan.

2. The new Delaware Company will assume all obligations of North American not provided for under other plans or not to be carried by North American under Plan C. The list of assets to be transferred to and the list of obligations to be assumed by the new Delaware Company are to be supplied by amendment.

3. The entire capital stock of the new Delaware Company will be distributed pro rata to the holders of North American's common stock. To effect such distribution, North American proposes to amend its own charter to reduce the par value of its common stock from $10 per share to $5 per share and effect a corresponding reduction in its capital, whereupon a distribution of the stock of the Delaware Company would be made out of capital surplus of North American.

4. The Company reserves the right, at any time before the transfer of assets to the new company, to dispose of any such assets which would otherwise be transferred to such company. The investments transferred to the Delaware Company shall not include holdings in any public utility company of sufficient amount to constitute such public utility company a subsidiary of the new Delaware Company as defined in the act, and in case the new Delaware Company acquires 5% or more of the outstanding voting securities of any public utility company it will sell or otherwise dispose of sufficient of such voting securities to reduce its holdings to less than 5% thereof as soon as practicable after acquisition.

5. Within six months after the distribution of the capital stock of the new Delaware Company, the first annual meeting of stockholders of the Delaware Company will be held, at which time a vote will be taken to determine whether the Delaware Company shall continue in business or be liquidated and dissolved.

Plan C. 1. Plan C provides that North American will be changed in name to "Missouri-Illinois Company." Ultimately the new Company will own the securities of Union Electric Company of Missouri and Illinois Power Company. Plan C provides for the dissolution of North American Light & Power Company (Light & Power) by the retirement of $6 Preferred Stock of Light & Power at liquidation price, the acquisition by Missouri-Illinois of the publicly-held common stock of Light & Power through the exchange of stock on the basis of fourtenths of a share of Missouri-Illinois common stock for each share of Light & Power common stock and the acquisition by Missouri-Illinois of net assets of Light & Power after certain divestments.

2. Illinois Power Company will be recapitalized. For this purpose the presently outstanding preferred stock of Illinois Power aggregating $24,175,000 in amount will be retired or converted into common stock and Light & Power will exercise one half of the outstanding option warrants of Illinois Power, as a result of which exercise there will be issued 150,000 shares of additional common stock and Illinois Power will receive $4,500,000 of cash. The unpaid cumulative preferred dividends now in arrears, and the dividend arrears certificates of Illinois Power Company (together aggregating as of December 31, 1945, $13,381,601) will be paid in cash. In connection with this plan, the debt of Illinois Power will be reduced from $54,053,500 to $44,733,000 as of December 31, 1945; and new preferred stock will be issued in the aggregate par value of $16,000,000. Plan C provides also that the publicly-held common stock of Illinois Power Company will be exchanged for shares of common stock of Missouri-Illinois Company on the basis of two shares of Missouri-Illinois common stock for each share of Illinois Power Company common stock. All claims asserted by Illinois Power Company against Light & Power and North American and all counterclaims asserted by Light & Power against Illinois Power Company will be withdrawn and cancelled.

3. After consummation of the foregoing steps, Light & Power will be liquidated and its liabilities assumed by the surviving Missouri-Illinois Company. All securities received by such surviving company from Light & Power, other than securities of Illinois Power, will be disposed of by sale, distribution or otherwise within one year after the effective date of Plan C. Certain of such securities may be transferred to the new Delaware Company created under Plan B. Such disposition shall be made for the benefit of the present stockholders of North American, and those stockholders who become such through the issuance of additional shares under the plan (the present public common-stock holders of Light & Power and Illinois Power Company) shall not participate in such distribution.

III. It appearing appropriate that permission be given to The North American Company to withdraw its aforesaid earlier plan dated August 4, 1943, pursuant to the notice of withdrawal filed by said Company;

It is ordered, That pursuant to notice of withdrawal filed by The North American Company the aforesaid plan dated August 4, 1943, be and is hereby permitted to be withdrawn.

IV. The Commission having previously consolidated, for certain purposes, the proceedings heretofore instituted under section 11 (b) (1) of the act with respect to The North American Company and its subsidiary companies (File No. 59–10) and the proceedings with respect to the plan under Section 11 (e) filed by The North American Company on August 4, 1943 (File No. 54–82), together with proceedings for the liquidation and dissolution of North American Light & Power Company (File Nos. 59–39 and 54–50), subject to provisions that such proceedings might thereafter be severed for further hearing or disposition as might appear most appropriate to the orderly and expeditious conduct of such proceedings; and

It appearing appropriate that further proceedings be had herein, and that opportunity for hearing should be afforded with respect to the said Plans A and B filed by North American, and that at such hearing there should also be considered what further action should be taken by North American for the purpose of complying with the aforesaid order of the Commission dated April 14, 1942, as affirmed by the Supreme Court, with respect to the interests of North American in its subsidiaries therein ordered to be disposed of other than North American Light & Power Company and Illinois Power Company, and it appearing appropriate that at said hearing as hereinafter ordered there should also be considered any other plan or plans filed by any other person having a bona fide interest, designed to effect compliance by North American with the said order dated April 14, 1942, as more specifically hereinafter provided; and

It appearing appropriate, in the interests of the orderly disposition of the various proceedings pending before the Commission and the effective administration of the act, that such hearing be conducted separately from other hearings which have been or may be held in said consolidated proceedings relating particularly to the liquidation of North American Light & Power Company and related matters, but that the holding of such hearing be without prejudice to the orders of consolidation heretofore entered, the Commission reserving jurisdiction to dispose of any such matters by separate or consolidated orders as may appear appropriate;

It is further ordered, That a hearing shall be held with respect to compliance by North American with said order dated April 14, 1942, for the purposes more fully hereinafter set forth, on the 11th day of June, 1946, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. At the aforesaid hearing there will be considered:

(a) Whether Plan A, as filed or as it may be modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Act, is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, and will effectuate compliance with the Commission's order dated April 14, 1942; and in particular, without limiting the generality of the foregoing:

(1) Whether Plan A is fair and equitable, and is feasible, in so far as it requires security holders to make cash payments under the proposed purchase warrants as a condition precedent to obtaining their full pro rata participation in the stocks of Cleveland Electric, Wisconsin Electric, Washington Railway, and St. Louis County Gas Company.

(2) In connection therewith, whether it is necessary and appropriate to require cash payments by stockholders of North American for the purpose of paying the bank loan owing by North American in lieu of obtaining such cash by the sale or other disposition by North American of marketable securities in its portfolio, including among others the stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company owned by North American (stated in Plan A to have had a market value, as of December 31, 1945, of $21,105,882), and including such holdings of subsidiaries as are not readily distributable to security holders.

(3) Whether Plan A meets the standards of the Act and complies with the Commission's order dated April 14, 1942, in so far as it does not provide for the divestment by North American of its entire interests in Cleveland Electric, Wisconsin Electric and Washington Railway; whether the constitution of the "divestment units" proposed in Plan A should be modified so as to result in substantially complete distribution of shares of said subsidiary companies, with appropriate provisions for issuance of scrip and cash purchases by North American of such scrip from holders of small amounts thereof; and whether any order approving Plan A should be conditioned upon the divestment by North American of the remaining minority interests in said named subsidiaries, in some manner other than by transfer to the proposed new Delaware company, or to any other company under common or related management, ownership or control with that of the present North American.

(4) Whether the proposed "divestment units" should include stock of West Kentucky Coal Company, and of any other readily distributable securities.

(5) Whether, in the event any purchase warrants are issued as provided in Plan A, they should be permitted to run for a period as long as six months.

(6) Whether appropriate modifications should be required in Plan A for the purpose of eliminating from the managements of Cleveland Electric, Wisconsin Electric, Washington Railway, and St. Louis County Gas, any individuals who are also directors, officers or other representatives of North American or of any of its other subsidiaries.

(b) Whether Plan B, as filed or as it may be modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act, is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, and will effectuate compliance with the Commission's order dated April 14, 1942; and, in particular, without limiting the generality of the foregoing:

(1) Whether Plan B is in accord with the provisions of said order dated April 14, 1942, is in the interests of investors, and is otherwise in conformity with the provisions of the act, in so far as it provides for the creation of a new Delaware Company to hold certain non-utility securities and minority interests in utility companies;

(2) Whether, to the extent that Plan B may otherwise be in accord with the requirements of the statute, it is appropriate that Plan B should contain the provision therein set forth under which it is to be carried out only after consummation of Plan C.

(3) What provisions should be made in Plan B for the purpose of selecting the management of the proposed new Delaware company.

(4) Whether the provisions of Plan B as to the taking of a vote of stockholders as to the continuation in business of the proposed new Delaware company are appropriate and in the interests of investors, and whether other or different voting provisions should be required.

(c) Whether any plan proposed by the Commission or by any person having a bona fide interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11 (d) of the act, should be approved for the purpose of effectuating the order of the Commission dated April 14, 1942, and if proposed by the Commission, what the terms and provisions of such plan should be.

(d) Whether, in the event that the Commission shall approve Plan A or Plan B, or both such plans, as filed or as modified, the Commission shall approve either or both such plans for purposes of section 11 (d) of the act (as well as section 11 (e)) so as to permit the Commission of its own motion, and irrespective of any request therefor on the part of North American, to apply to a court for the enforcement of such plan or plans pursuant to section 11 (d).

It is further ordered, That any person having a bona fide interest, as defined in paragraph (h) of Rule U-103 of the Rules and Regulations of the Commission under the act, who desires to propose pursuant to section 11 (d) of said act a plan for compliance by The North American Company with the said order dated April 14, 1942, shall file such plan on or before the 4th day of June 1946. In the interests of orderly disposition of these proceedings, there will, generally speaking, be considered in connection with any such plan, at the hearing hereinbefore ordered, only such matters as are related to the disposition by North American of such of its assets and holdings previously ordered to be disposed of other than those in North American Light & Power Company and Illinois Power Company. The limitation of such consideration of such plans shall be without prejudice to the right of the proponent of any such plan to file, concurrently or hereafter, other plans, or to request consideration at another stage of these proceedings of any other part of such plan, dealing with other aspects of compliance with the aforesaid order dated April 14, 1942.

It is further ordered, That any interested person who desires to file objections to said Plan A or Plan B may do so on or before June 4, 1946. Such objections shall also be considered at said hearing. Any other person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate at said hearing should notify the Commission in the manner provided in Rule XVII of the Commission's Rules of Practice on or before June 7, 1946.

It is further ordered, That Robert P. Reeder or any other officer or officers of the Commission, designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing on such matter. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act, and to a trial examiner under the Rules of Practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of such hearing by mailing a copy of this order by registered mail to The North American Company and to all other participants in these consolidated proceedings (bearing file Nos. 59–10, 54–82, 59–39 and 54–50), and that notice of said hearing be given to all other interested persons by general release of the Commission and by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That The North American Company shall give notice of said hearing to all of its stockholders (in so far as the identity of such stockholders is known or available to North American), and to each of the holders of its outstanding Bank Loan Notes, by mailing to each of said persons a copy of this notice and order for hearing at his last known address at least fifteen days prior to the date of said hearing.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved to separate either for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues, questions or matters hereinbefore set forth or which may hereafter arise in these proceedings, or hereafter to consolidate in these proceedings other applications, declarations, or filings, or to take such other action as may appear to be necessary for the orderly, prompt and economical disposition of the matters involved.

By the Commission.

The Commission having heretofore conducted hearings in these consolidated proceedings concerning various claims asserted by Illinois Power Company, a registered holding company, against its direct and indirect parents, respectively, North American Light & Power Company ("Light & Power"), and The North American Company ("North American"), both registered holding companies, and concerning certain claims, and a claim-over with respect to the claims of Illinois Power Company, asserted by certain preferred stockholders of Light & Power (known as the Walters Group) on behalf of Light & Power, against North American; and

It appearing that in view of the magnitude of the record a period of time should be fixed for the filing of such requested findings and briefs substantially exceeding that ordinarily prescribed by the rules of practice;

It is ordered, That requested findings and briefs with respect to the aforesaid claims of Illinois Power Company against North American Light & Power Company and The North American Company, except to the extent that such matters have been covered by the requested findings and briefs previously filed as aforesaid, and with respect to the aforesaid claims and claim-over filed by the Walters Group on behalf of North American Light & Power Company against The North American Company, shall be filed with the Secretary of the Commission not later than June 24, 1946, and that reply briefs shall be filed not later than July 9, 1946.

ASSOCIATED ELECTRIC CO. AND ARIZONA GENERAL UTILITIES CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION AND PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 9th day of May 1946.

Associated Electric Company (Aelec), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of General Public Utilities Corporation, also a registered holding company, and Arizona General Utilities Company (Arizona General) a subsidiary of Aelec, having filed a joint application-declaration pursuant to sections 9 (a), 10, and 12 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-43 and U-44 promulgated thereunder in respect to the following proposed transactions:

Aelec proposes to sell to Graham County Electric Cooperative, Inc., and the Towns of Safford and Thatcher, Arizona, its entire investment in Arizona General for an aggregate base price of $410,000, subject to certain adjustments as provided in the contract of sale. As of December 31, 1945, Aelec's investment in Arizona General consisted of $149,500 principal amount of 6% First Mortgage Bonds due December 1, 1945; $86,000 principal amount of open account indebtedness; and 10,000 shares of common stock, without par value. Under the terms of the contract of sale the purchasers are to participate in the purchase of the securities and open account indebtedness of Arizona General in the following proportions:

Purchaser	Shares of stock	Bonds and open account indebtedness	Aggregate base purchase price
		Percent
Graham County	2,617	26.1687	$107,291.67
Safford	6,444	64.4409	264,204.00
Thatcher	939	9.3913	38,504.33
Total	10,000	100.00	410,000.00

In connection with the foregoing sale, it is proposed that Arizona General sell to Aelec, for a consideration of $1.00, the 80 shares of capital stock of Atlantic Utility Service Corporation, owned by Arizona General, or assign to Aelec the right of Arizona General to receive dividends, whether liquidating or otherwise, upon such stock.

Aelec states that it desires to consummate the above described transactions as a further step toward compliance with the provisions of section 11 (b) (1) of the act and in pursuance of the order of this Commission dated August 13, 1942, as amended, in the matter of Denis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp, Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation (File No. 59-32), directing said Trustees to dispose of their interest in certain companies, including Arizona General. In this connection Aelec has requested that the Commission find that the carrying out of the proposed transactions is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and that its order herein conform to the definition of the term "order of the Securities and Exchange Commission" contained in section 373 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, and contain the recitals, specifications and itemizations required by section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended.

Said application-declaration having been filed on March 25, 1946, and an amendment thereto having been filed on April 24, 1946, and notice of such filing having been duly given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23, promulgated pursuant to said act, and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said application-declaration within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

It appearing to the Commission that the sale by Aelec of a portion of the securities and indebtedness of Arizona General to the Towns of Safford and Thatcher is exempt from the provisions of section 12 (d) of the act by virtue of paragraph (b) (3) of Rule U-44, and the Commission observing no basis for adverse findings under section 12 (d) of the act and Rule U-44 with respect to the sale of the balance of such securities to Graham County Electric Cooperative, Inc.; and

The Commission observing no basis for adverse findings under the applicable standards of section 10 or 12 (f) of the act with respect to the acquisition by Aelec of 80 shares of capital stock of Atlantic Utility Service Corporation from Arizona General; and

The Commission finding that the proposed sale by Aelec of the securities and indebtedness of Arizona General are steps in compliance with the order of the Commission dated August 13, 1942;

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to said Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that the aforesaid application-declaration be, and hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective, forthwith.

It is further ordered, That the sale by Aelec of its investment in Arizona General consisting, as at December 31, 1945, of $149,500 principal amount of 6% First Mortgage Bonds due December 1, 1945; $86,000 principal amount of open account indebtedness; and 10,000 shares of common stock, is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of Section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and to effectuate and to comply with the order issued by the Commission on August 13, 1942 pursuant to said section in the proceedings entitled "In the Matter of Denis J. MIDDLE WEST CORP. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING AND ORDER FOR CONSOLIDATION AND ORDER FOR RECONVENING HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 10th day of May, A. D., 1946.

In the matter of the Middle West Corporation, North West Utilities Company, File No. 70-1277; The Middle West Corporation, North West Utilities Company, Wisconsin Power and Light Company, File No. 59-23.

Notice is hereby given that The Middle West Corporation, ("Middle West"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, North West Utilities Company ("North West"), also a registered holding company, have filed an application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

All interested persons are referred to said document which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a complete statement of the transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

North West proposes to liquidate and dissolve, distributing to its shareholders its assets, which consist principally of 1,159,850 shares of common stock of its subsidiary, Wisconsin Power and Light Company ("Wisconsin Common"). To the holders other than Middle West of its 7% Prior Lien Stock and 7% Preferred Stock ("North West Preferred"), it proposes to distribute such number of shares of Wisconsin Common as shall have a value equal to the liquidating value of such preferred shares, $100 per share, plus accrued dividends thereon. Cash will be distributed in lieu of fractional shares. The value per share of Wisconsin Common for this purpose shall equal the initial public offering price of such shares as determined at competitive bidding by underwriters who will be invited by Middle West, on behalf of the public holders of North West Preferred, to submit bids for an offer to purchase from such shareholders the shares of Wisconsin Common which they may be entitled to receive in exchange for North West Preferred. Middle West has specified that the initial offering price of Wisconsin Common shall be not less than $21.75 per share, and that the fees and expenses of the underwriting shall be paid by Middle West.

Thereafter, North West will distribute as a final liquidating dividend all its remaining assets to Middle West as the holder of the remaining preferred stock and all of its common stock.

Middle West thereupon proposes to distribute to its shareholders, pro rata as nearly as may be, the shares of Wisconsin Common to be received as described above, plus 9,075 shares of such stock presently owned by Middle West. Cash will be distributed in lieu of fractional shares. The value per share of Wisconsin Common shall equal the initial public offering price determined by the competitive bidding procedure described above. Middle West further proposes to invite on its own account competitive bids from underwriters for the purchase from it of such shares of Wisconsin Common as shall not be so distributed to its shareholders.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters and that said application and declaration should not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission; and

The Commission having heretofore on September 10, 1943, issued its findings, opinion and order pursuant to section 11 (b) (2) of the act (Holding Company Act Release No. 4552, File No. 59-23), requiring, among other things, that North West be liquidated and its existence terminated; and

It appearing to the Commission that the foregoing matters under File Nos. 70-1277 and 59-23 as they pertain to Middle West, North West, and Wisconsin Power and Light Company, are related and involve common questions of law and fact; that evidence offered in respect of each of said matters may have a bearing on the other; that the substantial savings in time, effort and expense will result if the hearings on said matters are consolidated so that they may be heard as one matter and so that evidence heretofore or hereafter adduced with respect to each of said matters may stand as evidence in both of said matters for all purposes;

It is ordered, That the hearing "In the Matter of The Middle West Corporation, North West Utilities Company and Wisconsin Power and Light Company, File No. 59-23" with respect to the issues and matters herein recited to be reconvened and consolidated with the hearing on the above described application and declaration. The Commission reserves the right, if at any time it may appear conducive to an orderly and economic disposition of said matters, to order a separate hearing concerning such matter, to close the record with respect to any of the matters, or to take action on any of the matters prior to the closing of the record on any other matter.

It is further ordered, That a hearing on such matters under the applicable provisions of said act and rules and regulations of the Commission thereunder be held on June 12, 1946, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room where such hearing will be held. At such hearing cause will be shown why such application-declaration should be granted and permitted to become effective respectively. Notice is hereby given to The Middle West Corporation, to North West Utilities Company, to Wisconsin Power and Light Company, to the Wisconsin Public Service Commission, to the Federal Power Commission, and to all interested persons, said notice to be given to The Middle West Corporation, to North West Utilities Company, to Wisconsin Power and Light Company, to the Wisconsin Public Service Commission and the Federal Power Commission by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceeding should notify the Commission in the manner provided by the rules of practice, Rule XVII, on or before June 10, 1946.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen or any other officer of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing at such time. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That North West Utilities Company notify the holders of its Prior Lien Stock and its Preferred Stock, to the extent that their addresses are known or available to it, by mailing a copy of this notice and order to said security holders not later than fifteen days prior to June 12, 1946.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said application-declaration otherwise to be considered in this proceeding, particular attention will be directed at such hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the proposals as presently on file or as they may hereafter be modified are necessary or appropriate to comply with the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and the rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission adopted thereunder and are fair and equitable to all persons affected thereby.

2. Whether the proposed acquisition by The Middle West Corporation has the tendency required by section 10 (c) (2) of the act.

3. In connection with the proposed sales to underwriters of the common stock of Wisconsin Power and Light Company, whether the consideration to be received and the fees and expenses to be paid are reasonable, whether competitive conditions are maintained, and whether such sales are subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50.

4. The propriety of the proposed accounting treatment of the several transactions on the books of the respective applicants or declarants (or both).

5. Generally, whether the proposed transactions comply with all the applicable provisions and requirements of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, and, if not, whether and what modifications, terms or conditions should be required or imposed to satisfy the statutory standards.

By the Commission.

EAGLE ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURING CO., INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to the provisions of Supplementary Order No. 148; it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. This order establishes maximum prices for sales and deliveries of Model No. 395 desk lamp and Model No. 575 bed lamp manufactured by Eagle Electric Manufacturing Company, Inc., of 23-10 Bridge Plaza South, Long Island City 1, N. Y., for sales by it to jobbers as follows:

Article	Model No.	Maximum prices for sales to jobbers
		Each
Utility desk lamp	395	$1.00
Bakelite nite-beam bed lamp	575	.91

(1) The application is denied as to Bakelite Bed Lamp, Model No. 300.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. (1) A reseller at wholesale who determined his maximum resale price under section 4.5 (b) of Supplementary Regulation 14 J shall calculate his ceiling price according to the method provided by paragraph (b) (2) of section 4.5 on the basis of the manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price as permitted by this order regardless of whether the article was sold by the reseller during March 1942.

(2) A reseller at wholesale who determines his maximum resale price under section 4.5 (c) of Supplementary Regulation 14 J shall calculate his ceiling price according to the method provided by paragraph (c) of section 4.5 on the basis of the seller's invoice cost.

(3) A reseller at wholesale who cannot determine his ceiling price in accordance with the foregoing provisions shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of his ceiling prices in accordance with the provisions of section 4.5 (d) of Supplementary Regulation 14 J. Ceiling prices authorized under that provision will reflect the supplier's prices adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) A reseller who determined his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation shall calculate his ceiling prices by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the seller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(d) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 shall compute his ceiling price in the manner provided by that regulation.

(e) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(f) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a ceiling price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify in writing each purchaser for resale, of the adjusted ceiling prices for resales of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(g) The provisions of Order No. 63 under Supplementary Order No. 119 issued on the 29th day of January 1946, and any amendments thereto are hereby revoked insofar as the said Order No. 63 applies to Utility Desk Lamp, Model No. 395; and Bakelite Nite-Beam Bed Lamp, Model No. 575, manufactured by Eagle Electric Manufacturing Company, Inc.

(h) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to any of the articles covered by this order.

(i) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 10th day of May 1946.

BROOKLYN HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT CO., INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Brooklyn Hospital Equipment Company, Murdock and Oak Streets, Johnstown, Pennsylvania may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all the hospital equipment which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article which has a properly established ceiling price in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by 19.3 per cent.

(2) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(3) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A reseller who had a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued for an article covered by this order may add to that maximum price an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment charge authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier.

(2) If the reseller did not have a properly established maximum price for the article in effect before this order was issued he shall first determine a maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges), and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) for this purpose the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less an adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(3) If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to the seller's terms, discounts and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March, 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to sales of articles covered by this order.

(e) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

The adjustment charge determined in accordance with this order must be stated separately upon invoices for all sales of articles covered by this order.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on the 11th day of May 1946.

Issued this 10th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Order No. 199 under revised Supplementary Order No. 119. Docket No. 6075-SO 119-25. Adjustment of maximum prices for sales of Ball Cock No. 66 and Beer Tap No. 8128 Hi-Boy manufactured by the Sherwood Brass Works, Detroit, Mich.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to section 13 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Maximum Prices for Sherwood Brass Works of Detroit, Mich. (1) The above manufacturer may determine his maximum prices for his lines of ball cock No. 66 and beer tap No. 8128 Hi-Boy by increasing by the following percents his prices on these items in effect on October 1, 1941 to each class of purchaser:

	Percent
Beer Tap No. 8128 Hi-Boy	6.3

(2) Since the provisions of this order are not intended to reduce properly established maximum prices, the manufacturer may continue to use as his maximum prices to each class of purchaser his properly established prices in effect under Maximum Price Regulation No. 591 in the event that such prices exceed the prices in effect to each class of purchaser on October 1, 1941 plus the increase provided for in (1) above.

(3) The maximum prices set forth above shall be subject to discounts and allowances including transportation allowances and price differentials which are at least as favorable as those the manufacturer extended or rendered or would have extended or rendered to each class of purchaser on commodities in the same general category during March 1942.

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. All resellers of the commodities covered by this Order (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their presently established maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted the manufacturer by this order.

(c) Notification to all purchasers. The manufacturer shall send the following notice to every purchaser of the commodities covered by this order at or before the time of the first invoice after the adjustment granted by this order is put into effect:

Order No. 199 under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119 authorizes the following increase in October 1, 1941, net prices for sales of these items manufactured by this company:

	Percent
Beer tap No. 8128 Hi-Boy	6.3

Resellers (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their existing maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted by Order No. 199.

(d) All prayers for relief not granted herein are denied.

(e) This order may be amended or revoked by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective May 10, 1946.

Issued this 10th day of May 1946.

PITTSBURGH TABLE CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Pittsburgh Table Company, 1247 Reedsdale Street, Pittsburgh, Pa., may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of metal household furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 22.3 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price", the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective May 10, 1946.

SEMCO FURNITURE CORP.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119; it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Semco Furniture Corporation, 555 Main Street, North Tonawanda, N. Y., may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of metal household furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 24.1 per cent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price" the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective May 10, 1946.

Issued this 10th day of May 1946.

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

LLOYD MANUFACTURING CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Lloyd Manufacturing Company, North State Street, Menominee, Mich., may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of Metal Household Furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 18 per cent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by these regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under these regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price", the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of The General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time, of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective May 10, 1946.

MEN'S TAILORED CLOTHING CATEGORIES

TEMPORARY ADJUSTMENT OF CERTAIN MAXIMUM AVERAGE PRICES

An opinion accompanying this amendment to Special Order No. 3 under section 17 of Supplementary Order 108 has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Special Order 3 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 5 is amended by adding at the end of the last undesignated paragraph thereof the following: "The statements containing the information required by paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section pertaining to any category listed in section 7 (c) must be filed on or before May 31, 1946."

2. Paragraph (c) is added to section 7 to read as follows:

(c) Exemption prices for the second quarter of 1946 only. In figuring your adjusted maximum average prices for the second quarter of 1946 only, you may use the exemption prices set forth below instead of the exemption prices listed in section 7 (a) for the same category.

(1) Category No.	(2) Exemption price (each)
E-1	$21.00
E-2	13.50
E-3	9.75
E-4	7.00
E-7	18.00
E-8	12.00
E-9	8.75
E-10	6.00
E-12A	21.00
E-12B	17.50
E-13	13.25
E-14	9.00
E-15	7.50
E-16	6.50
E-18C	13.00
E-24	10.75
E-25	8.25
E-27	5.25
E-28	4.75
E-48A	6.00
E-48B	4.50
E-49	3.75
E-50	3.00
E-53B	3.00
E-55	2.25
E-56	1.75

3. Section 10 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 10. Recalculation of net surcharges incurred in the first quarter of 1946.—(a) How to recalculate the surcharge. If you had a net surcharge at the end of the first quarter of 1946, you may subtract from that net surcharge an amount computed as follows:

Step 1: Find the amount of your net surcharge at the end of the first quarter of 1946.

Step 2: Find the difference in each category between the highest maximum average price available to you during the first quarter of 1946 and the highest maximum average price which would have been available if section 7 (c) of Special Order 3 had been in effect during the first quarter of 1946.

Step 3: For each category multiply the amount found in Step 2 by the number of units you delivered in that category during the first quarter of 1946.

Step 4: Add together the amounts found in Step 3 for all categories.

Step 5: Subtract the amount found in Step 4 from the net surcharge found in Step 1. The result is your net surcharge at the end of the first quarter of 1946.

NOTE: If the amount found in Step 4 is equal to or greater than the net surcharge found in Step 1, you are deemed to have incurred no surcharge at the end of the first quarter of 1946 and you may consider yourself on a normal operation basis during the entire second quarter of 1946. However, where the amount found in Step 4 is greater than the surcharge found in Step 1, you may not carry over the difference as a credit into your normal operation.

(b) Filing a report of the recalculation under this section. If you have recalculated a net surcharge as described in (a) above, you must file, together with each copy of the statement required by section 5 of this order, a separate statement showing all the calculations found in Steps 1 through 5.

This amendment shall become effective May 13, 1946.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 13th day of May 1946.

[Rev. SO 119, Order 192]

SPECIAL HARDSHIP PROVISION FOR RECONVERTING MANUFACTURERS

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to section 14 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. Scope of this order. This order applies to any reconverting manufacturer who is eligible to use the adjustment provisions of Revised Supplementary Order 119, for whom the amount of adjustment afforded by that order is not adequate to prevent financial hardship jeopardizing the continued operation of his entire business. In such a case, a special adjustment may be provided the manufacturer under this order. Such an adjustment may be made when the manufacturer can show:

(a) His ceiling prices, including any adjustment to which he is entitled under Revised Supplementary Order 119, are not high enough to prevent his entire business from operating at a projected overall loss. In making this calculation, the net profit or loss on the products eligible for adjustment under Revised Supplementary Order 119 shall be determined by a projection based on 1941 volume and overhead expense.

(b) The prospective loss operation is due to factors which are not temporary in character.

(c) His rate of production is not likely to rise high enough in the immediate future to allow him to qualify for an adjustment under other adjustment provisions based on realized cost.

SEC. 2. Amount of adjustment. For any manufacturer who qualified under Section 1, an adjustment will be provided sufficient to remove the projected overall loss or the projected loss on the products eligible under Revised Supplementary Order 119 whichever is the lower. The Administrator may, however, refuse to reflect fully in the price adjustment a particular cost which is so excessive in view of the industry experience, or of other information available to the Administrator, as to indicate either a temporary situation or one which the applicant could correct by the exercise of ordinary business prudence.

This order shall become effective on the 18th day of May 1946.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. Purpose of this order. Clocks and watches have been found to be reconversion products in accordance with the standards set forth in § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188. This order is issued under that section and fixes new ceiling prices for sales by manufacturers by permitting them to increase their prices (other than to ultimate consumers) in effect between October 1 and October 15, 1941, or established under certain provisions of MPR 188, by a specified price increase factor.

This order also contains provisions establishing new ceiling prices for wholesalers' and retailers' sales of clocks and watches.

SEC. 2. Articles and persons covered. (a) This order applies to sales by manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers of clocks and watches. In this order the term "clocks" means both spring-wound and electric powered clocks and clock movements (complete with time trains). The term "watches" means the type of watch (commonly called "clock-type") produced by the clock industry, including those models which have one or more jewels, and includes clocks which contain watch movements.

This order does not cover electric clock motors without time trains, timing devices or clock systems which are under RMPR 136, jewelled watches produced by the jewelled watch industry, clocks and watches with imported movements which are under the MIPR or RMPR 499, respectively, or used clocks and watches which are covered by the GMPR and MPR 429.

(b) As used in this order:

(1) The terms "wholesalers" and "retailers" refer to persons making sales at wholesale and at retail as defined in the GMPR.

(2) The term "direct buying retailer" means a mail order house (an establishment selling at retail which, as a separate operating unit, makes offerings through catalogues or printed price lists, receives orders by mail, and makes deliveries by mail, railway, express, or other common carrier), a chain store (a retail store which is one or a group of ten or more retail stores under common ownership or control which, as a group, had combined sales of over $1,000,000 in 1944), or a retailer who purchases at the manufacturers ceiling price to wholesalers.

(3) The term "manufacturer's price" for the purpose of calculating resellers' ceiling prices means the manufacturer's ceiling price, or adjusted ceiling price as provided by section 3 of this order, for sales to wholesalers or his selling price to that class of purchaser if he sells at less than his ceiling price.

SEC. 3. Manufacturers' ceiling prices. (a) A manufacturer's ceiling price for the sale to each class of purchaser other than an ultimate consumer of a clock or a watch covered by this order is the highest of the applicable of the following:

(1) His highest price to each class of purchaser in effect between October 1 and October 15, 1941; or his ceiling price to each class of purchaser established under the First, Second, or Third Pricing Methods of MPR 188, provided that price was based on maximum prices of comparable articles which are no higher than his October 1941 prices; or established under the provisions of the Fourth Pricing Method or § 1499.159 (c) of MPR 188; plus:

20.5% in the case of watches;
17% in the case of spring-wound clocks; and
15% in the case of electric clocks.

(2) His highest price to each class of purchaser during March 1942, or his ceiling price determined under the First, Second, or Third Pricing Methods of MPR 188 based on maximum prices for the comparable articles which were higher than the manufacturer's prices in effect during October 1941.

(3) His adjusted ceiling price to each class of purchaser established under the provisions of Supplementary Orders 118, 133, or 148 or Revised Supplementary Order 119.

(4) His ceiling price to each class of purchaser established under Order No. 4332 or Revised Order 4332 under MPR 188, Simplified pricing for new small volume manufacturers.

(b) Orders may be issued under this section denying a manufacturer permission to sell at prices adjusted by all or part of the increases authorized by this section when it appears that the manufacturer has discontinued or will discontinue production of his low-priced models of any type of clocks and watches, or will decrease the proportions of low-priced to high-priced models which he manufactures, so that his present or prospective production is not representative of his sales between October 1 and October 15, 1941. The average price at which the manufacturer's products will be sold will be considered in determining how much, if any, of the increases will be granted to such a manufacturer.

SEC. 4. Retail ceiling prices. This section provides for the determination of retail ceiling prices of clocks and watches covered by this order. Manufacturers, except in the case of articles which are sold only to another manufacturer, are required to calculate the retail ceiling prices of their products in accordance with the provisions of this section and to comply with the tagging provisions of section 7.

(a) The retail ceiling price, except as provided in (b) below, is the "manufacturer's price" to a wholesaler plus the applicable one of the following percentages, the total to be adjusted to the nearest 5¢:

(1) 73% in the case of watches and spring-wound clocks for which the "manufacturer's price" is less than $2.90;

(2) 80% in the case of watches and spring-wound clocks for which the "manufacturer's price" is $2.90 or more but less than $5.56; and electric clocks for which the "manufacturer's price" is less than $5.56.

(3) 97% in the case of watches and clocks for which the "manufacturer's price" is $5.56 or more.

(c) The applicable Federal Excise tax upon the retail price may be collected in addition to the retail ceiling prices determined in accordance with this section.

SEC. 5. Wholesalers' ceiling prices. A wholesaler's ceiling price for a clock or watch covered by this order is the wholesale ceiling price calculated by the manufacturer in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(1) 28% in the case of watches and spring-wound clocks for which the manufacturer's price is less than $2.90;

(2) 30% in the case of watches and spring-wound clocks for which the manufacturer's price is $2.90 or more, but less than $5.56; and electric clocks for which the manufacturer's price is less than $5.56.

(3) 33% in the case of watches and clocks for which the manufacturer's price is $5.56 or more.

The manufacturer shall calculate wholesalers' ceiling prices for sales in larger quantities by applying to the wholesale ceiling prices for sales in smallest quantities the differentials contained in his October 1941 price list for sales in such larger quantities.

(b) A manufacturer who had no published price list in effect during October 1941 or whose price list did not show different prices for sales by wholesalers in small and large quantities shall determine the wholesale ceiling price for sales of all quantities by applying to the retail ceiling price (exclusive of the Federal excise tax) the applicable one of the following discounts:

(1) 29.5% in the case of watches and spring-wound clocks for which the manufacturer's price is less than $2.90;

(2) 32% in the case of watches and spring-wound clocks for which the manufacturer's price is $2.90 or more but less than $5.56; and electric clocks for which the manufacturer's price is less than $5.56.

(3) 35% in the case of watches and clocks for which the manufacturer's price is $5.56 or more.

SEC. 6. Wholesalers' and retailers' terms. (a) Wholesalers' and retailers' ceiling prices fixed by this order are subject to the cash discounts, delivery terms, allowances and other price differentials which they had in effect during March 1942 or which have been established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(b) A wholesaler or retailer who did not sell clocks and watches during March 1942, shall allow the same cash discounts, delivery terms, allowances and other price differentials which the wholesaler's or retailer's closest competitor who did sell clocks and watches during March 1942 is required to allow in accordance with the provisions of this order.

(c) A wholesaler or retailer who cannot ascertain the cash discounts, delivery terms, etc., which his nearest competitor is required to allow, shall apply to the nearest District Office of the Office of Price Administration for an order under this section establishing the conditions to which his ceiling prices are subject. Such applications may be made by letter and shall state the type of business he is operating (wholesaler, retailer) when he started to sell clocks and watches, the brands of clocks and watches, and the classes of purchasers to whom he sells. An order will be issued under this section establishing terms, allowances and other price differentials, and conditions of sale in line with the conditions of sale generally fixed by this order.

(d) If a wholesaler or retailer who did not sell clocks and watches during March 1942 does not allow the same discounts, delivery terms, and other price differentials allowed by his nearest competitor who did sell clocks and watches during March 1942, and does not file an application in accordance with the provisions of this section, or if he fails to provide any of the information required by this section, the Price Administrator may, on his own motion, issue orders under this section fixing discounts, allowances, and other price differentials in line with such conditions of sale fixed by this order. Conditions of sale so established will apply to all sales and deliveries made on and after May 13, 1946.

SEC. 7. Retail price tags. (a) Unless otherwise authorized by the Office of Price Administration, no manufacturer may, on and after June 12, 1946, ship to any purchaser a clock or watch for which the retail ceiling price is fixed by this order unless there is attached to it a retail ceiling price tag or label. That tag or label shall state: The manufacturer's name or the brand name; the model designation of the article; the retail ceiling price; the amount, or the applicable percentage, of Federal excise tax upon that retail ceiling price, and that the tag or label may not be removed before the article is delivered to the consumer.

A tag or label in the following form with the blanks properly filled in will satisfy this requirement:

Model No.------
OPA retail ceiling price—$------
------% Federal excise tax $------
Do Not Detach

However, a manufacturer is not required to comply with the foregoing tagging provision with respect to articles which are shipped to mail order houses or to persons who operate both as chain stores and as mail order houses; or articles which are shipped for export.

(b) On and after June 12, 1946, no retailer may display, offer for sale, sell, or deliver at retail a clock or watch for which the retail ceiling price is fixed by this order unless there is attached to it a tag or label containing all the information required by paragraph (a) of this section, except that mail order houses are not required to comply with this provision with respect to those articles for which a price no higher than their retail ceiling price is published in their current catalog or price list.

SEC. 8. Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first to a purchaser for resale of clocks and watches covered by this order the manufacturer shall notify the wholesaler of the wholesale ceiling prices which he has calculated in accordance with the provisions of Section 5 and the manufacturer or wholesaler shall notify retailer purchasers of the retail ceiling prices for all clocks and watches which the manufacturer does not tag with the retail ceiling price. These notices may be given in any convenient form.

SEC. 9. Credit charges on retailers' sales. Charges for the extension of credit may be added to the retail ceiling prices established by this order or by any order issued under this order unless otherwise provided. No such credit charge may exceed that permitted by this section.

(a) Retailers who in March 1942 collected a separately stated additional charge for the extension of credit on sales of clocks and watches, may collect a charge for the extension of credit on sales under this order, not exceeding such charge in March 1942 on a similar sale on similar terms to the same class of purchaser. Retailers who did not then so state and collect an additional charge, may collect a charge for the extension of credit only on installment plan sales; and the charge shall not exceed the separately stated additional charge collected for the extension of credit on a similar sale on similar terms to the same class of purchaser in March 1942 by the retailer's closest competitor who made such a separately stated charge.

An installment plan sale as used in the above paragraph means a sale where the unpaid balances are to be paid in installments over a period of either (1) six weeks or more from the date of sale in the case of weekly installments, or (2) eight weeks or more in the case of other than weekly installments.

(b) All charges for the extension of credit shall be quoted and stated separately. Any charge which is not quoted and stated separately or which otherwise does not conform to this section, shall for the purpose of this order, be considered to be part of the price charged for the article sold.

(c) No retailer may require as a condition of sale that the purchaser must buy on credit.

SEC. 10. Relationship between this order and other regulations. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, and of any other orders previously issued under those regulations and orders, with respect to sales and deliveries for which ceiling prices are established by this order to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of those regulations.

SEC. 11. Revocation of certain ceiling prices. Regardless of any provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, or any approval or order obtained or issued thereunder by the Office of Price Administration, all ceiling prices heretofore or hereafter established by any seller under those regulations or orders do not apply to any sales or deliveries made after June 12, 1946, except those manufacturers' ceiling prices continued in effect by section 3 of this order.

In addition, all resellers' ceiling prices approved or established by orders at any time under Supplementary Order No. 118, Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, Supplementary Orders 133, 148, or 153, shall not apply to any articles which are delivered by the manufacturer on or after May 13, 1946. Resellers' ceiling prices for such articles shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this order.

SEC. 12. Definitions. Unless otherwise defined herein or the context otherwise requires, the definitions contained in § 1499.40 of the General Maximum Price Regulation and § 1499.163 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, whichever is applicable, shall apply to all terms used herein.

SEC. 13. Delegation of authority. Any Regional Administrator or District Administrator authorized by the appropriate Regional Administrator, may issue orders under section 6 of this order.

SEC. 14. Modification of the provisions of this order. The provisions of this order, as applicable to articles or persons subject hereto, may be modified by orders of general applicability issued under this section.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 13th day of May 1946.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 13th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

SECTION 1. Explanation of the order. This order establishes adjusted maximum prices for sales at retail of raw, pasteurized and Vitamin D-Homogenized Certified fluid milk, in glass containers in the New York Metropolitan-Northern New Jersey Marketing Area, Southern New Jersey Marketing Area and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Marketing Area, all described in section 2 of this order. Maximum prices previously established under General Maximum Price Regulation and Supplementary Regulation No. 14A to the General Maximum Price Regulation for sales of certified fluid milk in glass containers, in the areas specified in this order, are superseded by the maximum prices established herein.

SEC. 2. Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(a) "Fluid milk" means liquid cow's milk, raw or processed, which is sold for human consumption in fluid form as whole milk.

(b) "Certified fluid milk", raw, pasteurized or Vitamin D-Homogenized shall have the meanings prescribed for such types of milk by the American Association of Milk Commissions, Inc., in their bulletin entitled "Methods and Standards for the Production of Certified Milk", adopted by the association on June 19, 1944.

(c) "At retail" means a sale and delivery of Certified fluid milk to the ultimate consumer either by a store or delivered directly to the home of the ultimate consumer.

Raw and pasteurized	24
Vitamin D-homogenized	25
Philadelphia, Pa., Marketing Area:
Raw and pasteurized	23½
Vitamin D-homogenized	24½

SEC. 4. Calculations. Where the adjusted maximum price is a unit figure containing a fraction of a cent, the seller must multiply such fractional unit figure by the total number of units in each sale or series of sales for which a single collection is made. Where the resulting amount contains a fraction of a cent, or where only one unit is sold, the seller shall adjust the maximum price to the nearest full cent, except that if the fraction should be a half cent the seller shall adjust the maximum price to the next higher cent (for example, a maximum price of 4½¢ per one unit shall be adjusted to 5¢ for one unit, 9¢ for two units, 14¢ for three units, etc.).

SEC. 5. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this order shall apply only to sales of Certified fluid milk, raw, pasteurized and Vitamin D-Homogenized in quart glass containers at retail in New York Metropolitan-Northern New Jersey, Southern New Jersey and Philadelphia Marketing Areas, all as defined in section 2 of this order.

FLUID MILK IN OMAHA, NEBR., AND COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA

For the reasons set forth in the accompanying opinion and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator by § 1499.75 (a) (9) of Supplementary Regulation No. 15 to the General Maximum Price Regulation and by § 1351.807 (b) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 280, it is ordered:

(a) Maximum wholesale and retail prices. Maximum prices for sales of fluid milk at wholesale and retail in glass or paper containers, and for sales in bulk to stores, hotels and restaurants are hereby increased ¼¢ a half-pint, ⅓¢ a third quart, ½¢ a pint, 1¢ a quart, 2¢ a half gallon and 4¢ a gallon over the prices established by the seller under the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that the increases permitted on sales of half-pints, and one-third quarts shall apply only to sales at wholesale.

(b) Applicability. Maximum prices established by paragraph (a) of this order shall apply to all sales by distributors subject to Federal Milk Marketing Order No. 35 issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, affecting the Omaha, Nebraska and Council Bluffs, Iowa markets. It shall also apply to all resellers who obtain a major portion of their supply from distributors whose maximum prices have been increased by this order.

(c) Multiple unit sales. Where because of the increases permitted by paragraph (a) of this order a maximum price results in a price expressed in terms of ½ cent, the price charged for a single unit at retail may be increased to the next even cent. An opportunity must, however, be given to each buyer to purchase two units for which the maximum price will be twice the single unit price. All sales at wholesale and home delivery sales at retail shall be considered multiple unit sales unless separate collections are made for single units when delivered.

(d) Relation of this order to office of Price Administration regulations. Except as modified by this order, the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, or any other regulation or order shall remain in full force and effect and shall not be evaded by any change in business or trade prices in effect during the applicable base period of such regulation or orders.

(e) Revocability. The order may be revoked, amended or corrected at any time.

This order has been approved by the Department of Agriculture.

The order shall become effective May 10, 1946.

§ 202.2 Competition with private enterprise. Under no conditions will War Department airfield services and facilities be made available for the use of civil aircraft in competition with private enterprise.

§ 202.3 Emergency sales. Commanding officers of Army Air Forces stations are authorized to make emergency sales of aircraft fuel, oil, equipment, and supplies, and to furnish mechanical service, temporary shelter, and other assistance for cash in emergencies where such supplies or assistance is required in order that aircraft may continue on its course to the nearest airport operated by private enterprise. The extent and amounts of aircraft fuel, oil, equipment, supplies, mechanical services and shelter furnished to operators of aircraft referred to in § 202.1 (a), will be as determined by the commanding officer of the station concerned. This determination will be based on the nature of the mission or flight the aircraft is engaged in and will be subject to provisions of §§ 202.4, 202.5 and 202.6.

§ 202.4 Prohibited sales. Complete engines, airplane wings, and other major items of equipment will not be sold.

§ 202.5 Emergency storage and overhauling. (a) Civil aircraft damaged to such an extent that major repairs are required may be given emergency storage at the request of the pilot, provided necessary facilities are available, at the rates for shelter shown in § 202.6, but a major or minor overhauling of civil aircraft will not be made at Army Air Forces stations by Army personnel.

(b) Damaged aircraft may, when facilities are available, be stored in its original damaged condition, but the Government will not assume any responsibility for its safekeeping and the owner will be required to take charge of it and remove it from Government storage at the earliest practical date.

§ 202.6 Prices to be charged—(a) General. All articles will be sold and assistance furnished at the fair market value prevailing locally, but in no case will aviation supplies be sold for less than cost price plus 15 percent for transportation, handling, etc.

(b) In case of nonavailability of supplies in nearby localities. In cases where similar supplies are not available in nearby localities the price charged will be cost price plus 15 percent.

(c) Aviation supplies, except gasoline and oil. On all aviation supplies, except gasoline and oil, the price listed in Army Air Forces stock lists will be considered as the cost price.

(d) Gasoline and oil. Cost prices on aviation gasoline and oil will be published semiannually by the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, based on the prevailing contract price.

(e) Mechanical services. (1) Mechanical services furnished will be charged for on the same basis as the local rate for similar work if such rates can be determined by Army Air Forces station commanders.

(2) The Commanding General, Army Air Forces, will publish hourly rates for mechanical service which will be used in all cases where a fair local value for such services cannot be determined.

(f) Shelter. (1) Charges for shelter of civil aircraft will be on the same basis as the local rate for similar shelter charges.

(2) The Commanding General, Army Air Forces, will publish rates to be used as shelter charges for single-engine and dual or multiple engine aircraft where no local price for shelter has been established.

(3) The free storage of airplanes owned and operated, not for profit, by Regular Army personnel, Reserve officers when on active duty, and officers of the National Guard when in Federal service, is authorized when facilities are available and the storage can be accomplished without interruption to normal operations.

(b) Coal purchased or acquired directly or through another person from any consumer out of his surplus stock of coal, wherever located, for purpose of resale.

2. All persons who now have or hereafter acquire coal in the categories described above shall forthwith report in writing such purchases or stocks to the Solid Fuels Administration for War, Washington 25, D. PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

DIRECTION TO SHIPPERS OF BITUMINOUS COAL PRODUCED AT MINES RESUMING OPERATIONS WHICH WERE SUSPENDED ON OR ABOUT APRIL 1, 1946

It is necessary during the period immediately following the resumption of mining at certain bituminous coal mines (1) that adequate coal be supplied for the continuance of activities most essential to the health and safety of the Nation and (2) that the balance of coal be distributed equitably so as to avoid hardship and distress. Accordingly, the following notice of direction is issued pursuant to SFAW Regulation No. 1, as amended:

1. Shippers of coal produced after the effective date of this notice of direction at bituminous coal mines which resume the operations that were suspended on or about April 1, 1946, are hereby relieved from the provisions freezing coal on track provided in the notice of direction dated March 28, 1946 (11 F.R. 3354).

2. Shippers described in paragraph 1 hereof are hereby prohibited from making any shipment of coal on track or of newly mined coal, except as follows:

(a) First preference is to be given to orders of public utilities, railroads, hospitals, food processing plants (including milk plants, dairies and commercial bakeries), refrigeration plants and laundries: Provided, however, That this preference is limited to such a consumer to the extent that his orders (1) are promptly placed with his normal suppliers, and (2) do not exceed in the aggregate a tonnage equal to his estimated consumption requirements from the date of this notice of direction to May 31, 1946, plus that amount which may be necessary to bring his stock pile as of May 31 up to a 20 days' supply. First preference is also to be given to orders of persons operating steamships or tugboats on the Great Lakes, at tidewater or on a river to the minimum extent necessary to provide the fuel for actual operation of such steamships or tugboats.

First preference is also to be given to orders of retail dealers, lake and tidewater commercial dock operators placed with normal suppliers to the limited extent necessary to assure that they receive a supply of coal equivalent to the tonnage which their consumer customers in the categories described in the foregoing paragraph would be entitled under that paragraph if such customers were eligible to receive shipments direct from the shippers whose distribution is governed by this notice of direction.

(b) Second preference is to be given to orders of industrial consumers, other than those entitled to the first preference: Provided, however, That this preference is limited to such a consumer to the extent that his orders (1) are promptly placed with his normal suppliers and (2) do not exceed in the aggregate a tonnage equal to his estimated consumption requirements from the date of this notice of direction to May 31, 1946.

Second preference is also to be given to orders of retail dealers, lake and tidewater commercial dock operators placed with normal suppliers to the limited extent necessary to assure that they receive a supply of coal equivalent to the tonnage which their consumer customers in the category described in the foregoing paragraph would be entitled under that paragraph if such customers were eligible to receive shipments direct from shippers whose distribution is governed by this notice of direction.

(c) Third preference is to be given to orders of domestic consumers served directly by the shipper or through a retail dealer or commercial dock operator but only to the limited extent necessary to alleviate actual hardship or distress.

(d) The balance of coal which may remain after the shipper arranges to accord during May 1946 the preferences prescribed in subsections (a), (b) and (c) above shall be distributed equitably, and so as to avoid serious impairment of the economy of the Nation, to retail dealers, commercial dock operators on the Great Lakes and at tidewater; and in the event that further distribution arrangements are necessary in order to avoid curtailment of production for lack of markets the shipper may distribute coal to build further the stock piles of the consumers described in subsection (b) hereof.

(e) Within each of the preference categories described in (a) and (b) above the shipper shall generally accord priority in shipment to the consumer whose stock pile position is weakest, taking into account his days' supply of coal, the transportation time from the mine to the consumer's stock pile, and other pertinent factors.

(f) The shipper is authorized to make such practical adjustments in the foregoing program as may be (1) necessary to assure uninterrupted mining operation, (2) necessary to assure the efficient use of available and normal transportation equipment, or (3) necessary to carry on distribution which accomplishes the objectives of this direction through sales agents, wholesalers or other normal channels of distribution.

3. No person is authorized to order or receive any coal in excess of the amount permitted to be delivered under the provisions of this direction.

4. The provisions of this direction are not applicable to the persons and transactions covered by the Notice of Direction Concerning Deliveries of Bituminous Coal by Retail Dealers and Commercial Dock Operators at Lake and Tidewater, issued on May 6, 1946 (11 F.R. 5016) which direction will continue in effect until further notice.

5. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties under any contract for any default which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with the provisions of this direction.

6. Applications for exceptions or modification from the provisions of this direction shall be filed with the appropriate Area Distribution Manager or with SFAW in Washington. Applications shall set forth in detail the grounds for requesting relief and information supporting the request.

7. All coal subject to this notice of direction (including tonnage at captive mines) may be diverted by specific direction of SFAW to meet emergency requirements of consumers whose continued operation is vital to the health and safety of a community.

8. The words used in this notice of direction shall have the same meaning as they had in SFAW Regulation No. 27 (10 F.R. 2909) unless otherwise indicated by the context.

9. This notice of direction shall become effective immediately and shall remain in effect until further notice.

(E.O. 9332, 8 F.R. 5355; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; sec. 2 (a) 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236, 56 Stat. 176, 58 Stat. 827 and 59 Stat. 658)

Issued this 11th day of May 1946.

PART 4700—VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING PROGRAM

[Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, Supp. 2]

BEGINNING CONSTRUCTION

§ 4700.3 (a) What this supplement does. Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 restricts the "beginning" of certain kinds of work on structures. "To begin work on a structure" is defined in paragraph (c) (2) as "to incorporate into a structure on the site materials which are to be an integral part of the structure." The restrictions of VHP–1 do not apply to work which takes place before construction has begun, and the cost of such work need not be included in the cost of a job for the purpose of determining whether it comes within the applicable allowance under paragraph (d) (1) of the order. VHP–1 also does not apply to work which was begun before it became effective and which was being carried on at the time it became effective and is carried on normally after that time. This supplement explains these provisions of the order and gives examples of their application.

(b) Beginning construction. Materials which are to be an integral part of a structure are considered to have been incorporated in the structure on the site only when they are placed in the position in which they are to remain permanently as a part of the structure. Furthermore, materials are considered to be an integral part of a proposed structure only if they will be physically attached to the building or structure and will be permanently located within the boundary lines of its walls. Construction is not "begun" under VHP–1 unless both these conditions are met. Paragraphs (c) and (d) below list examples of cases where construction has not begun and has begun.

(c) Cases where construction has not begun. The following kinds of work do not constitute begining construction on a proposed structure:

- Demolition of buildings.
- Tearing out partitions or walls in a building which is being altered.
- Site preparation such as excavating, grading, filling with dirt, gravel or crushed stone.
- Laying down driveways, walks, railroad sidings, etc.
- Erecting fences, work sheds and construction shanties.
- Laying pipes, conduits and wires outside the boundary lines of the walls of the structure.
- Building retaining walls not physically incorporated within the structure.
- Driving sheet piling to prevent cave-ins.
- Constructing or erecting forms for concrete.
- Fabricating structural steel shapes or other prefabricated sections, panels or buildings, whether off-site or on the site.
- Purchasing materials or receiving delivery of materials on or off the site.

(d) Cases where construction has begun. The following kinds of work constitute the beginning of construction on a proposed structure:

- Pouring concrete footings or other foundations.
- Placing reinforcing rods or mats in place in an excavation preparatory to pouring concrete.
- Driving permanent bearing piles or caissons.
- Installing pipes, conduits or wires in the place where they will remain permanently as part of the building, if located within the boundary lines of the walls of the proposed structure.
- Building foundation walls, whether laid dry or with mortar.
- Incorporating permanently in place additional building materials in a building which is being remodelled, whether the incorporation is for the purpose of repairing the parts of the building left standing or as part of the new alterations.

(e) Carrying on construction. The exemption from VHP–1 for work begun before the issuance of the order applies only to work which was being carried on when the order was issued and which is carried on normally afterward. This means that if a job was started before the issuance of the order, but was abandoned or discontinued either before or after the issuance of the order, it is not exempt from the order by reason of the earlier beginning. However, this does not mean that work must be carried on every day. If construction was or is suspended temporarily for reasons beyond the builder's control such as inability to get materials or labor, or a work stoppage, or unfavorable weather conditions, the construction job is considered to have been carried on normally within the meaning of VHP–1. However, a suspension of work for more than 3 months is not considered a temporary suspension regardless of the reasons for the suspension. Application must be made to proceed with any construction on which work has been suspended for more than 3 months.

(f) Scope of work begun. The exemption for a structure begun before the issuance of VHP–1 is limited to the structure which was under construction at the issuance of the order. It does not apply to any other structure, even though the two are to be used together and one would be useless without the other, or even though the two structures have common heating systems or other common services, or even though the two are connected by pipes, wires, connecting passageways, bridges or the like. Furthermore, the exemption only applies to a structure of the kind and size which was under construction at the issuance of the order. For example, if a builder has begun a 3-story building 100 feet by 100 feet before the issuance of the order and was constructing this building at the time the order was issued, he would be permitted to complete this building, but he would have to get authorization if he later decided to redesign the proposed structure and build a 5-story building 100 feet by 500 feet. The exemption is limited to the building which he was in fact building when the order was issued. This rule also applies to modernization jobs. (The requirement of paragraph (d) (3) of VHP–1 that all related modernization work be considered a single job does not exempt all modernization work merely because one part of it has been started before the issuance of the order.) When one part of a modernization program has been started before the issuance of the order, a later part of the program can be considered to have been started by that time only if the two parts of the program are so closely related in space, purpose and performance as to be inseparable.

(g) When the order took effect. VHP–1 was filed in the Division of the Federal Register and was made available for public inspection at 11:54 a. m., eastern standard time, on March 26, 1946. VHP–1 became effective at that time with respect to the 48 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Amendment 1 to VHP–1 extending the applicability of the order to the Territory of Hawaii was filed in the Division of the Federal Register and made available to the public at 10:04 a. m., eastern standard time on April 12, 1946. Therefore, the order became effective in the Territory of Hawaii at 4:34 a. m., Hawaiian standard time, on April 12, 1946.

Issued this 14th day of May 1946.

2. In Appendix A, item 10 is amended to read as follows:

(10) Certain wrapping, converting and protective papers (excluding bleached sulphite waxing paper, maximum prices for which are provided in Appendix C of this regulation).[1]

3. Appendix C is added to read as follows:

APPENDIX C—MANUFACTURERS' MAXIMUM PRICES FOR BLEACHED SULPHITE WAXING PAPERS

(a) (1) Manufacturers' maximum base price for bleached sulphite waxing paper in jumbo rolls, 24 x 36—500, 21 lb. basis weight, shall be $8.00 per cwt. f. o. b. mill, carload rate of freight allowed.

(2) For weights below 21 lbs. there may be added an amount not to exceed 15¢ per cwt. to the base price for each lb. of basis weight down to and including 18 lbs.

(3) For weights above 21 lbs. there shall be deducted from the base price an amount not less than 5¢ per cwt. for each lb. of basis weight up to and including 30 lbs.

(b) All discounts, allowances and differentials in effect in the period October 1–15, 1941 shall continue to apply. If a manufacturer had no such base period practice he shall use the discounts, allowances and differentials of his most closely competitive seller.

This amendment shall become effective May 14, 1946.

SECTION 1. What this order does—(a) Purpose of this order. This order is designed to eliminate the inflation of price levels which occurred as manufacturers reduced the proportion of sales of their customary lower priced lines and increased the proportion of sales of higher priced merchandise. Manufacturers subject to this order are required to maintain or restore their sales of lower priced items to the extent necessary to keep the weighted average of their prices during each calendar quarter of the year from exceeding a "maximum average price."

This order does not replace or alter any existing maximum price regulation or order. Each manufacturer is still required to determine his individual maximum prices in accordance with the OPA regulations or orders under which he has been operating. This order provides a new requirement which he must observe in arranging his deliveries by price lines.

(b) Kinds of commodities covered. This order applies only to the items of apparel and specified related articles which are described in Appendices A through F. The commodities covered by this order are referred to simply as "items." These items are grouped into

[1] Statements of the considerations are also issued simultaneously with amendments. Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

"categories" and each category is given a category number. For example, woolen skirts in women's, misses' and junior sizes, constitutes Category A–18. However, items fabricated outside continental United States from principal materials which were purchased by the manufacturer from a foreign seller whose place of business is located outside the continental United States are not covered by this order.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 5994, effective 5–23–45]

(c) Who is covered. This order applies to all manufacturers of items except manufacturers whose total net deliveries (in dollars) of all items covered by this order amounted to less than $5,000 in each calendar quarter beginning on or after January 1, 1945. (See section 13, "Exemption for small volume sellers").

(1) Who is a manufacturer. You are a manufacturer under this order if you either (i) fabricate items from principal materials purchased or produced by you; or (ii) supply to the fabricator the principal materials from which items are made; and you make 5% or more of your total sales (in dollars) of these items to persons other than individual ultimate consumers.

(2) Meaning of terms. (i) For purposes of (1) (i) above, "materials purchased by you" shall not include materials whose sale to you was made or arranged by the person to whom you sold the items made from such materials.

(ii) For purposes of (1) (ii) above, you will be deemed to "supply" material for the fabrication of an item if you consign, sell, or arrange with a third person to sell the material to the fabricator under an agreement or understanding with the fabricator that the items made from the material shall be sold or delivered to you or a person designated by you.

(iii) For purposes of this order, "principal materials" shall include completed or partially completed commodities or items on which further processing or trimming is performed before you deliver it.

[Subdivision (iii) added by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 5994, effective 5–23–45]

(d) What transactions are covered. This order applies to all deliveries of items by manufacturers except deliveries to war procurement agencies (defined in section 20 (c) and to individual ultimate consumers.

For purposes of this order a "delivery" is a transfer of physical possession of an item from the manufacturer to a purchaser (other than a war procurement agency or an individual ultimate consumer) or to a carrier for shipment to the purchaser. Mere transfer of title to the purchaser and setting aside the item by the manufacturer is not a "delivery" within the meaning of this order.

(e) Where this order applies. This order applies to all deliveries in the 48 states and the District of Columbia. A transfer within the continental United States of physical possession of an item by the manufacturer to a carrier or to any other person for shipment to a purchaser who is outside the United States is a delivery made within the 48 states or the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Base periods. If you delivered any item in a particular category at any time between January 1, 1943 and December 31, 1944, you must find your base periods for that category in one of the three ways described below. Your deliveries of items in each category during your base periods determine your maximum average prices under this order. However, if during one of the periods listed below, your deliveries of items in a particular category consisted solely of samples or special orders, you may not select that period as a base period, but must find the first applicable period in which you made deliveries of that category in the regular course of trade. For purposes of this order, a "sample" is an item which you produced only for the purpose of displaying your proposed line and in insufficient quantity to fill orders for your regular trade; a "special order" is an item which you produced in response to a specific request from the purchaser, which was not generally offered for sale to your regular trade and the total production of which was delivered in a single shipment.

If you made no deliveries at all of items in a particular category in the regular course of trade at any time between January 1, 1943 and December 31, 1944, you have no base periods for that category and must follow the instructions in section 9 to obtain an authorized maximum average price for that category.

(a) Year-round base periods. You may, if you wish, use the entire year from January 1, 1943 to December 31, 1943 as your base period for deliveries of any category throughout the year, if you delivered any items in that category during both halves of 1943.

(b) Half-year base periods. You may, if you wish, establish half-year base periods for your deliveries of items in any category during each calendar half-year as follows:

(1) Deliveries between January 1 and June 30. Your base period for deliveries of items in any category in the first half of any year is:

(i) January 1–June 30, 1943; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(ii) January 1–June 30, 1944; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(iii) The calendar half-year during which you made your first delivery of an item in that category after January 1, 1943, but before December 31, 1944.

(2) Deliveries between July 1 and December 31. Your base period for deliveries of items in any category during the second half of any year is:

(i) July 1–December 31, 1943; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(ii) July 1–December 31, 1944; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(iii) The calendar half-year during which you made your first delivery of an item in that category after January 1, 1943, but before December 31, 1944.

(c) Quarterly base periods. If you have not established a year-round base period or half-year base periods for any category, you must establish quarterly base periods for your deliveries of items in that category during each calendar quarter as follows:

(1) Deliveries between January 1 and March 31. Your base period for deliveries of items in any category in the first quarter of any year is:

(i) January 1–March 31, 1943; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(ii) January 1 to March 31, 1944; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(iii) The calendar quarter during which you made your first delivery of an item in that category after January 1, 1943, but before December 31, 1944.

(2) Deliveries between April 1 and June 30. Your base period for deliveries of items in any category in the second quarter of any year is:

(i) April 1–June 30, 1943; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(ii) April 1–June 30, 1944; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(iii) The calendar quarter during which you made your first delivery of an item in the category after January 1, 1943, but before December 31, 1944.

(3) Deliveries between July 1 and September 30. Your base period for deliveries of items in any category in the third quarter of any year is:

(i) July 1–September 30, 1943; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(ii) July 1–September 30, 1944; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period, then

(iii) The calendar quarter during which you made your first delivery of an item in that category after January 1, 1943, but before December 31, 1944.

(4) Deliveries between October 1 and December 31. Your base period for deliveries of items in any category in the fourth quarter of any year is:

(i) October 1–December 31, 1943; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period; then

(ii) October 1–December 31, 1944; or if you made no deliveries in that category during that period; then

(iii) The calendar quarter during which you made your first delivery of an item in the category after January 1, 1943, but before December 31, 1944.

SEC. 3. How to find your maximum average price. You must find for each category the weighted average price at which you delivered items during each base period. If you use a year-round base period for any category, you will find one weighted average price; if you use half-year base periods, you will find your weighted average price for each half-year; if you use quarterly base periods for any category, you will find your weighted average price for each quarter.

Your maximum average price for each category during any calendar quarter is the weighted average price at which you delivered items in that category as a manufacturer (as defined in section 1 (c)) during the base period which includes that calendar quarter. You find your weighted average price for each category by dividing the "total net dollar amount charged"[2] for the items you delivered during the base period for that category by the number of units[3] you delivered. You may find the total net dollar amount charged and the number of units delivered by adding the net amounts and the units shown on all invoices bearing dates within the appropriate base period, if you cannot determine from your other records what your deliveries were.

Example 1: You find that in the appropriate base period you delivered 500 women's rayon dresses (Category A–28) at $6.75 less 8%, 1,000 dresses at $5.75 less 8%, and 2,000 dresses at $4.75 less 3%. You convert these prices respectively to $6.21, $5.29 and $4.61 net. You then add 500×$6.21, 1,000×$5.29, and 2,000×$4.61, and find that your total net dollar amount charged was $17,615. Your total number of units delivered was 3,500 dresses (2,000+1,000+500). Dividing $17,615.00 by 3,500 results in a weighted average price of $5.032 per dress. (Round your weighted average price to the nearest cent; i. e., $5.032 becomes $5.03 and $5.035 becomes $5.04.) $5.03 is your maximum average price for this category.

SEC. 4. Maximum average price charts and supplementary information—(a) When you must file a maximum average price chart—(1) General filing. On or before June 20, 1945, if you have base periods under section 2, you must file with your OPA District Office[4] two copies (signed by an owner, officer or principal) of your chart of maximum average prices. (If you made no deliveries prior to December 31, 1944 you need not file a chart. The order issued to you upon application under section 9 will contain your chart.) On and after July 2, 1945 you may not deliver any item covered by this order until you have received acknowledgment from the OPA of the filing of your chart.

(2) Special filing. On or before October 30, 1945, if you have base periods under section 2 for any category created by this amendment [Am. 5] you must file with your OPA District Office two copies (signed by an owner, officer or principal) of a statement containing for each such category the information required by paragraph (b) of this section.

However, if you cannot supply the information required by paragraph (b) (3) for all of your base periods by October 30, 1945, you must file a statement by October 30, 1945, containing the information required by paragraph (b) for your base periods for the 3rd and 4th quarters and you must file the remainder of the required information on or before November 20, 1945.

On and after October 30, 1945, you may not sell or deliver any items in any category created by this amendment [Am. 5] until you have received an acknowledgment from the Office of Price Administration of the receipt of the statement required to be filed by October 30, 1945. On and after January 1, 1946, you may not sell or deliver any item in any category created by this amendment [Am. 5] until you have received an acknowledgment from the Office of Price Administration of the receipt of all the information required by paragraph (b) of this section.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 6402, effective 5–29–45; Am. 5, 10 F.R. 12080, effective 9–25–45 and Am. 7, 10 F.R. 13129, effective 10–19–45]

(1) Your business name, the address of your main office from which your billings are made, and the addresses of all your plants which produce items covered by this order.

(2) Category number and title of each category in which you delivered any items between January 1, 1943 and December 31, 1944.

(3) For each category listed in (2):

(i) Beginning and end dates of each of your base periods,

(ii) The total net dollar amount charged for items you delivered in the category during each base period,

(iii) The total number of "units" you delivered in the category during each base period (specifying the unit used for the category, e. g., dozen, gross, etc.), and

(iv) Your maximum average price for the category—(ii) divided by (iii).

(c) Supplementary information. You must file two copies of a supplementary statement with your maximum average price chart, identified with your business name and address.

(1) Information from all sellers. As to each category listed on your chart, you must state for the first quarter of 1945, the total net dollar amount charged for items you delivered, the total number of units delivered, and your weighted average price (total net dollar amount charged divided by total number of units delivered). If, however, a particular category was "out of season" in the first quarter of 1945, you must list the total net dollar amount charged, the number of units delivered and your weighted average price for that category in the fourth quarter of 1944 instead. A category shall be considered "out of season" in the first quarter of 1945 if the total number of units delivered during that quarter in that category was less than 10% of your 1944 unit volume in that category.

(2) Additional information from sellers with base periods beginning on or after January 1, 1944. If you have listed on your chart for any category, a base period which begins on or after January 1, 1944, you must state the date of your first delivery of each such category, and the following information concerning the previous business experience of all officers, principals, and any persons owning 10% or more of your firm:

(i) Business name and address of each firm, which produced items covered by this order, with which each person was connected during 1941, 1942, and 1943.

(ii) Position of the person in each firm, i. e., owner, production man, etc.

(iii) Items produced by each firm.

However, if the information required above has been supplied under the provisions of any OPA price regulation, you need only state the number of the regulation, the date on which the information was supplied, the name of the firm which supplied the information, the name of the persons about whom this information was supplied, and the OPA office where the information was filed.

(d) Revision of maximum average prices. At any time after the filing of your maximum average price chart, the OPA may reduce your maximum average prices for any category for which your base period begins on or after January 1, 1944.

[3] The term "unit" is defined in section 20 (b).

[4] "Your OPA District Office" means the district office having jurisdiction over the area in which is located your main office from which your billings are made.

NOTE: If all your categories have a year-round base period and, therefore, one maximum average price all year-round, your chart need not show the headings relating to half-year periods. Of course, if you list a particular category under "All Year-Round", you cannot also list it under the two half-year headings and vice versa. If you choose to establish quarterly base periods for any category, you would have four headings for that category, one for each quarter, and you would list them as 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th quarters just as the example above lists First Half and Second Half of Calendar Year.

SEC. 5. Maximum average price limitation. On and after June 1, 1945, your weighted average price for deliveries of items in any category in any calendar quarter should not be higher than your maximum average price for that category in the period in which that quarter occurs. Your prices on individual items or for individual deliveries may be higher or lower than your maximum average price, although, of course, they may not exceed your ceiling prices (including your highest price line limitations) for the individual items. However, at the end of each calendar quarter your weighted average price for all items in that category delivered during the quarter should not exceed your maximum average price for that category. You find your weighted average price by dividing the total net dollar amount charged for items you delivered in each category during the quarter by the number of units you delivered.

NOTE: Although your maximum average prices may be determined by your deliveries during quarterly, half-year, or year-round base periods, your weighted average price for each calendar quarter must be figured at the end of the quarter. Your records must be kept on a quarterly basis and the amount, if any, by which your weighted average price is higher or lower than your maximum average price is also figured on a quarterly basis. However, the first period of operation under this order begins on June 1, 1945 and ends on September 30, 1945. June 1945 is counted into the third calendar quarter of 1945.

SEC. 6. Surcharges and credits—(a) What is a surcharge. A surcharge is the amount by which your weighted average price in a category for any quarter exceeded your maximum average price for that category, multiplied by the number of units you delivered in the category.

(b) What is a credit. A credit is the amount by which your maximum average price in any category in any calendar quarter exceeded your weighted average price for that category, multiplied by the number of units you delivered in the category.

(c) How to find your net surcharge or your net credit. You must find your net surcharge or your net credit at the end of each quarter as follows:

Step 1. Find the dollar amount of your surcharge in each category in which you incurred a surcharge (according to paragraph (a)).

Step 2. Add together the dollar amounts of all surcharges you have found.

Step 3. Find the dollar amount of your credit in each category in which you earned a credit (according to paragraph (b)).

Step 4. Add together the dollar amounts of all credits you have found and add to this figure the dollar amount of net credit from the previous quarter, if any.

Step 5. Subtract the smaller total from the larger total. If the total surcharge is larger than the total credit you have a net surcharge. If the total credit is larger than the total surcharge you have a net credit.

(d) Effect of net surcharge or net credit—(1) Net surcharge. Except as provided in Special Order No. 9 under section 17 of this order if you incurred a net surcharge in any quarter you must begin to operate on a makeup basis on the first day of the quarter immediately following the quarter in which you incurred the net surcharge.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 8, 10 F.R. 15125, effective 12–14–45]

(2) Net credit. If you have a net credit at the end of any quarter, you use that net credit at the end of the next quarter in following the instruction in step 4 in paragraph (c) above.

NOTE: The "weighted average price" referred to in this section and in section 5 is your weighted average price for items delivered when you were not operating on a makeup basis as described in section 7.

[Sec. 6 amended by Am. 6, 10 F.R. 12984, effective 10–22–45]

SEC. 7. Makeup operation. If you have incurred a net surcharge in any quarter you must operate on a makeup basis from the beginning of the next quarter until you have made up your net surcharge. You must choose one of the forms of makeup operation described below and operate on the basis you have chosen until your net surcharge is completely made up.

(a) General makeup provision. If you choose the form of makeup operation described in this paragraph, then after the thirtieth day of the first quarter in which you are required to operate on a makeup basis (the sixty-first day in the case of the 4th quarter of 1945) and until you have made up your net surcharge, you may not deliver, pursuant to an offer or a sale, any item in any category (including categories in which you have not incurred a surcharge) at a net price higher than your maximum average price for that category at the time of delivery. In other words, your maximum average price is the highest net ceiling price you may establish during a makeup period after the thirtieth day.

Your net surcharge is made up when the weighted average prices of your deliveries in all categories are sufficiently below the maximum average prices for those categories at the time of delivery so that the differences between the two when multiplied by the number of units delivered in each category during the makeup period are equal to the amount of your net surcharge. You may make up your net surcharge by delivering items at prices below your maximum average prices in any categories whether or not you incurred a surcharge in those categories.

(b) Optional makeup provision. If you choose the form of makeup operation described in this paragraph, you must reduce your maximum average price in each category as described below, until your surcharge is made up:

(1) Persons who had a net surcharge on September 30, 1945 which was not made up by November 30, 1945. If you had a net surcharge on September 30, 1945 and had not made up that surcharge by November 30, 1945 you must reduce your maximum average price in the following manner:

Step 1. Find your "net accumulated surcharge" on December 31, 1945 (your accumulated surcharge on November 30, 1945 less any amount made up in December 1945, as described in Revised Special Order 9 to SO 108).

Step 2. Find your total net dollar amount charged for all deliveries of all items covered by SO 108, between October 1, 1945 and December 31, 1945, both inclusive.

Step 3. Divide the dollar amount of net accumulated surcharge (the amount found in Step 1) by the total net dollar amount charged (the amount found in Step 2). This is the percentage relation of your surcharge to your total dollar volume in your last quarter of deliveries.

Step 4. Reduce your maximum average price in each category by the percentage found in Step 3. This will be called your reduced maximum average price.

Beginning January 1, 1946, and until your net accumulated surcharge is made up, your deliveries of all items must be made at such prices that, during each month your total net dollar amount charged for all items does not exceed the total of your reduced maximum average prices multiplied (separately for each category) by the number of units delivered in that category (that is, the total net dollar amount you would have charged for all of your merchandise if you had delivered each item at the reduced maximum average price for its category). If your total net dollar amount charged in any month is higher than the amount which you would have charged if all deliveries had been made at your reduced maximum average price in each category, the excess is an overcharge and will render you liable to the penalties prescribed in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who incurred a net surcharge in the 4th quarter of 1945 or any subsequent quarter. Unless you are covered by (1) above, if you incurred a net surcharge in the 4th quarter of 1945 or in any subsequent quarter and have not made up that surcharge by the end of the next month after the quarter in which you incurred it, you must reduce your maximum average price in the following manner:

Step 1. Find your net accumulated surcharge on the last day of the first month after the quarter in which you incurred the surcharge. This means your net surcharge at the end of the quarter, increased or decreased by the difference between your total net dollar amount charged during the next month and the amount you would have charged if your deliveries of all items in all categories had been made at your maximum average prices.

Step 2. Find your total net dollar amount charged for all deliveries of all items covered by SO 108 during any two months of the quarter in which the surcharge was incurred.

Step 3. Divide the dollar amount of net accumulated surcharge by the total net dollar amount charged. This is the percentage relation of your surcharge to your dollar volume in two months of operation.

Step 4. Reduce your maximum average price in each category by the percentage found in Step 3. This will be called your reduced maximum average price.

Beginning with the second month after the end of the quarter in which you incurred a surcharge, and until your net accumulated surcharge is made up, your deliveries of all items must be made at such prices that, during each month, your total net dollar amount charged for all items does not exceed the total of your reduced maximum average prices multiplied (separately for each category) by the number of units delivered in that category (that is, the total net dollar amount you would have charged for all of your merchandise if you had delivered each item at the reduced maximum average price for its category). If your total net dollar amount charged in any month is higher than the amount which you would have charged if all deliveries had been made at your reduced maximum average price in each category, the excess is an overcharge and will render you liable to the penalties prescribed in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(3) General explanation of terms. (i) The reduced maximum average price which is applicable each month under the form of makeup described in this paragraph (b) is the maximum average price applicable to your deliveries in each category during the quarter in which that month falls, reduced by the prescribed percentage.

(ii) The maximum average price to which the percentage reduction is to be applied is the highest maximum average price which you are permitted to figure (i. e., your authorized or base period maximum average price, as revised or recomputed under any provisions of SO 108 or any special orders applicable to you, including Special Order 3 [a] or Special Order 5 [b]).

[Subparagraph (ii) amended by Am. 12, effective 5-13-46]

(4) How to figure the amount of surcharge made up. If you have chosen to operate under the form of makeup described in this paragraph (b) you figure the amount of surcharge made up each month as follows:

Step 1. Multiply the number of units you delivered in each category during the month by your maximum average price before reduction.

Step 2. Add together the results for all categories.

Step 3. Subtract from this sum the total net dollar amount charged for all deliveries of items during that month. The result is the dollar amount of surcharge made up that month. Of course, if your total net charges are higher than the figure you compute under step 2, you have not made up any surcharge and you are in violation of the makeup requirements of this paragraph.

[Sec. 7 amended by Am. 6, 10 F.R. 12984, effective 10-22-45; Am. 8, 10 F.R. 15125, effective 12-14-45 and Am. 9, 11 F.R. 604, effective 12-31-45]

SEC. 8. Corrections and amendments—(a) Correction of maximum average price chart. If you have filed a maximum average price chart and later find that your chart was incomplete or incorrect, you must file a corrected chart at once with the OPA District Office with which you filed your original chart. However, if your maximum average price for any category on your corrected chart is higher than the maximum average price for that category listed on your previously filed chart, you may not use the higher average price until you have received acknowledgment from the Office of Price Administration of the receipt of your corrected chart.

(b) Recalculation of total surcharges. If the maximum average price listed on your previously filed chart for any category was higher than your correctly computed maximum average price, you must recalculate, for every quarter during which you operated on the basis of the incorrect chart, your weighted average price and your credits or surcharges, if any, for each category. For purposes of this recalculation, you must figure your entire operation in every quarter, whether or not you were on a makeup basis at any time. If, on the basis of your correctly computed maximum average prices, you had incurred surcharges in any categories at the end of any quarter, find your net surcharge, if any, for that quarter according to section 6. Then add together all net surcharges for all quarters during which you operated under SO 108. You must begin to make up this amount as described in (c) below.

(c) When you begin your makeup operation. Beginning with the quarter immediately following the quarter in which you discovered your chart was incorrect, you must operate on a makeup basis in accordance with section 7, until you have made up the sum of all net surcharges you incurred prior to the first day of that quarter.

[Sec. 8 amended by Am. 12, effective 5-13-46]

SEC. 9. Persons who cannot establish a maximum average price for every category—(a) Persons who are unable to establish base periods under section 2. Except in the cases of transfers of business as provided in section 10, if you made no deliveries at all in any particular category between January 1, 1943 and December 31, 1944, you may not deliver any items in that category after September 30, 1945 until you have received an order from the Office of Price Administration establishing a maximum average price for that category.

However, if you made your first delivery of any item in that category between December 31, 1944 and April 28, 1945 and if you file your application under this section and receive an acknowledgment from the Office of Price Administration dated on or before September 30, 1945, you may deliver items in that category at ceiling prices established under the appropriate regulation without regard to the requirements of this order, until an order has been issued to you under this section: Except that, until an order is issued, you must not deliver any item in that category at a price higher than the highest maximum price you have already established for any item in that category which you delivered before April 28, 1945. If you have not received an acknowledgment of the receipt of your application dated before October 1, 1945 you may not deliver any items in the category after September 30, 1945 until an order has been issued to you under this section.

[Above two paragraphs amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 6402, effective 5-29-45; Am. 3, 10 F.R. 8368, effective 7-2-45; Am. 4, 10 F.R. 10200, effective 8-15-45 and Am. 5, 10 F.R. 12080, effective 9-25-45]

You must file with your OPA District Office two copies (signed by an officer, owner or principal) of an application stating:

(1) Your business name and address;

(2) Category number and title of each category for which you wish to establish maximum average prices;

(3) If you have delivered any of the categories listed in (2), the date of your first delivery in each category, and for each category the total net dollar amount charged for items you delivered, the total number of units delivered (specifying the unit used; e. g., dozens, gross, etc.) and your weighted average price for all items delivered between your first delivery and the date of your application, both inclusive;

(4) Whether you have made application to the War Production Board for priority assistance to obtain materials to manufacture any of the categories listed in (2);

(5) If you were not in business prior to December 31, 1944, a statement of the previous business experience in apparel and related industries of all officers, principals and any persons owning 10 percent or more of your firm, in the following detail:

(i) Business name and address of each firm with which each person was connected during 1941, 1942 and 1943;

(ii) Position of the person in each such firm, e. g., owner, production man, etc.;

(iii) Commodities produced by each firm listed in (i).

The Office of Price Administration will authorize maximum average prices for each category for applicants in line with the demonstrable previous experience of the firm or the owners of the firm in the manufacture of the same or related items of apparel. Applicants without demonstrable previous experience in the manufacture of the same or related items of apparel will be authorized maximum average prices for each category at the lowest level at which a reasonable amount of production in that category can be expected.

(b) Other persons who cannot establish maximum average prices for every category. If you cannot prepare a maximum average price chart and determine your maximum average price for a particular category because you do not have sufficient records or for any other reason, you may not deliver any items in that category after September 30, 1945 until you have received an order from the Office of Price Administration establishing a maximum average price for the category.

However, if you delivered items in that category before April 28, 1945, and if you file your application under this section and receive an acknowledgment from the Office of Price Administration dated on or before September 30, 1945, you may deliver items in that category at ceiling prices established under the appropriate regulation without regard to the requirements of this order until an order has been issued to you under this section: Except that, until an order is issued, you must not deliver any item in that category at a price higher than the highest maximum price you have already established for any item in that category which you delivered before April 28, 1945. If you have not received an acknowledgment of the receipt of your application dated before October 1, 1945, you may not deliver any items in the category after September 30, 1945 until an order has been issued to you under this section.

[Above two paragraphs amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 6402, effective 5-29-45 and Am. 5, 10 F.R. 12080, effective 9-25-45]

You must file with your OPA District Office two copies (signed by an owner, officer or principal) of an application stating:

(1) Your business name and address;

(2) Category number and title of each category for which you cannot establish your maximum average price;

(3) The reasons you cannot establish maximum average prices for each category listed in (2);

(4) The weighted average price at which you delivered each category listed in (2) during the last three months prior to the date of the application;

(5) Your appropriate base period under section 2 for each category listed in (2); and

(6) Whether you have made application to the War Production Board for priority assistance to obtain materials to manufacture any of the categories listed in (2).

The Office of Price Administration will authorize maximum average prices for each category for applicants in line with the demonstrable previous experience of the firm or the owners of the firm in the manufacture of the same or related items of apparel. Applicants without demonstrable previous experience in the manufacture of the same or related items of apparel will be authorized maximum average prices for each category at the lowest level at which a reasonable amount of production in that category can be expected.

(c) Changes in ownership of persons who have been granted orders under this section. If you have received an order under this section authorizing you to establish maximum average prices you must report any substantial change of ownership to the OPA District Office which issued the original order. This report shall include the names of any new owners, officers or principals and their previous business experience in the detail indicated in (a) (5) above.

(d) Revision or revocation of orders. All orders issued pursuant to this section may be revised or revoked at any time by the OPA if the considerations upon which the order was based have been substantially changed.

[Paragraph (d) amended by Am. 12, effective 5-13-46]

SEC. 10. Transfers of business—(a) Transfers of business which occurred between January 1, 1943 and April 28, 1945—(1) What is a transfer. If a substantial part of the business, assets or stock in trade of a business was sold or otherwise transferred between January 1, 1943 and April 28, 1945, and the transferee carried on the business or continued to manufacture the same items in an establishment separate and apart from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum average prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferee must secure from the transferor all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this order.

(2) Filing of charts. The transferee shall file a maximum average price chart based on his transferor's experience, using the proper base periods which could have been used by his transferor if no transfer had occurred. If the transferor's records are not available to the transferee, the transferee must file his application under Section 9 for specific authorization and is subject to all the requirements of that section.

(3) Mergers and combinations. If, between January 1, 1943 and April 28, 1945, two or more manufacturers merged, consolidated or combined and continued to operate as one manufacturer, the manufacturer who continued to operate shall establish his maximum average prices under this order as if he were the predecessor manufacturer who had the largest dollar volume of sales of all goods during the twelve months immediately preceding merger or combination.

(b) Transfers of business which occur after May 13, 1946—(1) What transfers are covered by this paragraph. If all of the business, assets, and stock in trade of a business are sold or otherwise transferred after May 13, 1946 to a person who thereafter manufactures items covered by SO 108 and who has delivered no items covered by SO 108 between June 1, 1945 and the date of the transfer, the maximum average prices of the transferee and all pricing provisions of SO 108 applicable to the transferee shall be the same as those to which the transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferee must secure from the transferor all records of transactions prior to the transfer, which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this order.

(2) Mergers, consolidations and combinations. If, after May 13, 1946 two or more manufacturers merge, consolidate, or combine and continue to operate as one manufacturer, the maximum average prices of the manufacturer who continues to operate shall be those of the predecessor manufacturer who had the largest dollar volume of sales of all goods during the twelve months immediately preceding the merger, consolidation or combination. All pricing provisions of SO 108 applicable to that predecessor manufacturer shall be applicable to the manufacturer who continues to operate, just as if he had been the predecessor manufacturer. However, if any of the predecessor manufacturers had made no deliveries covered by SO 108 between June 1, 1945 and the date of the merger, consolidation or combination, his dollar volume in the preceding twelve months shall not be considered for purposes of establishing maximum average prices under this paragraph.

(3) Filing requirements—(i) Transferees. Each transferee shall file two signed copies of a notice with his OPA district office stating (a) his name and the address of his main office from which billings will be made, (b) that he is a transferee, (c) name and address of the transferred establishment, (d) date of transfer, (e) OPA district office in which the transferor's maximum average price chart was filed or should have been filed and (f) maximum average price chart based on transferor's experience, if transferor did not file a maximum average price chart. If the transferor's records are not available to the transferee, the transferee must file his application under section 9 for an order authorizing maximum average prices and is subject to all the requirements of that section.

(ii) Mergers, consolidations and combinations. Each manufacturer who establishes maximum average prices under the provisions of subparagraph (2) above shall file two signed copies of a notice with his OPA district office stating: (a) his name and address of main office from which billings will be made; (b) that his maximum average prices were established as a result of a merger, consolidation or combination; (c) names and addresses of all predecessor manufacturers; (d) name of predecessor whose maximum average price chart is being used; (e) date of merger, consolidation or combination; (f) OPA district office or offices in which each predecessor's maximum average price chart was filed or should have been filed; and (g) maximum average price chart based on proper predecessor's experience, if predecessor did not file a maximum average price chart. If the predecessor does not have sufficient records to enable the manufacturer who continues to operate to file a maximum average price chart, the manufacturer must file an application under section 9 for an order authorizing maximum average prices and is subject to all the requirements of that section.

(c) Changes in form between April 28, 1945, and May 13, 1946. If between April 28, 1945, and May 13, 1946, any business was changed from one form to another (e. g., from a partnership to a corporation or a wholly owned corporation to a sole proprietorship) and no change in ownership interests occurred pursuant to the transfer of assets from the old business entity to the new business entity, then after April 1, 1946, the maximum average prices of the new business entity shall be those of the old business entity and the new business entity shall be permitted to make or apply for any revisions or adjustments in its maximum average prices which were allowed to the old business entity. If the new business entity has received an order of authorization under section 9, the maximum average prices of the old business entity are hereby substituted after April 1, 1946, for the maximum average prices contained in such order of authorization. In addition, if the old business entity had a net credit at the time of dissolution, such net credit may be used by the new business entity in calculating its quarterly report for the 2nd quarter of 1946 as if it had been a net credit carried over from the previous quarter. Each manufacturer whose maximum average prices are established under this paragraph shall file with his OPA district office two signed copies of a notice containing the following information:

(1) Name of new business entity and address of main office from which billings are made;

(2) Name of old business entity;

(3) Statement that the ownership interests in the firms named in (1) and (2) are identical;

(4) Date on which change in form occurred.

[Sec. 10 amended by Am. 12, effective 5-13-46]

SEC. 11. Invoices. You must in connection with every delivery (including deliveries for cash) of items covered by this order, furnish an invoice to the purchaser. This invoice must contain at least the following information:

(a) The date,

(b) The name and address of the seller and purchaser,

(c) A brief description of each item delivered (for example, infants' cotton shirts),

(d) Number of units of each item described (specifying the unit used, e. g., dozens, gross, etc.),

(e) The price per unit charged for each item, and

(f) All discounts offered.

SEC. 12. Records and reports—(a) Records. You must keep the records required by this order available for examination by the OPA for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. The records required by this order, including invoices, must be kept in your main office from which your billings are made.

(1) Original records. You must keep all the original records, including invoices and other data used by you in preparing your maximum average price chart.

(2) Invoices. You must keep a copy of each invoice you give in connection with your deliveries of items covered by this order.

(3) Charts, reports and orders. You must keep copies of your maximum average price chart, all reports you file with the OPA under this order and all individual orders affecting you issued by the OPA under Supplementary Order 108.

(4) Makeup operation record. (i) If you are operating on the makeup basis described in section 7 (a) you must keep a daily or weekly cumulative record, by category, of the total net dollar amount charged for items delivered, the total number of units delivered and the amount of surcharge made up. This record must be kept separately for each quarter during which you operate on a makeup basis.

[Above paragraph amended and redesignated (i) and subdivision (ii) added by Am. 9, 11 F.R. 604, effective 12-31-45]

To find your cumulative net dollar amount charged, you add each day's or week's net charges in a category to the total of all the preceding net charges in that category since the beginning of the quarter. To find your cumulative number of units delivered, you add the number of units delivered each day or week to the total of all the units previously delivered since the beginning of the quarter. To find the cumulative amount of surcharge made up you multiply the cumulative number of units delivered by your maximum average price and subtract from the result your cumulative net dollar amount charged.

If you delivered items in more than one category, you then add the individual amounts of surcharge made up in each category. If your cumulative net dollar amount charged in any category is more than your cumulative number of units delivered multiplied by your maximum average price, you find the difference between the two and subtract this difference from the cumulative amount of surcharge made up in all other categories. The result is your cumulative amount of net surcharge made up. You must keep a daily or weekly record of the cumulative amount of net surcharge which has been made up each day or week.

At the end of a makeup operation (that is, when the net surcharge has been made up), you draw a line across your delivery record separating your makeup operation from your subsequent operation and note the date on the line. Of course, the end date of your makeup operation will be the same for all categories you deliver because as soon as you have made up your net surcharge you may resume your usual range of deliveries in all categories.

(ii) If you have been operating on the makeup basis described in section 7 (b), you must keep the record required by subdivision (i) above, except that you must keep this record separately for each month during which you operate on a makeup basis.

(5) Optional records. (i) It is not required but it is suggested that you keep at all times, to assist you in complying with this order, a daily cumulative record, by category, of the net dollar amount charged for items delivered and the number of units delivered, as described in (4) above. It is also suggested that you keep a record of your cumulative weighted average price.

To find your daily cumulative weighted average price in any category you divide the cumulative net dollar amount charged by the cumulative number of units delivered in that category. In this way, you can see from day to day whether your weighted average price for each category is higher or lower than your maximum average price. If you do not keep this daily cumulative record, it is suggested that two or three weeks before the end of each quarter you determine your weighted average price up to that time so that you may know how to arrange your deliveries during the balance of the quarter to avoid incurring a surcharge at the end of the quarter.

(ii) As an alternative, you may keep a simple record, by category, of your deliveries of items covered by this order. For each day's or week's, or month's deliveries you would show separately for each category: (a) the period covered (day, week or month), (b) the total net dollar amount charged for items delivered in that period, and (c) the total number of units delivered in that period.

(6) Suggested forms for keeping the records described in subparagraphs (4) and (5). These forms may be duplicated but will not be furnished by the OPA.

[2] Total column 3 for the quarter.

This sample form shows, for one category only, a way for you to arrange a daily delivery record in accordance with subparagraph (5) (ii) of this section. The filled-in figures show how the necessary computations would be made for the first quarter of operation under this order (that is, the third calendar quarter of 1945) by a manufacturer who delivered only one category, Category A-10, and who incurred a surcharge in that category. The figures shown under the heading "Summary for the Quarter," need not be shown in your delivery or makeup operation records but serve to illustrate the outcome of this manufacturer's operations.

The record for the third quarter of 1945 shows that this manufacturer exceeded his maximum average price for the period of the year in which the third quarter falls. Therefore, he must figure the dollar amount of surcharge which he incurred in Category A-10 and that amount is his net surcharge for the third quarter. If he had delivered more than one category in that quarter, he would have added the dollar amounts of surcharge in all his categories and then subtracted the dollar amounts of all his credits to find the dollar amount of his net surcharge for the quarter.

From the beginning of the fourth calendar quarter this manufacturer must operate on a makeup basis until he makes up his net surcharge incurred in the third quarter. The sample form below shows how he can arrange his records which he is keeping daily, and make the necessary computations for that part of the fourth quarter of 1945 during which he is on a makeup basis. The form further illustrates how he can keep his records after he has made up his net surcharge if he chooses to use the suggested cumulative delivery record described in subparagraph (5) instead of the simple record of daily deliveries.

Summary for the quarter (excluding deliveries made while on makeup basis):
Total net dollar amount charged	$22,572.00
Total number of units delivered	4,400
Weighted average price	$5.13
Dollar amount of credit (($5.45−$5.13=$0.32; $0.32×4400=$1,408.00.)	$1,408.00

The record of this manufacturer for the fourth quarter of 1945 shows how the cumulative dollar amount of surcharge made up (column 4) can be computed directly at any time by using the cumulative figures entered in columns 2 and 3. By October 17 his deliveries were such that the cumulative dollar amount of surcharge made up was equal to the net surcharge and, therefore, that date is shown on a line drawn across his record to indicate the end of his makeup operation. His record shows that he made additional deliveries on that date which he recorded separately in his record for the remainder of the quarter when he was no longer on a makeup basis.

Since the entries in columns 2 and 3 of the form shown above are cumulative, the entries for the last day's deliveries in the quarter are automatically the final figures for the manufacturer's entire operation in Category A-10 for that quarter. For all deliveries he made during the remainder of that quarter, after he ceased operating on a makeup basis, his record shows that his weighted average price was less than his maximum average price, that is, he had earned a credit in Category A-10 which, because he delivered only that category, became a net credit. He will be able to use this credit in computing his net surcharge or net credit at the end of the next quarter.

As explained in subparagraph (5) of this section, he can determine his cumulative weighted average price at any time during the quarter by dividing the cumulative net dollar amount charged (column 2) by the cumulative number of units delivered (column 3).

(b) Reports—(1) Quarterly reports. Within 20 days after the end of each calendar quarter, you must file with your OPA District Office two copies of a report in the form prescribed on OPA Form 6062-2773 (signed by an owner, officer, or principal) covering all categories which you delivered during the quarter. This report shall contain the following:

(i) Your business name and the address of your main office from which billings are made;

(ii) The beginning and end dates of the period covered by the report;

(iii) For each category you delivered during the period:

(a) Category number and title;

(b) Maximum average price. This means your authorized or base period maximum average price applicable to the quarter covered by this report, as revised or recomputed under any provision of SO 108 or any Special Order except Special Orders 3 and 5. If you are using either the tolerance in Special Order 5 or the exemption level adjustment in Special Order 3, state also the increased maximum average price as figured under the appropriate provision.

NOTE: The tolerances may be used only for categories whose maximum average price is based on a 1943 base period and may not be used to compute a credit.

(c) Total net dollar amount charged;

(d) Total number of units delivered (specifying whether dozens, gross, etc.);

(e) Weighted average price;

(f) Dollar amount of credit or surcharge, if any;

(iv) Dollar amount of surcharge for all categories combined, if any;

(v) Dollar amount of credit for all categories combined, if any;

(vi) Dollar amount of net credit, if any, from previous quarter;

(vii) Net surcharge ((iv) minus the sum of (v) and (vi)) or net credit (the sum of (v) and (vi) minus (iv)), if any;

(viii) Category number and title of each category listed in your maximum average price chart or OPA order of authorization which was not delivered during the quarter;

(ix) If you have a net surcharge, state what makeup basis you will use, if any of this net surcharge is not made up by the 30th day after the end of the quarter reported. This statement constitutes an election to operate under the provision chosen until this surcharge is made up.

However, the quarterly report for the 1st quarter of 1946 may be filed on or before April 30, 1946, instead of 20 days after the end of that quarter.

Deliveries made while operating on a makeup basis shall not be included in the above report.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 7, 10 F.R. 13129, effective 10-19-45 and Am. 11, 11 F.R. 4153, effective 4-12-46]

(2) Makeup reports. (i) If you have been operating on the makeup basis described in section 7 (a) you must file with your OPA District Office two copies of a report in the form prescribed on OPA Form 6062-2774 (signed by an owner, officer, or principal) covering your makeup operation within 10 days after you complete your makeup operation. If you do not make up your net surcharge during the calendar quarter after the quarter in which it was incurred, you must file this report instead of the quarterly report for that quarter, and for each succeeding quarter in which you operate wholly on a makeup basis. In addition, you must file a final report of that portion of your makeup operation not previously reported within 10 days after the day on which you completely make up your net surcharge. Each makeup report shall state that you are operating under section 7 (a) and shall contain the following information:

(a) Your business name and the address of your main office from which billings are made;

(b) The beginning and end dates of the period covered by the report;

(c) For each category you delivered during the period:

(i) Category number and title;

This means your authorized or base period maximum average price, applicable to the quarter in which the period covered by this report falls, as revised or recomputed under any provision of SO 108 or any Special Order except Special Orders 3 and 5. If you are using either the tolerance in Special Order 5 or the exemption level adjustment in Special Order 3, state also the increased maximum average price as figured under the appropriate provision.

NOTE: The tolerances may be used only for categories whose maximum average price is based on a 1943 base period and may be used for all purposes during a makeup period.

(iii) Total net dollar amount charged;

(iv) Total number of units delivered (specifying whether dozens, gross, etc.);

(v) Dollar amount of additional surcharge, if any ((iii) minus product of (iv) multiplied by (ii));

(vi) Dollar amount of surcharge made up, if any (product of (ii) multiplied by (iv) minus (iii));

(d) Dollar amount of your net surcharge at the beginning of the period (net surcharge incurred less any amount previously made up and reported);

(e) Dollar amount of additional surcharge for all categories combined, if any (from (c) (v));

(f) Dollar amount of net surcharge you made up in all categories combined, if any, during the period (from (c) (vi));

(g) Dollar amount of net surcharge, if any, remaining to be made up (sum of (d) and (e) minus (f));

(h) Category number and title of each category listed in your maximum average price chart or OPA order of authorization which was not delivered during the period.

(ii) If you have been operating on the makeup basis described in section 7 (b) you must file with your OPA District Office two copies of a report in the form prescribed on OPA Form 6062–2775 (signed by an owner, officer, or principal) within 10 days after the end of each month during which you operated on a makeup basis. (However, the report covering the month of March 1946, may be filed on or before April 30, 1946 instead.) Each report shall state that you are operating under section 7 (b) and shall contain the following information:

(a) Your business name and the address of your main office from which billings are made;

(b) Month covered by the report;

(c) For each category you delivered during the month:

(i) Category number and title;

(ii) Maximum average price. This means your authorized or base period maximum average price applicable to the quarter in which the month covered by this report falls, as revised or recomputed under any provision of SO 108 or any Special Order except Special Order 3 or Special Order 5. If you are using either the tolerance in Special Order 5 or the exemption level adjustment in Special Order 3, state also the increased maximum average price as figured under the appropriate provision.

NOTE: The tolerances may be used only for categories whose maximum average price is based on a 1943 base period and may be used for all purposes during a makeup period:

(iii) Reduced maximum average price (as described in section 7 (b));

(iv) Total net dollar amount charged;

(v) Total number of units delivered (specifying whether dozens, gross, etc.);

(vi) Product of total number of units delivered multiplied by unreduced maximum average price ((v) multiplied by (ii));

(vii) Product of total number of units delivered multiplied by reduced maximum average price ((v) multiplied by (iii));

(d) Total net dollar amount charged for all categories combined (from (c) (iv));

(e) Total of amount shown in (c) (vi) for all categories combined;

(f) Total of amount shown in (c) (vii) for all categories combined;

(g) Dollar amount of your net accumulated surcharge at the beginning of the month (net surcharge incurred during the last quarter of normal operation plus any additional net surcharge incurred during the first month of the makeup period and minus any amount previously made up and reported);

(h) Dollar amount of net accumulated surcharge made up in all categories combined, if any ((e) minus (d));

(i) Dollar amount of net accumulated surcharge remaining to be made up, if any ((g) minus (h));

(j) Excess, if any, of total net dollar amount charged over amount permitted under section 7 (b) ((d) minus (f));

(k) Category number and title of each category listed in your maximum average price chart or OPA order of authorization which was not delivered during the month.

[Subparagraphs (i) and (ii) amended by Am. 9, 11 F.R. 604, effective 12–31–45 and Am. 11, 11 F.R. 4153, effective 4–12–46]

The three sample reports above show how you must arrange your own quarterly reports and your makeup report for a makeup operation under section 7 (a). The first report shown is for the first quarter of operation and therefore would be filed within 20 days after the end of the quarter. This report shows that in category A–10 the reporting company's weighted average price was more than its maximum average price plus tolerance for the period and therefore a surcharge has to be computed and reported. In Category A–26 the company earned a credit because its weighted average price was lower than its maximum average price as adjusted under Special Order 3 in that category. In category A–18 the weighted average price was higher than the original maximum average price but within the increase permitted by the tolerance so the company had neither a surcharge nor a credit in that category. Therefore, the credit earned was subtracted from the surcharge leaving a net surcharge to be made up of $900.00.

The second and third sample reports show that the reporting company made up its net surcharge during the fourth calendar quarter of 1945, that is, the quarter following the one in which it was incurred; therefore, the second report would be filed within 10 days after the company completed its makeup and the third report shown would be filed within 20 days after the end of the fourth quarter. The end date specified in the makeup report indicates that the company made up the net surcharge incurred in the previous quarter by October 25, at which time it ceased to operate on a makeup basis. The figures shown in the makeup report indicate that the company made up a portion of the net surcharge in each of the categories delivered during the makeup period.

Since the company was on a makeup basis, the amount of surcharge made up in each category delivered could be figured by deducting the weighted average price from the maximum average price increased by the amount of tolerance for each category and then multiplying the difference by the number of units delivered. The quarterly report covering the remainder of the fourth quarter when the company was not on a makeup basis shows that a credit was earned in category A–26 in that quarter and no surcharges were incurred. Therefore, the company had a net credit for that quarter.

The sample report shown below illustrates a makeup report for January 1946 prepared by a manufacturer who sells only Category A–1 and who chose to operate under the makeup provision of section 7 (b). Assume that this manufacturer incurred a net surcharge during the third quarter of 1945 of $2,000. For the period October 1 through November 30 his weighted average price was 10¢ above his maximum average price and he delivered 10,000 units. During December he made up 5¢ per unit on deliveries of 4,000 units. Therefore, his net accumulated surcharge by January 1, 1946 was $2,800 ($2,000 plus $1,000 minus $200). His total net dollar amount charged during the period October 1 through December 31 was $28,000. Therefore, under section 7 (b) (1), his maximum average price must be reduced by 10% until he makes up his net accumulated surcharge ($2,800 divided by $28,000). The entries in his report show that his original maximum average price applicable in January 1946 was $11.73 and his increased maximum average price was $12.90 after adding tolerance under Special Order 5. Therefore, his reduced maximum average price became $11.61 (10% of $12.90 equals $1.29; $12.90 minus $1.29 equals $11.61). During January 1946 in the only category delivered, his total net dollar amount charged was $9,000. His total number of units delivered was 779.

Since his maximum average price before reduction multiplied by 779 equals $10,049.10, he made up $1,049.10 of his net accumulated surcharge during the month ($10,049.10 minus $9,000). His net accumulated surcharge remaining to be made up was $1,750.90 ($2,800 minus $1,049.10). Also, since his reduced maximum average price multiplied by 779 equals $9,044.19 and his total net dollar amount charged was $9,000, his total charge did not exceed the total amount he was permitted to charge under section 7 (b).

SEC. 20. Definitions. (a) "Total net dollar amount charged" means the sum of all the prices charged for items delivered, after the deduction of all cash and trade discounts offered, and the deduction of all separate transportation charges, service charges, premiums and any other separate charges appearing on the invoice. Returns are not to be deducted from "total net dollar amount charged".

(b) "Unit" means the number of individual items which are grouped together for the purposes of quoting prices, billing and counting; e. g., a dozen or a gross or one. The same unit must be used for all items within a single category, and in every case the same unit used in computing the maximum average price for a category in the base period must be used consistently for each subsequent computation for that category.

(c) "War procurement agency" means the War Department, the Department of the Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration, the Procurement Division of the Department of the Treasury of the United States, or any agency of the foregoing, and shall be deemed to include stores operated as Army Canteens, post exchanges, or ship's service activities.

(d) "Price regulation" means a price schedule or order effective in accordance with the provisions of section 206 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or maximum price regulation issued by the OPA, or any amendment thereto or order thereunder.

(e) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, shall apply to the terms used in this order.

SEC. 21. Individual adjustment in certain hardship cases. This section provides for adjustment by order of your maximum average prices established under section 3 if you can demonstrate that you meet the qualifications listed in (a) below. Note that you may not apply under this section on the ground that you are unable to obtain materials either in sufficient quantity or at suitable prices to enable you to meet your maximum average prices.

If you have filed a proper application for adjustment of your maximum average prices under this section, the provisions of section 7 of this order and the provisions of Special Order 9 to SO 108 shall not apply to you between the date of your application and the date specified in any order issued to you by the Office of Price Administration either granting or denying such adjustment. Of course, those provisions shall apply to any manufacturer who has not filed an application under this section, or who has filed an application which does not allege as a basis for adjustment, one of the grounds listed in paragraph (a) (1). Such applications will be dismissed by letter rather than granted or denied.

(a) Who may apply. You may apply for adjustment of your maximum average price established for a particular category under section 3 if any of the grounds listed in (1) describes your circumstances and as a result of such circumstance, you are suffering, as to that category, any of the types of hardship listed in (2).

(1) Grounds for application. (i) During one or more of your base periods you delivered at least 50% (in units) of your items in the category in "second" or "irregular" quality and your base period delivery records so described such items.

(ii) During one or more of your base periods 50% or more of your deliveries (in dollars) of commodities of the same description as the items in any category were made pursuant to contracts or subcontracts with war procurement agencies. (In calculating your total deliveries pursuant to such contracts you may figure as your dollar amount charged for items for which the war procurement agency supplied you with materials an amount equal to your charge for your services plus the cost of the materials.)

(iii) During your base period, part of your production facilities were damaged or destroyed by flood, fire or other Act of God and these facilities had been devoted to production of items at prices higher than your maximum average price.

(iv) During or since your base period but prior to June 1, 1945, you lost by destruction, sold or otherwise transferred (and have not replaced) part of your production facilities and these facilities had been devoted to the production of items at prices lower than your maximum average price.

(v) Since your base period but prior to June 1, 1945, you acquired (and currently have) a new type of machinery which can be used to produce items only at prices higher than your maximum average price for the category.

[Subparagraph (ii), (iv) and (v) amended and (x) added by Am. 11, 11 F.R. 4153, effective 4-12-46]

(vi) Your weighted average price for the category during any of your base periods was based on deliveries during a period shorter than 6 weeks.

(vii) You made deliveries of items in the category during a shorter period than one full calendar quarter in either 1943 or 1944.

(viii) You became the transferee, between the base period and April 28, 1945, of a person to whom any of the circumstances described above applies.

(ix) You purchased your business during or since 1943 but prior to April 28, 1945, and the stock in trade of the business was liquidated at a net loss during one or more of your base periods.

(x) During one or more of your base periods 50% or more of your total dollar volume (excluding your dollar volume of deliveries of commodities covered by 2nd RMPR 339,[24] MPR 572,[25] MPR 95,[26] MPR 602,[27] RMPR 208,[28] MPR 506,[29] MPR 274,[30] RMPR 304,[31] and MPR 385,[32]) represented deliveries of commodities made pursuant to contracts or subcontracts with war procurement agencies. (In calculating your total deliveries pursuant to such contracts you may figure as your dollar amount charged for items for which the war procurement agency supplied you with materials an amount equal to your charge for your services plus the cost of the materials.)

(2) Types of hardship. (i) Your maximum average price established for the category under section 3 is abnormal in comparison with your previous experience in the same industry.

(ii) You had no previous experience in the same industry and your maximum average price for the category is lower than the weighted average price you would have maintained in the absence of the circumstances listed in (1) above.

(iii) You cannot because of your present facilities operate your business without incurring a net surcharge even if you deliver all items in the category at your total cost for such items. This situation shall be considered a hardship only if the circumstances described in (1) (iv) or (1) (v) above are alleged as the ground for application.

[Subparagraph (iii) amended by Am. 11]

(b) How to apply. Application for adjustment under this section must be made by filing with your OPA District Office two copies of an application containing the following information:

(1) Your business name and address.

(2) The categories for which you are seeking adjustment of your maximum average price.

(3) Your maximum average price for each category listed in (2), as adjusted under Special Order No. 3.

(4) Your ground or grounds for application. (This must be one of the grounds listed in (a) (1) above.)

(5) A statement in detail, of the facts constituting each of your grounds for application.

(6) Your type of hardship. (This must be one of the types listed in (a) (2) above.)

(7) An explanation, in detail, of the manner in which the circumstances described in (5) caused the hardship stated in (6), including facts as to your previous experience or other reasons why your present maximum average price is abnormal, or the reasons why your present facilities make production within your present maximum average price impossible. This explanation should be supported by all factual information pertaining thereto and any evidence corroborating these facts.

(8) Your requested adjusted maximum average price for each category listed in (2).

(c) Disposition of applications. Adjustments or denial of adjustments of maximum average prices will be made by order of the Office of Price Administration, and such orders will also contain instructions concerning the procedure for making up any net surcharges existing at the date of issuance of the order.

(1) Authorization of adjusted maximum average prices. Where it has been satisfactorily demonstrated that one or more of the circumstances listed in (a) (1) exists, and that as a result of such circumstance, the applicant is suffering one of the types of hardship listed in (a) (2), the Office of Price Administration will, by order, adjust the maximum average prices in appropriate categories, to accomplish the following results:

(i) Maximum average prices, abnormally lowered by the fortuitous circumstances described in (a) (1) (except (a) (1) (v)), will be restored to the levels warranted by the previous experience of the applicants or, in the case of applicants without previous experience, to the levels which would have existed if such circumstances had not interfered.

(ii) Maximum average prices which cannot be maintained because of the circumstances described in (a) (1) (iv) and (v) will be adjusted to permit the manufacturer to recover total cost of the items in the adjusted category which he can make: Provided, That he is unable to balance his surcharges with credits in other categories.

[Subparagraph (ii) amended by Am. 11, 11 F.R. 4153, effective 4-12-46]

(2) Denial of applications. Where it has been determined that the circumstances listed in (a) (1) did not occur, or where, although it has been satisfactorily demonstrated that one of the circumstances listed in (a) (1) did occur, it has not been established that, as a result of such circumstances, the applicant is suffering one of the types of hardship listed in (a) (2), the Office of Price Administration will issue an order denying the application.

(3) Dismissal of application. Where the application does not allege one of the circumstances listed in (a) (1) the Office of Price Administration will dismiss the application informally by letter.

SEC. 22. Certain items which may be excluded from this order—(a) What items may be excluded. You need not include prices charged for deliveries made on or after October 1, 1945 of the following items in computing your weighted average prices under this order, Provided, That the requirements of paragraph (b) which are applicable to you have been observed:

(1) Uniforms which are sold and delivered to federal, state or municipal governments within the United States or agencies thereof, schools, common carriers, utilities, athletic associations or clubs or non-profit corporations or associations.

(9) Items made wholly (except for lining, binding or trimmings) of a combination of two or more of the fabrics or yarns named in paragraphs (4) through (8) above.

(10) Items included in categories B-41 through B-47 if all non-elastic material used (except for lining, binding or trimmings) is made of the yarns or fabrics named in paragraphs (4) through (8) and the elastic materials comprise 40% or less of the total yardage used in the item.

[Subparagraph (12) added by Am. 12, effective 5-13-46]

(b) Amending maximum average price chart—(1) Sellers who delivered both items listed in (a) and other items during the base period. If, during your base period, you delivered both items listed in (a) and other items in the same category and you now wish to deliver both types of items in that category but do not wish to include those listed in (a) in calculating your weighted average prices after October 1, 1945, you must refigure your MAP for that category by excluding from your base period deliveries of that category, all deliveries of items listed in (a). You must also file with your OPA District Office, on or before January 20, 1946 or the date on which you first deliver an item you wish to exclude, whichever is later, two signed copies of an amendment to your maximum average price chart showing as to each refigured category the information required by section 4 (b) of Supplementary Order 108.

(2) Sellers who delivered only items listed in (a) during the base period. If you delivered only items listed in (a) during your base period and you do not wish to include those items in calculating your weighted average price after October 1, 1945, you must file with your OPA District Office, on or before January 20, 1946 or the date on which you first deliver an item you wish to exclude, whichever is later, two signed copies of an amendment to your maximum average price chart stating the number and title of each such category and that each such category is now removed from your maximum average price chart.

(c) Special provision for persons who must amend their maximum average price charts under (b) (2) above. If you have no MAP for a category after October 1, 1945 because all of your base period deliveries in the category were items listed in (a), you must not deliver any items in the category not listed in (a) until you receive an order under section 9 of this order authorizing a MAP for that category; except that if you file your application on or before January 20, 1946 you may continue to deliver and use your former maximum average price for that category until an order of authorization is issued to you.

(d) Special provision for persons who exclude items added after January 1, 1946—(1) When you may exclude deliveries of items which are added to the list in paragraph (a) after January 1, 1946. All deliveries of such items made during the period covered by your next report after the effective date of the amendment making such addition may be excluded in calculating your weighted average price for that period. (For example, if you are reporting deliveries for a quarter, you may exclude deliveries, made at any time during that quarter, of items added during that quarter in figuring your weighted average price. If you are reporting deliveries for a month under section 7 (b) you may exclude deliveries, made at any time during that month, of items added during that month.)

(2) When you must file under (b) and (c). If you wish to exclude items added to paragraph (a) after January 1, 1946, you must observe the requirements of paragraph (b) which are applicable to you, on or before 45 days from the effective date of the amendment adding such item, or on or before the date on which you first deliver an item you wish to exclude, whichever is later.

(e) Effect of election to exclude items. If you elect to exclude, under this section, deliveries of any items from the total number of units delivered in any category, you must exclude from that category all deliveries of such items for the quarter in which you first elect to exclude the items and for all subsequent quarters.

[Paragraphs (d) and (e) added by Am. 10, 11 F.R. 3544, effective 3-29-46]

[Secs. 21 and 22 added; and former sec. 21 redesignated as 23 by Am. 8, 10 F.R. 15125, effective 12-14-45]

SEC. 23. Categories—(a) Description of categories. The categories of items listed in the following Appendices are in some cases described in terms of fabric content of the item. In your operation under this order, you must include in your records and reports on deliveries of items in each category, only items which, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, are made of the fabric listed for that category, as defined in paragraph (b) below.

However, if your base period records do not show the same distinctions between "wool", "cotton" and "all other fabrics" as are made by the definitions set forth below, you must separate items made of "wool", "cotton" and "all other fabrics" in accordance with your base period records in computing your maximum average price for each category.

(b) Definitions of fabrics. (1) Except where otherwise specifically qualified the terms "wool" and "cotton" when used in the descriptions of categories are defined as follows:

(i) "Wool" fabric means any knitted or woven fabric containing 25% or more, by weight, of new, reprocessed or reused wool fibre.

(ii) "Cotton" fabric means any knitted or woven fabric containing less than 25% wool fibre, by weight, but of which 50% or more, by weight, of the remaining fibres are cotton.

(a) "Combed cotton" fabric means a cotton fabric in which all the cotton fibres have been combed.

(b) "Carded cotton" fabric means a cotton fabric containing any cotton fibres which have been carded but not combed.

[Subdivisions (a) and (b) added by Am. 5, 10 F.R. 12080, effective 9-25-45]

(2) Fabrics, knitted or woven, which do not answer the definitions set forth above for "cotton" fabrics and "wool" fabrics are included in "all other fabrics" or in "other yarns and mixtures" wherever such descriptions appear in a category listing. "Other fabrics" and "other yarns and mixtures" include nylon, rayon, aralac, linen, silk, and all other fibres, mixtures or constructions not specifically defined or listed as part of a category description. "Other fabrics" and "other yarns and mixtures" also include either cotton or wool if these fabrics are not specifically listed for the same commodity in another category.

(c) Combinations of fabrics. (1) Items made of a combination of two or more fabrics shall be included in the category listing the fabric which represents the largest portion of the yardage incorporated in the item, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings.

(2) Items made of a combination of fabrics and other materials, such as leather, plastics, etc. shall be included in the category listing the material of which the largest portion of the surface area of the item is made, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE OF REGULATION AND PROHIBITION

SECTION 1. Applicability of this regulation—(a) To what sales this regulation applies. This regulation applies to all sales by all persons of new vehicles included in the following definition:

(1) Definition of vehicles subject to this regulation. The term "new vehicle" as used in this regulation means any new truck, truck tractor, and motorcycle except specially designed racing motorcycles, not sold exclusively for military purposes, and manufactured in the United States on or after May 18, 1944, which:

(i) Has not been used; or

(ii) Is a demonstrator; or

(iii) Is a dealer company owned or dealer executive vehicle.

Not later than five days from the date the first vehicle in each model series subject to this regulation is manufactured, the manufacturer shall notify the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C., of the description and serial number of such vehicle, except that in the case of vehicles having maximum prices under section 3 (c), the Automotive Branch shall be notified of the description and serial number of the first vehicle in each model series for which a maximum price under section 6, 7 or 8, is effective instead of a maximum price under section 3 (c), and this notice shall be given not later than five days from the date it is manufactured.

(b) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies to the forty-eight States of the United States, the District of Columbia, Porto Rico, and notwithstanding the provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 194 to the Territory of Alaska.

SEC. 2. Prohibition against dealing in new vehicles at prices above the maximum. (a) No person shall sell or deliver any new vehicle at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation, except as provided in section 17.

(b) No person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive a new vehicle at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation, except as provided in section 17, but if he, the purchaser, has received from the seller a written statement that the price charged is not in excess of the maximum price, and he has no knowledge to the contrary, he shall be deemed to have complied with this paragraph.

(c) No person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the acts prohibited in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

SEC. 3. Relation of this regulation to other regulations—(a) In general. The transactions, persons, and commodities subject to this regulation shall not be subject to any other regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration in so far as they are covered by this regulation, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c).

(b) Sales for export. Expoft sales of the new vehicles governed by this regulation are covered by the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.

(c) Previously adjusted maximum prices. Notwithstanding any provision of this regulation, maximum prices authorized under § 1390.25a of Maximum Price Regulation 136, as amended, or section 21 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, which were in effect immediately prior to the effective date of this regulation for vehicles now covered by this regulation, shall remain in effect for such vehicles until they are superseded by maximum prices contained in orders issued under this regulation, except as provided in the following sentence. No adjusted maximum prices authorized under § 1390.25a of Maximum Price Regulation 136, as amended, or section 21 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, for vehicles covered by this regulation, shall have any force or effect on and after June 30, 1946, unless prior to that date the manufacturers of such vehicles shall have filed proper applications for maximum prices for such vehicles under section 7 or 8 of this regulation.

SEC. 4. Less than maximum prices. Nothing in this regulation prevents the charging, offering, or paying of prices lower than the maximum prices permitted by this regulation.

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES FOR MANUFACTURERS

SEC. 5. General explanation—(a) Coverage of Article II. Maximum prices for manufacturers and maximum resale list prices are established under this Article II. The word "you" refers to a person who is a manufacturer of new vehicles.

(b) Methods to be used in determining maximum prices. There are four methods for determining manufacturers' maximum prices, the first three of which are for use in pricing new vehicles similar to models of the same makes which had maximum prices prior to the effective date of this regulation, and the fourth, in pricing new vehicles of new makes or new vehicles of established makes which are not similar to models of such makes which had maximum prices prior to the effective date of this regulation.

The second pricing method also has an additional use. It is to be used in pricing new vehicles which are changed in specification, design, material or equipment subsequent to the establishment of maximum prices for them under any one of the four pricing methods when such changes result in raising or lowering direct labor and direct material costs.

(c) Costs to be used in determining net differences in direct labor and material costs. Some of the following pricing methods require the calculating of the net difference in direct material and labor costs due to a change in specification, design, material or equipment. In making that calculation, use the following costs:

(1) Material cost. Use actual current cost whenever possible for the item of material or equipment of the new vehicle that reflects a change from the similar item of material or equipment in the model with which the new vehicle is compared and also for the item of material or equipment in the model with which it is compared. When actual current cost cannot be determined for the item of material or equipment of the model with which the new vehicle is compared, use your best estimate of current cost for such an item. Likewise, when actual current cost cannot be determined for the item of material or equipment of the new vehicle, use your best estimate of current cost for such an item.

(2) Labor cost. Use labor cost based on actual current wage rates and on your best estimate of the time it would currently take to perform the operation. This procedure applies to the item of material or equipment in both the new vehicle and in the model with which the new vehicle is compared.

(d) List price. The "list price" referred in this regulation is the highest gross price either for a vehicle or its extra, special or optional equipment before any discounts or allowances, and exclusive of charges for outbound transportation, for taxes, and for handling and delivery operations, adjusted to reflect any absorption factor which OPA determines shall be applied to prices for sales at distributive levels in accordance with its policy for pricing reconversion products at distributive levels. However, until the absorption factor is determined by OPA and manufacturers are instructed to reflect it in list prices such prices shall reflect the same initial margins over resellers invoice costs as were customarily in effect on March 31, 1942. The term "list price" includes a so-called "factory retail price" if such a retail price is the highest gross price referred to in this paragraph.

(e) Base date. The "base date" referred to in any section in the regulation is March 31, 1942.

(f) 1942 model. "1942 Model" means a new vehicle manufactured subsequent to July 31, 1941, but prior to August 12, 1943.

(g) Modified maximum list price. A "modified maximum list price" is a maximum list price authorized by OPA under:

(1) Section 1390.6 or 1390.7 of Maximum Price Regulation 136, as amended; or

(2) Section 8 or sections 9 and 10 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136.

(h) Significantly different. A new vehicle or piece of new extra, special or optional equipment is significantly different if, because of differences in specifications, design, material or equipment, its direct costs for materials and labor are lower or higher than such costs for the most recent of the following vehicles:

(1) The most similar 1942 model of the same make; or

(2) The most similar model of the same make for which you had a "modified maximum list price" in effect immediately prior to the effective date of this regulation; or

(3) The most similar model of the same make for which you have a maximum list price authorized under section 6, 7, 8, or 9 of this regulation.

NOTE: Changes in specification, design or material in extra, special or optional equipment resulting in lower or higher direct labor and material costs make a vehicle significantly different as well as such changes in the vehicle of base specifications.

SEC. 6. First method for determining a maximum price—(a) When it is to be used. A maximum price may be established under the first pricing method for any new commercial vehicle which is not a significantly different vehicle with lower direct material and labor costs than the model with which it is compared. A significantly different vehicle is defined in section 5 (h).

(b) Method. Your maximum price under this method to each class of purchaser is the sum of the following less the amount obtained by multiplying (1) and (2) by the respective discounts in effect on the base date, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d):

(1) A charge for the vehicle with base specifications which shall be the more recent of the following:

(i) The list price in effect on the base date adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for the most similar 1942 model of base specifications of the same make; or

(ii) A modified maximum list price authorized by the OPA, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for a model of base specifications of the same make most similar to the new vehicle of base specifications being priced; and

(2) A charge for extra, special or optional equipment which shall be the more recent of the following:

(i) The list prices in effect on the base date, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for the most similar 1942 model, extra, special or optional equipment; or

(ii) Modified maximum list prices authorized by the OPA, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for the most similar extra, special or optional equipment; and

(3) A charge to cover freight expense, computed in accordance with the method you had in effect on the base date plus transportation tax at the current legal rate; and

(4) A charge to cover federal excise taxes, at the current legal rate, computed in accordance with the method you had in effect on the base date; and

(5) A charge to cover handling and delivery expense computed by using the same rate and method you had in effect on the base date, except as provided in section 10 (g); and

(6) A charge to cover advertising expense not to exceed the amount charged on October 15, 1941, when such a charge is not included in the list price, and it was customary for the manufacturer to make such a charge on October 15, 1941.

(c) When maximum prices under this method may be charged. Maximum prices determined under this method may be charged and collected without prior approval or authorization.

SEC. 7. Second method for determining a maximum price—(a) When it is to be used. A maximum price may be established under this method for a new vehicle which is a significantly different vehicle as defined in section 5 (h).

If differences in specifications, design, materials or equipment cause direct material and labor costs of the new vehicle to be lower than such costs of the model with which it is compared, the maximum price for the new vehicle must be established under this section unless it is established under section 8.

For the purposes of this section, the vehicle of base specifications, and each piece of extra, special or optional equipment shall be considered to have separate maximum list prices. When a change in specification, design, material or equipment in the base vehicle results in an increase or decrease in direct labor and material costs from such costs of the base vehicle with which it is compared, the maximum list price to be adjusted to reflect the change in direct labor and material costs is only the maximum list price for the vehicle of base specifications. Conversely, when such a change in a piece of extra, special or optional equipment results in lower or higher direct labor and material costs than such costs for the equipment with which it is compared, then only the maximum list price for that piece of equipment is adjusted to reflect the difference in direct labor and material costs. In the latter case, the maximum price for the vehicle of base specifications and for each of the other pieces of extra, special or optional equipment remain unchanged.

(b) Method. Your maximum price under this method for each class of purchaser is the sum of the following, less the amount obtained by multiplying (1), (2), (3) and (4) by the respective discounts in effect in the base period, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d):

(1) A charge for the new vehicle with base specifications which shall be the most recent of the following:

(i) The list price in effect on the base date, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for the most similar 1942 model of base specifications of the same make; or

(ii) A modified maximum list price authorized by the OPA, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for a vehicle of base specifications of the same make which is most similar to the vehicle of base specifications being priced; or

(iii) A maximum list price authorized under section 6, 7, 8, or 9 of this regulation for the most similar model of the same make; and

(2) A charge for extra, special or optional equipment which shall be the most recent of the following:

(i) The list prices in effect on the base date, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for the most similar 1942 model, extra, special or optional equipment; or

(ii) Modified maximum list prices authorized by the OPA, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d), for the most similar extra, special or optional equipment; or

(iii) Maximum list prices authorized under section 6, 7, 8 or 9 of this regulation for the most similar extra, special or optional equipment of the same make; and

(3) The dollar and cents amount which after the application of the above discounts to the most favored class of purchaser will yield the dollar and cent net difference (which may be a minus amount) between the direct materials and direct labor costs of the new vehicle of base specification and the same costs of the most similar model of base specifications with which it is compared, caused by the differences in specification, design, material or equipment between these two vehicles; and

(4) The dollar and cents amount which after the application of the above discounts to the most favored class of purchaser will yield the net dollar and cent differences (which may be a minus amount) between the direct materials and direct labor costs of the new extra, special or optional equipment and the same costs of the most similar extra, special or optional equipment with which the new equipment is compared, caused by the differences in specification, design or material between such equipment; and

(5) A charge to cover freight expense computed in accordance with the method you had in effect on the base date, plus the transportation tax at the current legal rate; and

(6) A charge to cover Federal excise taxes, at the current legal rate, computed in accordance with the method you had in effect on the base date; and

(7) A charge to cover handling and delivery expense computed by using the same rate and method you had in effect on the base date, except as provided in section 10 (g).

(8) A charge to cover advertising expense not to exceed the amount charged on October 15, 1941, when such a charge is not included in the list price, and it was customary for the manufacturer to make such a charge on October 15, 1941.

(c) Approval of maximum prices. All maximum prices under this section shall be submitted for approval to the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C. The report in which the prices are submitted shall contain the following information:

(1) Where the difference in specification, design, material or equipment is between the base vehicle or extra, special or optional equipment being priced and a base vehicle or extra, special or optional equipment which does not have an established maximum price under section 6, 7, 8 or 9. (i) When the difference in specification, design, material or equipment is in the new vehicle of base specification:

(a) The make, series, and model of the new vehicle of base specifications; and

(b) The make, series, and model of the most similar model of base specifications of the same make with which it is compared; and

(c) A description of the differences between the two vehicles of base specifications in specification, design, material or equipment causing differences in direct labor and material costs; and

(d) The amount which after the application of discounts to the most favored class of purchaser yields the net difference in direct material and direct labor costs, (which may be a minus amount) attributable to each of the differences in specification, design, material or equipment (Total this listing of differences in direct costs); and

(e) The proposed list price and the discounts for each class of purchaser and reseller; and

(f) The list price for the most similar model of base specification with which the new vehicle is compared and the discounts for each class of purchaser and reseller; and

(ii) When the difference in specification, design, or material is in the extra, special or optional equipment:

(a) A description of each piece of extra, special or optional equipment being priced which contains a difference in specification, design or material; and

(b) A description of the most similar extra, special or optional equipment from which the equipment in (a) differs in specification, design or material; and

(c) A description of the differences in specification, design or material between the equipment in (a) and the equipment in (b); and

(d) The amount which after the application of discounts to the most favored class of purchaser yields the net difference in direct material cost and direct labor cost (which may be a minus amount) attributable to each of the differences in specification, design or material (total this listing of differences in direct costs); and

(e) The proposed list price for each piece of new extra, special or optional equipment, and the discounts for each class of purchaser and reseller; and

(f) The list price for each piece of extra, special or optional equipment with which the equipment in (e) is compared, and the discounts for each class of purchaser and reseller.

(2) Where the difference in specification, design, material or equipment is in a vehicle of base specifications or a piece of extra, special, or optional equipment, for which a maximum price was established by the manufacturer under section 6, 7, 8, or 9. (i) In the case of the base vehicle, the make, series, and model of the base vehicle for which a price was established under section 6, 7, 8, or 9, and in the case of extra, special or optional equipment, a full description of the applicable equipment for which a maximum price was established under section 6, 7, 8, or 9; and

(ii) The section under which the maximum price was previously established; and

(iii) A description of the changes in specification, design, material or equipment causing differences in direct labor and direct material costs of the base vehicle or extra, special or optional equipment for which a maximum list price was previously established under section 6, 7, 8, or 9; and

(iv) The amount which after the application of the discounts to the most favored class of purchaser yields the net difference in direct material and direct labor costs (which may be a minus amount), attributable to each of the changes in specification, design, material or equipment (Total this listing of differences in direct costs); and

(v) The proposed list price and the discounts for each class of purchaser and reseller; and

(vi) The maximum list price of the base vehicle or extra, special or optional equipment, whichever is applicable, and the discounts for each class of purchaser and reseller, that were established under section 6, 7, 8 or 9.

(d) Maximum resale prices. These maximum resale prices shall reflect resellers' initial margins over their invoice costs which were customarily in effect on March 31, 1942, adjusted to reflect any absorption factor which OPA determines shall be applied to prices for sales at distributive levels in accordance with its policy for pricing reconversion products at distributive levels. In any case where the manufacturer sells below his maximum net price to resellers, he shall adjust the resale list price to reflect margins for resellers no higher than the markups over resellers' invoice costs permitted by this regulation. This adjusted resale list price shall be the list price which the resellers shall use in determining their maximum prices.

(e) Action by OPA—(1) When maximum prices are for vehicles or extra, special or optional equipment for which maximum prices were not previously charged under section 6, 7, 8, or 9. A request for approval of maximum prices shall be granted or denied in an order issued by the Administrator. In addition, the Administrator may, by order, establish a maximum price determined under this section which is different from the price for which approval is requested. In each order authorizing maximum prices for the manufacturer there shall be stated maximum resale prices for all classes of resellers, or specific reference shall be given to the section of the regulation under which the resale maximum price shall be determined.

(2) When maximum prices are for vehicles, or extra, special or optional equipment for which maximum prices were previously charged under section 6, 7, 8, or 9. OPA shall approve or disapprove proposed manufacturers' and resellers' maximum prices or establish different maximum prices in accordance with this section. This action shall be taken by order except as provided in the following paragraph.

In each of the following instances, proposed maximum prices may be approved by letter from the Price Executive, Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, or a person authorized to act in his capacity. However, proposed maximum prices in the following instances shall be considered approved by OPA when not disapproved within ten days from the date the application is received by the Automotive Branch, Washington, D. C. But when additional information is requested, the ten days shall run from the date the last additional information is filed. These instances are:

(i) When the units are to be sold by you, the manufacturer, direct to a user.

(ii) When the units are to be sold by you, the manufacturer, to purchasers outside the United States or its territories and possessions.

(iii) When less than a total of 25 units are to be resold through all resellers in the continental United States or its territories and possessions.

(iv) When the units are to be resold by a reseller in a one-time sale to the United States Government or a state or municipal government.

In instances (iii) or (iv), you, the manufacturer, shall notify applicable resellers of proposed resale prices approved as maximum prices by letter to you or because they were not disapproved within the ten day period.

(f) When proposed maximum prices may be charged and collected. Maximum prices proposed for approval in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section may be charged and collected in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) Proposed maximum prices which must be approved by order. Proposed manufacturers' maximum prices which must be approved by order may be charged on and after the date of mailing of the application but may not be collected in whole or in part until approved by OPA. Proposed resellers' maximum prices which must be approved by order may not be charged or collected until approved by OPA.

(2) Proposed maximum prices which may be approved by letter or by ten day provision—(i) Manufacturers' proposed prices. Proposed manufacturers' maximum prices which may be approved by letter or by OPA not acting on an application within ten days after receipt of the application may be charged and collected on and after the date of mailing of the application. If the maximum price approved is lower than the maximum price proposed, then the manufacturer shall refund to the purchaser the difference between the adjustment proposed and the adjustment allowed.

(ii) Resellers' proposed prices. Proposed resellers' maximum prices which may be approved by letter or by OPA not acting on an application within ten days after receipt of the application may be charged and collected on and after the date the reseller receives notification from the automobile manufacturer of the resale prices which have been proposed to the OPA for approval. Resellers shall refund to purchasers the difference between the adjustment in resellers' prices proposed by the manufacturer and the adjustment which is allowed.

SEC. 8. Third method for determining a maximum price—(a) When it is to be used. Under the third pricing method, which incorporates the OPA's reconversion pricing formula, a maximum price may be established for any new vehicle for which a maximum price may be established under the first or second pricing method. However, you may determine maximum prices for some models under section 8 and maximum prices for other models under section 6 or 7, whichever may be applicable.

If you are a manufacturer of more than one commodity line who determines a price increase factor under paragraphs (c), (d) and (e), you shall use a separate price increase factor for each commodity line. In determining these increase factors, however, you shall use the same composite profit and loss statement, the same increases in basic wage rate schedules and the same profit factor for all the commodity lines, but shall determine separate legal increases in materials prices for each commodity line. Commodity lines are: (1) trucks and truck tractors of 16,000 pounds gross vehicle weight or less; (2) trucks and truck tractors of more than 16,000 pounds gross vehicle weight but less than 40,000 pounds gross vehicle weight; (3) trucks and truck tractors of 40,000 pounds gross vehicle weight or more; and (4) motorcycles.

When a truck or tractor is 16,000 pounds gross vehicle weight, or slightly less, but because of your method of manufacturing it, it properly belongs to the commodity line of vehicles of a gross vehicle weight of more than 16,000 pounds, you may include such a vehicle in the latter commodity line. The converse may be followed in the case of a vehicle of slightly more than 16,000 pounds gross vehicle weight.

In your application you shall identify any vehicle you have included in a commodity line in accordance with the provisions of the previous paragraph. Also you shall give the reasons for so doing. If the Administrator is of the opinion that there is not a sufficient basis for placing the vehicle in a commodity line other than called for by its gross vehicle weight he shall reinstate it in the commodity line called for by its gross vehicle weight.

(b) Method—(1) For manufacturers of light or medium trucks who also manufacture new passenger automobiles. If you are a manufacturer of new passenger automobiles you may determine a maximum price under this section for a vehicle of 16,000 pounds gross vehicle weight or less, by using the price increase factor authorized under sections 8 and 9b, Maximum Price Regulation 594, for your passenger automobiles or by using a price increase factor calculated in accordance with paragraphs (c), (d) and (e) below: Whichever increase factor you elect to use, you shall apply it to your January 1, 1941 list prices for your most similar vehicles of the same make manufactured during the period July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941 (hereafter called 1941 vehicle prices) in accordance with Step 7 of paragraph (c) and the rules in paragraph (f).

The resulting prices adjusted in accordance with Step 1–A of paragraph (f) and section 5 (c) for changes in specification, design, material or equipment are your adjusted maximum list prices.

(2) For other vehicles covered by this regulation. For vehicles under this regulation for which a pricing method is not provided in subparagraph (1) above maximum prices shall be determined in accordance with paragraphs (c) to (f) below:

(c) How to calculate a price increase factor. Broadly stated, this calculation permits you first to compute a price increase factor reflecting legal increases since January 1, 1941, in your material prices and basic wage rate schedules and a profit margin over costs. You then apply this factor to your 1941 vehicle prices, and make appropriate adjustments for changes in specification, design, material and equipment from those 1941 vehicles. To calculate your price increase factor, take the following steps:

Step 1. Find your total net sales and total costs by constructing a composite profit and loss statement from the profit and loss statements for the fical year ending June 30, 1941, of all your divisions and subsidiaries which either produce or sell and distribute new vehicles, excluding profit and loss statements for divisions or subsidiaries which as a general practice are not engaged in the production or sale and distribution of new vehicles for delivery or use inside the continental United States. If you do not have divisional profit and loss statements for that year, construct a composite of your profit and loss statement and the profit and loss statements of your subsidiaries which produce or sell and distribute new vehicles except those excluded above.

"Total costs" include the cost of labor and materials, direct and indirect, entering into factory cost, other elements of factory overhead, and selling, general and administrative expense, but do not include any amount for profit or for income and excess profit taxes.

Step 2. Apply the rules in paragraph (d) below to determine a percentage increase factor for your legal increases in materials prices since January 1, 1941.

Step 3. Apply the rules in paragraph (e) below to determine a percentage increase factor for your legal increases in basic wage rate schedules since January 1, 1941.

Step 4. Adjust your total costs as found in Step 1 by increasing the material and labor costs entering into factory cost by dollar amounts which reflect your respective percentage increase factors for legal increases in materials prices and basic wage rate schedules. The result is your "adjusted total costs."

Step 5. Add to your adjusted total costs the higher of the following:

(1) The dollar amount obtained by multiplying your adjusted total costs by your average over-all percentage profit margin over cost for the years 1936–1939 in the divisions and subsidiaries covered by the composite profit and loss statement; or

(2) The dollar amount obtained by multiplying your adjusted total costs by 4.9%, one-half the industry's percentage over-all profit margin over cost for the years 1936–1939.

The result is your "adjusted total sales."

Step 6. Find the percentage by which your adjusted total sales exceed your total sales as found in Step 1. This percentage is your "price increase factor."

Step 7. Apply the price increase factor to your 1941 vehicle prices according to the rules in paragraph (f) below.

(d) How to calculate a percentage increase factor for material costs—(1) The method to be used. Legal increases in material prices for each commodity line shall be calculated by using the bill of materials for one of the following:

(i) Your best selling vehicle regardless of make for the period July 1, 1940 through June 30, 1941; or

(ii) Your best selling vehicle of each model series for the period stated in (i); or

(iii) Your best selling vehicle of each make for the period stated in (i).

(iv) When you use the best selling vehicle regardless of make. Find the price increase since January 1, 1941, for not less than 75% of the materials going into the vehicle. Then add the dollar or cents amounts of the increases together and divide the total by the total dollar cost as of January 1, 1941 of all materials going into the vehicle. The result is your "percentage increase factor for legal increases in materials prices."

(v) When you compute an increase factor for the best selling vehicle of each model series or for the best selling model of each make. Follow the procedure in (iv) for each vehicle and also do the following:

(a) Multiply the dollar sales volume of each group of vehicles each best selling vehicle represents for the period July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941 by the respective percentage increase factor determined in (iv); and

(b) Add each of the results together and divide this aggregate amount by the aggregate total of the dollar sales volumes which under (a) above were multiplied by percentage increase factors. The result is your "percentage increase factor for legal increases in materials prices."

(vi) How to proceed in determining increase for individual material items. In determining the increases make the determination separately for raw materials and other materials, and use the items of material in each case having the highest dollar values in their descending order of importance. Also use as the January 1, 1941, prices from which to measure the increases the following prices:

(a) For raw materials, open market prices as of January 2, 1941, for such materials; and

(b) For other materials, the last contract prices prior to January 1, 1941, for representative quantities of such materials.

(vii) Specifically authorized bill of materials. If it is impracticable for you to use any of the bills of materials outlined above for determining a percentage increase factor for legal increases in materials prices, you may request the Office of Price Administration to authorize a different bill of materials for determining this increase factor. Your request should contain clearly the reasons why a different bill of materials should be authorized, and should be directed to the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C.

If the reasons presented are adequate, the OPA may establish by order a different bill of materials to be used in determining a percentage increase factor for legal increases in materials prices. The bill of materials authorized shall be consistent with the bill of materials required above and shall yield results consistent with those obtained by the bill of materials required above.

(2) Definitions. (i) "Materials" include raw materials, parts, parts components, and subassemblies and also purchased services rendered in connection with the processing of materials.

(ii) "Legal increases in materials prices" are all increases in the general level of materials prices, effective on and after January 1, 1941.

Increases in the general level of materials prices do not include increases resulting from purchases from a more distant supplier or from a different class of seller; or in smaller quantities; or from changes in practices as to the subcontracting of parts, parts components, subassemblies or service operations; or those resulting from any other departure from customary purchasing practices.

You may use increases in the general level of materials prices effective on and after March 15, 1946, (effective date of Amendment 10 to Supplementary Order 129 suspending price control on commercial vehicle parts prices) in determining your percentage increase factor for legal increases in materials prices, but you shall include in your application a description of those materials, and the names of their manufacturers, the prices of which reflect increases effective on and after March 15, 1946 and the amount of each of the increases occurring on and after March 15, 1946.

(3) Materials cost increase factors. If it should appear to the Administrator that the prices you are paying to suppliers of parts or other materials are inflationary in that they include increases other than increases in the general level of materials prices or in the case of prices suspended or exempt from price control they are substantially higher than prices that would have been allowed under price control standards, the Administrator may establish materials cost increase factors applicable to particular parts or other materials or groups of parts or materials. These factors so far as may be reasonable and practicable, shall be in line with the general level of price increases which would be permitted if OPA's reconversion pricing policy were applied to adjust the maximum prices for the parts or other materials.

Where a materials cost increase factor is established, OPA will apply it in place of the increase which you reported for the part or material or group thereof, regardless of whether the factor is lower or higher.

(e) How to calculate a percentage increase factor for labor costs—(1) The method to be used. Itemize in cents amount each increase in basic wage rate schedules which has been made since January 1, 1941. (Wherever the increase is a percentage amount, multiply such percentage by the average straight time hourly rate of the workers affected by the increase on the date it was granted, in order to exepress the increase in a cents amount). Then for each increase find the percentage relationship of the factory workers covered by the composite profit and loss statement who were affected by the increase on the date it was granted to the total number of factory workers covered by the composite profit and loss statement who were employed on the date the increase was granted. Then multiply each cents increase by the respective percentage. Add the results together and divide the total by the average straight time hourly earnings to obtain the percentage increase factor for "legal increases in basic wage rate schedules." Do not include any increase in basic wage rate schedules for the types of workers whose compensation was included in general administrative and selling expenses in the period covered by the composite profit and loss statement.

(2) Definitions. (i) "A basic wage rate" is the single rate or established range of rates for a given job classification of workers whose wages enter into factory cost.

(ii) "Basic wage rate schedules" include all the basic wage rates and rate ranges covered by the composite profit and loss statement you are using of workers whose wages enter into factory cost.

(iii) "Increase in basic wage rate schedule." An increase in basic wage rate schedules is an increase in a single rate or range of rates applying to one or more job classification since January 1, 1941, that has been approved in accordance with Executive Order 9697.

Increases in basic wage rate schedules do not include increases to individual employees which do not alter the job classification rate or rate ranges or to employees whose wages do not enter into factory cost.

(iv) "Average straight time hourly earnings" are the weighted average dollar hourly earnings at straight time rates in effect January 1, 1941, or immediately thereafter, for all the workers covered by the composite profit and loss statement whose wages enter into factory cost.

(f) How to apply your price increase factor to your 1941 prices—(1) When you are pricing a new vehicle not significantly different from your most similar 1941 vehicle. To price a new vehicle not significantly different from the most similar 1941 vehicle of the same make follow these steps:

Step 1. To price each new vehicle increase by the price factor the list price you had in effect on January 1, 1941, for the most similar 1941 vehicle. Apply the increase factor separately to the January 1, 1941 list prices for the most similar 1941 extra, special or optional equipment.

Where the most similar 1941 vehicle of the same make does not have a January 1, 1941 list price, then the Administrator by order may authorize as a substitute the list price or highest price, in effect on the earliest date following January 1, 1941, adjusted to be in line with the January 1, 1941 level of list prices charged by the manufacturer.

Step 2. To these adjusted prices, add the charges for outbound transportation, taxes and handling and delivery operations permitted by section 6 or 7. The results, less the discounts to the particular class of purchaser which you had in effect on January 1, 1941, applied in accordance with your practice on that date, are your maximum net prices for the particular model, with and without extra, special or optional equipment, to that class of purchaser.

(2) When you are pricing a new vehicle significantly different from your most similar 1941 vehicle. To price a new vehicle which is significantly different from the most similar 1941 vehicle of the same make, follow the steps in subparagraph (1) above, but after Step 1, take the following step.

Step 1–A. Add the dollar and cents amount which after the application of the discounts in Step 2 above to the most favored class of purchaser will yield the net difference between the direct materials and labor costs of the new vehicle and such costs of the most similar 1941 vehicle of the same make caused by the differences in specification, design, material or equipment between the two vehicles. If the differences in the vehicles being priced cause its direct materials and labor costs to be lower than those of the 1941 vehicle, subtract, instead of adding, the amount which after the application of the discounts will yield the net difference. Determine separately the net differences between the direct material and labor costs of the extra, special or optional equipment of the two vehicles due to changes in specification, design or material. Increase or decrease, whichever the case may be, the list prices for the most similar 1941 vehicle extra, special or optional equipment by the amounts which after the application of the discounts will yield these net differences.

(g) How to apply for authorization of maximum prices under section 8. You shall apply to the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C., for authorization to charge maximum prices determined under section 8. The application shall be made on OPA Form 6085–2723 or on a statement of your own design. Your own statement, however, must contain all the applicable information, and in the same detail, which you are required to furnish on OPA Form 6085–2723.

(h) Maximum resale prices. Every order authorizing maximum prices under this section shall contain maximum resale prices for all classes of resellers. These maximum resale prices shall reflect resellers' initial margins over their invoiced costs which were customarily in effect on March 31, 1942 adjusted to reflect any absorption factor which OPA determines shall be applied to prices for sales at distributive levels in accordance with its policy for pricing reconversion products at distributive levels. In any case where the manufacturer sells below his maximum net price to resellers, he shall adjust the resale list price to reflect margins for resellers no higher than the markups over resellers' invoice costs permitted by this regulation. The adjusted list price shall be the list price which resellers shall use in determining their maximum prices.

SEC. 9. Fourth pricing method for determining a maximum price—(a) When it is to be used. Maximum prices must be established under this method for makes of new vehicles not previously manufactured or for vehicles of makes which are not similar to vehicles for which the manufacturer has maximum prices under the first or second pricing method with respect to specifications of major characteristics.

(b) Method. A maximum price shall be established which is in line with the general level of maximum prices in effect for the same class of vehicles (e. g., trucks, tractors) which the manufacturer sells, and which is in line with the general level of maximum prices in effect for the industry for the most similar type of vehicle.

Where the manufacturer does not have maximum prices for vehicles in the same class as the vehicle being priced, it is sufficient if the maximum price is in line with the general level of maximum prices in effect for the industry for the most similar type of vehicle.

In determining the in-line maximum price, the manufacturer shall select a vehicle of different manufacture, which has the closest similarity to the vehicle being priced as the manufacturer can ascertain.

In selecting the vehicle of "closest similarity" consideration shall be given to wheelbase, gross vehicle weight, chassis road weight on comparable tires, axle specifications, size of frame (including length, width and thickness) and body (type and construction) if any, the type of engine (e. g., gasoline, diesel), engine horsepower, and cubic inch displacement.

The manufacturer shall adjust the maximum list price for the similar vehicle by lowering or raising it, whichever is applicable, because of differences in estimated direct costs due to variations in the above specifications between it and the vehicle being priced. When this resulting price is not in line with the general level of maximum list prices which the manufacturer has for vehicles in the same class, if he manufactures such vehicles, he shall adjust this price so that it is consistent with the general level of maximum list prices for his vehicles in the same class.

The resulting price with appropriate discounts for all classes of purchasers shall be submitted for approval to the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C. In the request for approval shall be included data sufficient to indicate clearly that the price has been determined in accordance with the method prescribed in this paragraph.

The discounts included in the request shall provide net prices for sales by re-sellers as well as for sales by the manufacturer.

(c) Action by OPA. The OPA may by order approve or disapprove a list price submitted for approval under this pricing method or it may establish a different maximum list price in accordance with this fourth pricing method.

In acting on a price submitted for approval, OPA shall consider increases granted under the third pricing method for similar types of vehicles of other manufacturers. Where an in-line price submitted does not reflect such increases, it shall be adjusted by OPA to reflect them.

In authorizing a maximum price by order under this section OPA shall include in the maximum price the additional charges that may be added to the maximum list price of the base vehicle and extra, special or optional equipment, under sections 6, 7 and 8 of the regulation.

(d) When a manufacturer cannot determine an in-line price. If a manufacturer is not able to find a similar vehicle to the vehicle for which he secks a maximum list price, he shall so notify the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C. In his notification, he shall include a complete statement of the specifications of the vehicle. This statement shall indicate, among other items, the wheelbase, gross vehicle weight, chassis road weight, tire sizes, axle specifications, size of frame, type and construction of body, extra, special or optional equipment, the type of engine, engine horsepower, and cubic inch displacement. The OPA shall request such additional information as it may determine to be necessary.

The OPA shall fix by order a maximum list price for this vehicle. When possible it shall be an in-line price in accordance with paragraph (b). When an in-line price cannot be established, a price based on March 31, 1942 cost and mark-up factors shall be established by OPA adjusted to reflect increases granted under the third pricing method to manufacturers for similar types of vehicles.

(e) Maximum resale prices. In the orders issued under this pricing method, maximum prices shall be authorized for all classes of resellers. These maximum prices shall reflect in general the same percentage differential between manufacturers' prices and resellers' maximum prices that the regulation permits for new vehicles in the same price line having similar major characteristics.

In any case, where the manufacturer sells below his maximum net price to resellers, he shall adjust the resale list price to reflect margins for resellers no higher than the mark-ups over invoice costs permitted by this regulation. The adjusted list price shall be the list price which resellers shall use in determining their maximum prices.

(f) When maximum prices may be charged. No maximum prices under this fourth pricing method may be charged or collected until the orders in which they are authorized are effective.

ARTICLE III—MAXIMUM PRICES FOR RESELLERS

SEC. 10. Maximum prices for resales within the continental United States. The maximum price for a sale within the continental United States by a reseller is the sum of the following:

(a) The list price which the manufacturer or a distributor has notified dealers is the maximum price for the vehicle with base specifications less the discounts the manufacturer or distributor has notified dealers the OPA requires they must apply to the maximum list price when selling to the class of purchaser to which the purchaser belongs; and

(b) The list prices which the manufacturer or distributor has notified dealers are the maximum prices for the extra, special or optional equipment less the discounts the manufacturer or distributor has notified dealers the OPA requires they must apply to the maximum list prices when selling to the class of purchaser to which the purchaser belongs; and

(c) A charge to cover transportation costs, which shall not exceed:

(1) When the manufacturer prepays freight charges. The amount which the manufacturer charges for the shipment of the new vehicle and extra, special or optional equipment to the location at which delivery is made to the reseller including transportation tax; or

(2) When the manufacturer does not prepay freight charges—(i) If delivery is by railway freight. The railway freight charge for a minimum carload rate apportioned by the weight of the new vehicle for the transportation of the new vehicle and extra, special or optional equipment, by the most direct route, from the factory to the railroad freight receiving station nearest to the location at which delivery is made to the purchaser, plus transportation tax; or

(ii) If delivery is by truck-away. The truck-away charge at minimum truckload rate for the transportation of the new vehicle and extra, special or optional equipment from the factory to the location at which delivery is made to the purchaser, plus transportation tax;

(iii) If delivery is by drive-away. The drive-away charge for the type of drive-away used (single or dual) for the transportation of the new vehicle and extra, special or optional equipment from the factory to the location at which delivery is made to the purchaser, plus transportation tax; and

(d) A charge equal to the charge made by his supplier to cover Federal excise taxes on the new vehicle and on the extra, special or optional equipment; and

(e) A charge equal to his expense for state and local taxes on the sale and delivery of the new vehicle, and extra, special or optional equipment; and

(f) The factory handling and delivery charge which the manufacturer bills on his invoice to his purchaser.

When the manufacturer combines this charge with a charge for excise taxes the reseller may bill his purchaser this combined charge instead of the excise tax charge permitted by paragraph (d) and the factory handling charge permitted by this paragraph (f). When the manufacturer combines the factory handling and delivery charge with a charge for transportation, the reseller may bill his purchaser this combined charge instead of the transportation charge permitted by paragraph (c) and the factory and handling charge permitted by this paragraph (f). In completing a Certificate of Transfer for a sale to a user, a combined charge for excise taxes and factory handling and delivery should be inserted in the space allotted for excise tax and a combined charge for transportation and factory handling and delivery should be inserted in the space allotted for transportation charge. A notation should be made on the certificate that a combined charge was made and is so reported; and

(g) A charge for preparing and conditioning the new vehicle for delivery to a user which shall not exceed the following applicable charge:

(1) For trucks and truck tractors when sold by resellers except wholly-owned subsidiaries of manufacturers.

Maximum gross vehicle weight rating:	Charge
Less than 16,000 pounds	$20
16,000 pounds to 24,999 pounds	35
25,000 pounds to 39,999 pounds	50
40,000 pounds and greater	75

(2) For motorcycles when sold by resellers except wholly-owned subsidiaries of manufacturers. A charge not to exceed 2% of the maximum list price for the vehicle including standard equipment.

(3) Charges when manufacturers or their wholly-owned subsidiaries sell a vehicle covered by (1) and (2) above to a user. When a manufacturer or his wholly-owned subsidiary determines a maximum price for a sale to a user under section 6, 7, 8 or 9, he may include in the maximum price a charge for preparing and conditioning only when it was customary for such a seller to do so on March 31, 1942. In no event may this seller make a charge that is higher than the charge permitted by (1) or (2) above.

SEC. 11. Maximum prices for resales in territories and possessions. The maximum price at which a reseller may sell a new vehicle in a territory or possession of the United States shall be the maximum price permitted under section 10, to which may be added an amount equal to the expense charged to or incurred by the reseller for:

(a) Payment of territorial and insular taxes on the purchase or sale of the new vehicle, or its introduction into the territory or possession, when not charged under section 6, 7, 8, 9 or 10; and

(b) Export premiums; and

(c) Boxing and crating for export purposes; and

(d) Marine and war risk insurance; and

(e) Landing, wharfage and terminal operations; and

(f) Ocean freight; and

(g) Freight to port of embarkation when not charged under section 6, 7, 8, 9 or 10; and

(h) Assembly costs, if any.

SEC. 12. Maximum list prices and discounts to be used by resellers in determining maximum prices—(a) General. In accordance with paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) below, manufacturers or distributors shall notify dealers of the most recent of the following list prices and discounts for the vehicle of base specifications and extra, special or optional equipment most similar to the vehicle and equipment he sells him and shall notify him that he must use such list prices and discounts in determining maximum prices in accordance with section 10:

(1) The list prices and suggested discounts the manufacturer had in effect on March 31, 1942, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d); or

(2) The list prices and discounts authorized by the OPA under § 1390.6 and 1390.7 of Maximum Price Regulation 136, as amended, or section 8 or sections 9 and 10 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d); or

(3) Maximum resale list prices authorized by OPA order issued under section 11 (c) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, adjusted when so required by section 5 (d); or

(4) List prices and discounts authorized under section 6 of this regulation; or

(5) List prices and discounts authorized under section 7 of this regulation; or

(6) List prices and discounts authorized under section 8 of this regulation; or

(7) List prices and discounts authorized under section 9 of this regulation.

(b) Furnishing of price lists by manufacturers to resellers. The manufacturer shall furnish to his distributors and dealers, if he has not already done so, copies of price lists and discount sheets containing the most recent of the list prices and discounts in paragraph (a) for vehicles of base specifications and extra, special or optional equipment. If a dealer does not have contact with the manufacturer because he customarily purchases vehicles from a distributor then this distributor shall furnish him with such price lists and discount sheets.

When a change in prices as authorized the manufacturer or distributor may notify dealers of such a change on invoices until such time as the corrected price lists and discount sheets are printed.

(c) Statements to be furnished resellers by a manufacturer in connection with price lists and discount sheets. When a manufacturer furnishes a dealer or distributor with a price list and a discount sheet containing the most recent of the list prices and discounts in paragraph (a), he shall furnish to that dealer or distributor a statement substantially the same as the following statement. There shall be affixed to the statement the signature, or a facsimile thereof, of a responsible official of the manufacturer.

Statement. The list prices and discounts contained in our price lists and discount sheets dated ---------- (or "numbered ----------") are the maximum list prices and discounts which you must use in determining prices in accordance with section 10 of Maximum Price Regulation . These prices are effective immediately (or "(date)" if to be effective after statement is issued).

When a distributor notifies a dealer of maximum list prices and discounts in accordance with paragraph (b) he shall furnish him with a copy of the above statement made by the manufacturer. Except where price lists are furnished to resellers prior to the effective date of the regulation or orders for the printing of such lists have been placed prior to the effective date of the regulation, the statement shall be printed on the price lists in such a manner so that it can be readily seen by resellers. Where the lists have already been furnished to resellers or orders for printing them have been placed, the statement may be made separately.

(d) When notice shall be given to resellers. Manufacturers shall act as required in paragraphs (b) and (c) as soon as possible but not later than sixty days from the effective date of this regulation for prices in effect on the effective date of the regulation. Notice of other list prices shall not be given until orders in which they are authorized are issued by OPA.

(e) Filing with OPA. A manufacturer shall furnish to the Automotive Branch, OPA National Office, Washington, D. C., a copy of each price list, discount sheet, and statement that he furnishes to dealers or distributors in accordance with paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section 12.

SEC. 13. When less than a complete new vehicle is sold. Maximum prices for sales by resellers are for new vehicles that are equipped with the customary functional and non-functional parts of vehicles of base specifications and of extra, special or optional equipment for which charges are included in the selling prices. If any functional or non-functional part of the vehicle of base specifications is missing, then the retail list price for this base vehicle should be reduced by the amount of the retail list price for the missing part. Moreover, no charge may be made for extra, special or optional equipment that is not on the vehicle when it is sold.

ARTICLE IV—PROCEDURAL AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 14. Certificate of Transfer. Every person when he sells a new vehicle, except a manufacturer or distributor when selling to a reseller under a franchise agreement, shall prepare a Certificate of Transfer, Appendix A, in accordance with the instructions in that appendix, sign it and turn in the original to his Price Control Board not later than five days from the date of sale, furnish a copy to the purchaser at the time of sale, and retain a copy when required by section 16 (a) (2).

SEC. 15. Notice to be posted. Every dealer who sells new vehicles at retail shall post in a conspicuous place on his premises where new vehicles are offered for sale, a notice not less than 18 x 24 inches in size legibly stating all the following facts:

(a) A description of each new base vehicle offered for sale;

(b) The maximum list price of each of the new base vehicles;

(c) Charges for transportation;

(d) Charges for factory handling and delivery;

(e) Charges for Federal excise taxes;

(f) Charges for State or local taxes on sales or deliveries;

(g) Charges for preparing and conditioning for delivery;

(h) A notice that maximum prices for extra, special and optional equipment are available for inspection;

(j) In the case of a reseller in a territory or possession of the United States, the charges (itemized) for insular or territorial taxes, boxing and crating for export purposes, marine and war risk insurance, landing, wharfage and terminal operations, ocean freight and freight to port of embarkation.

(k) A statement that prices lower than maximum prices may be charged.

Where the charges in (c) and (d) are combined, the dealer may substitute for (c) and (d) "Charges for transportation and factory handling and delivery." Where the charges in (d) and (e) are combined, the dealer may substitute for (d) and (e) "Charges for Federal excise taxes and factory handling and delivery."

SEC. 16. Records and reports—(a) Records. Every person who is a manufacturer or a reseller, except a consumer, is required to keep certain records, which shall be complete and accurate, for inspection by the OPA, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. These records are:

(1) By a manufacturer—(i) Records supporting maximum prices. All records necessary to substantiate maximum prices under Article II of this regulation.

(ii) Price lists and discount sheets. Published price lists and discount sheets which a manufacturer must have in accordance with section 12.

(2) By a reseller generally engaged in the business of selling new vehicles—(i) Certificate of Transfer. A copy of a completed Certificate of Transfer, OPA Form 6085–2724, covering the sale of every new vehicle; and

(ii) Shop records. The shop records showing repairs and replacements made in each used vehicle traded in and the charges at retail under applicable maximum price regulations for such repairs and replacements.

(b) Additional or substituted records and reports. Every person subject to this regulation shall keep such records and submit such reports including periodic financial statements, as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require in writing, either in addition to or in substitution for records and reports required by this regulation, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 17. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price at the time of delivery.

In addition, a person may deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward after delivery in accordance with action taken by OPA if OPA gives him an authorization to do so. This authorization may be given if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any other official of the OPA having authority to act upon the pending request for a maximum price. This authorization will be given by order.

SEC. 18. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1 licensing all persons who make sales under price control are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of the suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 19. Evasion. It shall be a violation of this regulation to charge a price above the applicable maximum price in connection with any sale of a new vehicle, either alone or in conjunction with any other consideration even though the price increase appears only indirectly.

The following is an illustrative list of the things a reseller is not permitted to do. A reseller is not permitted to require the purchaser, as a condition of the sale or transfer of the new vehicle, to make payment over a period of time; to require him to finance the purchase through any particular lending agency; to require him to purchase any equipment, accessories, repairs, parts, or services so as to increase the total compensation above the new vehicle maximum price; to require him to purchase any other commodity or service; or to require him to make payment in whole or in part by exchanging, transferring, or trading in any other vehicle, product or commodity. Where there is any exchange, transfer or trade-in in connection with a sale, it is a violation for the reseller to give the purchaser an allowance for the vehicle, product or commodity exchanged, transferred, or trade-in, which is less than its reasonable value as defined in section 22 (e).

Furthermore, the reseller is prohibited from providing for the purchase of the new vehicle by a lessee under a rental contract at an agreed valuation which together with the amount paid for the rental is higher than the applicable maximum price at the time the rental contract is entered into, and from making the terms and conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than they customarily have been except to the extent allowed by this regulation. However, the OPA upon written request may grant permission to any dealer subject to this regulation to change his credit terms, where such change is necessitated by orders issued by, or at the request of, the United States Government.

It shall also be a violation for any person to charge, pay or receive a finder's fee or other compensation in connection with the procurement of a new vehicle where the finder's fee or other compensation plus the purchase price for the new vehicle exceeds the permitted maximum price, except that this prohibition shall not apply to the case of a bona fide employer-employee relationship between a reseller generally engaged in the business of selling new vehicles and an employee of the type of employee generally considered by the motor vehicle retail trade to be a new vehicle salesman.

SEC. 20. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, proceedings for suspension of licenses and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 21. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking a modification of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 22. Definitions. When used in this regulation the term:

(a) "Dealer" means any person other than a manufacturer who is generally engaged in the business of selling new vehicles at retail.

(b) "Distributor" means any person who under a contract with a vehicle manufacturer sells at wholesale the manufacturer's vehicles to the manufacturer's enfranchised retail dealers.

(c) "Manufacturer" means one of the following:

(1) Any person who produces a new vehicle; or

(2) Any person who sells a new vehicle under his own brand or trade name.

(d) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(e) "Reasonable value of a used vehicle traded in on a new vehicle" for the purposes of this regulation, means the amount determined by subtracting the charges for repairs and replacement at retail under applicable maximum price regulations needed to place the vehicle traded in in good operating condition as defined in section 8 (b) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 341 from the lower of the following:

(1) The applicable "as is" maximum price under Revised Maximum Price Regulation 341; or

(2) The fair market value of the top grade used vehicle of the same make, model, and wheelbase sold "as is" to a customer by the class of seller to which the seller belongs.

(f) "Reseller" means a seller who is not a manufacturer of the new vehicle he is selling.

(g) "Sale" includes sales, dispositions, exchanges, and other transfers and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. It includes conditional sales and sales under rental contracts, lease agreements or other agreements. The term "sale" does not refer to a raffle or lottery conducted by, or on behalf of, a religious or charitable organization when the purpose of the raffle or lottery is to raise funds for the religious or charitable organization.

(h) "Sale at retail" is either a sale by any class of reseller to a consumer or a sale made by a consumer to any class of purchaser.

(i) "Sale at wholesale" is a sale which is made to a reseller by any class of reseller except a consumer.

(k) "Similar vehicle" means a vehicle which has the same use as the new vehicle being priced, affords the purchaser fairly equivalent serviceability, and belongs to a type which would ordinarily be sold in the same price line. In determining the similarities of vehicles, differences in style or design which do not affect use or serviceability, or the price line in which the vehicles have been or will be sold, shall not be taken into account.

(l) "Standard equipment" means equipment which the manufacturer has stated to the Office of Price Administration to be standard equipment.

(m) "Significantly different." A new vehicle or piece of extra, special or optional equipment is significantly different if because of differences in specification, design, material, or equipment, its direct costs for labor and materials are lower or higher than such costs for the most recent of the following:

(1) The most similar 1942 model of the same make; or

(2) The most similar model of the same make for which there was a "modified maximum list price" in effect immediately prior to the effective date of this regulation; or

(3) The most similar model of the same make for which a maximum list price is authorized under section 6, 7, 8, or 9 of this regulation.

(n) "Modified list price." A modified maximum list price is a maximum list price authorized by OPA under:

(1) Section 1390.6 or 1390.7 of Maximum Price Regulation 136, as amended; or

(2) Section 8 or sections 9 and 10 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136.

If the cloth or base material is used in the finished state, the converter shall use in his calculations the price charged the converter by his supplier not to exceed the current maximum mill price for such base fabric in the greige or unfinished state, plus the necessary finishing charges as established by Maximum Price Regulation 128—Processing Piece Goods. No allowance shall be made for finishes which are unnecessary for the end use for which the coated or combined fabric is sold. [2d Rev. SR 14, Amdt. 26]

HARDWOOD STOCK STAIR PARTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Second Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14 is amended in the following respect:

A new section 3.14, Hardwood stock stair parts, is added to read as follows:

SEC. 3.14 Hardwood stock stair parts—(a) What this section covers. This section covers all sales of hardwood stock stair parts in the United States.

(b) Definition of hardwood stock stair parts. The term "hardwood stock stair parts" means the various integral portions of a stairway produced from any species of hardwood in designs or patterns listed in the manufacturer's own catalogue, or produced in quantity but not according to an architect's plans, specifications, and details. It includes but is not limited to such items as stair treads, risers, newels, rails and crooks, balusters, and thresholds. It does not, however, include any hardwood moulding items.

(c) Manufacturers' maximum prices for items sold in March 1942—(1) For those manufacturers who file reports as required in paragraph (f) below. The maximum price f. o. b. mill for a manufacturer who files the report required under paragraph (f) below shall be for each item he delivered in March 1942 the sum of the following:

(i) The highest f. o. b. mill price he charged for the item during March 1942 to the same class of purchaser.

(ii) The increase in material costs since March 1942 computed as the difference between the weighted average March 1942 lumber cost for the grade and species involved and the current f. o. b. mill ceiling price for the same grade and species plus the average inbound freight cost for the particular material during the 6-months period from May 1 to October 31, 1943. In the case of a manufacturer using lumber produced by himself, the current material cost that may be used for such lumber shall be at least $2.00 per MBM below his maximum selling price for that lumber.

(iii) An allowance for waste on the increased material cost computed by applying a waste factor, not in excess of that used in March 1942, to the increased material cost.

(iv) The increase in direct labor costs only between March 1942 and September 30, 1943. To determine the September 30, 1943, direct labor cost for a particular item, use the March 1942 direct labor cost plus the percentage increase in average hourly earnings between March 1942 and September 30, 1943. In computing average hourly earnings, only the earnings of workers whose wages are computed on an hourly or piece rate basis shall be used.

In cases where an application for a wage increase had been filed with the War Labor Board prior to September 30, 1943, but where a determination was made by the War Labor Board after September 30, 1943, the manufacturer may use the wage rate as determined later by the War Labor Board.

(2) Maximum prices for manufacturers who do not file reports. The maximum prices for a manufacturer who has not filed the report required under paragraph (f) of this section shall be his highest March 1942 price to each class of purchaser for each item delivered during that month with no additions for increased costs.

(3) Delivered prices. The maximum delivered price for a manufacturer shall be a price no higher than his maximum f. o. b. mill price plus the actual transportation charges paid or incurred by the seller in making shipments directly from the mill to the point of delivery required by the purchaser. However, it is permissible to quote and charge delivered prices based on rail rate times the estimated weight evened out to the nearest quarter dollar per M'BM. The estimated weight shall be that weight which has customarily been used for the particular item.

(1) The highest price he charged for the item during March 1942 to the same class of purchaser.

(2) The dollars-and-cents increase in his acquisition cost of the item since March 1942. The March 1942 weighted average acquisition cost shall be used as the basis for comparison. If the item was not purchased during March 1942, then the cost of the item sold during March 1942 shall be used.

(e) Maximum prices for items not sold in March 1942. The maximum price for any item covered by this section but not sold during March 1942 shall be a price approved by the Office of Price Administration upon application to the Building Materials Price Branch, Building and Construction Price Divsion, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The application shall contain the name and address of the seller, a complete description of the item, the requested price, and how the requested price was determined. Any price not disapproved within 30 days of mailing of the application shall be deemed approved, but may be modified at any time by the Administrator. In case of such modification, the change will not be retroactive. A seller using this pricing section can go ahead with deliveries of the hardwood stair parts at the price he has computed or requested, but he must tell the buyer that the price is subject to revision within the thirty-day period, and if the price is ordered reduced, he must refund to the buyer any excess over the final approved price. The Price Administrator may approve, disapprove, or revise prices proposed or approved under this paragraph so as to make them consistent with the level of prices fixed by this section.

(f) Reports. Maximum prices for items sold in March 1942 shall be reported to the Building Materials Price Branch, Building and Construction Price Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., by all manufacturers who determine maximum prices under paragraph (c) (1) and by those resellers who sell to other distributors such as retailers. No report need be filed by retailers. A manufacturer shall report the following with respect to each item sold in March 1942:

(1) Description of the item.

(2) March 1942 selling price to each class of purchaser.

(3) March 1942 material cost.

(4) March 1942 direct labor cost.

(5) Percentage increase in direct labor cost since March 1942 permitted by this section.

(6) Average lumber freight cost for 6 months period from May 1 to October 31, 1943.

(7) March 1942 waste factor.

(8) Present price permitted by paragraph (c) (1) showing all calculations.

A reseller shall report the following with respect to each item sold in March 1942:

(1) Description of item.

(2) March 1942 selling price.

(3) March 1942 acquisition cost as outlined in (d) (2) above.

(4) Present acquisition cost.

(g) Uniform pricing. The Administrator may by order fix uniform specific dollars-and-cents maximum prices for hardwood stair parts.

This Amendment No. 26 shall become effective May 14, 1946.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 14th day of May 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

Chapter XXII—Retraining and Reemployment Administration

ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMITTEE

1. General statement. The purpose of this order is to establish an Inter-Agency Committee which will be representative of those Federal agencies directly concerned with establishing and expediting the production of men's suits, separate coats and pants, overcoats, or topcoats by small manufacturers now engaged in the men's clothing manufacturing business as well as those small manufacturers now existing, particularly in the low-priced field, and the distribution thereof. In view of the critical shortage of men's clothing, it is considered necessary, if veterans as well as former war-workers are to secure civilian clothing essential to their employment or schooling, to utilize to full capacity the many small manufacturers who can produce and who are now producers of men's clothing, and to make available to such manufacturers component materials for clothing which have been or may hereafter be declared surplus. Such action should also stimulate on-the-job training as well as general employment in the clothing industry.

2. Organization of the committee. Pursuant to Title III, Section 302, War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 (Public Law 458, 78th Congress) a committee to be known as The Inter-Agency Committee to Expedite the Production from Surplus Fabrics of Men's Clothing by Small Manufacturers is hereby established. This committee shall consist of a secretary to be designated by the Administrator of the Retraining and Reemployment Administration (hereinafter called "Administrator") and of representatives from each of the following agencies of the Federal Government:

War Assets Administration.
Department of Commerce.
Civilian Production Administration.
Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
Office of Price Administration.
War Department.
Navy Department.

Representatives of the agencies named will qualify for membership on the Committee upon designation as such by the head of the respective agency and approval by the Administrator. One alternate may be named for each member, and, upon qualifying in like manner, these alternate members may act in the place of his or her principal. The Administrator, or one designated by him for such purpose, will preside as Chairman of the Committee. The Committee will meet upon call of the Chairman.

3. Functions of the Committee. The Committee shall ascertain the needs and requirements of small manufacturers for fabrics which have been or may hereafter be declared surplus and which are suitable for use as body fabrics and or component parts in the production of men's suits, separate coats and pants, overcoats, and topcoats, particularly in the low-cost field. The Committee shall examine the authorities and procedures governing the disposition of such fabrics and shall submit to the Administrator appropriate recommendations for the most expeditious disposition of such fabrics to such small manufacturers. In the performance of its duties, the Committee may consult with interested representatives of business and industry.

G. B. ERSKINE,
Major General, U. S. M. C.,
Administrator.

TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Chapter I—General Land Office, Department of the Interior

[Circular 1616]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The first paragraph of § 115.104 is amended to read as follows:

§ 115.104 Preliminary evidence required. When the report of the Chief Forester has been received and an exchange of approximately equal aggregate values has been established, the Commissioner of the General Land Office, with the approval of the Department, unless he has reason to do otherwise, will direct publication of notice of the contemplated exchange, and will require the applicant, through the Register of the District Land Office, to submit proof of publication of notice, a deed of conveyance of the offered lands, and in all cases, except as hereinafter provided, an abstract of title showing that at the date of execution of the deed valid title to the lands covered by such deed was vested in the party making the conveyance. The abstractor's certificate must show that the lands as conveyed were free from judgments or mortgage liens, pending suits, taxes, tax assessments, or other encumbrances. If such certificate does not cover taxes and tax assessments, the applicant must furnish a certificate by the proper official of the county in which the lands are situated showing that all taxes or assessments levied or assessed against the lands conveyed to the United States, or that could operate as a lien thereon, have been duly paid; whether there is a tax or assessment due on such lands or that could operate as a lien thereon but which tax or assessment is not yet payable and that there are no unredeemed tax sales and no tax deeds outstanding against such lands conveyed to the United States. Such abstract must be prepared and authenticated by an abstractor or by an abstract company acceptable to the General Land Office, and must show that the title memoranda contained therein are a full, true, and complete abstract of all matters of record or on file in the office of the recorders of deeds and in the offices of the clerks of courts of record of that jurisdiction, including all conveyances, mortgages, suits, pending suits, judgments, liens, lis pendens, or other encumbrances or instruments which are required by law to be filed with the recording officer and which appear in the records of the offices of the clerks of courts of record affecting in any manner whatever the title to the lands to be conveyed to the United States.

Section 115.106 is amended to read as follows:

§ 115.106 Deed of conveyance. The deed of conveyance to the United States must be executed and acknowledged in accordance with the laws of the State, and must contain covenants of general warranty except where the grantee is prohibited by law from executing such a conveyance. The United States of America should be named as grantee and the deed should recite that it is made "for and in consideration of the exchange of certain lands, as authorized by the act of July 31, 1939 (53 Stat. 1144)." Where the deed of conveyance is by a private corporation, it should be recited in the instrument of transfer that the deed was executed pursuant to an order or by the direction of the board of directors or other governing body, and a copy of such order or direction must accompany such instrument of transfer and both should bear the impression of the corporate seal.

Section 115.109 is amended to read as follows:

§ 115.109 Title insurance report or preliminary policy of title insurance. In lieu of the abstract of title required by § 115.104, the applicant may furnish a title report, preliminary policy of title insurance, or certificate of title with respect to the offered lands issued by a solvent and properly qualified title insurance company which is acceptable to the Department of the Interior. Such title report, preliminary policy, or certificate (1) shall contain a statement to the effect that, upon approval of the exchange and the recording of the deed of conveyance to the United States, the insuring company will issue a final policy of title insurance or a certificate of title, as the case may be, in an amount not less than the value of the offered lands as determined by the General Land Office, guaranteeing valid title to the offered lands in the United States as of the date such deed is recorded, and (2) shall set forth all of the conditions and stipulations of such proposed final policy or certificate. A policy of title insurance or a certificate of title when furnished must be free from conditions and stipulations not acceptable to the Department of the Interior. A certificate of title will be accepted only where the certificate is made to the Government or expressly for its benefit and where the interests of the Government will be sufficiently protected thereby. (Opinion of the Solicitor, August 14, 1934, M. 27768; Circ. 1550, May 29, 1943; 8 F.R. 7716).

The first paragraph of § 115.113 is amended to read as follows:

§ 115.113 Action by the General Land Office; additional evidence required. The publication of notice; deed of conveyance; abstract of title, title report, preliminary policy of title insurance, or certificate of title, and other evidence required of the applicant will be examined upon receipt in the General Land Office. Thereafter, the deed and abstract of title, title report, preliminary policy of title insurance, or certificate of title will be returned to the Register with appropriate instructions.

If the deed and abstract of title, title report, preliminary policy of title insurance, or certificate of title have been found to be regular and to conform with the law and regulations, and if there are no objections, the Register will transmit them to the applicant who shall thereupon affix to the deed and cancel such revenue stamps as are required by law, and record the deed in accordance with the laws of the State. The applicant shall also have the abstract of title brought down to the date of the recording of the deed, showing that at such date the title to the offered land is vested in the United States or, if a title report, preliminary policy of title insurance, or certificate of title was submitted in lieu of an abstract of title, the applicant shall obtain a final policy of title insurance or a final certificate of title from the company issuing such report, preliminary policy of title insurance or certificate of title, which policy or certificate shall be brought down to the date of recording of the deed, showing that at such date the title to the offered lands is vested in the United States. Upon submission of the recorded deed and the amended abstract of title, title insurance policy or certificate of title, if all is regular, title will be accepted to the offered lands and patent will issue for the lands selected in exchange.

Commissioner.

ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES TO VARIOUS CLASSES OF NON-GOVERNMENTAL SERVICES

ORDER DESIGNATING PETITION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In the matter of allocation of frequencies to the various classes of non-governmental services in the radio spectrum from 10 kilocycles to 30,000,000 kilocycles.

Whereas the Commission, in its May 25, 1945 Report of Allocations above 25 Megacycles, allocated certain frequencies for urban use in the 152–162 megacycle region (Urban Mobile Service) and for highway use in the 30–44 megacycle band (Highway Mobile Service) in a new radio service designated General Mobile Radio Service; and

Whereas for the Highway Mobile Service, 40 frequencies were allocated in the 30–44 megacycle band on an experimental basis, the Commission expressly reserving its final determination regarding the best method of operating this Highway Mobile Service on a regular, nonexperimental basis; and

Whereas National Bus Communications, Inc., on behalf of the intercity passenger bus industry, on April 25, 1946, filed a petition requesting this Commission "to make a further decision regarding the General Mobile (Highway) Radio Service, viz., that the frequencies to be assigned for intercity passenger bus use in the 30–44 megacycle band in the General Mobile (Highway) Radio Service will be made available for the use of the intercity passenger bus industry directly or through its communications organization formed for that purpose, your petitioner, National Bus Communications, Inc., rather than in any other required form"; and

Whereas it appears from said petition that copies thereof have been served upon the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the United States Independent Telephone Association, the American Trucking Associations and the National Council of Private Motor Truck Owners, Inc.;

Now, therefore, It is ordered, This 2d day of May 1946 that a hearing on said petition be held at 10:00 a. m. on June 6, 1946 at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on the following issues:

1. To determine whether the frequencies to be assigned for intercity bus passenger use on a regular, non-experimental basis in the 30–44 megacycle band in the General Mobile (Highway) Service should be made available for the use of the intercity passenger bus industry directly or through a communications organization formed for that purpose, rather than in any other form.

2. To determine the basis on which the petitioner, National Bus Communications, Inc., proposes to render coordinated radio communications service to the intercity passenger bus industry.

It is further ordered, That copies of this order shall be served upon the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the United States Independent Telephone Association, the American Trucking Associations and the National Council of Private Motor Truck Owners, Inc. The foregoing parties and any other interested persons who may desire to participate in said hearing should file a notice of appearance herein within 10 days from the date of this order.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of April 1946;

The Commission, having under consideration the matter of the regulations and practices of All America Cables and Radio, Inc., Cable and Wireless (West Indies) Ltd., The Commercial Cable Company, Commercial Pacific Cable Company, Globe Wireless Ltd., Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., Radiomarine Corporation of America, RCA Communications, Inc., and United States-Liberia Radio Corporation, insofar as said regulations and practices relate to the free delivery of foreign telegraph messages destined to points in the United States; and

It appearing, that Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc. has filed with the Commission new tariff schedules, effective April 9 and April 26, 1946, revising its presently effective foreign telegraph service rules and regulations by deleting therefrom Rules 200.016 and 200.017 relating to the free delivery of foreign telegraph messages destined to points in the United States, such new schedules being designated as follows: Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., Tariff F. C. C. No. 2, 7th Revised Page 54A, First Revised Page 54B, Second Revised Page 54B.

It further appearing, that the above-cited tariff schedules provide for the cancellation of the provisions contained in Rules 200.016 and 200.017 applicable to the practices followed by Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., and by such other carriers as participate in the rendition of the service provided under such tariff schedules, with respect to the free delivery of foreign telegraph messages destined to points in the United States, and that in the absence of such provisions, these practices may not be properly reflected in the tariff provisions of said carrier, in violation of section 203 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; and

It further appearing, that the presently effective tariff schedules of the above-named carriers other than Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc. on file with the Commission may not properly reflect the practices followed by said carriers, and by such other carriers as participate in the rendition of the service provided under such tariff schedules, with respect to the free delivery of foreign telegraph messages destined to points in the United States, in violation of section 203 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

It is therefore ordered, That the Commission, upon its own motion, without formal pleading, shall enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the above-cited tariff schedules of Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., insofar as such schedules provide for the cancellation of Rules 200.016 and 200.017 governing the free delivery practices of said carrier, and of all other carriers which participate in the rendition of the service provided under such tariff schedules;

It is further ordered, That the operation of the above-cited tariff schedules of Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., insofar as they provide for the cancellation of said Rules 200.016 and 200.017, be suspended until July 9, 1946, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission; and that during said period of suspension no changes shall be made in said rules, or in the practices covered thereby, unless authorized by the Commission;

It is further ordered, That an investigation be, and the same is hereby, instituted into the matter of the free delivery practices followed by all of the above-named carriers in order to determine:

(1) Whether such practices are just and reasonable within the requirements of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

(2) Whether such practices are properly reflected in the tariff schedules of said carriers on file with the Commission; and

(3) Whether any new tariff provisions should be filed with the Commission with respect to such practices.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order shall be filed in the offices of the Federal Communications Commission with the above-cited tariff schedules herein suspended in part; that Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., and all other carriers which participate in the rendition of service provided under such tariff schedules be, and they are hereby, each made a party respondent to this proceeding; that all of the other carriers named above be, and they are hereby, made party respondents in this proceeding; and that a copy of this order shall be served upon each of said carriers;

It is further ordered, That the foregoing matters be, and the same are hereby, assigned for hearing beginning at 10 a. m. on the 14th day of May 1946, at the offices of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C.

By the Commission.

T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That "Republic of the Philippines" was an agency or instrumentality organized by the Imperial Japanese Government and by the Japanese Army of Occupation for the purpose of ruling and governing the Commonwealth of the Philippines during the occupation thereof by the Japanese Army of Occupation and was an arm of, and was controlled by, and acted for the benefit of, the Imperial Japanese Government and is a designated enemy country (Japan);

2. That the property described as follows: Real property registered in the name of "Republic of the Philippines", situated in the District of San Miguel, City of Manila, Commonwealth of the Philippines, therein registered and particularly described in Exhibit A, attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof, together with all hereditaments, fixtures, improvements and appurtenances thereto, and any and all claims for rents, refunds, benefits or other payments arising from the ownership of such property, is property within the United States owned or controlled by, payable or deliverable to, held on behalf of or on account of, or owing to, or which is evidence of ownership or control by, a designated enemy country (Japan);

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

[Docket No. G-721]

KANSAS-NEBRASKA NATURAL GAS CO., INC.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 9, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on May 1, 1946, an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc., hereinafter referred to as "Applicant", a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Kansas and authorized to do business in the States of Kansas and Nebraska with its principal place of business in Phillipsburg, Kansas, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize applicant to construct and operate an additional 500 h. p. compressor unit near Colby, Thomas County, Kansas, and additional 1500 h. p. compressor units near Palco, Rooks County, Kansas.

Applicant states that the cost of the additional facilities installed will be approximately $200,000 and will increase the capacity of its system to meet its future estimated peak-day requirements of 86,000 m. c. f. of natural gas. This volume will include a minimum of 5,000 m. c. f. per day for a period of approximately ten years of casing-head and other gas from the Pawnee Rock area in the State of Kansas not heretofore purchased by applicant.

During the year 1945, applicant sold 9,960,000 m. c. f. of natural gas produced in the State of Kansas to 35,000 domestic, commercial, and industrial customers and included therein are sales to other gas utilities for resale in the States of Kansas and Nebraska. It is estimated for the year 1949, that 15,000,000 m. c. f. of natural gas will be sold to 45,000 customers.

Applicant claims that the compressor units are necessary due to the need for substantial standby compressor capacity; that the immediate past experience indicates that demands on its system will exceed all prior estimates; that if such facilities were not installed it would needlessly hazard the health and comfort of thousands of people dependent upon applicant for fuel for heating their homes; that such units were ordered in May 1945, and are expected to be ready for shipment within thirty to sixty days and that unless authorization is received for their installation, it will suffer a considerable financial loss.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc., should, on or before the 25th day of May 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

WIDDICOMB FURNITURE CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. The Widdicomb Furniture Company, Grand Rapids 2, Michigan, may increase its maximum prices properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 (exclusive of any adjustment charges) for articles of wood household furniture, except radio cabinets, which it manufactures by 13 percent of each such maximum price.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of articles which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 4800 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling price under that regulation as modified by Order No. 4800 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price", the reseller shall calculate his ceiling prices by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he had on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form No. 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or, thereafter, properly established under Office of Price Administration regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) The manufacturer shall file the report described in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and shall comply with the invoicing and reporting provisions of Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on the 13th day of May 1946.

PART 19—INCOME TAX UNDER THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

DEDUCTION OF CERTAIN NONTRADE OR NONBUSINESS EXPENSES

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 29.23 (a)–15 (b) of Regulations 111 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 29), as amended by Treasury Decision 5331, approved February 9, 1944, and § 19.23 (a)–15 (b), as added to Regulations 103 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 19) by Treasury Decision 5196, approved December 8, 1942, and amended by Treasury Decision 5331, approved February 9, 1944, are each further amended as follows:

(A) By striking the sixth, seventh, eighth and tenth paragraphs thereof and inserting after the fifth paragraph the following:

Reasonable amounts paid or incurred by the fiduciary of an estate or trust on account of administration expenses, including fiduciaries' fees and expenses of litigation, which are ordinary and necessary in connection with the performance of the duties of administration are deductible under this section, notwithstanding that the estate or trust is not engaged in a trade or business, except to the extent that such expenses are allocable to the production or collection of tax-exempt income. But see § 29.162–1 for disallowance of such deductions to an estate where such items are claimed as a deduction under section 812 (b) in computing the net estate subject to the estate tax.

(B) By striking from the 11th paragraph thereof the last sentence beginning with the words "Expenditures incurred for the purpose of preparing tax returns" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Expenses paid or incurred by an individual in the determination of liability for taxes upon his income are deductible. If property is held by an individual for the production of income, amounts expended in determining a property tax imposed with respect to such property during the period when so held are deductible. Expenses paid or incurred by an individual in determining or contesting any liability asserted against him do not become deductible, however, by reason of the fact that property held by him for the production of income may be required to be used or sold for the purpose of satisfying such liability. Thus, expenses paid or incurred by an individual in the determination of gift tax liability, except to the extent that such expenses are allocable to interest on a refund of gift taxes, are not deductible, even though property held by him for the production of income must be sold to satisfy an assessment for such tax liability or even though, in the event of a claim for refund, the amount received will be held by him for the production of income.

PAR. 2. Section 29.24–2 of Regulations 111 and § 19.24–2 of Regulations 103, as amended by Treasury Decision 5166, approved August 17, 1942, are each amended by striking the eighth sentence which reads as follows: "Expenses of the administration of an estate, such as court costs, attorneys' fees, and executors' commissions, are chargeable against the corpus of the estate and are not allowable deductions."

PAR. 3. Subsection (e) of section 121 of the Revenue Act of 1942 (56 Stat. 819) provides as follows:

(e) Retroactive amendment to prior revenue acts. For the purposes of the Revenue Act of 1938 or any prior revenue Act the amendments made to the Internal Revenue Code by this section shall be effective as if they were a part of such revenue Act on the date of its enactment.

Pursuant to the above provisions of law, the amendment to Regulations 103 (covering taxable years beginning after December 31, 1938) set forth in this Treasury decision is hereby made applicable to taxable years beginning prior to January 1, 1939 (such years being covered by Regulations 101, 94, 86, 77, 74, 69, 65, 62, 45, and 33).

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

TITLE 30—MINERAL RESOURCES

Chapter VI—Solid Fuels Administration for War

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

DIRECTION TO SHIPPERS OF BITUMINOUS COAL PRODUCED AT MINES RESUMING OPERATIONS WHICH WERE SUSPENDED ON OR ABOUT MAY 1, 1946

It is necessary during the period immediately following the resumption of mining at certain bituminous coal mines (Progressive Mine Workers of America) (1) that adequate coal be supplied for the continuance of activities most essential to the health and safety of the Nation and (2) that the balance of coal be distributed equitably so as to avoid hardship and distress. Accordingly, the following notice of direction is issued pursuant to SFAW Regulation No. 1, as amended:

1. Shippers of coal produced after the effective date of this notice of direction at bituminous coal mines which resume the operations that were suspended on or about May 1, 1946, are hereby relieved from the provisions freezing coal on track provided in the notice of direction dated April 30, 1946 (11 F.R. 4857).

2. Shippers described in paragraph 1 hereof are hereby prohibited from making any shipment of coal on track or of newly mined coal, except as follows:

(a) First preference is to be given to orders of public utilities, railroads, hospitals, food processing plants (including milk plants, dairies and commercial bakeries), refrigeration plants and laundries: Provided, however, That this preference is limited to such a consumer to the extent that his orders (1) are promptly placed with his normal suppliers, and (2) do not exceed in the aggregate a tonnage equal to his estimated consumption requirements from the date of this notice of direction to May 31, 1946, plus that amount which may be necessary to bring his stock pile as of May 31 up to a 20 days' supply. First preference is also to be given to orders of persons operating steamships or tugboats on the Great Lakes, at tidewater or on a river to the minimum extent necessary to provide the fuel for actual operation of such steamships or tugboats.

First preference is also to be given to orders of retail dealers, lake and tidewater commercial dock operators placed with normal suppliers to the limited extent necessary to assure that they receive a supply of coal equivalent to the tonnage which their consumer customers in the categories described in the foregoing paragraph would be entitled under that paragraph if such customers were eligible to receive shipments direct from the shippers whose distribution is governed by this Notice of Direction..

(b) Second preference is to be given to orders of industrial consumers, other than those entitled to the first preference: Provided, however, That this preference is limited to such a consumer to the extent that his orders (1) are promptly placed with his normal suppliers and (2) do not exceed in the aggregate a tonnage equal to his estimated consumption requirements from the date of this notice of direction to May 31, 1946.

Second preference is also given to orders of retail dealers, lake and tidewater commercial dock operators placed with normal suppliers to the limited extent necessary to assure that they receive a supply of coal equivalent to the tonnage which their consumer customers in the category described in the foregoing paragraph would be entitled under that paragraph if such customers were eligible to receive shipments direct from shippers whose distribution is governed by this Notice of Direction.

(c) Third preference is to be given to orders of domestic consumers served directly by the shipper or through a retail dealer or commercial dock operator but only to the limited extent necessary to alleviate actual hardship or distress.

(d) The balance of coal which may remain after the shipper arranges to accord during May 1946 the preferences prescribed in subsections (a), (b) and (c) above shall be distributed equitably, and so as to avoid serious impairment of the economy of the Nation, to retail dealers, commercial dock operators on the Great Lakes and at tidewater; and in the event that further distribution arrangements are necessary in order to avoid curtailment of production for lack of markets the shipper may distribute coal to build further the stock piles of the consumers described in subsection (b) hereof.

(e) Within each of the preference categories described in (a) and (b) above the shipper shall generally accord priority in shipment to the consumer whose stock pile position is weakest, taking into account his days' supply of coal, the transportation time from the mine to the consumer's stock pile, and other pertinent factors.

(f) The shipper is authorized to make such practical adjustments in the foregoing program as may be (1) necessary to assure uninterrupted mining operation, (2) necessary to assure the efficient use of available and normal transportation equipment, or (3) necessary to carry on distribution which accomplishes the objectives of this direction through sales agents, wholesalers or other normal channels of distribution.

3. No person is authorized to order or receive any coal in excess of the amount permitted to be delivered under the provisions of this direction.

4. The provisions of this direction are not applicable to the persons and transactions covered by the Notice of Direction Concerning Deliveries of Bituminous Coal by Retail Dealers and Commercial Dock Operators at Lake and Tidewater, issued on May 6, 1946 (11 F.R. 5016) which direction will continue in effect until further notice.

5. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties under any contract for any default which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with the provisions of this direction.

6. Applications for exceptions or modification from the provisions of this direction shall be filed with the appropriate Area Distribution Manager or with SFAW in Washington. Applications shall set forth in detail the grounds for requesting relief and information supporting the request.

7. All coal subject to this notice of direction (including tonnage at captive mines) may be diverted by specific direction of SFAW to meet emergency requirements of consumers whose continued operation is vital to the health and safety of a community.

8. The words used in this notice of direction shall have the same meaning as they had in SFAW Regulation No. 27 (10 F. R. 2909) unless otherwise indicated by the context.

9. This notice of direction shall become effective immediately and shall remain in effect until further notice.

(E.O. 9332, 8 F.R. 5355; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; Sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236, 56 Stat. 176, 58 Stat. 827 and 59 Stat. 658)

Issued this 14th day of May 1946.

Deputy Solid Fuels Administrator for War.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 13, Direction 18]

DISPOSAL OF COTTON TENT TWILL BY THE WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATION FOR MAKING FUMIGATING TENTS FOR CITRUS FRUIT TREES

The following direction is issued pursuant to PR 13:

(a) What this direction does. There is an urgent need for cotton fabric suitable for use in the manufacture of fumigating tents for the fumigation of citrus fruit trees since cotton fabric is not readily obtainable in sufficient quantities from new production.

The purpose of this direction is to make available immediately for the above use approximately 650,000 yards of 11.06 oz. tent twill 36" wide, which is part of a lot of 1,502,960 yards of this tent twill now held by the War Assets Administration as surplus property under declaration No. 7-19601, Item 2. It permits sales of this tent twill to be made by the WAA only in accordance with paragraph (b) below.

Although this direction restricts sales to persons who will use the fabric for the purposes specified, it does not prohibit WAA from making sales, to the persons and for the purposes specified, upon such other terms and in such quantities as WAA may determine; and preference ratings have no effect upon any sales which may be made by WAA either by way of obliging it to sell or by way of determining as among the several buyers permitted by this direction, who shall get the tent twill from WAA.

(b) Restrictions on sales by WAA. With respect to 650,000 yards of the fabric described in paragraph (a), WAA may not sell any of such fabric except where the purchaser will use the fabric to make tents for the fumigation of citrus fruit trees and gives a certificate with his purchase order in substantially the following form:

> The undersigned certifies to the seller and CPA, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that (1) he is a grower of citrus fruit, or is engaged in the business of fumigating citrus fruit trees for a grower or growers; and (2) he will use the fabric obtained under this purchase order only to make or repair tents for the fumigation of citrus fruit trees.

The standard certification in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used instead of this certificate.

(c) Obligations of persons giving certificates. Any person giving the certificate described above may obtain and use the fabric he gets with the certificate only in accordance with its terms.

(d) Expiration date. Unless sooner revoked, this direction shall expire on July 15, 1946; but its expiration at that time shall not relieve any person who has obtained cotton fabric by use of the certificate referred to above, from the obligation of using the fabric in accordance with the certificate which he has given.

Issued this 15th day of May 1946.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

RAYON FABRICS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of rayon fabrics for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3290.366 Conservation Order M-391.—(a) Introduction. This order states most of the special rules, and refers to others, for distribution of rayon fabrics, particularly with respect to set-asides for certain purposes, the certificates of use which must be filed with orders to obtain set-aside fabrics, and the effect and use of preference ratings, including maximum amounts which need be delivered on certain rated orders.

(b) Definitions. As used in this order:

(1) "Feminine street wear" means suits, coats and jackets, manufactured for feminine street wear for civilians. The term does not include housecoats, bathrobes, bed jackets, and other apparel customarily worn only in the home, or items not made for street wear, such as sportswear and evening wear.

(2) "Rayon fabrics" means any woven or knitted (both circular and warp) fabric, containing less than 25% wool by weight, but of which the remaining fibers are more than 50% of synthetic fiber (filament or spun yarn, or their blends) by weight. For example, a fabric containing 20% wool, 41% rayon, and 39% cotton is a rayon fabric. Except where otherwise indicated, it includes such fabrics, whether gray, original mill or regular finish, bleached, dyed, printed, or otherwise processed as fabric. Particular kinds of rayon fabrics are designated in the attached table of this order by the reference numbers and corresponding descriptions contained in Form CPA–658C, and the listing of a reference number includes the kind of rayon fabric covered by the corresponding description in Form CPA–658C.

(3) "Producer" means any person who weaves or knits rayon fabrics from yarn owned by him, or who has rayon fabrics woven or knitted for his account, from yarn owned by him, whether he delivers them in the gray, finished, or partially finished state. If a person supplies yarn to a weaver or knitter for processing on a basis under which a part of the fabric produced from that yarn is to be owned by the yarn supplier, and part by the weaver or knitter, the yarn supplier is the producer of that part of the fabric which he will get, and the weaver or knitter is the producer of the remainder. Where a person supplies yarn to a weaver or knitter in exchange for fabric not made from the yarn supplied, the weaver or knitter is the producer of all of the fabric made from the yarn which he gets in this way, as well as of any other fabric produced by him.

(4) "Finished goods supplier" means any person who finishes, or has finished for his account, rayon fabrics which he owns, whether he produces them in the gray, finished or partially finished state.

Set-asides and Deliveries for Feminine Street Wear

(c) Distribution by producers—(1) Quarterly set-asides. In each calendar quarter, beginning with the second quarter of 1946, every producer of the rayon fabrics for which a percentage is set aside for linings for feminine streetwear in the attached table (Column 3), whether he sells them in the gray or finished state or uses them to manufacture other products, shall set aside for delivery in the gray state on orders accompanied by the certificate in paragraph (f) (1) below, an aggregate yardage equal to at least the percentages shown of his production during that period. A producer must apply the percentage shown for each fabric to his quarterly production of that fabric, and add the totals to determine his aggregate set-aside. He need not, however, deliver individual yardages of each fabric in proportion to the percentage stated for that fabric, as long as his total deliveries of all these fabrics equal his aggregate set-aside. This set-aside obligation may be filled from inventory on hand at the beginning of the quarter as well as from production during the quarter.

(2) Carry-over of required shipments. If any producer does not deliver the full yardage required during any calendar quarter, he shall deliver in the next calendar quarter a yardage equal to the undelivered quantity, in addition to the yardage which he is otherwise required to deliver in that next quarter.

(d) Deliveries of finished goods—(1) Quarterly deliveries. In each calendar quarter, beginning with the second quarter of 1946, every finished goods supplier must, if possible, deliver an aggregate yardage of the rayon fabrics subject to the set-aside under paragraph (c) above, with a finish which makes them suitable for use as linings in feminine streetwear or with a finish customarily required for such use, at least equal to the aggregate yardage which he orders for delivery in the gray state in that quarter under the certificate in paragraph (f) (1) below. Such quantities shall be delivered only to persons who give the certificate in paragraph (f) (2) below. They may be delivered from inventory on hand at the beginning of the quarter as well as from fabrics received or finished during the quarter.

(2) Carry-over of required shipments. If any finished goods supplier does not deliver the full yardage required during any calendar quarter, he shall deliver in the next calendar quarter a yardage equal to the undelivered quantity, in addition to the yardage which he is otherwise required to deliver in that next quarter.

(3) Calculations of yardage by finished goods suppliers. In calculating the yardage which he is required to deliver under this paragraph (d), a finished goods supplier may deduct from that yardage the actual and unavoidable shrinkage resulting from processing of the fabrics delivered to him on the certificate in paragraph (f) (1) below. For example, a finished goods supplier may have an actual processing shrinkage of 5% on rayon fabric received by him in the second calendar quarter, 1946, under this certificate. If he receives 100,000 yards of rayon fabrics under the certificate, the quantity which he is required to deliver in that quarter under the certificate in (f) (2) is 95,000 yards.

(e) Quarterly processing. In each calendar quarter, beginning with the second quarter, 1946, every finished goods supplier shall put into process for finishing in a manner which will make them suitable for use as linings in feminine street wear, or will give them a finish customarily required for such use, yardages of the rayon fabrics subject to the set-aside in paragraph (c) above at least sufficient to enable him to make the deliveries required under paragraph (d) above.

(f) Form and use of certificate—(1) By persons ordering gray goods. The following is the form of certificate to be used under paragraph (c) above:

> The undersigned certifies to the supplier and to CPA, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code, that he will finish the material covered by this purchase order, or an equivalent yardage of similar material, as linings for feminine street wear, and will deliver such quantity only to persons who give the certificate under paragraph (f) (2) of CPA Order M–391.
> This certificate may be used only by a finished goods supplier.

(2) By persons ordering finished goods. The following is the form of certificate to be used under paragraph (d) above:

> The undersigned certifies to the supplier and to CPA, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code, that he will use the material covered by this purchase order only as linings in feminine street wear manufactured by him, or will dispose of it only to persons who give this certificate.
> This certificate may be used only by a manufacturer of feminine street wear or by a jobber who will resell the material only to manufacturers of feminine street wear.

(3) Use or disposal of material obtained with certificates. Persons giving either of the certificates in (f) (1) or (f) (2) above may use, finish, or dispose of material they get with it only in accordance with its terms and the provisions of this order.

(4) Orders need not be re-certified. A purchase order which has been properly certified under this order before its amendment on May 15, 1946, by a person entitled to use the certificate in (f) (1) or (f) (2) above, need not be re-certified. Materials delivered or received on such certified orders are subject to the rules applicable to materials delivered or received under the certificates in (f) (1) or (f) (2), as the case may be, and may be used, finished, or disposed of only as if they had been received under one of these certificates.

(5) Other rules. It is not necessary to have a preference rating or authorization from the CPA to use the certification in (f) (1) or (f) (2), but the quantities of fabric which may be ordered, received, or delivered on certified orders are subject to the rules in Priorities Regulation 32, which controls inventories. The standard certificate in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used instead of these certificates.

Other Set-Asides

(g) Set-asides and deliveries of rayon fabrics for other specified purposes—(1) M–328B Programs. The provisions of Order M–328B, its schedules, and directions provide for set-asides and deliveries of certain fabrics for apparel and piece goods. The percentages shown for these set-asides in the attached table (columns 4 and 5) are included only for purposes of explanation and are not controlling.

(2) Linings for certain men's and boys' clothing. The provisions of Direction 28 to Order M–328 provide for deliveries of all of certain rayon fabrics for use as linings for certain men's and boys' clothing. This is indicated in the attached table (column 6) only for purposes of explanation.

Effect and Use of Preference Ratings

NOTE: Paragraph (h) (1) formerly paragraphs (j) (1) and (j) (2) combined, May 15, 1946. Paragraph (h) (2) formerly (h) (1) redesignated May 15, 1946. Paragraph (h) (3) formerly (h) (2) redesignated May 15, 1946.

(h) Rated orders for linings for feminine street wear—(1) CC rated orders for linings must be certified. Any person who applies or extends a CC rating on an order for any rayon fabrics to be used as linings for feminine street wear must furnish with his order the certification in paragraph (f) above. CC rated orders for rayon fabrics to be used as linings for feminine street wear which were unfilled on April 19, 1946, must be certified by the purchaser promptly, and in any event not later than April 30, 1946, by giving his supplier the certification in paragraph (f) above, with the addition of sufficient information to identify his previously placed order which is being certified. For example, in the certification the words "this purchase order" may be changed to "Our purchase order No. ___ dated _____ for _____ yards of rayon fabrics", inserting the information needed by the supplier to identify the order. After April 30, 1946 any unfilled CC rated order for any rayon fabrics that the supplier knows or has reason to believe are to be used as linings for feminine street wear, which has not been certified by the purchaser, shall be treated by the seller as unrated.

(2) Certified orders. No producer or finished goods supplier need accept or fill orders with the paragraph (f) certificate (whether CC rated or unrated) which would cause him to deliver during any calendar quarter more rayon fabrics on orders thus certified than the quantities required by this order. Within the quantities of fabrics required to be delivered on certified orders under paragraphs (c) and (d) above, however, CC rated orders which are also accompanied by the paragraph (f) certificate must be accepted and delivered in preference to unfilled orders which are certified but unrated.

(3) Rated orders not certified. Orders rated MM, and CC rated orders without the paragraph (f) certificate, may not be charged against the deliveries required under paragraphs (c) and (d) above.

(i) Ceilings on required acceptance of certain rated orders—(1) Producers. No producer need accept or fill MM or CC rated orders which are not certified for a set-aside purpose (as covered by columns 3, 4, or 5 of the attached table), if this would cause him to deliver in the gray state in any calendar quarter more of any rayon fabric for which a ceiling percentage is specified in the attached table (column 8), than a yardage equal to the specified percentage of his total production of such fabric in that period. If he does accept such rated orders for yardages of any one of these fabrics in excess of this ceiling, the excess may not be charged against the rating ceiling for any other fabric. The rating ceiling is for individual yardages of each fabric.

(2) Finished goods suppliers. No finished goods supplier need accept or fill MM or CC rated orders which are not certified for a purpose for which gray goods are set-aside (as covered by columns 3, 4, or 5 of the attached table), if this would cause him to deliver in any calendar quarter more of any rayon fabric for which a ceiling percentage is specified in the attached table (column 8), than a yardage equal to the specified percentage of his total deliveries of such fabric in that period. If he does accept rated orders for yardages of any one of these fabrics in excess of this ceiling, the excess may not be charged against the rating ceiling for any other fabric. The rating ceiling is for individual yardages of each fabric.

(3) Certain rated orders not chargeable against rating ceilings. M–328B CC rated orders and CC rated orders with the certificate in paragraph (f) above, may not be charged against the rating ceiling for any fabric under paragraphs (i) (1) and (i) (2) above.

(4) Priority within rating ceilings. Within the ceilings established under paragraphs (i) (1) and (i) (2) above, MM rated orders must be accepted and filled in preference to undelivered orders with CC ratings, in accordance with Priorities Regulation 1, and all other rules of that Regulation also apply.

(5) AAA ratings. Any orders rated AAA must be accepted and filled in accordance with Priorities Regulation 1, regardless of the provisions of this order.

NOTE: Paragraph (j) formerly paragraph (i) redesignated May 15, 1946.

(j) Integrated operations. Requisitions for intra-company deliveries of rayon fabrics from the producing mill shall be treated as if they were purchase orders, for the purposes of this order.

Miscellaneous

(k) Records and reports—(1) Records. Each person participating in any transaction to which this order applies shall keep and preserve for at least two years accurate and complete records of the details of each such transaction and of his inventories of the material involved, in accordance with § 944.15 of Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) Reports. Subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942, all persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the Civilian Production Administration such reports as the CPA shall from time to time require.

(l) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise provided in this order, this order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the CPA as amended from time to time.

(m) Appeals. Any person who considers that compliance with any restriction of this order would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship, may appeal for relief. The appeal shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate with the Appeals Branch, Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. M–391, referring to the particular provision appealed from, and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(n) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine and imprisonment. In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priorities control and may be deprived of priority assistance.

(o) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. M–391.

Issued this 15th day of May 1946.

[Conservation Order M-391, Direction 1]

REVOCATION OF CERTAIN CC RATINGS FOR RAYON FABRICS FOR USE AS LININGS IN FEMININE STREETWEAR

The following direction is issued pursuant to Conservation Order M-391:

(a) Purpose. Rayon fabrics for use as linings in the manufacture of feminine streetwear may now be obtained under Conservation Order M-391, by manufacturers of such apparel. The priorities assistance assigned to many of such manufacturers to get rayon fabrics for that purpose should no longer be necessary in many, if not in all, cases. This direction revokes all such ratings assigned for that purpose which were not used by the end of April 1946.

(b) Revocation of certain CC ratings. All CC preference ratings assigned before May 1, 1946, on Form CPA 2842 (or Form CPA 541A) to manufacturers of feminine streetwear for rayon fabrics to be used as linings in the manufacture of feminine streetwear (as defined in Conservation Order M-391), which were not used on purchase orders certified by the purchasers in accordance with paragraph (j) of Order M-391 as issued April 19, 1946 (paragraph (h) (1) of that order as amended May 15, 1946), and accepted by a supplier not later than April 30, 1946, are hereby revoked.

However, ratings on purchase orders placed and accepted, and certified by the purchaser, in accordance with Order M-391, before May 1, 1946, are not affected by this direction.

(c) Notice to suppliers. Any person assigned a preference rating which is revoked by this direction must immediately, in the case of each purchase order to which he has applied the rating, either cancel the order or inform his supplier that it is no longer to be treated as rated. If any person receives notice from his customer, or otherwise, that the customer's order is no longer rated, or that the customer's order is cancelled, he must immediately withdraw any extension of the rating which he has made to any order placed by him.

The cancellation of CC ratings by this direction does not require cancellation of the purchase orders or the certificates used with them as long as the preference ratings are withdrawn.

Issued this 15th day of May 1946.

Total	32,000

2. The preliminary estimate of the probable cost of the works to be provided the District under said contract is $4,928,000.

3. The preliminary estimate of the construction charge per irrigable acre for the works built and to be built under this contract is hereby announced as $154.00 an acre. This per acre construction charge is preliminary and subject to readjustment upon completion or termination of the construction program for providing the works to the District under said contract and the ascertainment of the actual cost thereof, and is subject to increase or decrease to the end that the District will pay to the United States the full construction cost as finally determined by the Secretary of the Interior.

4. The construction charges payable by the District to the United States on account of the above described lands of the District will be due and payable in seventy-eight (78) semiannual instalments and will be based upon this preliminary estimate until the actual cost of the works to be provided the District under the said contract is determined and announced. Each of the first eight (8) of these semiannual instalments will be One and no/100 dollars ($1.00) per irrigable acre, as the irrigable acreage is shown on the above list of lands, and will be due and payable by the District to the United States on December 31, 1946 and on July 1 and December 31 of each of the years 1947, 1948 and 1949 and on July 1, 1950. The remaining seventy (70) semiannual instalments will be equal semiannual instalments and will be due commencing with the instalment due on December 31, 1950 and on July 1 and December 31 of each year thereafter. The amount per acre of the seventy (70) equal semiannual instalments will be determined and announced hereafter.

5. Pursuant to article 10 (e) of the said contract of October 22, 1926, the operation and maintenance charges for 1947, payable to the United States on behalf of the above described land, shall be transferred to and paid as a part of the construction payment. If the District elects to take over operation and maintenance of the transferred works, the charges for operation and maintenance of the reserved works will be the only operation and maintenance charges payable to the United States in 1947, and the cost of such operation and maintenance will be transferred to and paid as a part of the construction payment pursuant to said article 10 (e). The operation and maintenance or water rental charges for 1946 will be paid by the District to the United States in accordance with the letter of August 29, 1945 to the District from the Commissioner of Reclamation.

6. The District may, at its option, take over the operation and maintenance of the irrigation works on January 1, 1947, pursuant to article 11 of the said contract of October 22, 1926. The irrigation works which, at its request, will be transferred to the District for operation and maintenance (herein styled transferred works) are as follows:

Diversion dam for the Main Canal in the Malheur River;

Main and branch canals, laterals and structures in connection therewith;

All drainage ditches and works in connection therewith.

The Agency Valley Dam and Reservoir (herein styled reserved works) are reserved for operation and maintenance by the United States.

7. After January 1, 1947, delivery of water from the project supply to the lands above described will be made only subject to the following provisions:

(a) Operation of project works. On or before September 1, 1946, the District will notify the United States, whether it elects to take over the transferred works on January 1, 1947. If the District does not so elect, all of the project works built by the United States shall be retained and operated by the United States until such time as written notice is hereafter given (on or before September 1 of any subsequent year) to the Secretary of the Interior (herein called the Secretary) by the District, electing to have the transferred works turned over to the District for operation and maintenance, and fixing the date as of the beginning of any calendar year on or after January 1, 1948, when the transfer is to be made effective. If the District does elect to take over the transferred works, the United States will continue to operate the reserved works.

(b) (1) Payment of operation and maintenance costs. Except as provided in paragraph 5 of this notice, during the period that any or all of the project works are being operated by the United States, the District will pay directly to the United States the cost of operation and maintenance of the works being operated and maintained by the United States. This shall apply to the period of the operation and maintenance of the reserved works after the transferred works are being operated and maintained by the District as well as to the period, if any, subsequent to January 1, 1947, that all project works are being operated and maintained by the United States, and the words "project works" as used hereafter shall be construed accordingly. The amount of the annual payment shall be fixed by the Secretary and payment shall be made as provided herein. Beginning with the calendar year 1947 the Secretary shall furnish to the District on or before September 1 of each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and after consultation between officials of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Board of Directors of the District, a statement of the estimated costs of operating and maintaining the project works during the ensuing calendar year. For the calendar year 1948, and each succeeding year hereunder, the District shall pay such operation and maintenance charges as follows: twenty-five per cent (25%) on or before January 1, thirty-five per cent (35%) on or before April 1, twenty-five per cent (25%) on or before July 1, and fifteen per cent (15%) on or before October 1 of each year. Whenever, in the opinion of the Secretary, funds advanced as herein required will be inadequate to operate and maintain the project works properly to the end of the calendar year for which the advances were made, the Secretary may give a supplemental statement of the operation and maintenance charges stating the additional advances required for the project works for the year in question and the District's share thereof. The District shall make such additional advances on or before the date or dates specified in such statement.

(2) As soon as practicable after the close of each calendar year the actual costs of operation and maintenance chargeable to the project works for the year just closed shall be determined and announced by the Secretary. If the actual cost for the year is less than the funds advanced therefor by the District, any excess shall be credited against the next instalment of operation and maintenance charges coming due hereunder. If such cost is more than the funds advanced therefor, the difference shall be paid by the District to the United States on or before the date or dates specified in the notice announcing such deficit.

(3) The determinations as to what costs incurred by the United States are properly chargeable under this provision to the operation and maintenance of the project works shall be made by the Secretary.

(c) Basis for levy of operation and maintenance charges. Levies and charges made by the District to collect moneys to meet operation and maintenance charges shall be on the following basis:

There shall be a minimum charge made annually against each acre of irrigable land in the District to which water is available from the project water rights, which shall be required to be paid whether or not water is used. The minimum charge and the maximum amount of water to be delivered therefor for each irrigation season shall be fixed by the District in conformity with the announcement with respect thereto made by the Secretary: Provided, That in no event shall the amount of water to be delivered on payment of the minimum charge be fixed by the Secretary at less than three (3) acre-feet for an irrigation season. Such announcement will be made for each season on or before November 1 of the preceding calendar year. Payment of the minimum charge by the water users shall be required to be made to the District in advance of the delivery of any water in the season for which the payment is made. Water in excess of the amount to be delivered for the minimum charge may be delivered to the water users in any season on payment to the District therefor at not less than the following rates: the first acre-foot or fraction thereof at a charge per acre-foot which shall be not less than fifty per cent (50%) more than the average charge per acre-foot of water which said land is entitled to secure for the annual minimum charge; the second acre-foot or fraction thereof and each additional acre-foot at a charge per acre-foot which shall be not less than seventy-five per cent (75%) more than the average charge per acre-foot of water which said land is entitled to secure for the annual minimum charge. No excess water will be delivered to a farm unit unless advance payment therefor has been made by the water user to the District, or arrangements for such payment have been made that are satisfactory to the District and are in keeping with the requirements of the law.

(d) Existing contracts unaffected. This notice is given pursuant to the existing repayment contract, as amended, between the United States and the District, and, except as the provisions herein are inconsistent therewith, such repayment contract, as amended, remains in full force and effect.

(e) Terms of this notice not binding on any future amendatory repayment contract negotiations. The provisions for the repayment of construction charges established by this notice are to govern the District's repayment obligations only until an amendatory repayment contract has been entered into under the provisions of the Reclamation Project Act of 1939, as amended. Neither the instalments fixed hereunder nor any other provisions of this notice of availability shall be construed in any sense to be the measure or criterion of the terms of repayment that will be acceptable to the District or the United States in connection with any other later amendatory repayment contract.

8. In addition to the foregoing provisions of this notice, the delivery of water hereunder may be made conditional on the formal acceptance of this notice by the District. In the absence of such formal acceptance, the giving of the notice from the District to the United States under articles 7 (a) hereof, or the payment by the District to the United States of any charges hereunder, will be treated as the District's acceptance of this notice and all of its provisions and the delivery of water to the District at any time is predicated on this understanding.

[P. & S. Docket No. 143]

MARKET AGENCIES AT OMAHA UNION STOCK YARDS

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR MODIFICATION

By an order entered on November 19, 1926, pursuant to the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. 181 et seq.), the Secretary of Agriculture prescribed reasonable rates and charges to be observed by the respondents. On July 29, 1941, the order of November 19, 1926, was temporarily modified, and, as so modified, has been extended from time to time and is still in effect.

By a petition filed on May 1, 1946, the respondents have requested that the existing schedule of rates and charges prescribed by the order of July 29, 1941, as extended, be amended to include in said schedule of rates and charges the changes shown in Exhibit B attached to respondents' petition.

The effect of such proposed modification, if granted, would increase the selling charges for cattle, hogs, sheep, and goats, and also increase the buying charges for sheep, thus resulting in additional revenues to the respondents, and, therefore, public notice should be given of the filing of such petition in order that all interested persons may have an opportunity to be heard in the matter.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given to the public and to all interested persons of the filing of said petition for modification.

All interested persons who desire to be heard upon the matter requested in said petition for modification shall notify the Hearing Clerk, Office of the Solicitor, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within fifteen days from the date of the publication of this notice.

Copies hereof shall be served upon the respondents by registered mail or in person.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of May 1946.

Deputy Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration.

ROUND OAK CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133; It is ordered:

(a) This order establishes a method by which resellers of ranges in the line of coal ranges manufactured by the Round Oak Company, Dowagiac, Michigan may determine their ceiling prices for their sales of those ranges in that line which the manufacturer has sold at prices adjusted pursuant to Order No. L-18, as amended, under Supplementary Order No. 133. A reseller shall determine his ceiling prices for resales of any range which the manufacturer has sold at a ceiling price adjusted under Order No. L-18, as amended, under Supplementary Order No. 133 as follows:

(1) If he has ceiling prices established for sales of comparable articles he shall calculate his ceiling price under this order by adding to his invoice cost (not including his supplier's separately stated OPA Industry Reconversion Increase) the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one that meets the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately equal percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration. Each reseller, must, however, keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(2) If a reseller cannot otherwise find his ceiling price for a particular sale he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) A wholesaler establishing his ceiling prices under this order shall provide each purchaser for resale from him of ranges covered by this order with a sales invoice which conforms to the provisions of Section 11c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 64 on which he must separately state and designate as his "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" an amount equal to three-fourths of the separately stated "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" appearing on the manufacturer's invoice to him (as required by Maximum Price Regulation No. 64).

(b) At the time of or prior to the first invoice to each purchaser for resale covering ranges sold at ceiling prices adjusted under this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method of establishing ceiling prices set by this order for resales by the purchaser. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(c) All the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 64 and the General Maximum Price Regulation continue to apply to sales of articles covered by this order except to the extent that they are notified by this order.

(d) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(e) This order shall become effective on the 14th day of May 1946.

Issued this 14th day of May 1946.

(e) The manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the report prescribed in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(3) That jurisdiction be and is reserved over the disposition of any earned surplus of Continental arising from the sale of the common stock of Columbus.

GREENE AND CO.

ORDER SETTING HEARING ON PETITION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on the 13th day of May 1946.

In the matter of petition of National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., on behalf of Greene & Company for approval to continuance in membership in the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.

I. On May 12, 1946 the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., a registered securities association (hereinafter referred to as the Association), filed with this Commission, on behalf of Greene & Company, a petition for approval to continuance of Greene & Company's membership in the Association, pursuant to the provisions of § 15A (b) (4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

II. The above mentioned petition states, among other things, that:

(b) In 1941 and prior thereto, W. F. Thompson and one John J. Bell were partners doing business as W. F. Thompson & Company, said partnership at that time being a member of the Association with offices in New York.

(c) By decision of the District Business Conduct Committee for District #13, dated November 4, 1942, the partnership of W. F. Thompson & Company was fined the sum of $1,200.00 and expelled from membership in the Association for conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade in violation of certain of the Association's Rules of Fair Practice, the decision finding that W. F. Thompson and John J. Bell were the cause of such order of expulsion.

(d) The District Committee for District #13 and the Board of Governors of the Association have reviewed the record in the proceedings resulting in such order of expulsion, have considered the subsequent activity of W. F. Thompson and his general reputation in the business community, and the matters referred to in W. F. Thompson's and Greene & Company's affidavits attached to said petition, believe that W. F. Thompson has been sufficiently penalized for the violations which were the subject of the disciplinary proceedings in 1942, have concluded that the continuance of Greene & Company in membership in the Association with W. F. Thompson as a partner or employee thereof would be consonant with the stated purposes and policies of Section 15A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and request that the Commission approve the continuance of Greene & Company in membership in the Association.

(e) The Association now applies for approval of the Commission to continuance of Greene & Company in membership in the Association with W. F. Thompson becoming and acting as a partner of Greene & Company or, if such approval is denied, for approval of the Commission to continuance of Greene & Company in membership in the Association with W. F. Thompson acting as a salesman, employee or other representative of Greene & Company.

(f) Under the provisions of § 15A (b) (4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and section 2 of Article I of the Association by-laws, the firm of Greene & Company may not be continued in membership in the Association so long as W. F. Thompson is a partner or employee of Greene & Company, except with the approval of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

III. The Commission deeming it appropriate that a hearing be held in this matter at which the applicant and all other interested persons be given an opportunity to be heard on the question whether it is appropriate in the public interest to issue the said order approving the continuance of membership in the Association of Greene & Company with W. F. Thompson as a partner or employee thereof.

It is further ordered, That the matter be set down for hearing at 10:00 a. m. on June 17, 1946, at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 120 Broadway, New York 5, New York, and that the said hearing be continued at such other times or places as the Commission or the officer conducting such hearing may determine; that for the purpose of said hearing Richard Townsend be and he is hereby designated as the officer of the Commission to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses and compel their attendance, take evidence, require the production of books, papers, correspondence, memoranda and any and all other records deemed relevant or material to the matters in issue at said hearing, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith as authorized by law.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order be served on W. F. Thompson, Greene & Company, and on the Association not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the time of the hearing, and that this order and notice be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER in the manner prescribed by the Federal Register Act not later than fifteen (15) days prior to the time of the hearing.

By the Commission.

EMPIRE SOUTHERN GAS CO.

ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO DISMISS APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 10th day of May A. D. 1946.

The Commission having issued its supplemental findings and opinion and supplemental order dated March 18, 1946 (File Nos. 54-108 and 59-81), permitting effectiveness to a declaration filed by Crescent Public Service Company ("Crescent") in connection with Crescent's plan theretofore approved by this Commission pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, regarding the sale by Crescent of all the outstanding securities of Empire Southern Service Company ("Empire Service"), a gas utility company, to Empire Southern Gas Company ("Empire Gas"); and

Empire Gas on March 20, 1946, having filed an application, pursuant to section 3 (a) (4) of the Act, for exemption of Empire Gas and of Empire Service as a subsidiary company of Empire Gas from the obligations, duties and liabilities imposed by the Act upon holding companies and their subsidiary companies as such, alleging that Empire Gas was under a bona fide contractual obligation to acquire the securities of Empire Service from Crescent, and had undertaken to merge Empire Service into itself promptly after acquisition of said securities; that solely by reason of such acquisition Empire Gas would be temporarily a holding company with respect to Empire Service upon the acquisition of such securities and until the effectiveness of said merger; and that exemption of Empire Gas as a holding company and of Empire Service as a subsidiary of Empire Gas from all the provisions of the Act would not be detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers; and

Empire Gas thereafter having filed a motion to dismiss said application for exemption, stating that it had acquired the securities of Empire Service, that Empire Service had been merged into Empire Gas on the same day and that Empire Gas was no longer a holding company; and

It appearing to the Commission that said application for exemption was filed by Empire Gas in good faith, that Empire Gas was temporarily a holding company solely by reason of the acquisition of the securities of Empire Service for purposes of liquidation in connection with a bona fide debt previously contracted, that pursuant to section 3 (c) Empire Gas was exempt from the provisions of the Act during the time it was a holding company by virtue of its application filed pursuant to section 3 (a) (4) of the act, that Empire Gas ceased to be a holding company as defined in section 2 (a) (7) of the act upon the merger of Empire Service into Empire Gas, and that dismissal of the said application for exemption will not be detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers;

It is ordered, That the motion of Empire Southern Gas Company to dismiss its application for exemption from the provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 be, and the same hereby is, granted.

COLUMBIA GAS & ELECTRIC CORP. AND DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER POSTPONING HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 10th day of May 1946.

Notice is hereby given that Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation (Columbia), a registered holding company, and Columbia's public utility subsidiary, The Dayton Power and Light Company (Dayton), have filed an amendment to the application-declaration heretofore filed by those companies. The original application-declaration proposed, inter alia, that Columbia would offer to its stockholders the right to purchase all of its holdings of the shares of common stock of Dayton and, concurrently therewith, pursuant to the competitive bidding provisions of Rule U-50, publicly invite bids for the underwriting of such offer and the purchase by the underwriters of such shares of common stock as would not be purchased by Columbia's stockholders. The instant amendment changes the foregoing proposal in that Columbia will offer the Dayton common stock for sale to underwriters, pursuant to the competitive bidding provisions of Rule U-50, without a prior offering of such stock to its own common stockholders.

In order that all interested persons may have notice of the instant amendment and opportunity to be heard in connection therewith, it appears appropriate that the hearing heretofore ordered to be held on May 15, 1946 in respect of the original application-declaration be postponed.

It is hereby ordered, That the public hearing heretofore ordered to be held on May 15, 1946, at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission with respect to the original application-declaration (Holding Company Act Release No. 6589) be postponed to May 20, 1946, at the same time and place and before the same trial examiner previously designated, for the purpose of considering the matters embodied in the application-declaration, as amended. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve, by registered mail, a copy of this order on the Public Service Commission of Ohio, The United Corporation, Columbia and Dayton; and that said notice of said hearing be given to all other persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person desiring to be heard in connection with these proceedings or proposing to intervene herein shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before May 20, 1946, his request or application therefor, as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue

[T. D. 5514]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In order to conform Regulations 112 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 35) to sections 122 (c) and 131 (b) of the Revenue Act of 1945 (Public Law 214, 79th Congress), approved November 8, 1945, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 35.701-1 the following:

SEC. 131. FISCAL YEAR TAXPAYERS. (Revenue Act of 1945.)

(b) Excess profit tax—(1) In general. Section 710 (a) (imposing the excess profits tax) is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following:

(7) Taxable years beginning in 1945 and ending in 1946. In the case of a taxable year beginning in 1945 and ending in 1946, the tax shall be an amount equal to that portion of a tentative tax, computed as if the law applicable to taxable years beginning on January 1, 1945, were applicable to such taxable year, which the number of days in such taxable year prior to January 1, 1946, bears to the total number of days in such taxable year.

(2) Technical amendments. (A) Section 2 (a) of the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945 (relating to the specific exemption) is repealed as of the date of its enactment.

(B) Section 710 (b) (1) (relating to the specific exemption) is restored to read as such paragraph read immediately prior to the enactment of the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945, to be effective, as so restored, as if section 2 (a) of the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945 had not been enacted.

(c) Unused excess profits credit for taxable year beginning after December 31, 1945. Section 710 (c) (2) (defining the unused excess profits credit) is amended by inserting at the end thereof a new sentence reading as follows: "There shall be no unused excess profits credit for a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1946. The unused excess profits credit for a taxable year beginning in 1946 and ending in 1947 shall be an amount which is such part of the unused excess profits credit determined under the preceding provisions of this paragraph as the number of days in such taxable year prior to January 1, 1947, is of the total number of days in such taxable year.

* * * * *

PAR. 2. Section 35.710-1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5478, approved September 20, 1945, is further amended as follows:

(A) By striking paragraph (b) thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(b) $10,000 if such taxable year is a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1943; or

(B) By striking paragraphs (c) and (d) thereof.

(C) By relettering paragraph (e) thereof as paragraph (c).

(D) By striking "The application of paragraph (d) of this section may be illustrated by the following example:" and by striking the example.

(E) By striking "and section 2 (b) of the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945" where it appears in the sentence beginning "See section 729 (b)."

PAR. 3. Section 35.710-3, as amended by Treasury Decision 5478, is further amended as follows:

(A) By inserting at the end of paragraph (a) the following new paragraph:

A corporation may have an unused excess profits credit for a taxable year beginning in 1946, which may be carried back to the two preceding taxable years, even though no excess profits tax is imposed for such taxable year. The unused excess profits credit for a taxable year beginning in 1946 is to be computed in the same manner as though an excess profits tax were imposed for such taxable year. In the case of a taxable year which begins in 1946 and ends in 1947, the unused excess profits credit will be an amount which is such part of the unused excess profits credit determined in the manner prescribed in the first or second paragraph of this paragraph, whichever is applicable, as the number of days in such taxable year prior to January 1, 1947 is of the total number of days in such taxable year. Thus, if a taxable year begins on December 1, 1946 and ends on November 30, 1947 and if the unused excess profits credit determined in the manner prescribed in the first paragraph of this paragraph is $1,000, the unused excess profits credit for such taxable year will be 31 365 x $1,000, or $84.93. There will be no unused excess profits credit for a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1946.

(B) By inserting after the second sentence of the first paragraph of paragraph (b) the following new sentence: "There will be no unused excess profits credit carryback from any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1946."

(C) By inserting at the end of paragraph (b) the following footnote:

Under the provisions of section 122 of the Revenue Act of 1945 no excess profits tax will be imposed for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1945 and there will be no unused excess profits credit for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1946. Accordingly, there will be no unused excess profits credit carry-over or carry-back to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1945, and there will be no unused excess profits credit carry-back from any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1946.

PAR. 4. Section 35.710-4, as amended by Treasury Decision 5286, approved July 1, 1944, is further amended as follows:

(A) By striking the heading of paragraph (c) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(c) Taxable years beginning after December 31, 1943 and ending prior to January 1, 1946."

(B) By inserting "and ending prior to January 1, 1946," immediately following "December 31, 1943," where it appears in the first sentence of paragraph (c).

(C) By inserting immediately following paragraph (c) the following new paragraph:

(d) Taxable years beginning in 1945 and ending in 1946. In the case of a taxable year which begins in 1945 and ends in 1946, a tentative tax shall first be computed as if the law applicable to taxable years beginning on January 1, 1945 (see paragraph (c) of this section) were applicable to such taxable year. The excess profits tax for such taxable year shall be an amount equal to that portion of such tentative tax which the number of days in such taxable year prior to January 1, 1946 bears to the total number of days in such taxable year. Thus, if a taxable year begins on February 1, 1945 and ends on January 31, 1946, a tentative tax shall first be computed under the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section. If such tentative tax is $10,000, the excess profits tax for such taxable year will be 334/365 x $10,000, or $9,150 68.

(D) By relettering paragraph (d) as paragraph (e).

(Sec. 62 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U.S.C. 62) as made applicable by section 729 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code (54 Stat. 989; 26 U.S.C. 729 (a)) and sections 122 (c) and 131 (b) of the Revene Act of 1945 (Pub. Law 214, 79th Cong.))

[SEAL] JOSEPH D. NUNAN, Jr.,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: May 14, 1946.

JOSEPH J. O'CONNELL, Jr.,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR COTTON FABRICS FOR CIVILIAN APPAREL ITEMS

§ 3290.120c Schedule C to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in Order M-328B for manufacturers of civilian apparel made of cotton fabric to get preference ratings for fabric to make the items listed in this schedule. It also establishes set-asides for certain cotton fabrics for these items and for over-the-counter sale as piece goods. Order M-317A contains other provisions for set-asides and for accepting rated orders for cotton fabrics.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Fabric", unless otherwise designated, means a woven fabric twelve inches or more in width.

(2) "Cotton fabric" means any fabric containing less than 25% wool by weight, but of which the remaining fibers are 50% or more cotton by weight.

(3) "Cotton item" means an item of which more than 50% of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is cotton fabric.

(c) Requirements for obtaining priorities assistance. (1) When a fabric is removed from the fabric column for any item, each manufacturer must immediately cancel or unrate any unfilled orders for that fabric which he placed with ratings assigned under this Schedule for that item.

(2) Whenever a fabric is added to a Preference Rating Schedule for any item, an applicant who has filed an application for that item need not file a new application, but may send a letter to the Civilian Production Administration, Textile Division, Washington 25, D. C., requesting authorization to use the new fabric in place of or in addition to fabrics previously applied for. Where the change is only in the sley of the fabric, the authorization to be issued by the Civilian Production Administration will give effect to such change and no letter is required. The letter must specify the item number, the description of the item, the complete description of all of the authorized fabrics which the applicant wishes to use during the quarter and the number of linear yards of each fabric for which priorities assistance is requested. Such letter should be mailed within five days of the issuance date of an amendment incorporating additional fabrics for an item.

(3) [Deleted Apr. 3, 1946.]

(d) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get the particular cotton fabrics shown in the fabric column of the preference rating schedule to make the cotton items specified.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration; or

(ii) The price specified in the Maximum Price column.

(3) [Deleted Apr. 3, 1946.]

(4) Manufacturers who did not manufacture an item in the base period must produce the item in the size assortments listed opposite each item in the size assortment column. Where 'normal industry practice' appears, the manufacturer should state his proposed sizes in the remarks section of Form CPA-3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(5) [Deleted May 16, 1946.]

(e) Set-asides of cotton fabrics to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every producer of a cotton fabric listed in a Fabric Set-aside Table whether he sells it in the grey or finished state or uses it to manufacture civilian items shall set aside during the quarter stated for the purpose shown in Columns IV and V yardages of that fabric equal to at least the percentage shown of the yardage he produced during the preceding quarter or of his estimated production in that quarter, whichever is greater. Any producer who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of cotton fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) Set-asides for civilian apparel. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4412 or Form CPA-4413 may be charged to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-Aside Table No. II. No producer need deliver or use to fill these orders more of any fabric than his set-aside for that fabric.

(3) Set-asides for piece goods for over-the-counter sale. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4414 or the following certificate may be charged to the set-aside in Column V of Fabric Set-Aside Table No. II:

The undersigned certifies subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code that in the --- quarter of 1946 (insert applicable quarter) he will deliver at retail as over-the-counter piece goods, at not more than 60¢ a yard or his OPA ceiling price, whichever is lower, a yardage of cotton fabric at least equal to the yardage he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders bearing this certificate.

In addition the certificate must contain one of the following sentences:

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of 1946 of a total of more than 300 yards of cotton fabric.

or

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of 1946 of a total of more cotton fabric than 50% of the yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sale in the first quarter of 1943 (or 1944)

or

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more cotton fabric than the greatest yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sales in any quarter of 1945.

or (for a veteran)

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more cotton fabric than the yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sale in his last full quarter before he entered the military service.

(4) When a producer has accepted orders accompanied by applicable CPA forms, to the extent of a set-aside for any fabric, he may not require any customer to furnish any of these forms as a condition of filling additional orders for that fabric.

(5) Any person giving a certificate under this schedule, including the certificate set forth in paragraph (e) (3) above and the certificates on applicable CPA forms, must use or dispose of fabric he gets with that certificate in accordance with its terms.

(f) Deliveries by finished goods suppliers to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every supplier of finished cotton fabric making the certification on Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413 must, if possible, deliver during the applicable quarters on M-328B CC rated orders finished cotton fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in those quarters on orders accompanied by Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413. Within this quantity M-328B CC rated orders must be accepted and filled in accordance with Priorities Regulation 1. Every supplier of finished cotton fabric making the certification on Form CPA-4380 or Form CPA-4414 must if possible deliver during the applicable quarters to persons who furnish the certificate set forth in paragraph (e) (3) above, or to persons who certify that they will sell only on orders bearing that certificate, finished cotton fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in those quarters on orders accompanied by Form CPA-4380 or 4414. In calculating the yardage of a particular fabric which he is required to deliver the supplier of finished fabric may take into consideration actual processing loss in finishing the fabric. Any supplier who does not deliver the full yardage required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of finished cotton fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter. In the first twenty calendar days of that next quarter he must give preference to the extent of this undelivered yardage for M–328B ratings to orders bearing CC ratings assigned under the program for the previous quarter over orders rated CC for the current quarter's program.

(2) No supplier of finished cotton fabric is required to accept or fill M–328B CC rated or over-the-counter piece goods certified orders for a greater yardage of any type of finished cotton fabric listed on a Fabric Set-aside Table than the yardage he is required to deliver on those orders under paragraph (f) (1) above.

(3) Any supplier of finished fabric who does not use the certification in Form CPA–4381 or CPA–4413, for a fabric must accept and fill all M–328B CC rated orders for that fabric in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1. After a supplier of finished fabrics uses Form CPA–4381 or Form CPA–4413 on any of his purchase orders for a fabric he must not extend to any supplier on orders for that fabric, for delivery in the applicable quarter any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Order M–328B.

(g) Restrictions on sale of student nurses' uniforms. Student nurses' uniforms manufactured under Preference Rating Schedules Nos. 3 and 4 (items 42 through 47) may be sold only to hospitals or nurses' training schools; or to persons who furnish substantially the following certification on their purchase orders:

The purchaser represents to the seller and to the Civilian Production Administration that the student nurses' uniforms covered by this order will be sold only to hospitals or nurses' training schools or for ultimate delivery to such institutions.

The standard certification provided for in Priorities Regulation 7 must not be used instead of the above.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Conservation Order M-328B, Schedule K, as Amended May 16, 1946]

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR WOOL CIVILIAN ITEMS

§ 3290.120k Schedule K to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in M-328B for manufacturers of civilian items manufactured from wool fabric to get preference ratings for wool fabric and for rayon and cotton component fabrics to make the items listed in this schedule. It also establishes set-asides for certain wool fabrics for these items.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this schedule:

(1) "Fabric" unless otherwise designated, means a woven or knitted fabric 12 inches or more in width.

(2) "Wool fabric" means any fabric incorporating 25% or more by weight of new, re-processed or re-used wool fiber except upholstery pile fabrics and floor coverings and blankets and felt. The term includes woolen and worsted fabrics.

(3) "Wool item" means an item of which 50% or more of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is made of woolen or worsted fabrics.

(4) "Tailor-to-the-trade" means a manufacturer who makes items to the individual measurements of the ultimate consumer, and who sells them to a distributor at a wholesale price.

(c) [Deleted Jan. 3, 1946.]

(d) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get wool fabrics listed on a Fabric Set-Aside Table to make the wool items specified in the preference rating schedule.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration.

(ii) The price specified in the maximum price column.

(3) Each manufacturer must use all the wool fabric he gets with CC ratings under this schedule to make the particular item for which the ratings were assigned, except as follows:

(i) Fabric obtained with ratings assigned for Items 3 or 4 in Preference Rating Schedule 2 for the second quarter of 1946 may be used to make Item 2 if he made Item 2 in his chosen base period; and

(ii) Fabric obtained with ratings assigned for Items 11 or 12 in Preference Rating Schedule 2 for the second quarter of 1946 may be used to make Item 10 if he made that item in his chosen base period.

(4) A manufacturer who did not manufacture an item in the base period must state his proposed production by size assortment per dozen in the "Remarks" section of Form CPA-3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(5) Priorities assistance will be given for the procurement of rayon and cotton broad woven fabrics for linings, facings, bindings, stays, pockets and other components made of broad woven fabric for incorporation into the number of units for which priorities assistance is granted. Ratings for component materials will be assigned and may be used only for rayon serges and twills, 38 to 140 sley, and for the following cotton fabrics: three-leaf silesia twills; three-leaf pocketing twills; sheeting, Class B, narrower than 42"; interlining flannels; three-leaf twills. Requests for this assistance shall be made on Form CPA-3732 in accordance with the instructions applicable to filling out that form. Manufacturers who are authorized to apply a CC rating to get wool fabrics for items under this schedule may immediately apply a CC rating to get the above component fabrics for those items, under the following rules. Applications for CC ratings for the second quarter of 1946 must include these component fabrics and must be filed by April 23, 1946. This advance CC rating may only be used to get the yardage of component fabrics needed to produce the number of units of the item which can be made from the yardage of body fabric for which the manufacturer is entitled to use CC ratings assigned under M-328B. In placing CC rated orders for component fabric under this paragraph (d) (5) for delivery in the second quarter of 1946, manufacturers must file Form CPA-4412 with their purchase orders. Component fabrics purchased under this advance authorization, shall be deducted by the manufacturer from the total quantity for which priorities assistance for component fabrics is granted on Form CPA-3732. If the applicant does not receive a grant for the entire quantity thus rated he shall upon notification of his grant by the Civilian Production Administration immediately unrate or cancel orders for any undelivered quantities which are in excess of his grant.

(6) Producers of wool woven fabric shall file Form CPA-1420 by April 10, 1946. Producers of wool knitted fabric need not file Form CPA-1420 but must report to the Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C. by letter on or before April 10, 1946. This letter must state the yardage of each fabric listed on Fabric Set-aside Table No. II required to be set-aside to fill rated or certified orders under the provisions of paragraph (e) (1) below.

(7) [Deleted Apr. 3, 1946.]

(e) Set-asides of wool fabrics to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every producer of wool fabric listed in a Fabric Set-aside Table, whether he sells it or uses it to manufacture civilian items, shall set aside during the quarter stated, for ultimate delivery on M-328B CC rated orders, a yardage of that fabric equal to at least the percentage shown in Column IV of the yardage he produced during the preceding quarter or of his estimated production in that quarter, whichever is greater. Any producer who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of wool fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter. No fabrics sold at more than the price specified in Column III may be charged to this set-aside.

(2) Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4412 or Form CPA-4413 may be charged to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-aside Table No. II. No producer need deliver or use to fill these orders (i) any wool fabric not listed on a Fabric Set-Aside Table; (ii) more of any fabric listed on a Fabric Set-Aside Table than his set-aside for that fabric.

(3) When a producer has accepted orders accompanied by the applicable CPA forms to the extent of a set-aside for any fabric he may not require any customer to furnish any of these forms as a condition of filling additional orders for that fabric.

(4) Any person giving a certificate under this schedule, including the certificates on the applicable CPA forms, must use or dispose of fabric he gets with that certificate in accordance with its terms.

(f) Deliveries by wool jobbers to fill rated orders. (1) Every wool jobber making the certification on Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413 must, if possible, deliver during the applicable quarters wool fabric of the type covered by his order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he ordered for delivery in those quarters on orders bearing those certificates. Within this quantity M-328B CC rated orders must be accepted and filled in accordance with Priorities Regulation 1. A wool jobber who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of wool fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter. In the first twenty calendar days of that next quarter he must give preference, to the extent of this undelivered yardage for M-328B ratings, to orders bearing CC ratings assigned under the program for the previous quarter over orders rated CC for the then current quarter's program.

(2) No wool jobber is required to accept or fill M-328B CC rated orders for a greater yardage of any type of wool fabric listed on a Fabric Set-aside Table than the yardage he is required to deliver on those orders under paragraph (f) (1) above.

(3) Any wool jobber who does not use the certification in Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4413 for a fabric must accept M-328B CC rated orders for that fabric in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1. After a wool jobber uses Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4413 on any of his purchase orders for a fabric he must not extend to any supplier on orders for that fabric for delivery in the applicable quarter any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Order M-328B.

(4) A wool jobber may not use the certification on Form CPA-4381 to order a total yardage of wool fabric of any type listed on the Fabric Set-aside Table greater than 85% of the yardage of that type of fabric delivered to him in the fourth quarter of 1945. A wool jobber may not use the certification on Form CPA-4413 to order for delivery in the second quarter of 1946 a yardage of wool fabric of any type listed on Fabric Set-aside Table No. II greater than the yardage of that fabric ordered by him on Form CPA-4381 in the first quarter of 1946.

(g) [Deleted Apr. 3, 1946.]

(h) Acceptance of rated orders. No supplier of wool fabrics may reject any M-328B CC rated orders for any fabric until he has accepted CC rated orders for the full yardage of that fabric he is required to set aside.

(i) Special provisions for tailors-to-the-trade. The Civilian Production Administration will grant priorities assistance to manufacturers who are tailors-to-the-trade to get wool fabrics listed under Reference No. 2 on Fabric Set-Aside Table No. II to make Item No. 1a on Preference Rating Schedule No. 2.

(j) Special provision for persons who made military textile products. Any person who produced on his own facilities in 1943, 1944 or 1945 textile products for the military services may qualify under paragraph (d) of Order M-328B for priorities assistance under this schedule for sufficient wool fabric to operate at a minimum economic rate whether or not his total proposed production of all textile products exceeds an annual rate based on sales of $250,000. Such a person may file his application for the second quarter of 1946 by June 5, 1946; and to be eligible for priorities assistance must conform to all the provisions of paragraph (d) of Order M-328B except (d) (3) (i).

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR RAYON CIVILIAN ITEMS

§ 3290.120j Schedule J to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in Order M-328B for manufacturers of civilian items manufactured from rayon fabric to get preference ratings for rayon fabric for delivery beginning in the fourth quarter of 1945 to make the items listed in this schedule. It also establishes set-asides for rayon fabrics other than marquisettes for these items and for over-the-counter sale as piece goods. Order M-391 contains other provisions for set-asides and for accepting rated orders for rayon fabrics.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this schedule:

(1) "Fabric," unless otherwise designated, means a woven fabric 12 inches or more in width.

(2) "Rayon fabric" means any fabric containing less than 25% wool by weight but of which the remaining fibers are more than 50% of synthetic fiber (staple or continuous filament) by weight. For example, a fabric containing 20% wool, 41% rayon, and 39% cotton is rayon.

(3) "Rayon item" means an item of which more than 50% of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is made of rayon fabric.

(c) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get rayon fabrics to make the rayon items specified in the preference rating schedule.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration; or

(ii) The price specified in the Maximum Price Column.

(3) [Deleted Apr. 3, 1946.]

(4) A manufacturer who did not manufacture an item in the base period must state his proposed production by size assortment per dozen in the "Remarks" section of Form CPA-3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(d) Set-asides of rayon fabrics to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every producer of rayon fabric listed in a Fabric Set-aside Table whether he sells it in the grey or in the finished state or uses it to manufacture civilian items shall set aside during the quarter stated for the purpose shown in Columns III and IV yardages of that fabric equal to at least the percentage shown of the yardage he produced during the preceding quarter or of his estimated production in that quarter, whichever is greater. Any producer who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of rayon fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) Set-asides for civilian apparel. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4412 or Form CPA-4413 may be charged to the set-aside in Column III of Fabric Set-Aside Table No. II. No producer need deliver or use to fill these orders more rayon fabric than his set-aside for that fabric.

(3) Set-asides for piece goods for over-the-counter sale. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4414 or the following certificate may be charged to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-Aside Table No. II.

The undersigned certifies subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code that in the ------ quarter of 1946 (insert applicable quarter) he will deliver at retail as over-the-counter piece goods at not more than $1.25 a yard or his OPA ceiling price, whichever is lower, a yardage of rayon fabric at least equal to the yardage he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders bearing this certificate.

In addition the certificate must contain one of the following sentences:

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more than 300 yards of rayon fabric.

or;

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more rayon fabric than 50% of the yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sale in the first quarter of 1943 (or 1944).

or;

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more rayon fabric than the greatest yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sales in any quarter of 1945.

or (for a veteran)

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more rayon fabric than the yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sale in his last full quarter before he entered the military service.

(4) When a producer has accepted orders accompanied by the applicable CPA forms to the extent of a set-aside for rayon fabric he may not require any customer to furnish any of these forms as a condition of filling additional orders for that fabric.

(5) Any person giving a certificate under this schedule, including the certificate set forth in paragraph (d) (3) above and the certificates on the applicable CPA forms must use or dispose of fabric he gets with that certificate in accordance with its terms.

(e) Deliveries by finished goods suppliers to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every supplier of finished rayon fabric making the certification on Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413 must, if possible, deliver during the applicable quarters on M-328B CC rated orders finished rayon fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in those quarters on orders accompanied by Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413. Within this quantity M-328B CC rated orders must be accepted and filled in accordance with Priorities Regulation 1. Every supplier of finished rayon fabric making the certification on Form CPA-4380 or Form CPA-4414 must, if possible deliver during the applicable quarters to persons who furnish the certificate set forth in paragraph (d) (3) above, or to persons who certify that they will sell only on orders bearing that certificate, finished rayon fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in those quarters on orders accompanied by Form CPA–4380 or Form CPA–4414. In calculating the yardage of a particular fabric which he is required to deliver, the supplier of finished fabric may take into consideration actual processing loss in finishing the fabric. Any supplier who does not deliver the full yardage required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of finished rayon fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter. In the first twenty calendar days of that next quarter he must give preference, to the extent of this undelivered yardage for M–328B ratings, to orders bearing CC ratings assigned under the program for the previous quarter over orders rated CC for the then current quarter's program.

(2) No supplier of finished rayon fabric is required to accept or fill M–328B CC rated or over-the-counter piece goods certified orders for a greater yardage of any type of finished rayon fabric listed on a Fabric Set-aside Table than the yardage he is required to deliver on those orders under paragraph (e) (1) above.

(3) Any supplier of finished fabric who does not use the certification in Forms CPA–4381 or CPA–4413 for rayon fabric must accept M–328B CC rated orders for that fabric in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1. After a supplier of finished fabric uses Form CPA–4381 or Form CPA–4413 on any of his purchase orders for rayon fabric he must not extend to any supplier on orders for that fabric for delivery in the applicable quarter any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Order M–328B.

(4) Any finished goods supplier granted an authorization by the Civilian Production Administration under paragraph (i) of this schedule as amended January 18, 1946, may sell the yardage exempted by that authorization only to persons who give the following certification:

The undersigned certifies to the seller and to the Civilian Production Administration, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35(a) o. the United States Criminal Code, that he will use the material covered by this purchase order only as linings for garments, or will deliver it only to persons who give this certificate.

§ 3290.120 Conservation Order M–328B—(a) Explanation. This order (including the schedules and supplements) states the rules under which apparel and other textile end-product manufacturers may get preference ratings to make listed essential items under special programs. It also provides a method for retail sellers of over-the-counter piece goods to get certain fabrics. Set-asides are also established on producers of certain cotton, rayon and wool fabrics to channel them to the above uses. This Order M–328B states the general rules including those relating to the obtaining of priorities assistance and the use of such priorities assistance after it has been obtained. Other rules may be specified for a special program in a schedule of this order. If the rules set forth in a schedule differ from those specified in this order the provisions of the schedule govern.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order and its schedules,

(1) "Special program" means a program approved by the Civilian Production Administration for the production with priorities assistance and the distribution of any item on a schedule of this order.

(2) "Priorities assistance" includes preference ratings, allocations and directions.

(3) "Manufacturer" means any person engaged in the United States in manufacturing for sale any item listed in a schedule of this order from material which has not been supplied directly or indirectly by the person acquiring the item.

A person is also deemed a "manufacturer" for the purpose of using a preference rating under this order, if he is engaged in the business of selling and having manufactured in the United States for his account an item listed in a schedule of this order from material which he owns or material which he directly or indirectly supplies to a contractor or contractors. In no event shall more than one person be deemed a "manufacturer" of the same units which one person fabricates in whole or in part and for which another person supplies the material.

(4) "Base period" means the past period of production which a manufacturer uses as a base in applying for priorities assistance under this order.

(5) "Base period manufacturer" means a manufacturer who applies for priorities assistance to make an item of the same class of material (cotton, rayon or wool) of which he was a manufacturer in the base period for sale at or below any price specified in the applicable schedule of this order.

(6) "Price" means the list price of the manufacturer to an unaffiliated purchaser. A purchaser is deemed affiliated with a manufacturer if he is an owned or controlled outlet or is an outlet which owns, controls or is subject to common control with the manufacturer. A manufacturer who sells directly to consumers or to an affiliated purchaser may use two-thirds of the retail selling price as a manufacturer's equivalent selling price in applying for priorities assistance.

(7) "Item" means the article produced for civilian sale of the type, size, price and other description listed in a schedule.

(8) The terms "orders" or "purchase orders" include orders between branches or divisions of a company as well as orders from other companies.

(9) "Veteran" means any person who was in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard or Merchant Marine on or after September 16, 1940, and was discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable after active service of 90 days or more, or by reason of an injury or disability incurred in service in line of duty.

(c) How to apply for priorities assistance. (1) Applications for the second quarter of 1946 must be filed on Form CPA–3732 with the Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C. and should be postmarked not later than April 23, 1946, except that a veteran who was discharged from the military service on or after March 1, 1946, may file his application at any time before June 1, 1946. Also, if any item is added to a schedule during that quarter, applications for that item may be filed within 20 days after the item is added. Copies of the application form CPA–3732 and other CPA forms used under this order may be procured by writing to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(2) Each applicant must show on Form CPA–3732 his base period and base period production of an item under the following rules:

(i) If he was in business during at least 6 months of 1943 or 1944, he may apply for the items of which he was a manufacturer in any calendar quarter of either year, but must use the same quarter as his base period for all items under a single schedule to this order.

(ii) If he entered business after July 1, 1944, he may apply for the items of which he was a manufacturer in any calendar quarter after that. If he did not have a previous production record of an item and was initially granted priorities assistance under this order for the first quarter of 1946, he may use the production authorized for that quarter as his base period production even though he was unable to manufacture the item or items for which he was granted priorities assistance in that quarter. In any event he must use the same quarter as his base period for all items under a single schedule of this order.

(iii) If he is a veteran who closed his business when he entered the military service, he may use as his base period the last full calendar quarter in which he was a manufacturer of the items before his entry into military service.

(3) An applicant who produced on his own facilities in 1943, 1944 or 1945 textile products for the military services and who before then produced on his own facilities items listed on a schedule to this order may use as his base period the better of the two calendar quarters preceding the quarter when he started military production. If such a manufacturer increased his own facilities to produce military textile products, he may be eligible for a military credit, and should therefore attach a letter to his application on Form CPA–3732 showing all the following:

(i) The quantity of each textile product which he made for his own account in the better of the two calendar quarters preceding the quarter in which he first made textile products for the military services;

(ii) The average number of sewing machines he used in making each textile product reported under (i) above; and

(iii) The total number of sewing machines he operated in his best quarter during which he made textile products for the military services.

(4) An applicant who did not make an item applied for before the fourth quarter of 1945 must send with his application on Form CPA–3732 a certified or photostatic copy of the document furnished to him by the Office of Price Administration establishing his maximum average price for the category which includes that item, or his ceiling price. For items not covered by any price regulation which requires specific applications for a ceiling price or highest price line, the following certificate (signed as provided in Priorities Regulation 7) must be furnished instead:

The undersigned certifies, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that he has met all the requirements of the Office of Price Administration for establishing ceiling prices for the items listed on the accompanying application.

(5) An applicant who does not own or control the facilities on which it is proposed to manufacture items applied for, must submit with his application form a signed statement from each person who owns or controls the facilities on which the items are to be produced. This statement must contain the following information:

(i) Each operation to be performed for the applicant.

(ii) The maximum quantity of each item applied for which he has agreed to produce for the applicant.

(iii) That he in fact owns the facilities or controls them under a rental or lease contract.

(6) A veteran should submit with his application a certified or photostatic copy of his discharge papers or other written evidence of his military service.

(d) Policy in granting priorities assistance. Within the available supply of materials for which ratings may be assigned, the following policy will apply:

(1) Base period manufacturers will generally be granted priorities assistance in proportion to their base period production of an item. Where an applicant is eligible for military credit under paragraph (c) (3), priorities assistance to him may be increased up to or above his base period production, in proportion to any additional facilities he acquired for the purpose of producing textile products for the military services. However, a manufacturer who qualifies under paragraph (d) (3) below may be granted priorities assistance for additional yardage to give him sufficient material to operate at a minimum economic rate.

(2) Applications from persons who are not base period manufacturers of an item will be denied, except where the applicant qualifies under paragraph (d) (3) below. Applicants (including Veterans) who do so qualify, may be given priorities assistance for sufficient material to enable them to operate at a minimum economic rate.

(3) To qualify under paragraph (d) (1) or (d) (2) above for priorities assistance to operate at a minimum economic rate, an applicant must meet both the following conditions:

(i) His total proposed production of all textile products (including items under M–328B programs) does not exceed an annual rate, based on sales, of $250,000 and

(ii) The facilities with which the items will be produced are owned by the applicant, or are leased to him and the facilities are operated by the applicant and the employees are paid by him; provided that in any case the facilities were not used during any quarter beginning with the 4th quarter of 1945 more than 10% for the account of persons who supplied the applicant with materials.

(e) Advance use of CC ratings for second quarter of 1946. A manufacturer may apply a CC rating for the second quarter of 1946 before the Civilian Production Administration assigns him a CC rating for that quarter only under the following rules:

(i) A manufacturer who received an allocation for the first quarter of 1946 for an item which is also on the preference rating schedule for the second quarter of 1946 in Schedules C, F, J or K, may immediately apply a CC rating for fabrics specified for that item under the following rules:

(i) He must file his application on Form CPA–3732 for that item by April 23, 1946.

(ii) He must not use this advance CC rating for more than 70% of the yardage of body fabric he was authorized under Directions 9 or 10 to M–328B to receive on CC rated orders in the first quarter of 1946 for an item on Schedule C, J or K. For an item on Schedule F he may not use this advance CC rating for more than 70% of the yardage for which he was assigned CC ratings on Form CPA–3732.

(iii) In placing orders under this advance authorization, a manufacturer must show on Form CPA–4412 (which he must file in accordance with paragraph (g) below) the case number which he was assigned for the first quarter of 1946, unless otherwise directed in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(2) A base period manufacturer who did not receive an allocation for the first quarter of 1946 for an item may apply a CC rating for the purchase of fabrics in the second quarter of 1946 for that item as soon as the Civilian Production Administration assigns him a case number in writing after receipt of his application on Form CPA–3732 for that item. He may apply this advance CC rating only for fabrics for which he makes application. He may not use this rating for a total yardage of fabrics of more than 50% of the total yardage of fabric he used in making that item in the base period.

(3) Fabrics purchased on an advance authorization under paragraphs (e) (1) or (e) (2) above shall be deducted by the manufacturer from the total quantity for which priorities assistance is granted pursuant to his application on Form CPA–3732. If the applicant does not receive a grant for the entire quantity thus rated, he shall upon notification of his grant by the Civilian Production Administration immediately unrate or cancel orders for any undelivered quantities which are in excess of his grant.

(f) Rules applicable to manufacturers granted priorities assistance. (1) A manufacturer who is assigned a preference rating under a schedule of this order may use that rating only to get the fabrics specified and may not use the fabrics for any purpose except to make the item for which the rating was assigned.

(2) All persons receiving priorities assistance for any quarter under a schedule of this order must as far as practicable complete in that quarter all the items for which assistance was given. A manufacturer may, however, use valid CC ratings to get in the second quarter of 1946 any undelivered cotton, rayon, or wool fabric for which he was assigned a CC rating under this order and for which he was unable to get delivery in the first quarter of 1946.

(3) All items produced from material obtained with a rating assigned under a special program shall meet the same basic specifications, including standards of quality and workmanship, used by the applicant during the base period in producing such items for sale at the same prices, taking into account any subsequent adjustments by the Office of Price Administration.

(4) No manufacturer who uses a rating assigned under a schedule of this order may accept delivery of any finished material which is suitable for an item for which priorities assistance has been granted whether rated or unrated if together with material on hand it will give him more than the smaller of the following:

(i) A practicable minimum working inventory, or

(ii) The quantity required by him during the next 45 days on the basis of his current or scheduled rate of production. Such material on hand includes material wherever located if title has passed to the manufacturer except material in transit to him from his supplier.

No manufacturer who uses a rating assigned under a schedule of this order may make an item if his inventory of the item in the form in which he sells it is or will be more than a practicable minimum working inventory or the quantity which he produced during the previous 21 working days, whichever is less.

(5) Items produced from material procured with priorities assistance shall, to the extent called for by the customers' orders, be made in the same size ranges and in the same proportion of size ranges and assortment of sizes as the manufacturer produced in the base period. If he did not produce the item in the base period, he must comply with the size ranges and assortments of sizes which the Civilian Production Administration may specify for the particular item.

(6) Every manufacturer who is entitled to use a CC rating under this order to get fabric in any quarter must apply this rating to orders already placed before he places any additional rated orders for that fabric. If he is unable to use all his CC ratings on outstanding orders he must place rated orders for the balance before he places any unrated orders for that fabric.

(7) Whenever a Preference Rating Schedule is deleted, fabric obtained with CC ratings to make an item on that schedule must be used to make the item as shown on the Preference Rating Schedule before it was deleted.

(g) Application and extension of preference ratings. The preference ratings assigned under this order shall be applied and extended in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 3 but subject to the limitations stated below:

(1) No person may use, apply or extend any CC rating, or accept any CC rated order, if he knows or has reason to believe the rating was assigned under Order M–328B unless the purchase order is accompanied by Form CPA–4282 (for 1st quarter of 1946 ratings) or Form CPA–4412 (for 2nd quarter 1946 ratings). In executing Form CPA–4412 a manufacturer certifies as follows:

> The undersigned purchaser hereby represents to the seller and to the Civilian Production Administration, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code, that he is entitled to apply the CC preference rating indicated opposite items shown on the attached purchase order for the yardage specified above; and that such application is in accordance with Priorities Regulation 3 as amended, with the terms of which he is familiar; that the total of all textiles ordered by him under the above number does not exceed his assigned quota under M–328B; (that he has applied CC ratings to all his unfilled orders for this fabric)[1]; and that the textiles will be incorporated into an item for which authorization is given.

(2) A supplier of fabric who does not extend the rating must complete Form CPA–4382 or Form CPA–4412 in accordance with its instructions and forward one copy immediately to the Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(3) [Deleted Apr. 3, 1946.]

(h) Set-asides and certificates. (1) Some of the schedules of this order have set-asides which apply to producers and suppliers of fabric. These set-asides are of two kinds, one for orders rated CC under this order or for orders certifying the fabrics will be used in a program under this order, and one for piece goods for over-the-counter sale at retail. Every producer and supplier of fabrics subject to these set-asides must deliver his fabrics in accordance with the provisions of the applicable schedule to persons who furnish the rating or certificate specified, even though he may have higher rated orders for other purposes.

(2) Any producer accepting an order accompanied by a certificate on Form CPA–4381, CPA–4382, CPA–4412 or CPA–4413 (for M–328B programs) or Form CPA–4380 or CPA–4414 (for over-the-counter sales as piece goods) must fill out a copy of that form in accordance with its instructions and send it to the Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(3) Each producer of fabric who is required by a schedule of this order to set aside fabrics shall file a report on Form CPA–658B (for cotton), CPA–658C (for cotton and rayon), or CPA–1420 (for wool), in accordance with its instructions. The yardage reported on that Form as the calculated set-aside shall be deemed the yardage he is required to set-aside under the applicable schedule of this order unless otherwise directed by the Civilian Production Administration.

(4) No finished goods supplier may sell from his set-aside obligation for over-the-counter sales as piece goods to any one person who certifies that he will sell fabric as piece goods on over-the-counter retail sales more yardage of any fabric than 10% of the total yardage of his set-aside obligation of that fabric for these sales.

(5) After a producer has accepted any order accompanied by Form CPA–4381 or CPA 4380, or for the second quarter of 1946, Form CPA–4413 or CPA–4414 he may schedule it for delivery as if it bore a CC rating, and charge it against his set-aside.

(6) No person may deliver or accept any fabric on an order accompanied by a Form or certificate prescribed by this order or its schedules if he knows or has reason to believe that the fabric will not be used for the purpose specified on the Form or certificate.

(7) Suppliers of fabric may apply to the Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., on Form CPA–4351 for relief from the set-aside requirements for fabrics if:

(i) A fabric which they are required to set-aside is unsuitable because of construction or price for the purpose for which it is set aside, or

(ii) If its inclusion in the set-aside would work an unreasonable hardship on manufacturers of an item not included in a schedule of Order M–328B.

Applications for such exemption must be filed not later than April 25, 1946 for exemptions from the set-aside for the second quarter of 1946. Whenever an application is made to exempt a fabric because of its unsuitability for any item in the program a small sample of each type and construction bearing the OPA ceiling price must be attached to the application form. When permission for a change in the yardage to be delivered under a set-aside is given to a person who has purchased material on a certification, the Civilian Production Administration may notify the person who filled the certified order of the exemption and direct him to reinstate the exempted yardage in his set-aside.

(8) Each producer of fabric who is required to set aside fabrics under the provisions of a schedule of this order shall, to the extent orders chargeable to the set-aside are offered, accept them by April 30, 1946. To the extent that customers' orders permit, suppliers of grey fabric and finished fabric shall schedule and make deliveries so that at least two-thirds of the quantity to be delivered during any quarter on M–328B CC rated orders and certificates (including piece goods certificates) will be delivered by the end of the second month of the quarter.

(9) Whenever a Fabric Set-aside Table is deleted, each producer of fabric who is required to set aside fabrics under that table must comply with the provisions of this order and its schedules and the provisions of the Fabric Set-aside Table as shown before it was deleted.

(10) At the end of each month a producer of fabric (or his selling agent acting in his behalf) who, during that month, has accepted certified retailers' orders for such fabric for ultimate sale as piece goods, for delivery during the second quarter of 1946, must report such orders by letter to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Attention: Textile Division, Ref. M–328B, not later than the 10th of the following month. The total yardage accepted during the month must be reported separately for each fabric listed on the fabric set-aside tables.

(i) Equitable distribution by manufacturers. All items made with material obtained with a preference rating assigned under this order must be distributed without regard to any preference ratings and each manufacturer must distribute his production of the item (including any production of the same item which he may have made without a rating) as follows:

(1) Up to 90 percent of sales of each item in each calendar quarter must be made to customers who purchased that item or any other textile product for civilian sale in the United States, its territories and possessions, from the manufacturer during the base period, to the extent that orders are received from such customers. However, the manufacturer need not sell any customer an amount which will be a greater percentage of the manufacturer's total sales for the period than the percentage of the manufacturer's total sales which were made to the same customer in the calendar year which includes the base period.

(2) As between such customers, each customer shall be entitled to a dollar share of the sales referred to in (1) above up to the percentage which the customer's total purchases from the manufacturer in the base period was of the manufacturer's total sales in that quarter.

(3) Any manufacturer may base his distribution under this paragraph on his style seasons instead of calendar quarters, but must treat all customers on the same basis. A manufacturer shall not be required to sell smaller than commercial quantities. The manufacturer may not discriminate against any of his customers in notifying the trade that he has the items available for sale or in making deliveries or allocating his production. If the manufacturer was not, in the base period, in the business of manufacturing an item for which a preference rating is assigned under this order, he shall not sell to any one purchaser more than 10 percent of his total production of any item he produces with a rating (including any part of his production of the same item which he may have made without the rating). Purchasers who are subject to common control shall be deemed one purchaser. Further specific directions may be issued as to the distribution of items.

(4) No manufacturer may sell any item produced with priorities assistance granted under a schedule of this order for export to a foreign country, or to a person, whom the seller has reason to believe, will export it to a foreign country.

(j) Records and reports. (1) Each person who uses a preference rating assigned under this order shall maintain at his regular place of business, accurate records of the quantities of material for which he is authorized under this order to apply preference ratings, the quantities ordered with the use of such ratings, the quantities received and the quantities put into process. He shall also maintain records of the quantities of each item manufactured from the material obtained with the rating. All these records shall be preserved for a period of not less than two years and shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the Civilian Production Administration.

(2) The reporting and application requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942. Subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget under this act, all persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the Civilian Production Administration such other reports as the Civilian Production Administration shall from time to time require.

(k) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise provided in this order, this order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the Civilian Production Administration as amended from time to time.

(l) Appeals. Any person who considers that compliance with any restriction of this order or its schedules, would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship, may appeal for relief. The appeal shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate with the Appeals Branch, Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., referring to the particular provision appealed from, and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(m) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priority assistance.

(n) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Reference M–328B.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

ACCEPTANCE AND FILING OF RATED ORDERS, AND COMPLETION AND DELIVERIES OF APPAREL

(a) Purpose. This interpretation calls particular attention to certain rules concerning the acceptance and filing of rated orders, and their application to orders for textiles assigned CC preference ratings under several schedules to Order M-328B; and also to certain rules requiring apparel manufacturers to complete their operations as rapidly as practicable.

To insure the success of the low price civilian apparel programs provided by the schedules, these rules must be observed. Any person who wilfully violates them, or who, in connection with the rules, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is subject to administrative action and the penalties referred to in § 944.18 of Priorities Regulation 1 and paragraph (m) of Order M-328B.

Any supplier who has inadvertently failed to comply with these and other applicable Civilian Production Administration rules should immediately take any steps necessary to make his operations conform to them.

(b) Compulsory acceptance of rated orders. The rules concerning compulsory acceptance of rated orders (that is, orders carrying an AAA, MM, or CC preference rating) are stated in § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1. It must be noted that a rated order which meets the supplier's regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment may not be rejected merely because he would prefer to hold back his goods from sale until a later date when he may hope that tax laws, his OPA ceiling prices, or other factors will change so as to enable him to make a larger profit.

(c) Offering of goods. A supplier may not evade the acceptance and filling of rated orders by withholding his production or offerings of low cost goods suitable for low cost apparel.

In addition, when a person who has a rating asks a supplier of textiles to quote his regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment, or the earliest date on which he could make delivery on that rating, the supplier must do so; he may refuse to quote only if he would have the right under the applicable rules, to reject the rated orders and also knows that he will do so if he receives it.

(d) Rated orders must be given priority over unrated ones. A rated order must be accepted and filled regardless of existing contracts and orders, in accordance with the rules in § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1. For example, if a supplier has accepted an unrated order for fabric and has a rated order served upon him, he may not reject the rated order merely because filling it would require him to use some or all of the fabric which he planned to use to fill the unrated order.

(e) Customer's required delivery date must be met, if possible. A supplier must schedule his operations, if possible, so as to fill each rated order by the required delivery or performance date, as explained in § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation 1. He must also accept orders and schedule and make deliveries in accordance with paragraph (h) (8) of M-328B. If he cannot fill all rated and unrated orders, he must give preference to the rated ones.

(f) Operations of apparel manufacturers; inventories of manufacturers, mills, converters, and other suppliers. The attention of apparel manufacturers using ratings under M-328B Schedules is particularly called to the production preference and inventory rules in paragraphs (f) (2) and (f) (4) of M-328B, and in Priorities Regulation 32. A manufacturer of items within the programs provided for by these schedules must purchase materials for these programs for delivery before materials to be used for items not within the programs, to the full extent necessary to comply with the rule in (f) (2) of M-328B; and must complete the items within the programs in accordance with that rule, even if this results in postponing or delaying production of items not within the programs. A delay in processing material or in making deliveries of completed apparel may involve a violation of Priorities Regulation 32 and of paragraph (f) (4) of M-328B prohibiting the receipt or accumulation of excessive inventories. Priorities Regulation 32 applies equally to suppliers of gray or finished fabrics and manufacturers of apparel not within these programs.

(g) Other rules. All of the rules concerning the acceptance and filling of rated orders and the accumulation of excessive inventories, are, of course, not referred to above, and reference must be made to the Priorities Regulations, orders in the M-328 series, and other orders such as L-99, and M-317. The rules specifically referred to are those to which attention is particularly called at this time, in view of their important current application to orders rated CC under the M-328B programs. Some of these rules are qualified to the extent that a special rule, such as those in Schedule C, J, or K of Order M-328B, may permit a supplier to reject rated orders in excess of a specified quantity of his receipts or production. PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

TEA

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment issued simultaneously herewith has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Price Schedule No. 91 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1351.259 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1351.259 Definitions. When used in Revised Price Schedule 91 the term:

(a) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States government or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(b) "Import" means to transport into the continental United States from any place outside thereof. Teas entered in a custom's bonded warehouse, or placed in a foreign trade zone, or in a general order warehouse shall be considered as "imported".

(c) "Cost of putting the tea into the warehouse", in United States, includes (1) labor in and out; (2) trucking and labor costs from dock to warehouse; and (3) warehouse storage charges actually incurred but not to exceed 2½ months.

(d) Qualified distributors shall be those named by the Department of Agriculture.

(e) "Foreign seller's agent" means the United States agent of a person exporting tea from India or Ceylon.

(f) "Importer" means the person by whom a commodity is imported and who first sells it after importation.

2. Section 1351.261 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1351.261 Appendix A: Maximum prices for tea—(a) Maximum import prices for India and Ceylon Teas imported by private trade. The maximum prices, f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port, above which no person, either as principal or agent, may purchase and import into the continental United States (except as provided for in subparagraph (1)), the teas described below shall be:

	In cents per pound of tea
Northern India:
Leaf	33¼	35¾	40¾
Broken	30⅝	33¾	38¾
Ceylon:
Leaf	39⅝	42	45¾
Broken	40¾	42½	46⅝
Southern India (Travencore):
Leaf	32¾	34½	36¾
Broken	32⅝	34	37⅝

These prices are in cents per pound, f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port, basis net shipping weight, and include all commissions and charges to that point.

A foreign seller's agent's commission not to exceed $0.0090 per pound, if incurred, may be paid by the importer to the foreign seller's agent in addition to the maximum prices if the services of a foreign seller's agent were used to negotiate sales for the agent's principal prior to 1942.

(1) Exceptions to the maximum import prices. A "line" of teas which has been purchased or contracted to be purchased at a price in excess of the applicable maximum import price, may be imported provided the importer's "weighted average import price" for a "category" of teas imported during a particular "averaging period" does not exceed the applicable maximum import price.

A "line" is an individual garden lot within a category.

A "category" is any one of the 18 subdivisions of teas listed in § 1351.261 (a), such as "India fine leaf" or "Ceylon fair broken".

"Averaging periods" are the following:

For teas grown in Ceylon and Southern India (Travencore), the months of (i) May through October, and (ii) November through April, inclusive.

For teas grown in Northern India, the months of (iii) May through December, and (iv) January through April, inclusive.

"Weighted average import price" for a category is the average of all f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port prices paid or contracted to be paid by that importer for a category of tea which he has imported into the continental United States during an averaging period, determined by dividing the total amount of dollars paid or contracted to be paid, f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port, by the number of pounds of tea of that category imported by him during the averaging period.

All persons availing themselves of this exception shall report to the Imported Foods Section, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., on or before the 25th day of August, November, February, and May, for each of the categories of tea imported during the previous three calendar months, (a) the total amount of dollars paid or contracted to be paid, computed on an f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port basis; (b) the net weight of tea imported; (c) the highest and the lowest "line" prices paid; and (d) the weighted average import price for the category.

(b) Maximum prices for India and Ceylon Teas after importation. Maximum prices, ex dock continental United States port of entry, for sales of teas specified in paragraph (a) after importation into the continental United States, shall be the total of (1) the price actually paid for the "line," f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port; (2) actual landing costs consisting of ocean freight, war risk and marine insurance charges incurred from the port of origin to the continental United States port of entry; and (3) the amounts specified below for the appropriate category.

	In cents per pound of tea
Northern India:
Leaf	0.0300	0.0330	0.0360
Broken	.0300	.0300	.0330
Ceylon:
Leaf	.0310	.0335	.0390
Broken	.0310	.0335	.0390
Southern India (Travencore):
Leaf	.0300	.0330	.0360
Broken	.0300	.0330	.0360

For the purpose of substantiating the price actually paid, f. o. b. steamer India or Ceylon port for a "line," every person selling the teas specified in paragraph (a) shall keep and make available for examination by the buyer, his foreign seller's invoice containing full descriptions of the "line" and the prices paid.

(c) Maximum import and selling prices for teas other than India and Ceylon teas imported by private trade. Maximum prices for the teas described below shall be:

	Cents per pound ex dock New York City
	Common	Medium	Fine
Java and Sumatra:
Broken Orange Pekoe	40¼	42¾	51
Broken Pekoe
Fannings
Orange Pekoe	41¼	44¼	51

Flowery Pekoe Souchong
Pekoe Souchong
Other Souchongs
China:
Young Hyson	27½	35½	48½
Congou	41	46	57
Gun Powder No. 2		41
Gun Powder No. 3		38
Gun Powder No. 4		35
Gun Powder No. 5		32½
Gun Powder No. 6		31½
Gun Powder No. 7		29
Gun Powder No 8		27½
First Imperial		33½
Second Imperial		30½
Third Imperial		27½

These maximum prices are in cents per pound ex dock New York City, basis net landed weights, and include all commissions and charges to that point, except that increases in the charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941, for ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance may be added to the maximum prices if such charges have been actually incurred by the seller on such sale. Decreases in said charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941, shall be subtracted from the maximum prices.

(d) The maximum prices for tea imported from any country other than those named in paragraphs (a) and (c), or for grades not named in those paragraphs, shall be the prices at which sales of those grades were made in New York on October 15, 1941 or in the event no such sale was made on that date, the prices at which sales of the corresponding grades were last made in New York City prior to October 15, 1941.

(e) The maximum prices for teas specified in paragraphs (c) and (d) ex dock any port of entry other than New York City shall be determined by adding to or subtracting from the New York City price the difference between the actual cost of ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance from the port of origin to New York City and the actual cost of ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance from the port of origin to such other port of entry.

(f) For any of the teas specified in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) sold ex warehouse rather than ex dock New York City or any other port of entry, the cost of putting the tea into the warehouse as defined in § 1351.259 may be added by the seller who incurred the cost.

(g) The delivered price for tea shall in no case exceed the maximum prices specified plus actual transportation charges incurred from the dock or warehouse at New York City or other port of entry to the place of destination.

(h) Any person making a sale and delivery of tea of ten chests or less may add to the maximum price for that sale an amount which shall not exceed 10% of such maximum price. However, such an addition may be made for only one such sale and delivery to any one buyer during a calendar month.

(i) Any person who, for the accommodation of his customers, blends tea for sale in quantities of more than half chest lots, may add to the maximum price an amount which shall not exceed one cent per pound.

(j) The maximum prices at which a person may export the teas specified in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.

3. Section 1351.255 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1351.255 Prohibition against evasions. (a) The price limitations set forth in this price schedule shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of, or relating to any tea items, prices for which are established by this regulation, alone or in conjunction with any commodity, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding or otherwise.

(b) No person shall offer, sell or deliver any item of tea on condition that the purchaser is required to purchase another category or categories of tea or any other commodity.

PART 221—TIMBER

MANAGEMENT PLANS, SUSTAINED YIELDS, AND COMMUNITY AND INDUSTRIAL STABILITY; EXPORTATION OF NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the act of June 4, 1897 (30 Stat. 35, 16 U.S.C. 476, 551), as amended and supplemented, the act of February 1, 1905 (33 Stat. 628, 16 U.S.C. 472), the act of March 4, 1917 (39 Stat. 1145, 16 U.S.C. 491), and the act of April 12, 1926 (44 Stat. 242, 16 U.S.C. 616), I, Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, do hereby amend Regulation S-2 of the rules and regulations governing the occupancy, use, protection and administration of the national forests, which constitutes § 221.2, Chapter II, Title 36, Code of Federal Regulations, by deleting the last sentence thereof and adding the following paragraph:

§ 221.2 Management plans, sustained yields, and community and industrial stability; exportation of national forest timber. • • •

Unless prohibited by specific instructions from the Secretary of Agriculture, timber lawfully cut on any national forest, except the national forests in Alaska, may be exported from the State or Territory where grown. Timber cut from the national forests in Alaska shall not be exported from the Territory of Alaska in the form of logs, cord wood, bolts or other similar raw products necessitating primary manufacture elsewhere without the prior consent of the regional forester when the timber sale project involved is within his authorization to sell or the Chief of the Forest Service when a larger timber sale project is involved. In determining whether consent will be given to the export of such products consideration will be given, among other things, to whether such export will (1) permit of a more complete utilization of material on areas being logged primarily for products for local manufacture, (2) prevent the loss or serious deterioration of logs unsaleable locally because of an unforeseen loss of market, (3) permit the salvage of timber damaged by wind, insects or fire, (4) bring into use a minor species of little importance to local industrial development, (5) provide material required to meet national emergencies or to meet urgent and unusual needs of the nation.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed, in the City of Washington, this 16th day of May 1946.

[SEAL] CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

2. To determine the effect on other radio services in Hawaii of establishing radiotelephone stations at the location proposed by Mutual Telephone Company.

3. To determine any other relevant facts which would indicate that public interest, convenience or necessity would be better served by a grant of one, rather than the other of the above-mentioned applications.

It is further ordered, That Mutual Telephone Company and RCA Communications, Inc., be, and they are hereby, afforded an opportunity to obtain a hearing on the foregoing issues by filing a written appearance in accordance with the provisions of §§ 1.384 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

KING-TRENDLE BROADCASTING CORP.

PUBLIC NOTICE CONCERNING TRANSFER OF CONTROL

Public notice concerning proposed transfer of control of King-Trendle Broadcasting Corporation[1] (Licensee of AM Broadcasting Stations WXYZ, Detroit, and WOOD, Grand Rapids, Mich.)

The Commission hereby gives notice that on May 6, 1946, there was filed with it an application (B2–TC–490) for its consent under section 310 (b) of the Communications Act (47 U. S. C. A. 310) to the proposed transfer of control of King-Trendle Broadcasting Corporation, licensee of AM Stations WXYZ, Detroit, and WOOD, Grand Rapids, Michigan, from Geo. W. Trendle, John H. King, H. Allen Campbell and Howard O. Pierce (transferors) to American Broadcasting Company, Inc. (transferee), 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N. Y. The arrangements for transfer of control of the above stations are based upon a contract entered into April 24, 1946 between transferors and transferee, pursuant to which it was agreed that the former would sell to the latter all of the outstanding 100,000 shares of common voting stock of licensee for $3,650,000.00. Of this amount purchasers agreed to deposit with the Detroit Trust Company $100,000.00 for the joint account of purchasers and sellers; $3,400,000.00 is to be paid upon transfer of the stock on three days notice by either party following Commission approval of the application, on or before January 1, 1947, when the $100,000.00 down-payment above referred to is to be released to sellers. Sixty days following such transfer, $100,000.00 is to be paid to sellers. The balance of $50,000.00 is to be held by purchasers until such time as Federal income and excess profits taxes of licensee for all years ending on or before December 31, 1945 have been finally determined. Any excess of such taxes over those heretofore paid or reported shall be paid out of the $50,000.00 and the balance thereupon to be paid by purchasers to sellers. Payments under the contract are to be apportioned to sellers as their stock interests appear. In the event Commission approval is not obtained on or before January 1, 1947 the agreement shall terminate and the down-payment returned to purchasers. Upon the transfer of the stock, written resignations of the officials of licensee are to be delivered. Further details concerning the application and negotiations between the parties may be found with the application and papers on file at the offices of the Commission.

In the Commission's decision of September 6, 1945, granting the application for transfer of control of the Crosley Corporation (Docket No. 6767), it was announced that public hearings would be held to consider new rules and regulations for the handling of assignment and transfer applications including provision for public notice by the applicant and by the Commission of the filing of such applications and pertinent details in cases where a controlling interest is involved. Thereafter, on October 3, 1945, the Commission also gave public notice (10 F.R. 12926) that pending the issuance of such proposed new rules, hearing thereon, and final adoption, consideration of such applications would be deferred unless applicants desired to follow the procedure proposed in the Crosley decision and supplement their applications so as to come within the framework of the announced procedure, including the provision for public notice. Pursuant thereto, the Commission was advised May 6, 1946 that starting on May 10, 1946 notice of the filing of the application would be published in the Detroit Free Press, Detroit, Michigan and the Grand Rapids Herald, Grand Rapids, Michigan, newspapers of general circulation in those areas, in conformity with the provisions of the proposed rules.

In accordance with the procedure proposed in the Crosley decision and that announced in the Commission's release, no action will be had in the instant application for a period of 60 days from May 10, 1946, within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities involved may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above-described contract. [Docket No. G–723]

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

MAY 14, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on May 6, 1946 an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by United Gas Pipe Line Company (hereinafter referred to as the "Applicant" or "United Company"), a Delaware corporation, with its principal place of business at 1525 Fairfield Avenue, Shreveport, Louisiana, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize the Applicant to construct and operate a natural-gas pipe line extension from Applicant's natural-gas pipe line system to connect Hayes Field in Calcasieu and Jefferson Davis Parishes, Louisiana, and additions to Applicant's Iowa compressor station in Jefferson Davis Parish, Louisiana, hereinafter more particularly described, which, if constructed, are to be used to make available to Applicant additional gas reserves and delivery capacity under a purchase contract with Gulf Refining Company dated March 26, 1946, under which Applicant estimates it may attain a maximum daily delivery of 60,000 Mcf of natural gas from the said Hayes Field.

Applicant owns and operates a natural-gas pipe-line system situated in the States of Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, including particularly, main gas transmission lines extending from a point on Applicant's Latex-Beaumont line, near the town of Kirbyville, Jasper County, Texas, to the town of Franklin, St. Marys Parish, Louisiana, serving an area designated as Applicant's "Southwest Louisiana District."

The facilities which the United Company seeks authorization to construct and operate are described as follows:

(1) Hayes Gas Field Extension. Construct approximately 16.6 miles of 12¾" O. D. x 33.38# grade B seamless natural gas transmission pipe line, and paralleling telephone line, beginning at the outlet side of a Dehydration Plant proposed to be constructed by Applicant in Hayes Gas Field near section 18, Township 11 South, Range 5 West, Calcasieu Parish, Louisiana, and extending in a northerly direction to Applicant's Iowa Compressor Station, located in section 25, Township 8 South, Range 6 West, Jefferson Davis Parish, Louisiana.

At the present time Applicant proposes to operate the said 12¾" natural gas transmission pipe line with an inlet pressure of approximately 670 pounds per square inch gauge and an outlet pressure of approximately 600 pounds per square inch gauge at Applicant's said Iowa Compressor Station. With these pressures it is estimated that the said 12¾" line will have a maximum capacity of 62,000 Mcf per day.

(2) Additions to Iowa Compressor Station. Applicant proposes to enlarge its Iowa Compressor Station by the installation of an addition of approximately 850 horsepower and appurtenant equipment.

Applicant proposes to operate said additional 850 horsepower with pressures of 375 pounds per square inch gauge suction and 600 pounds per square inch gauge discharge, under which conditions said additional horsepower will have a maximum capacity of approximately 32,000 Mcf per day.

The United Company in its application states that it desires to augment the gas reserves presently connected with and supplying its Southwest Louisiana District by constructing the proposed pipeline extension to the Hayes Field. In addition to supplying its customers in its Southwest Louisiana District, Applicant transports natural gas from that district into the State of Texas, and says that in order to increase its delivery capacity of its call Junction-Franklin line into its Latex-Beaumont line it proposes to enlarge its Iowa compressor station by the addition of approximately 850 horsepower.

Applicant has submitted with its application its gas purchase contract with Gulf Refining Company dated March 26, 1946, covering the purchase of natural gas produced in the Hayes Field. Under this contract Applicant estimates there is an available reserve of approximately 500 billion cu. ft. of natural gas, and further estimates that the maximum daily delivery of natural gas from the wells under said Gulf contract in said Hayes Field proposed to be connected will be approximately 60,000 Mcf. Applicant estimates that the proposed 12¾-inch line will have a maximum daily delivery of approximately 62,000 Mcf. Natural gas reserves in said Hayes Field not under contract to United Company, Applicant estimates, approximates 50 billion cu. ft.

The estimated over-all capital cost of the proposed facilities is $635,405. The proposed new transmission line, Applicant estimates, will cost $429,799, appurtenant communication equipment $12,329, and the additional five 170 horsepower compressor units to Iowa compressor station, $193,277. The cost of these new facilities Applicant proposes to finance out of cash on hand. Applicant did not include in its application any estimates of the total revenues expected from the proposed new facilities to be constructed, or any estimates as to total fixed charges or operating expenses.

United Gas Pipe Line Company in its application says that it does not propose to make any sales directly from the proposed facilities, other than such sales as may arise from farm tap service, and such other sales as may be advisable in the future, and says that it does not contemplate making any change in present rates for gas sold from existing facilities as the result of the addition of the proposed new facilities.

The proposed connection of the said Hayes Field with its transmission system, the United Company says, will make available to it additional gas reserves and delivery capacity, which, Applicant says, is a matter of good operating practice.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of the United Gas Pipe Line Company should, on or before the 31st day of May 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

[Docket No. G-724]

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 14, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on May 6, 1946, an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by United Gas Pipe Line Company (hereinafter referred to as "Applicant" or "United Company"), a Delaware corporation, with its principal place of business at 1525 Fairfield Avenue, Shreveport, Louisiana, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize the Applicant to construct and operate certain natural-gas pipeline extensions from Applicant's natural-gas pipeline system to connect Baxterville Field in Lamar and Marion Counties and Gwinville Field in Jefferson Davis County, Mississippi, and additions to Applicant's Hattiesburg compressor station, Perry County, Mississippi, and the Laurel Loop line, Jones County, Mississippi, hereinafter more particularly described which, if constructed, are to be used to make available to Applicant additional gas reserves and delivery capacity, under a purchase contract with Gulf Refining Company, dated March 26, 1946, under which Applicant estimates it may attain a maximum delivery of 75,000 Mcf from the Baxterville Field and 63,000 Mcf from the Gwinville Field.

Applicant owns and operates a natural-gas pipe-line system situated in the States of Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, including particularly, main gas-transmission lines extending from Lirette area, Terrebonne Parish, Louisiana, and from northern Louisiana, respectively, to the Cities of Mobile, Alabama and Pensacola, Florida, serving an area designated as Applicant's "Jackson District Market".

The new facilities and proposed operation for which United Company seeks authorization are described as follows:

(1) Baxterville Project. Construct approximately 10.3 miles of 12¾" O. D. x 33.38# grade B seamless natural gas transmission pipe line complete with two 10¾" x 54.74# grade B seamless pipe lines across Pearl River, beginning near section 12, Township 1 North, Range 17 West at the outlet of Baxterville Gas Field, and extending in a westerly direction, crossing Pearl River to a point where Applicant proposes to install a 48" Gas Scrubber and a 10" Check Measuring Station at the point of connection with Applicant's Bogalusa 10" natural gas transmission line at approximately mile post 51.4. Mile post 51.4 is located in section 7, Township 1 North, Range 14 East, all in Marion County, Mississippi.

At the present time Applicant proposes to operate said 12¾" natural gas transmission line with an inlet pressure of approximately 550 pounds per square inch gauge and an outlet pressure of approximately 505 pounds per square inch gauge at the point of connection with the said Bogalusa 10" line. With these pressures it is estimated that the said 12¾" line will have a maximum capacity of 51,000 Mcf per day.

(2) Gwinville Project. Construct approximately 13.6 miles of 10¾" O. D. x 24.6# grade B seamless natural gas transmission pipe line, and paralleling telephone line, beginning at the outlet side of a Dehydration Plant proposed to be constructed by Applicant in Gwinville Gas Field near section 16, Township 9 North, Range 18 West, Jefferson Davis County, Mississippi, and extending in a northeasterly direction through portions of Jefferson Davis, Covington, Simpson, and Smith Counties to a proposed 10" Check Measuring Station at the point of connection with Applicant's Benton Junction-Mobile 16" main gas transmission line at approximately mile post 82. Mile post 82 is located in section 16, Township 10 North, Range 16 West, Smith County, Mississippi. Applicant also proposes to install a 48" scrubber and an 8" Check Measuring Station at the point of connection with Applicant's Jackson-Hattiesburg 8" natural gas transmission line at the point said lines intersect each other near section 34, Township 10 North, Range 17 West, Simpson County, Mississippi.

At the present time Applicant proposes to operate the said 10¾" natural gas transmission line with an inlet pressure of approximately 610 pounds per square inch gauge and with outlet pressures of approximately 460 pounds per square inch gauge at the point of connection with the said Jackson-Hattiesburg 8" line, and approximately 406 pounds per square inch gauge at the point of connection with the said Benton Junction-Mobile 16" line. With these pressures it is estimated that the said 10¾" line will have a maximum capacity of 74,000 Mcf of gas per day with a delivery of 31,000 Mcf per day to the said Jackson-Hattiesburg 8" line and 43,000 Mcf per day to the said Benton Junction-Mobile 16" line.

(3) Hattiesburg Project. Applicant proposes to make additions to its Hattiesburg Compressor Station by the installation of one 1,000 H. P. C. & G. Cooper eccentric type horizontal twin tandem double acting gas engine compressor, change cylinders on present compressors to suit new station load conditions, make 34' extension to present compressor building, extend present cooling tower an additional 24' in length, replace present 600 G. P. M. centrifugal water pumps with pumps of a total capacity of 1,050 G. P. M., rearrange piping in compressor station yard, install one additional 48" Gas Scrubber on inlet side of station, and construct two additional five-room residences for employees, Applicant's Hattiesburg Compressor Station is located in section 6, Township 5 North, Range 11 West, Perry County, Mississippi.

At the present time Applicant proposes to operate the said Hattiesburg Compressor Station with an inlet pressure of approximately 210 pounds per square inch gauge and an outlet pressure of approximately 425 pounds per square inch gauge. With these pressures it is estimated that the said compressor station with 2350 H. P. will have a maximum capacity of 55,000 Mcf per day.

(4) Laurel Project. Construct approximately 2.9 miles of 12¾" O. D. x 33.38# grade B seamless natural gas transmission pipe line, beginning at the end of the present loop on Applicant's Laurel Tap Line in section 28, Township 8 North, Range 12 West, and extending in a northeasterly direction, parallel to said Laurel Tap Line, to a point of connection where Applicant's 6" line extends to the City of Laurel and Applicant's 8" line extends to Masonite Corporation. The said connection is located at approximately mile post 12.1 on said Laurel Tap Line in section 14, Township 8 North, Range 12 West, all in Jones County, Mississippi.

At the present time Applicant proposes to operate said 12¾" extension as a loop to said Laurel Tap Line with a 24 hour average inlet pressure of 257 pounds per square inch gauge and a 24 hour average outlet pressure of approximately 150 pounds per square inch gauge at Applicant's measuring station located at Masonite Corporation. With these pressures, it is estimated that the capacity of said Laurel Tap Line will be 28,000 Mcf per day. The maximum demand on this line during the 1945–46 season was 21,449 Mcf. Applicant estimates that the demands on this line during the 1946–47 season will be increased as follows:

	Mcf
Cities of Laurel and Ellisville	950
Masonite Corporation	5,600
Total	6,550

United Company in its application states there are no gas reserves located within the States of Alabama, Florida or Mississippi which are presently connected with its gas lines located within its so-called Jackson District Market area with the exception of the Jackson Field, near Jackson, Mississippi, in which the reserves have heretofore been substantially exhausted since the year 1939. Applicant has submitted with its application its gas purchase contract with Gulf Refining Company dated March 26, 1946, covering the purchase of natural gas produced in the Baxterville and Gwinville Fields in Mississippi. United Company estimates that the total natural-gas reserves in the Baxterville Field are approximately 171 billion cubic feet, and in the Gwinville Field approximately 1,177 billion cubic feet. Under its purchase contract with Gulf Refining Company, Applicant estimates there is available to it a reserve of approximately 80 billion cubic feet in the Baxterville Field and approximately 303 billion cubic feet in the Gwinville Field.

United Company estimates that the maximum daily delivery capacity of natural gas from the wells under its Gulf contract, in the said Baxterville Field proposed to be connected to its proposed 12¾" line will be approximately 75,000 Mcf, and it is estimated that said line will have a maximum daily delivery capacity of 51,000 Mcf. From the wells under the Gulf contract in the Gwinville Field, Applicant estimates that the maximum daily delivery capacity of natural gas will be approximately 63,000 Mcf, and it is estimated that the proposed 10¾" line to that field will have a maximum daily delivery capacity of approximately 74,000 Mcf.

The annual requirements of natural gas necessary to meet the demand in its Jackson District Market area, United Company says, increased from 15,170,000 Mcf in 1939 to 51,840,843 Mcf in 1945, with the following peak day delivery and peak day demands for that area for the years 1940 and 1945, as follows:

Year	Peak day demand	Peak day delivery
	Mcf	Mcf
1940	92,837	92,837
1945	234,396	180,858

Applicant in its application estimates its peak day demand in the 1946–47 season in its Jackson District Market area will be 265,896 Mcf.

The proposed connection of the Baxterville and Gwinville Fields with its transmission system, United Company says, will make available additional gas reserves to meet a portion of the present increased demands of its Jackson District Market area, and will also be of assistance in minimizing service interruptions due to failure of existing facilities.

The estimated over-all capital cost of the proposed facilities is $818,615. The proposed new line to the Gwinville Field, Applicant estimates, will cost $263,018, the line to the Baxterville Field $281,696, the addition of a 1,000 H. P. unit to the Hattiesburg compressor station $211,440, and the Laurel Loop line $62,461. The cost of these new facilities Applicant proposes to finance out of cash on hand. Applicant did not include in its application any estimates of the total revenues expected from the proposed new facilities to be constructed or any estimates as to total fixed charges or operating expenses.

United Gas Pipe Line Company in its application says that it does not propose to make any sales directly from the proposed facilities, other than such sales as may arise for farm tap service and such other sales as may be advisable in the future, and says that it does not contemplate making any change in present rates for gas sold from existing facilities as the result of the addition of the proposed new facilities.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of United Gas Pipe Line Company should, on or before the 31st day of May 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

MARKEL ELECTRIC PRODUCTS, INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Order No. 203 under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119. Docket No. 6123-SO 119-54. Adjustment of maximum prices for sales of electric lighting fixtures and electric wall heaters manufactured by Markel Electric Products, Incorporated of Buffalo, New York.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to section 13 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(2) Since the provisions of this order are not intended to reduce properly established maximum prices, the manufacturer may continue to use as his maximum prices to each class of purchaser his properly established prices in effect under Maximum Price Regulation No. 591 in the event that such prices exceed the prices in effect to each class of purchaser on October 1, 1941 plus the increase provided for in (1) above.

(3) The maximum prices set forth above shall be subject to discounts and allowances including transportation allowances and price differentials which are at least as favorable as those the manufacturer extended or rendered or would have extended or rendered to each class of purchaser on commodities in the same general category during March 1942.

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. All resellers of the commodities covered by this order (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their presently established maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted the manufacturer by this order.

(c) Notification to all purchasers. The manufacturer shall send the following notice to every purchaser of the commodities covered by this order at or before the time of the first invoice after the adjustment granted by this order is put into effect:

Order No. 203 under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119 authorizes the following percentage increases in October 1, 1941, net prices for sales of these products manufactured by this company: electric lighting fixtures 18.9 percent and electric wall heaters 19.6 percent.

Resellers (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their existing maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted by Order No. 203.

(d) All prayers for relief not granted herein are denied.

(e) This order may be amended or revoked by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective May 16, 1946.

ALUMINUM COOKING UTENSIL CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Aluminum Cooking Utensil Company of New Kensington, Pennsylvania may sell and deliver the articles of commercial, industrial, institutional and clinical aluminum cooking utensils which it manufactures at prices computed as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during July 1940, the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser plus an adjusted charge of no more than 8 percent of each such price.

(2) For an article not in its line during July 1940, but which has a properly established ceiling price, the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) plus an adjustment charge equal to the percentage of that price determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) The manufacturer's price computed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than the previously established ceiling price, including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for his individually or for his industry.

(b) Reseller's ceiling prices. A reseller who had a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued for an article covered by this order may add to that maximum price an adjustment charged in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment charge authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier.

If the reseller did not have a properly established maximum price for the article in effect before this order was issued, he shall first determine a maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) for this purpose, the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less the adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1946, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

If the maximum resale price (exclusive of adjustment charges) cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of such a maximum price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(c) Statement of adjusted charges. On all sales except to ultimate consumers, the adjustment charges may be made and collected only if they are separately stated on each invoice.

(d) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulations.

(e) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(f) All requests for adjustments of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(g) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to maximum prices for the sales of any article covered by this order.

(h) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(i) This order shall become effective on the 16th day of May 1946.

Issued this 15th day of May 1946.

WEST BRANCH NOVELTY CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. West Branch Novelty Company, 201 Arch Street, Milton, Pa. may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of wood furniture in its line of cedar chests which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 15 per cent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 4800 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 4800 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price" the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under these regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 24 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Reseller's ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows: A reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is one which meets all the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced. The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–750 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) The word "resellers" as used in this order shall apply only to those purchasers for resale of the articles covered by this order who purchase such articles from their suppliers in substantially the same form as such articles were manufactured; and who resell same in substantially that form. This order shall apply only to such resellers and to no others.

(d) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(e) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method estbalished in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form. Such notice need be given only to those purchasers for resale who are included in paragraph (c) of this order.

(f) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(g) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the maximum prices for sales of any of the articles covered by this order.

(h) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(i) This order shall become effective May 15, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Strauss Fasteners, Inc., 154 West 14th Street, New York 11, N. Y., may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles in its product line of slide fasteners, which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 13 per cent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Reseller's ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows: A reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is one which meets all the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced. The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) The word "resellers" as used in this order shall apply only to those purchasers for resale of the articles covered by this order who purchase such articles from their suppliers in substantially the same form as such articles were manufactured; and who resell same in substantially that form. This order shall apply only to such resellers and to no others.

(d) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(e) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form. Such notice need be given only to those purchasers for resale who are included in paragraph (c) of this order.

(f) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(g) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the maximum prices for sales of any of the articles covered by this order.

(h) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(i) This order shall become effective May 15, 1946.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Amendment 1 to Order No. 67 under Supplementary Order No. 142. Adjustment provisions for sales of industrial machinery and equipment. Monowatt Electric Corporation. Docket No. 6083-SO 142-136-243 and 6083-SO 142-82-11.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to section 2 of Supplementary Order No. 142, It is ordered:

Order No. 67, issued April 2, 1946, to the Monowatt Electric Corporation, Providence, Rhode Island, is hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) For sales of all products for which the Monowatt Electric Corporation has no base date prices, the Monowatt Electric Corporation shall compute its maximum prices as follows:

(1) It shall compute prices by use of the price determining method in the manner established by the applicable regulation with the following exceptions:

(i) It must use its October 1, 1941, cost for materials, purchase parts and subassemblies. If the Monowatt Electric Corporation cannot determine its October 1, 1941, costs, it shall then use the October 1, 1941, costs to a purchaser of its same class in the same locality.

(ii) It must use the labor rates in effect on October 1, 1941.

(iii) It must apply a factor for overhead which bears the same relation to the direct cost which the profit and loss statement for the year 1941 of its division manufacturing the product shows overhead bore to direct cost.

(iv) It must apply a factor for selling and administrative expense which bears the same relation to sales which the profit and loss statement for the year 1941 of its division manufacturing the product shows selling and administrative expense bore to sales.

(v) It must apply a factor for profit which is no greater than the factor for the 1941 profit and loss statement of its division manufacturing the product shows as the percentage profit to sales.

(2) The Monowatt Electric Corporation, Providence, Rhode Island, shall increase the price computed under paragraph (1) above by ten per cent.

(3) If the Monowatt Electric Corporation is unable to compute a maximum price for any product as provided in the preceding paragraphs (1) and (2), the maximum price for the product shall be established under the applicable regulation without any adjustment provided by this order.

(b) The maximum prices of all products for which the Monowatt Electric Corporation, Providence, Rhode Island, received approval by the OPA under Maximum Price Regulation 82 and Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, shall be those maximum prices increased by 10 per cent.

[SO 148, Order 7]

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 148; It is ordered:

(a) This order establishes maximum prices for sales and deliveries of certain articles of metal household furniture manufactured by Livingston and Company, Luzerne at D Street, Philadelphia 24, Pa.

(1) For all sales and deliveries of the following articles by the manufacturer to the class of purchaser specified below, the adjusted maximum prices are as follows:

Article	Model No.	Adjusted maximum price to retailers
Wall cabinet	R18-H R24-H R30-H	$4 [illegible] 4 [illegible] 5 [illegible]

[1] That class of retailers to which the manufacturer customarily made sales in largest volume.

(2) For sales and deliveries by the manufacturer to all other classes of purchasers the maximum prices are the adjusted maximum prices set forth in paragraph (a) (1), adjusted to reflect the manufacturer's customary differentials for sales to those other classes of purchasers.

(b) Resellers of articles which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590 shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a ceiling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price", the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he had on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

7. A statement of whether the sale to the retail dealer was made by a factory owned branch.

The Commission having considered said application pursuant to section 6 (b) as a declaration pursuant to section 7 of the act, and having by order dated April 18, 1946, permitted said declaration to become effective subject to entry of a further order of the Commission after the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 had been supplied by amendment, and subject further to reservation of jurisdiction with respect to legal and auditing fees and expenses proposed to be paid in connection with the proposed security issues, and with respect to certain accounting entries as specified in said order of April 18, 1946; and

Illinois Power having filed a further amendment herein on May 15, 1946, setting forth the action taken to comply with the requirements of Rule U-50 and submitting results of the invitation for competitive bids, as follows:

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

[T. D. 51455]

PART 10—ARTICLES CONDITIONALLY FREE, SUBJECT TO A REDUCED RATE, ETC.

PUBLIC INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

Customs exemptions accorded to public international organizations and certain aliens connected therewith—Regulations prescribed under Public Law No. 291, 79th Congress, approved December 29, 1945, entitled the "International Organizations Immunities Act."

The following section is hereby added to Part 10 of the Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 10):

§ 10.30a Organizations included. (a) The President, by virtue of the authority vested in him by section 1 of Public Law No. 291, 79th Congress, approved December 29, 1945,[22a] has designated [22b] the following organizations as public international organizations entitled to the free entry privileges of that statute: The Food and Agriculture Organization, The International Labor Organization, The Pan American Union, The United Nations, and The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.[22c]

[22a] For the purposes of this title, the term "international organization" means a public international organization in which the United States participates pursuant to any treaty or under the authority of any Act of Congress authorizing such participation or making an appropriation for such participation, and which shall have been designated by the President through appropriate Executive order as being entitled to enjoy the privileges, exemptions, and immunities herein provided. The President shall be authorized, in the light of the functions performed by any such international organization, by appropriate Executive order to withhold or withdraw from any such organization or its officers or employees any of the privileges, exemptions, and immunities provided for in this title (including the amendments made by this title) or to condition or limit the enjoyment by any such organization or its officers or employees of any such privilege, exemption, or immunity. The President shall be authorized, if in his judgment such action should be justified by reason of the abuse by an international organization or its officers and employees of the privileges, exemptions, and immunities herein provided or for any other reason, at any time to revoke the designation of any international organization under this section, whereupon the international organization in question shall cease to be classed as an international organization for the purposes of this title. (Sec. 1, Public Law No. 291—79th Congress.)

[22b] Executive Order No. 9698, dated February 19, 1946. Additions to this list or changes therein will be published in the Treasury decisions.

[22c] Although the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development have not been designated by the President as public international organizations entitled to the benefits of Public Law No. 291, certain customs exemptions have been prescribed for such organizations in Public Law No. 171, 79th Congress, approved July 31, 1945, and, in appropriate cases, will be the subject of individual instructions from the Department.

[22d] Insofar as concerns customs duties and internal-revenue taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation, and the procedures in connection therewith; the registration of foreign agents; and the treatment of official communications, the privileges, exemptions, and immunities to which international organizations shall be entitled shall be those accorded under similar circumstances to foreign governments. (Sec. 2 (d), Public Law No. 291—79th Congress.)

Pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Customs with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, the baggage and effects of alien officers and employees of international organizations, or of aliens designated by foreign governments to serve as their representatives in or to such organizations, or of the families, suites, and servants of such officers, employees, or representatives shall be admitted (when imported in connection with the arrival of the owner) free of customs duties and free of internal-revenue taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation. (Sec. 3, Public Law No. 291—79th Congress.)

(b) Pursuant to sections 2 (d) and 3 [23d] of the act, property of the above-named organizations and the baggage and effects of the alien officers and employees thereof, of aliens designated by foreign governments to serve as their representatives in or to such organizations, or of the families, suites, and servants of such officers, employees, or representatives, shall be admitted free of duties and internal-revenue taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation, but such exemption shall be granted only upon the receipt in each instance of the Department's instructions which will be issued only upon the request of the Department of State.

(c) The term "baggage and effects" as used in section 3 of the act includes all articles which are imported by, and in connection with the arrival of, a person entitled to the benefits of the act and which are intended for his bona fide personal or household use, but does not include articles imported as an accommodation to others or for sale or other commercial use.

(d) All articles accorded free entry under the act shall be entered or withdrawn in accordance with the requirements prescribed by the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, and the regulations thereunder.

(e) Certified or other customs invoices shall not be required for articles accorded free entry under the act.

(f) Any customs bond which may be required from one of the above-named organizations in connection with the importation or entry of merchandise into, or the exportation of merchandise from, the United States may be accepted without surety.

(g) The provisions of the act are applicable, insofar as duties and internal-revenue taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation are concerned, only with respect to articles entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on and after December 29, 1945. (Sec. 3, Public Law No. 291—79th Congress; secs. 498, 624, 46 Stat. 728, 759; 19 U.S.C. 1498, 1624; E.O. 9698, February 19, 1946, 11 F.R. 1809)

This subpart does not exempt express companies from any other statutory requirements for the preservation of accounts, records, and memoranda for longer periods than those herein specified.

§ 110.61 Preservation of other records—(a) Special permission to destroy. (1) The destruction of all accounts, records, and memoranda of express companies, except as specifically provided in this subpart, is prohibited under penalties contained in section 20 (7) (b) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

(2) However, an express company proposing the destruction of any accounts, records, or memoranda not hereinafter specifically named or described, may petition the Commission to that effect, stating a full and detailed description of the accounts, records or memoranda in question, clearly explaining their character, their use, and their purpose. An order entered by the Commission on any such petition shall, unless otherwise provided, be limited in its force and effect to the petitioning express company.

(b) Photographic copies. Express companies may be granted authority to preserve photographic copies of certain records in lieu of original records or copies thereof. Application for authority shall be filed in the form of a letter which shall describe the particular records intended to be preserved by this method and the process to be used.

§ 110.62 Officer having supervision of destruction. (a) An officer or, where necessary, two officers shall be appointed by the express company's board of directors to have supervision over the destruction of all accounts, records, and memoranda. Such officer or officers may be given (1) general supervision over the destruction of all accounts, records, and memoranda the destruction of which is permitted by this subpart, or (2) authority over the destruction of such accounts, records, and memoranda as may be specified by the board of directors. Pending confirmation by the board of directors, a temporary appointment by an executive committee, or by a similarly authorized committee of the board of directors, shall have the same effect as if made by the board of directors. A copy of the resolution of appointment shall be filed with the Commission before accounts, records, or memoranda may be destroyed pursuant thereto.

(b) If an express company's property is in the hands of a trustee, receiver, executor, administrator, or assignee, the officer or officers to have supervision over the destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda shall be designated by the trustee, receiver, executor, administrator, or assignee. A copy of the order designating such officer or officers shall be filed with the Commission before accounts, records, or memoranda may be destroyed pursuant thereto.

(c) In designating an officer or officers to have general supervision over the destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda it is preferable to designate by title only, rather than by name and title, and thus obviate the necessity for a new resolution or order each time a successor in the office is appointed.

§ 110.63 Written authority of supervising officer. (a) When any accounts, records, or memoranda are to be destroyed, the officer having supervision over the destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda (as designated in § 110.62 (a) or (b)) shall issue a written authority naming the person or persons by whom the accounts, records, or memoranda are to be destroyed (except as provided in § 110.69 (b)).

(b) The written authority (1) may be confined to certain accounts, records, and memoranda which have been retained for the periods of time specified in this subpart and which the express company proposes to destroy, in which case the authority shall specify:

First. A list of the accounts, records, and memoranda to be destroyed, expressed either in form numbers or by descriptive titles; and,

Second. The period or periods covered by the accounts, records, and memoranda the destruction of which is authorized;

or

(2) May be of continuing effect, applying to any or all the accounts, records, or memoranda named herein as the periods of retention of such accounts, records, or memoranda attain the limits specified herein.

(c) Such written authority, or a certified copy thereof, shall be filed in the office of the issuing officer as a permanent part of the express company's records. Copies of the specific written authorities need not be filed with the Commission.

§ 110.64 Certificates of destruction. (a) The person or persons by whom accounts, records, or memoranda are to be destroyed under the written authority referred to in § 110.63 (b) (1) shall certify (except as otherwise provided in paragraph (d) of this section and § 110.69) that the accounts, records, or memoranda listed in the said authority have been destroyed and that no accounts, records, or memoranda other than those so listed have been destroyed therewith.

(b) The person or persons by whom accounts, records, or memoranda are to be destroyed under continuing authority referred to in § 110.63 (b) (2) shall certify such destruction (except as otherwise provided in paragraph (d) of this section and § 110.69), listing by form numbers and descriptive titles the accounts, records, and memoranda destroyed, naming the period or periods covered by such accounts, records, and memoranda, and stating that no accounts, records, or memoranda other than those so listed have been destroyed therewith. Either (1) a separate certificate shall be filed each time any accounts, records, and memoranda are destroyed, or (2) cumulative certificates shall be filed with supplementary entries every time additional accounts, records, and memoranda are destroyed.

(c) Certificates of destruction shall be forwarded promptly to the officer having supervision over the destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda who issued the written authority and shall be retained in his office as a permanent part of the express company's records. Cumulative certificates shall be forwarded to such officer periodically, but at least once every six months. Copies of certificates of destruction need not be filed with the Commission.

(d) Certificates of destruction are not required for those accounts, records, and memoranda listed in § 110.70, the destruction of which is optional with the express company, but a written authority for specific records or of continuing effect shall be issued (except as otherwise provided in § 110.69) by the officer having supervision over the destruction of such accounts, records, and memoranda.

§ 110.65 Committee for the destruction of certain records. At the option of the express company a committee may be designated to destroy by conversion into pulp, or by cremation, canceled stock certificates, bonds, or other records covered by item 6 of § 110.70, in lieu of delegating authority for such destruction to an officer as provided in § 110.62 (a). A copy of the resolution of the board of directors, or if not a corporate act a copy of the designating order, shall be filed promptly with the Commission. A certificate of destruction giving full descriptive reference to the documents destroyed shall be filed by this committee and shall be retained as a permanent part of the express company's records. (See § 110.64 (c).) When documents represent debt secured by mortgage, the certificates of destruction shall also be authenticated by or for the trustees under the mortgage acting in conjunction with this committee or shall have the trustees' acceptance endorsed thereon.

§ 110.66 Records of joint activities. This subpart applies also to the destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda maintained for or on behalf of an express company in the conduct of a joint activity. The officer designated to supervise the destruction of express company records may delegate the person in charge of the joint activity to supervise the destruction of joint accounts, records, and memoranda, to issue all written authorities for such destruction, and to retain certificates of destruction. Otherwise, written authority shall be obtained from the officer supervising the destruction of express company records each time joint accounts, records, or memoranda are to be destroyed and certificates of destruction shall be filed with such officer.

§ 110.67 Method of destruction. (a) The precise method of destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda is not prescribed. The Commission is not concerned whether the destruction is by fire, sale, conversion into pulp, or otherwise, providing the destruction is authorized, a certificate of destruction is filed, and all other requirements of this subpart are observed.

(b) If the accounts, records, and memoranda are not actually destroyed by the express company, the certificate of destruction shall so state. Section 15 of the Interstate Commerce Act provides that information concerning the business of a shipper or consignee, which may be used to the detriment of such shipper or consignee, shall not be divulged. Responsibility for possible infringement of this provision of the act, by disposing of its records without actually destroying them, would rest with the express company.

§ 110.68 Accidental destruction of records. If any accounts, records, or memoranda are destroyed accidentally by fire, flood, or other casualty, a statement shall be prepared listing so far as possible the records destroyed and detailing the circumstances in connection with the fire or other casualty. This statement shall be authenticated by an officer or some responsible employee of the express company and shall be filed with the officer having supervision over the destruction of accounts, records, and memoranda. A copy of the statement certifying such destruction shall be filed promptly with the Commission.

§ 110.69 Duplicate accounts, records, and memoranda. (a) Provision is made in item 171 of § 110.70 for the destruction of agency copies of certain accounts, records, and memoranda after such copies have been retained for the periods assigned to the originals. Certificates of destruction are not required for these copies, but a written authority as provided in § 110.63 (a) and (b) shall be issued and appropriately filed with the officer having jurisdiction over the destruction of records.

(b) Provision is made in item 253 of § 110.70 for the optional destruction of duplicate copies of accounts, records, and memoranda when such copies are not specifically provided for elsewhere in this subpart and when they contain no information not shown on the originals. Neither written authority to destroy nor certificates of destruction are required for these copies. The originals (or one true copy) shall be retained for the respective periods named for such records in this subpart.

§ 110.70 List of records and periods of retention. The following list[1] is indicative of accounts, records, and memoranda specifically referred to in § 110.60. The description of the accounts, records, and memoranda enumerated below under the various general headings is merely for convenient reference and identification. This subpart is intended to apply to the items as named or described, regardless of where they are filed and regardless of departmental organization. Of the accounts, records, and memoranda which are to be retained permanently only the more important are stated in this list, the specific mention being made so that they may not be confused with any accounts, records, and memoranda for which permission to destroy is given herein.

By the Commission, Division 1.

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND AMENDMENT TO APPLICATION

MAY 15, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on April 22, 1946, United Gas Pipe Line Company, a Delaware corporation having its principal office at 1525 Fairfield Avenue, Shreveport, Louisiana, filed with the Federal Power Commission an application for a temporary and permanent certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize the construction and operation of certain facilities hereinafter described for the transportation and sale of natural gas to United Gas Corporation for resale and distribution in the Town of Richton, Mississippi.

On May 6, 1946, United Gas Pipe Line Company filed an amendment to its said application.

The proposed facilities to be constructed and operated in connection with said sale and delivery of natural gas to United Gas Corporation consist of approximately one mile of 2-inch pipeline extending from a point on Applicant's Benton-Mobile Line at approximately mile post No. 135, said point being approximately 13 miles southeast of Applicant's Hattiesburg compressor station, located near the City of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and extending in a northeasterly direction approximately one mile from said point to end at a point near the city limits of the Town of Richton, together with a measuring and regulating station and appurtenant facilities.

The applicant submits that it proposes to sell natural gas to United Gas Corporation at the city gate for resale in the Town of Richton, which town has a population of approximately 900 and has not heretofore been served with natural gas. Applicant also proposes to sell such natural gas to United Gas Corporation as it may require for resale to rural consumers along the route of the proposed line. It is also submitted that there are no main line industrial consumers to be served from the proposed line at present, and there is no other natural gas company service in Perry County, Mississippi.

The application states that the proposed line will be operated at the operating pressures prevailing in applicant's Benton-Mobile line at the point of connection, which pressures according to the amendment to the application average approximately 360 pounds per square inch gauge, and will have an estimated maximum daily delivery capacity of approximately 2,000 Mcf. The estimated maximum day demand as stated in the amendment is approximately 124 Mcf and the estimated minimum day demand is approximately 25 Mcf. Estimated annual sales is expected to be 12,646 Mcf.

The total cost of the proposed facilities as estimated by applicant will approximate $7,294.

Any interested State Commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether it considers the application one which should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of the United Gas Pipe Line Company should, on or before the 31st day of May 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

[Docket No. G-720]

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 15, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on April 29, 1946, Cities Service Gas Company, a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, filed with the Federal Power Commission an application (a) for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to authorize the construction of certain facilities hereinafter described, and (b) for approval of abandonment of a certain portion of its facilities also hereinafter described, both pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended.

The proposed facilities to be constructed consist of (1) 64.5 miles of 12-inch gas pipe line from the compressor station of Phillips Petroleum Company in the Edmond, Oklahoma, gas field to Applicant's Drumright compressor station located near Drumright, Creek County, Oklahoma, and (2) 6.5 miles of 16-inch gas pipe line extending from Applicant's Craig storage field, Johnson County, Kansas, to Applicant's Glavin metering station, Johnson County, Kansas.

The portion of facilities proposed to be abandoned consists of a 12-inch gas pipe line approximately 61 miles in length extending from a point in Kingman County, Kansas to Applicant's Wichita compressor station.

The application states that upon completion of the 64.5 miles of pipe line it will be utilized to transport increased quantities of gas from Edmond gas field and from fields connected to its present facilities to its Drumright compressor station, from where it can be transported through existing facilities to Applicant's rapidly increasing domestic and commercial markets in the Kansas City, Topeka, St. Joseph and other areas on the "East side" of Applicant's pipe line system. With respect to the 6.5 miles of pipe line the application states that this facility will serve a two-fold purpose of making increased quantities of gas directly available to the Kansas City markets from Applicant's Craig underground storage field and of increasing delivery capacity to existing facilities from Applicant's Ottawa compressor station to the Kansas City area by releasing one 16-inch line from the Craig Junction, near the storage field, to the Glavin metering station for main line use.

The application, with respect to the facility sought to be abandoned, states that this facility consists of a 12-inch gas pipe line approximately 61 miles in length extending from a point in Kingman County, Kansas to Applicant's Wichita compressor station. It is stated that (a) this line was constructed in 1940 to transport gas from the so-called Cunningham field to the Company's pipe line system at Wichita, (b) the supply of gas from this area has diminished to the point that all gas available to Applicant from this source can be taken through Applicant's 8-inch pipe line to Hutchinson, and that for these reasons the continued operation of the line sought to be abandoned is no longer necessary. Applicant further states that it desires to use the pipe from the proposed to be abandoned line in constructing the proposed new line from the Edmond gas field to Drumright.

The total cost of the project as estimated by Applicant will approximate $1,075,890.

Any interested State Commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission wether it considers the application one which should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of Cities Service Gas Company should, on or before the 31st day of May, 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 15, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on May 6, 1946, an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by Virginia Gas Transmission Corporation ("Applicant"), a Virginia corporation with its principal place of business at Quarrier and Dunbar Streets, Charleston, West Virginia, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize the applicant to construct and operate the facilities hereinafter described.

Applicant proposes to install or have installed on its 20" main transmission line:

(1) A 1,600 H. P. compressor station to be known as Bickers Station, complete with necessary accessory equipment and structures, to be located in the general vicinity of the intersection of the main transmission line with the boundary of Greene and Madison Counties, Virginia.

(2) An additional 800 H. P. gas engine driven compressing unit at its existing Gala Compressor Station, located in Fincastle District, Botetourt County, Virginia.

(3) Applicant also proposes to construct or have constructed, for serving natural gas at wholesale to the Lynchburg Gas Company at or near Lynchburg, Virginia, a 30-mile, 6" solid welded steel lateral line extending from applicant's 20" main line, at a point near Lexington, Virginia, to Lynchburg, Virginia.

The application recites that Applicant is presently engaged in the transportation and sale of natural gas at wholesale, only to Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation and Atlantic Corporation (Atlantic) through its existing transmission facilities which were constructed for the primary purpose of furnishing gas to cities and towns in Virginia and for resale at the Virginia-Maryland State line to Atlantic.

Applicant proposes by means of the construction of the proposed compressor station facilities to augment existing pipeline capacity to enable it to deliver additional quantities of natural gas at higher pressures to Atlantic at the Maryland-Virginia State line for resale to Washington Gas Light Company.

Applicant asserts that these additional facilities are required for increased demands of the present market.

It is further submitted by the Applicant that its present facilities and those covered by this application are necessary to serve Washington Gas Light Company's requirements, and that such additional construction will be sufficient to take care of expected requirements for the winter of 1946–1947, but that additional facilities may be required to meet the estimated requirements of Washington Gas Light Company in the years 1947–1950, inclusive.

The estimated over-all capital cost of constructing the proposed facilities is $900,000.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of Virginia Gas Transmission Corporation should, on or before June 3, 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION.

HEDMAN CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119; It is ordered:

Order No. 68, issued on February 5, 1946, under Supplementary Order No. 119 is amended, revised and redesignated Revised Order No. 68 under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, to read as follows:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Hedman Company of 1158 West Armitage Avenue, Chicago 14, Illinois, may sell and deliver the stenographs which it manufactures at prices computed as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser plus an adjustment charge of not more than 12.5 percent of each such price.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) plus an adjustment charge equal to the percentage of that price determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) The manufacturer's price computed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price, including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This motive may be given in any convenient form.

(e) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to sales covered by this order.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 17th day of May 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

(a) Maximum prices for The Murray Corporation of America of Detroit, Michigan. (1) The above manufacturer may determine his maximum prices for his lines of undersink and lavatory cabinets, filler strip kits and joint covers by increasing by 24.3 percent his prices on these items in effect on October 1, 1941 to each class of purchaser.

(3) The maximum prices set forth above shall be subject to discounts and allowances including transportation al-

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. All resellers of the commodities covered by this order (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their presently established maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted the manufacturer by this order.

This order shall become effective May 17, 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Dexter Company, Fairfield, Iowa, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for deluxe twin rinse tub-sets which it manufactures and which are described in its application for a price adjustment, assigned OPA Docket No. 6069–SO–119–253, by increasing by 8.95 percent the ceiling prices to each class of purchaser in effect before the effective date of this order.

(b) Reseller's ceiling prices. (1) A purchaser for resale, who had an established ceiling price prior to the effective date of this order for any article whose ceiling price is subject to this order, may increase that ceiling price by 8.95 percent.

(2) A purchaser for resale who had no established ceiling price prior to the effective date of this order for any article whose ceiling price is subject to this order, shall determine his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is one which meets all the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the resale ceiling price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (e) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted ceiling prices for resales of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) All requests contained in The Dexter Company's application for price adjustment, assigned OPA Docket No. 6069–SO 119–253, not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall have no application to any sales of any articles subject to this order.

(g) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 17th day of May 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

PARKER MFG. CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133; it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. Parker Manufacturing Company of Woodland, North Carolina, may sell burial caskets which it manufactures at prices no higher than those properly established, prior to the issuance of this order, for sales to each class of purchaser, plus an adjustment charge of 8 percent.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. Resellers of any article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

A reseller who had a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued for an article covered by this order may add to that maximum price an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment charge authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier.

If the reseller did not have a properly established maximum price for the article in effect before this order was issued he shall first determine a maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges), and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) for this purpose the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less an adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling prices, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials, in effect during March, 1942, or which have been properly established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a maximum price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify such purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) for determining adjusted maximum prices for sales of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

On all sales other than to ultimate consumers the adjustment charge granted herein may be made and collected only if stated separately on each invoice.

(e) Resellers' margins. Resellers' maximum prices adjusted in accordance with the provisions of this order are subject to further adjustments which may result from any change in resellers' margins which may be effected by the Office of Price Administration to obtain absorption by resellers of any industry-wide increases in manufacturers' maximum prices.

(f) Reports. The manufacturer shall file the report described in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(g) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to resale prices of articles covered by this order.

(h) Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 17th day of May 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

Calcined gypsum plaster- $4.00 per ton.

(b) Any person purchasing any of the products described in (a) above from the Newark Plaster Company for the purpose of resale in the same form may increase his present maximum prices established under the General Maximum Price Regulation by the dollars-and-cents amount not exceeding his actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the increase permitted the Newark Plaster Company in (a) above. Notwithstanding the provisions of this paragraph, in any area where specific maximum prices are fixed by an area pricing order, such specific maximum prices shall apply in that area.

(c) The Newark Plaster Company shall furnish to each buyer purchasing gypsum lath and liner board and calcined gypsum plaster for resale in the same form on or before the date it makes the first delivery at the adjusted price a written statement as follows:

The amount of the price increase is shown separately on the invoice in per thousand feet or per ton whichever is applicable. [SO 133, Order 43]

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. Hampden Specialty Products, Inc., 130 Pleasant Street, Easthampton, Massachusetts, may increase its maximum prices properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, (exclusive of any adjustment charges) for metal household furniture which it manufactures by 38.1 percent of each such maximum price.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price" the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, and approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) The manufacturer shall file the report described in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, 25, D. C., and shall comply with the invoicing and reporting provisions of Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective May 16, 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

[MPR 29, Order 21]

BY-PRODUCT AND RETORT GAS COKE

AUTHORIZATION OF ADJUSTABLE PRICING

At the request of its By-Product Coke Industry Advisory Committee, the Office of Price Administration has undertaken a study of the operations of by-product coke producers to measure the propriety of the maximum prices established for that commodity by Maximum Price Regulation No. 29. Although progress has been made, it appears that some time will elapse before the survey can be completed. Additional data must be collected and analyzed before the effect of recent wage increases can be accurately measured and coal costs cannot be determined until the current negotiations between representatives of coal miners and mine operators are completed.

Information on hand, however, indicates that many by-product coke producers are suffering hardship at the present time, and that any increase in coal costs which may arise from a new contract between bituminous mine operators and their employees will be retroactive as a result of the authority to enter into adjustable pricing agreements granted the operators by the Office of Price Administration. The Administrator has found that these factors are jeopardizing the production of by-product coke essential to effective transition to a peacetime economy and he deems it necessary to take appropriate measures to counteract them.

Accordingly, this order authorizes producers of by-product coke to enter into adjustable pricing agreements in connection with their sales of that product. Since some producers sell their coke through distributors who resell for direct shipment to buyers, the latter are also included in the order so as to avoid dislocations in customary marketing channels. In the opinion of the Administrator, this action will aid in the production and distribution of essential by-product coke and will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

For the reasons stated, and in accordance with section 3 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 29, It is ordered:

(a) Producers and distributors may sell and deliver, and any person may buy and receive by-product coke at existing maximum prices subject to an agreement to adjust prices in accordance with increases in maximum prices granted by the Office of Price Administrator after delivery. Prior to action by the Office of Price Administration granting such increases, no payment in excess of the maximum prices in effect at time of delivery shall be made or received.

(b) The permission granted by this order may be revoked by the Administrator at any time, but in any event it shall terminate upon action taken pursuant to Maximum Price Regulation No. 29 increasing existing maximum prices for by-product coke.

This order shall become effective this 16th day of May 1946.

FRY PRODUCTS, INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Order No. 4418 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturers' maximum prices. Fry Products, Inc., of 5765 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, may sell and deliver to automobile manufacturers, the articles listed below which it manufactures, at prices no higher than its maximum prices for such sales in effect immediately prior to the issuance of this order, increased by the appropriate one of the following amounts:

	Article	Adjustment charge
A	Body type, sedan and 5 passenger coupe	$2.56
B	Body type, sedan and 5 passenger coupe (no center arm rest)	1.51
B	Body type (sedan and 5 passenger coupe with center arm rest)	1.81

(b) Reseller's maximum prices. (1) Each reseller shall calculate his maximum resale prices for articles covered by this order by adding to his invoice cost, the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established maximum price. For the purposes of this order, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a maximum price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his maximum price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Maximum prices established under that section will reflect the suppliers prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(2) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to sales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials, in effect during March 1942, or which have been properly established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale, showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) Revocation of amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 16th day of May 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

"SPECIAL BRAND" RADIOS BY "MAIL ORDER HOUSES"

APPROVAL OF RETAIL CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599, It is ordered, That Order No. 1 under section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599 be amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (c) is redesignated as paragraph (e), and a new paragraph (c) is added to read as follows:

(c) Ceiling prices calculated in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this order shall apply to radios whose manufacturer's ceiling prices have not been adjusted by Order No. 18 under section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599, and to radios whose manufacturer's ceiling prices have been adjusted by Order No. 18 under section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599, but which had been delivered to the "mail order house" before the effective date of that order.

2. A new paragraph (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) Regardless of the provisions of section 11 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599, each mail order house shall determine the retail ceiling price of each "special brand" radio which had its manufacturer's ceiling price adjusted by Order No. 18 under section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599, and which it receives from the manufacturer on or after the effective date of that order by the method prescribed in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this order; except that instead of using the figures set forth in paragraph (a) (2) of this order, it shall use:

42% of that ceiling price when it is less than $14.05, or 50% of that ceiling price when it is more than $14.04 but less than $38.24.

56% of that ceiling price when it is more than $38.23.

For the purpose of this determination, any reference in this paragraph and paragraph (a) of this order to the manufacturer's ceiling price shall be deemed to refer to the manufacturer's ceiling price as adjusted in accordance with Order No. 18 under section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599.

This amendment shall become effective on the 16th day of May 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

RADIOS

GENERAL ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to section 21 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599, it is ordered:

(a) Scope of this order. This order covers radios for which manufacturers' ceiling prices have been finally determined, prior to the effective date of this order, under sections 5, 6, 7, 8, or 18 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 599. It provides for adjustment of the ceiling prices previously established for sales at all levels of distribution except resales of "special brand" radios sold to mail order houses and automobile manufacturers. This order covers only radios delivered by the manufacturer on or after the effective date of this order. It does not apply to radios in the hands of distributors, dealers or other resellers on the effective date of this order.

For the purposes of this order a manufacturer's ceiling price shall be deemed to have been finally determined prior to the effective date of this order, if that price had been reported to the Office of Price Administration at least 15 days prior to the date this order is issued, and the reported price has not been disapproved prior to the effective date of this order, and there is no other reason specified in section 6 of MPR 599 for treating the reported price as invalid for the purpose of establishing a manufacturer's ceiling price under MPR No. 599. If prior to the effective date of this order, an order has been issued under section 6 of MPR No. 599 establishing a manufacturer's ceiling price, the ceiling price specified in that order shall be deemed to be the manufacturer's ceiling price finally determined, prior to the effective date of this order, under section 6 of MPR No. 599.

(b) Adjustment of manufacturer's ceiling price. A manufacturer of any radio covered by this order may increase his unadjusted ceiling price to each class of purchaser by 8 percent.

(c) Adjustment of dealers' ceiling prices for radios other than "special brand" radios. Every manufacturer who adjusts his ceiling price for any radio, other than a "special brand" radio, of his manufacture under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this order shall recalculate the retail ceiling price for that radio in accordance with the provisions of section 9 of MPR No. 599; except that

(1) Instead of applying the mark-ups set forth in paragraph (a) (2) of that section, he shall apply the applicable of the following mark-ups:

81% of that ceiling price if it is more than $11.88 but less than $33.49

95% of that ceiling price if it is more than $33.48,

and

(2) Instead of applying the mark-ups set forth in paragraph (b) (2) of that section, he shall apply the applicable of the following mark-ups:

49% of that ceiling price if it is less than $14.05

58% of that ceiling price if it is more than $14.04 but less than $38.24

65% of that ceiling price if it is more than $38.23 but less than $162.01

82% of that ceiling price if it is more than $162.00.

For the purposes of this recalculation, reference in section 9 of MPR No. 599 to the manufacturer's ceiling price shall be deemed to refer to the manufacturer's ceiling price as adjusted in accordance with paragraph (b) of this order.

(d) Adjustment of distributors' ceiling prices for radios other than "special brand" radios. (1) Every manufacturer who adjusts his ceiling price for any radio, other than a "special brand" radio, of his manufacture under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this order shall recalculate distributors' ceiling prices to dealers for that radio in accordance with the provisions of section 10 of MPR No. 599; except that instead of following the procedure set forth in paragraph (a) (3) of that section, he shall:

Deduct from the new retail ceiling price exclusive of Federal excise tax the applicable discount of the following:

(i) 31% when that retail ceiling price in zone I is less than $22.51.

(ii) 33⅓% when that retail ceiling price in Zone I is more than $22.50 but less than $68.51.

(iii) 36% when that retail ceiling price in Zone I is more than $68.50.

(2) A distributor's ceiling price for the sale of a radio whose manufacturer's ceiling price was adjusted under this order to a class of dealer other than the one to which he sells in the largest dollar volume, shall reflect the distributor's customary differentials for sales to different classes of purchasers. However, in no case may a distributor's price to a dealer reflect less than the following discounts from the retail ceiling price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) of the radio:

28.5% when that retail ceiling price in Zone I is less than $22.51.

33.5% when that retail ceiling price in Zone I is more than $68.50.

(3) For the purpose of determining a distributor's ceiling price under this order, reference in this paragraph and in section 10 of MPR No. 599 to the retail ceiling price shall be deemed to refer to the retail ceiling price as adjusted in accordance with paragraph (c) of this order.

(e) Every "special brand purchaser" other than a mail order house or an automobile manufacturer who has a ceiling price to a distributor established by an order, issued prior to the effective date of this order, under section 11 of MPR No. 599 for his sales of a "special brand" radio whose manufacturer's ceiling price was adjusted by this order may increase his ceiling price to a distributor by 8 percent.

(f) The retail ceiling prices and the distributors' ceiling prices for any radio whose ceiling price was adjusted in accordance with paragraph (e) of this order shall be recalculated in the manner prescribed in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this order, except that the adjusted ceiling price as determined under paragraph (e) of this order shall be deemed to be the manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price for the purpose of this recalculation.

(g) Relation of this order to MPR No. 599. All the provisions of MPR No. 599 and the orders issued thereunder which are not inconsistent with this order shall apply with full force and effect to radios whose ceiling prices are adjusted by this order.

(h) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 16th day of May 1946.

Issued this 16th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

The redemption of the above securities will result in the retirement of all the presently outstanding bonds, serial notes, and preferred stock of Jersey Central.

(5) Jersey Central will make certain adjustments to reclassify its plant and property accounts in accordance with original cost studies, write off a portion of the excess of book amount over original cost, and set up a reserve against a portion of the balance of such excess. As a result of such adjustments, there will be created an earned surplus deficit which the company proposes to eliminate as of April 30, 1946 against capital surplus; and

Applicants-declarants having requested that the Commission enter an order finding that the proposed capital contribution of $4,200,000 by GPU to NY PA NJ and, in turn, the contribution of the same amount from NY PA NJ to Jersey Central are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act, and the simplification of the GPU holding company system, and that such order conform to the pertinent requirements of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, including sections 371 and 373 (a) thereof, and contain the recitals, specifications, and itemizations therein required; and

A public hearing having been held after appropriate notice at which the security holders of applicants-declarants and other interested persons were afforded opportunity to be heard; and

The Commission having considered the record and having entered its findings and opinion herein, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers to grant the applications, as amended, and permit the declarations, as amended, to become effective, subject to certain conditions:

It is hereby ordered, That, pursuant to the applicable provisions of said act, including sections 6 (a), 6 (b), 7, and 12 thereof, and the Rules and Regulations promulgated thereunder, the aforesaid applications-declarations, as amended, be, and hereby are, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 of the general rules and regulations under the act, and subject to the further condition that the proposed issuance and sale by Jersey Central of the $34,500,000 principal amount of __% bonds and the 125,000 shares of __% $100 par value cumulative preferred stock, aggregate par value $12,500,000, shall not be consummated until the results of the competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order shall have been entered by this Commission in the light of the record so completed, which order may contain further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate, jurisdiction being reserved with respect to the imposition thereof in connection with the proposed transactions; and

It is further ordered, That the ten (10) day period for inviting bids as provided by Rule U-50 be, and the same hereby is, shortened to a period of not less than seven (7) days, so as to permit the opening of bids on May 22, 1946; and

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved over the payment of all legal fees and expenses of all counsel, the charges of the trustee, transfer agent, and registrar, and miscellaneous expenses:

It is further ordered, That the capital contribution by GPU of $4,200,000 representing a portion of the funds derived from the sale of certain shares of the common stock of Florida Power Corporation, as approved by our orders dated October 11, 1945, and October 23, 1945 (File No. 70–1161), as a contribution to the capital of NY PA NJ and, in turn, the donation by NY PA NJ, as a contribution to the capital of Jersey Central, of the same $4,200,000, are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the simplification of the GPU holding company system.

By the Commission.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 9727

POSSESSION, CONTROL, AND OPERATION OF CERTAIN RAILROADS

WHEREAS after investigation I find and proclaim that as a result of labor disturbances there are interruptions, or threatened interruptions, of the operations of the transportation systems, plants, and facilities owned or operated by carriers by railroad named in the list attached hereto and made a part hereof; that the war effort will be unduly impeded and delayed by such interruptions; that it has become necessary to take possession and assume control of the said transportation systems, plants, and facilities for purposes that are needful or desirable in connection with the present wartime emergency; and that the exercise, as hereinafter specified, of the powers vested in me is necessary to insure in the national interest the operation of the said transportation system, plants, and facilities:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States, including section 9 of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 as amended by section 3 of the War Labor Disputes Act (57 Stat. 164), the Act of August 29, 1916 (39 Stat. 619, 645), and the First War Powers Act, 1941 (55 Stat. 838), as President of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, it is hereby ordered as follows:

1. Possession and control of the transportation systems, plants, and facilities owned or operated by the carriers by railroad named in the list attached hereto and made a part hereof are hereby taken and assumed, through the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation (hereinafter referred to as the Director), as of four o'clock P. M., May 17, 1946; but such possession and control shall be limited to real and personal property and other assets used or useful in connection with the operation of the transportation systems of the said carriers. If and when the Director finds it necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of this order, he may, by appropriate order, take possession and assume control of all or any part of any transportation system of any other carrier by railroad located in the continental United States.

2. The Director is directed to operate, or arrange for the operation of, the transportation systems, plants, and facilities taken under or pursuant to this order in such manner as he deems necessary to assure to the fullest possible extent continuous and uninterrupted transportation service.

3. In carrying out the provisions of this order the Director may act through or with the aid of such public or private instrumentalities or persons as he may designate, and may delegate such of his authority as he may deem necessary or desirable, with power of successive redelegation. The Director may issue such general and special orders, rules and regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions, and to accomplish the purposes, of this order. All Federal agencies shall comply with the directives of the Director issued pursuant to this order and shall cooperate to the fullest extent of their authority with the Director in carrying out the provisions of this order.

4. The Director shall permit the management of carriers whose transportation systems, plants, and facilities have been taken under, or which may be taken pursuant to, the provisions of this order to continue their respective managerial functions to the maximum degree possible consistent with the purposes of this order. Except so far as the Director shall from time to time otherwise provide by appropriate order or regulation, the boards of directors, trustees, receivers, officers, and employees of such carriers shall continue the operation of said transportation systems, plants, and facilities, including the collection and disbursement of funds thereof, in the usual and ordinary course of the business of the carriers, in the names of their respective companies, and by means of any agencies, associations, or other instrumentalities now utilized by the carriers.

5. Except so far as the Director shall from time to time otherwise determine and provide by appropriate orders or regulations, existing contracts and agreements to which carriers whose transportation systems, plants, and facilities have been taken under, or which may be taken pursuant to, the provisions of this order are parties, shall remain in full force and effect. Nothing in this order shall have the effect of suspending or releasing any obligation owed to any carrier affected hereby, and all payments shall be made by the persons obligated to the carrier to which they are or may become due. Except as the Director may otherwise direct, there may be made, in due course, payments of dividends on stock, and of principal, interest, sinking funds, and all other distributions upon bonds, debentures, and other obligations; and expenditures may be made for other ordinary corporate purposes.

6. Subject to applicable provisions of existing law, including the orders of the Office of Defense Transportation issued pursuant to Executive Order 8989, as amended, the said transportation systems, plants, and facilities shall be managed and operated under the terms and conditions of employment in effect at the time possession is taken under this order. The Director shall recognize the right of the workers to continue their membership in labor organizations, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing with the representatives of the owners of the carriers, subject to the provisions of applicable statutes and Executive Orders, as to matters pertaining to wages to be paid or conditions to prevail after termination of possession and control under this order; and to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of such collective bargaining or for other mutual aid or protection, provided that in his opinion such concerted activities do not interfere with the operation of the transportation systems, plants, and facilities taken hereunder, or which may be taken pursuant hereto.

7. Except as this order otherwise provides and except as the Director may otherwise direct, the operation of the transportation systems, plants, and facilities taken hereunder, or which may be taken pursuant hereto, shall be in conformity with the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, the Railway Labor Act, as amended, the Safety Appliance Acts, the Employers' Liability Acts, and other applicable Federal and State laws, Executive Orders, local ordinances, and rules and regulations issued pursuant to such laws, Executive Orders, and ordinances.

8. Except with the prior written consent of the Director, no receivership, reorganization, or similar proceeding affecting any carrier whose transportation system, plants, and facilities are taken hereunder, or which may be taken pursuant hereto, shall be instituted, and no attachment by mesne process, garnishment, execution, or otherwise shall be levied on or against any of the real or personal property or other assets of any such carrier, provided that nothing herein shall prevent or require approval by the Director of any action authorized or required by any interlocutory or final decree of any United States court in reorganization proceedings now pending under the Bankruptcy Act or in any equity receivership cases now pending.

9. For the purposes of paragraphs 1 to 8, inclusive, of this order, there are hereby transferred to the Director the functions, powers, and duties vested in the Secretary of War by that part of section 1 of the said Act of August 29, 1916, reading as follows:

"The President, in time of war, is empowered, through the Secretary of War, to take possession and assume control of any system or systems of transportation, or any part thereof, and to utilize the same, to the exclusion as far as may be necessary of all other traffic thereon, for the transfer or transportation of troops, war material and equipment, or for such other purposes connected with the emergency as may be needful or desirable."

10. The Director may request the Secretary of War to furnish protection for persons employed or seeking employment in the plants, facilities, or transportation systems of which possession is taken hereunder, or which may be taken pursuant hereto, to furnish protection for such plants, facilities, and transportation systems, and to furnish equipment, manpower, and other facilities or services deemed necessary by the Director to carry out the provisions, and to accomplish the purposes, of this order. The Secretary of War is authorized and directed, upon such request, to take such action as he deems necessary to furnish such protection, equipment, manpower, or other facilities or services.

11. From and after four o'clock p. m., on the said 17th day of May 1946, all properties taken under this order shall be conclusively deemed to be within the possession and control of the United States without further act or notice.

12. Possession, control, and operation of any plant or facility, or of any transportation system, or any part thereof, or of any real or personal property taken under this order, or which may be taken pursuant hereto, shall be terminated by the Director when he determines that such possession, control, and operation are no longer necessary to carry out the provisions, and to accomplish the purposes, of this order.

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders)

PART 913—MILK IN THE GREATER KANSAS CITY MARKETING AREA

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

§ 913.1 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR, Cum. Supp. 900.1 et seq., 10 F.R. 11791), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Kansas City marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of commercial activity specified in the said tentatively approved marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held; and

(3) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (e) of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest.

The foregoing findings are supplementary and in addition to the findings made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and the findings made in connection with the issuance of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein.

(b) Determination. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by this amended order) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Greater Kansas City marketing area, refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Kansas City marketing area; and it is further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order further amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Greater Kansas City marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order further amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the Greater Kansas City marketing area.

§ 913.2 Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that, from and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Greater Kansas City marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 913.3 (a) (7) and renumber (8), (9), and (10), respectively, as (7), (8), and (9).

2. Delete § 913.5 (a) (2) and renumber (3), (4), (5), (6), (7), and (8), respectively, as (2), (3), (4), (5), (6), and (7).

3. Delete § 913.10 and renumber §§ 913.11, 913.12, 913.13, 913.14, and 913.15, respectively, as §§ 913.10, 913.11, 913.12, 913.13, and 913.14.

4. Delete in § 913.4 (c) (2) "913.13" and substitute therefor the following: "913.12."

5. Delete in § 913.4 (c) (4) "913.11" and subsitute therefor the following: "913.10."

6. Delete in § 913.5 (d) (3) "913.11" and substitute therefor the following: "913.10."

7. Delete in § 913.7 (a) "913.11" and substitute therefor the following: "913.10."

8. Delete in § 913.8 (a) "913.12, and 913.13" and substitute therefor the following: "and 913.12."

9. Delete in § 913.9 (a) (5) "913.11" and substitute therefor the following: "913.10."

10. Amend § 913.9 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Computation and announcement of the uniform price. The market administrator shall compute and announce the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received during each delivery period in the following manner:

(1) Combine into one total the net pool obligations computed pursuant to (a) of this section of all handlers who made the reports prescribed by § 913.5 and who made the payments prescribed by § 913.10 for the previous delivery period;

(2) Add the amount of the location differentials applicable pursuant to § 913.10 (d);

(3) For each of the delivery periods of May, June, and July, subtract an amount, equal to 20 cents per hundredweight of the total amount of milk received by handlers from producers and included in these computations, to be retained in the producer-settlement fund for the purpose specified in § 913.10 (h) (2);

(4) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(5) Divide by a figure equal to the total hundredweight of milk received by handlers from producers and included in these computations;

(6) Subtract from the figures computed pursuant to (5) of this paragraph not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents for the purpose of retaining in the producer-settlement fund a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and payments or delinquencies in payments by handlers. This result shall be known as the uniform price for such delivery period for the milk of producers containing 3.8 percent butterfat; and

(7) On or before the 10th day after the end of such delivery period, mail to all handlers (i) such of these computations as do not disclose information confidential pursuant to the act; (ii) the uniform price per hundredweight computed pursuant to (6) of this paragraph; (iii) the prices for Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk; and the butterfat differentials computed pursuant to § 913.7 (c) and § 913.10 (c).

11. Amend § 913.10 (a) to read as follows:

(a) Time and method of payment. On or before the 12th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler, after deducting the amount of the payment made pursuant to (b) of this section, and subject to the differentials set forth in (c) and (d), respectively, of this section, shall make payment to producers at the uniform price per hundredweight computed pursuant to § 913.9 (b) for the total quantity of milk received from such producers.

12. Amend § 913.10 (d) to read as follows:

(d) Location differentials. For milk received from producers at plants approved by any applicable health authority for the receiving of milk to be sold or disposed of as milk or cream in the marketing area and located outside the marketing area but more than 30 miles by the shortest highway route from such handler's plant approved by an applicable health authority for the receiving of milk to be sold or disposed of as milk or cream in the marketing area and located within the marketing area, each handler, in making payments pursuant to (a) of this section shall deduct, with respect to all milk received from such producers, the amount per hundredweight specified for the distance of such plant located outside the marketing area from such handler's plant located within the marketing area, as follows: not more than 45 miles, 17 cents per hundredweight; for each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof, up to 75 miles, an additional 1½ cents per hundredweight; and for each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof beyond 75 miles, an additional ½ cent per hundredweight.

13. Amend the last sentence in § 913.10 (f) to read as follows:

Immediately after computing the uniform price for each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the amount by which each handler's net pool obligation is greater or less than the sum required to be paid producers pursuant to this section by such handler, and shall enter such amount on such handler's account as such handler's pool debit or credit, as the case may be, and render such handler a transcript of his account.

14. Amend § 913.10 (h) by inserting the figure "(1)" after the heading of such paragraph, and adding as subparagraph (2) the following:

(2) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the delivery periods of October, November, and December, the market administrator shall pay out of the producer-settlement fund to each producer an amount computed as follows: divide one-third of the total amount held pursuant to § 913.9 (b) (3) by the hundredweight of milk delivered by producers during the delivery period involved (October, November, or December, as above) and apply the resulting amount per hundredweight to the milk of each producer for such delivery period: Provided, That payments under this subparagraph due any producer who has given authority to a cooperative association which is qualified pursuant to § 913.11 (b), to receive payment for his milk shall be distributed to such cooperative association if the cooperative association requests receipt of such payment.

15. Delete in § 913.11 (a) "913.11 (a) (1) and (a) (2)" and substitute therefor the following: "913.10 (a)."

16. Delete in § 913.11 (b) "913.11 (a) (1) and (a) (2)" and substitute therefor the following: "913.10 (a)."

ARTICLE I—COVERAGE

SECTION 1. What this regulation covers—(a) Purpose of regulation. This regulation fixes ceiling prices for sales by retailers of certain commodities. The pricing chart method is used. Retailers are required to file with OPA, a "base date pricing chart" and to fix their ceiling prices by using this chart. You will find sample charts in Appendix A.

(b) What commodities are covered. This regulation applies only to sales of the articles which are described in Appendix C. You will note from Appendix C that these articles include nearly all apparel, certain apparel accessories, certain household textile items, household furniture, bedding, floor coverings, and lamps. These articles are grouped into "categories" and each category is given a category number. For example, men's and boys' underwear and nightwear constitute category 116.

Appendix B describes some articles which are not covered by this regulation and lists the regulations which continue to apply to them.

(c) What sellers are covered. This regulation applies to any seller who sells to individual ultimate consumers more than 10 percent of the merchandise covered by this regulation which he buys and sells in substantially the same form. Articles which are bought in substantially the same form are defined in section 24 (b). (However, any seller whose annual net dollar volume of total sales to individual ultimate consumers of all the articles covered by this regulation amounts to less than $2500, or any seller, all of whose sales to individual ultimate consumers are "accommodation sales" as defined in section 6.3 (b) of Second Revised Supplementary Regulation 14[3] may elect to continue to fix his ceiling prices under the regulation which applied before issuance of this regulation. The seller may not subsequently alter this election.)

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this paragraph (c) any seller at retail of an article for which a ceiling price has been established under section 13 of this regulation or for which a pricing method has been established under a general retail order issued under this regulation, shall, with respect to the sale of that article, be subject to that section or that order as the case may be.

The word "seller" refers to each separate seller covered by this regulation. If a seller makes sales at retail through more than one selling unit or department, each selling unit or department is considered to be a separate seller, subject to all the provisions of this regulation.

A person who sells through salesmen making sales at uniform prices, is a single separate seller. All of the selling outlets of a chain which are included in one group, zone, class or area under a uniform pricing order, or which, in the absence of a uniform pricing order, constitute a group to which until March 6, 1946 the chain regularly sent invoices or statements showing the same selling prices (and not showing costs) for articles, are subject to the provisions of this regulation as a single separate seller with respect to the sale of all articles covered by this regulation which the chain buys and sells (through those outlets) in substantially the same form.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45; Am. 3, 10 F.R. 4494, effective 4-23-45; Am. 5, 10 F.R. 9962, effective 8-15-45; Am. 6, 10 F.R. 12602, effective 10-4-45 and Am. 9, 11 F.R. 1739, effective 3-6-46]

(d) What sales are covered. This regulation applies to all of your sales to ultimate consumers of all kinds (including individual, commercial, and industrial users) of articles which you buy and sell in substantially the same form.[4] It does not apply to sales to persons other than ultimate consumers (such as other retailers and wholesalers), unless those sales amount to less than 10 percent of your total sales of articles covered by this regulation. If those sales amount to less than 10 percent, your maximum prices for those sales are fixed by section 9, "Maximum prices for 'cross stream' and 'upstream' sales."

(e) Meaning of terms. (1) The word "store" means a separate seller as described in paragraph (c), or the separate establishment, or a department in the establishment, at or from which you make sales to ultimate consumers. A mail order establishment is also called a "store."

(2) The term "mail order establishment" means a person who regularly makes deliveries by mail to individual ultimate consumers in response to orders

"Accommodation sale" means a sale made entirely without profit, solely for the benefit or convenience of the purchaser—for example, a sale by an employer to his employees, or by a school to its students—and not for the purpose of promoting trade. It does not include sales by cooperative, nonprofit or other organizations which make sales initially above cost, but later give refunds, bonuses, dividends, or other allowances to purchasers.

[4] It does not apply to your sales, however, if they are considered "manufacturers' sales" under MPR 572 (Manufacturers' prices for certain fall and winter outerwear) because you are under the same ownership and control as the manufacturer of the articles.

received by mail on the basis of catalogs, booklets, circulars, flyers, or other forms of printed price lists.

ARTICLE II—BASE DATE PRICING CHARTS

SEC. 2. Filing of charts. On or before April 20, 1945, you must file two copies of the "base date pricing chart" (described below) with your OPA District Office.[4] The "base date" is March 19, 1945. However, if you were not open for business on that date, then your "base date" is the most recent day in 1945 before that day, on which you were open for business and offered for sale any article covered by this regulation.

The chart must be signed by one of your officers or owners. However, a chart for an outlet which is itself a separate seller under this regulation or a department in a departmentalized establishment, may be signed by the store manager or department head.

SEC. 3. Contents of charts; general information. Put at the top of your chart the following general information:

(a) Your business name and address.

(b) Your base date if you use any date other than the "base date" which appears in section 2.

(c) The type of your store: First, whether it is a mail order establishment, a chain outlet, or an independent retail store, and second, whether it is a men's and boys' clothing and furnishing store, millinery store, shoe store, department in a department store, general merchandise store, limited price variety store, dry goods store, furniture store, or other type of store. (A department in a departmentalized establishment must also state its department number or name.)

(d) Approximate net dollar volume of your total retail sales of all commodities in the calendar or fiscal year 1944.[5]

SEC. 4. Contents of charts; costs, prices, and related information. This section tells what the chart must contain about the costs and offering prices of each "category" of articles which you offered for sale on your base date. List this information in five columns below the general information you have already listed according to the directions above.

List an article as "offered for sale on your base date" if it was in your store, unpacked and available for sale on your base date.

If you are a mail order establishment, list an article as "offered for sale on your base date" if it was listed in one of your catalogs, booklets, circulars, flyers, or other printed price lists in effect on the base date.

In this section the words "you offered" are used as a simple way of saying "you offered for sale on your base date."

Before you begin to prepare the chart for your store, study the sample charts shown in Appendix A, so that you will know how to arrange your own chart. (OPA will not supply forms.)

(a) Column 1; list of "categories" offered for sale. In the first column from the left, list by the number given for that category in Appendix C, each category which you offered. If you are including in any "general" category any articles not specifically listed for that category in Appendix C, list such articles in parentheses in column 1 below the category number.

(b) Column 2; list of net costs. In the second column from the left, list opposite each category shown in column 1, the last "net cost" at which you bought each different article, style, model, or lot number in that category which you offered.

Follow these directions for listing net costs:

(1) Find your "net cost" by deducting all discounts (including cash discounts) from your invoice cost on the last invoice you got[7] before your base date for a particular article, style, model, or lot number which you offered. Deduct discounts you could have taken, whether you took them or not.

No freight or other similar charge may be added.

Do not include as part of your net cost any "OPA adjustment charge" which is stated on or attached to your invoice for any article. If more than one adjustment charge is shown for the same article, do not list the cost of that article at all.

(2) List your net costs in order from the lowest cost to the highest.

(3) List each different net cost separately, even though you bought other articles, styles, models, or lot numbers in the category for the same gross invoice cost. Thus, if you bought three different articles, styles, models, or lot numbers in a category at $3.50, 8/10 EOM, $3.50, 3/10 EOM, and $3.50 net, list each of these net costs separately as $3.22, $3.40, and $3.50, respectively.

(4) List each different net cost only once in the category even though you offered more than one article, style, model, or lot number of that net cost in that category.

(5) If you offered a particular style, model, or lot number which you bought at more than one net cost, list only the net cost shown on the last invoice you got before your base date for that style, model, or lot number.

(6) If you buy at "per dozen" prices divide the net cost per dozen by 12 and list the result as your net cost per unit. (Similarly, if you buy at a price per gross or per hundred, divide your net cost per gross or per hundred by 144 or 100 to find your net unit cost.)

[Subparagraph (6) amended and (7) added by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45]

(7) You may round your cost to the nearest cent. Thus, you may list $1.735 as $1.74, and $1.734 as $1.73.[8]

(c) Column 3; list of offering prices. In the third column from the left, list opposite each net cost shown in column 2, each different price at which you offered to your largest class of purchaser[9] an article of that category having that net cost.

(1) Directions for listing offering prices. (i) To avoid the distortion caused by markdowns you may list as your offering price for an article either the price at which you actually offered it on the base date, or the price at which you offered that article when you first offered it for sale. However, if you cannot determine the price at which you offered the article when you first offered it for sale, you may ignore that article in preparing your chart. If you list your first offering price rather than your base date offering price, place the letter "M" after the price you list in Column 3.

[Former subparagraphs (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) redesignated (ii), (iii), (iv) and (v), new (i) added by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 3468, effective 4-4-45]

(ii) Do not list offering prices which are higher than your ceilings for the articles on the base date. If your offering price was higher than your ceiling, list your ceiling price.

(iii) Do not list any offering price for an article if the invoice you got for that article shows more than one "OPA adjustment charge" for the article.

(iv) If your offering price includes a tax on a particular sale or delivery (such as a sales tax or a compensating use tax) which the tax law permits you to state separately from the price, you must deduct the full amount of such tax from your offering price before you list it. You need not deduct from your offering price any tax which you stated separately from and in addition to your offering price.

(v) You will find that in some cases you have listed more than one offering price opposite a single net cost in a particular category. You must draw a circle around one of these prices, and subparagraph (3) tells you which offering price to circle. To select your "circled" price you first have to figure your "average percentage markup" for the category. Subparagraph (2) explains how to do this.

Step 1. Add together all the net costs listed for that category in column 2. To find the correct average, you must, of course, add together an equal number of costs and offering prices. Therefore, just for purposes of this step (you will, of course, be using a separate work sheet), you must add in each net cost as many times as you have listed different offering prices opposite it;

Step 2. Add together all the offering prices listed in column 3 for that category;

Step 3. Subcontract the total of the net costs found in step 1 from the total of the offering prices found in step 2;

Step 4. Divide the remainder found in step 3 by the total of the net costs found in step 1. The result is your average percentage markup on cost.[10] When you have found your average percentage markup for a category, enter it in column 1 for that category.

Example 1: The average percentage markup for shirts (category 117) in the sample chart shown in Appendix A (a) is found as follows:

Total the net unit costs	Total the offering prices
$1.21	$1.98
1.38	2.25
(1.38)	2.50
1.82	2.98
1.94	3.50
3.64	5.95
(3.64)	6.95
5.34	7.95
(5.34)	8.95
$26.94	$44.99

Subtract the total of the net costs from the total of the offering prices ($44.99—$26.94=$18.05). Divide the remainder, $18.05, by the total of the costs, $26.94 ($18.05÷$26.94=67%). The result, 67%, is the average percentage markup on cost for category 117. Enter 67% in column 1.

(3) How to select your "circled" price. In any category where you have listed more than one offering price opposite a single net cost, take as your "circled" price the offering price closest to the price you get by applying to the net cost the average percentage markup for the category. If the price you get is midway between two offering prices, take the lower of the two. Draw a circle around the price you select.

Example 2: You have listed offering prices of $2.88, $3.00, and $3.25 for a net cost of $2.00 in category 202, and your average percentage markup for category 202 is 52%. To apply this markup, multiply $2.00 by 52% ($2.00×0.52=$1.04) and add $2.00 to the result ($2.00+$1.04=$3.04), finding a price of $3.04. When you look at the three offering prices which you have listed for a $2.00 net cost, you find that $3.04 is closest to the $3.00 offering price. Therefore, $3.00 is your circled price.

If your average percentage markup had been 47% you would have found a price of $2.94 ($2.00×0.47=$0.94; $2.00+$0.94=$2.94). Since $2.94 is midway between your listed offering prices of $2.88 and $3.00, you would have selected the lower of the two, and $2.88 would have been your circled price.

(d) Column 4; percentage markups—(1) What markups must be listed. In the fourth column from the left, list the percentage markup for each different net cost listed in column 2. Where more than one offering price is listed opposite the same net cost in a category and you therefore have a circled price, you must list the percentage markup for that circled price only.

(2) How to figure a percentage markup. To figure your percentage markup, subtract the net cost listed in column 2 from the offering price listed opposite it in column 3, and divide the difference by the net cost. Round the result to one decimal place. That is, list 53.72% as 53.7%, and list 53.75% as 53.8%.

Example 3: If you have listed a net cost of $3.22 and an offering price of $4.95, you subtract $3.22 from $4.95 ($4.95—$3.22=$1.73) and divide the difference, $1.73, by the net cost, $3.22 ($1.73÷$3.22=0.5373). Your percentage markup over cost for your $3.22 net cost is, therefore, 53.7%. Enter 53.7% in column 4 opposite the $3.22 net cost.

(e) Column 5; list of invoices—(1) What invoices must be listed. In the fifth column from the left, list at least one invoice for every offering price shown in column 3. The invoices you list must cover your purchase at the corresponding net cost listed in column 2 for an article of that category which you offered at that price.

(2) How to list an invoice. List your invoices in column 5 by stating your supplier's name and the date and number of the invoice. In parenthesis, following the listing of the invoice, you must identify the article whose purchase at the cost shown in column 2 is covered by the invoice.

(3) Inspection of invoices. On request, you must supply to the OPA or its agent for examination any invoice which you have listed in column 5.

SEC. 5. Failure to file charts. On and after May 4, 1945, you may not offer, sell or deliver any article covered by this regulation unless you have filed the chart described above. On and after May 10, 1945, you may not offer, sell or deliver any article covered by this regulation until you have received from the Office of Price Administration an acknowledgment of the filing of your chart.

[Sec. 5 amended by Am. 3, 10 F.R. 4494, effective 4-23-45]

SEC. 6. Amendment of charts. (a) Amendment by seller. If you find that you have filed an incorrect chart you must file an amendment to your chart with the OPA District Office where you filed your original chart, and you must attach to the amendment a statement explaining why the amendment is necessary. This amendment must show all changes which are necessary in your chart as a result of the corrections you make.

[Above paragraph designated (a), paragraph heading and paragraph (b) added by Am. 8, 10 F.R. 15351, effective 12-21-45]

For example: If you wish to amend an inaccurate offering price list on your original chart, you must also refigure your average percentage markup for that category, and reexamine your circled prices in that category to see if the new average percentage markup requires a change in any of them. If it does, the amendment to your chart must show the corrected circle prices as well as the refigured average percentage markup.

You may not use the amendment to your chart in fixing maximum prices until you have received acknowledgment from your OPA District Office of receipt of the amendment. Your OPA District Office may, at any time, require you to submit to it your evidence that the information in the amendment is correct. In such cases, your OPA District Office may require you to use your original chart until it has examined this evidence and approved the amendment.

(b) Amendment by OPA. Your OPA District Office may issue an order amending your chart in order to bring your markups into line with markups established under this regulation, if you do not have sufficient records to substantiate the information appearing on your chart and if any percentage markup appearing on your chart is out of line with the level of markups established under this regulation.

ARTICLE III—MAXIMUM PRICES FROM BASE DATE PRICING CHARTS

SEC. 7. How to fix maximum prices. To fix your maximum price for any sale of an article covered by this regulation to an ultimate consumer, refer to your chart and use the first of the following pricing rules which applies to the article you are pricing. (Note that sales covered by this regulation to persons other than ultimate consumers must be priced under section 9.)

In applying these rules, you must figure your maximum price for each article to the class of purchaser you used in preparing your chart, and apply your customary differentials to that price to find your maximum price to all other classes of purchasers. You may not change the terms, allowances, discounts, or differentials which you customarily gave to various classes of purchasers, if the change would result in a higher net price.

If your invoice states a definite amount in dollars-and-cents which the OPA permits you to add to your price, you may add such amount to the maximum price fixed under this section.

Pricing Rules 2, 3, and 4 require you to figure your maximum price by applying a percentage markup to your net cost. To do this, you multiply your net cost by the markup (the rules tell what markup to use) and add your net cost to the result. The total is your maximum price.

"Net cost," in this section and section 9, means net unit cost of an article after deducting all discounts you could have taken, or your supplier's maximum

[4] "Your OPA District Office" is the district office having jurisdiction over the area in which your store is located. However, if you are a chain, subject to a uniform pricing order "your OPA District Office" for those outlets included in one group, class, zone or area under uniform pricing order is the OPA office which issued it. If you are either a mail order establishment (as defined above) or a chain which, pursuant to section 1 (c) files a single chart for a group of stores not subject to a uniform pricing order, "your OPA District Office" is the Central Pricing Office of the OPA, Washington 25, D. C.

[Footnote 5 amended by Am. 2]

[5] A department in a departmentalized establishment need not supply this information if the establishment files a statement showing its approximate total net dollar volume of retail sales of all commodities in all departments. This statement will take the place of information from each separate department.

[7] If you are an outlet of a chain not included in a group of outlets for which your central office is permitted to use the same pricing chart in accordance with section 1 (c), you may use the invoice furnished by your central office.

[Footnote 7 amended by Am. 2]

[8] You may, if you wish, list your gross invoice cost per dozen, per gross, or per hundred, and your purchase discounts, in parenthesis, following the net unit cost. Thus, you might list "$1.29 ($16.00, 3/10 EOM per dozen)."

[9] If you have more than one class of purchaser, use a footnote to show the class of purchaser used in preparing your chart.

[10] You may, if you wish, figure your percentage markups as "markups on selling price" instead of on your net cost, but you must use the same method in figuring all percentage markups and average percentage markups. If you have chosen to list markups on selling price, you must state this on your chart, and must use markups on offering (or selling) price wherever this regulation, in this section or in section 7, refers to a markup over net cost.

price" for the article, whichever is lower. (You may round your cost to the nearest cent.) Freight or other similar charges may not be added. Do not include as part of your net cost any "OPA adjustment charge" which is shown on or attached to your invoice. If your invoice states a definite amount in dollars-and-cents which the OPA requires you to use as your cost for the article, you must consider that amount as your net cost under this section and section 9.

NOTE: This regulation refers throughout to categories, prices, and markups listed on the seller's base date pricing chart. "Base date pricing chart" or "chart" refers only to a chart correctly prepared according to the directions in sections 3 and 4. If your chart is improper or inaccurate, your maximum prices under section 7 shall be prices figured on the basis of a correct chart.

(a) Rule 1: Articles of a category and with a net cost listed on your chart. If the article you are pricing is in a category listed in column 1 or your chart, and if it has a net cost listed in column 2, its maximum price is the offering price you listed in column 3 for that net cost and category. If you have a circled price for that net cost and category, the circled price is the maximum price for the article.

EXAMPLE 4: You wish to price a pair of men's pajamas which cost you $1.29 net. On your chart you have listed offering prices of $2.00 and $2.24 for a $1.29 net cost in category 116. You have circled $2.00. Therefore, your maximum price for these pajamas is $2.00 per pair.

If you had listed only one price—$2.24, for a $1.29 net cost, your maximum price would, of course, be $2.24.

b) Rule 2: Articles of a category listed on your chart, but having a net cost higher than any net cost listed for that category. If the article you are pricing has a net cost higher than any net cost listed for that category in column 2 of your chart, you figure your maximum price by applying the average percentage markup listed for that category in column 1 to the net cost of the article.

Example 5: You wish to price a woman's slip costing $3.25 net. The highest net cost which you have listed for category 211 is $2.76. Your average percentage markup for category 211 is 57%. You therefore figure your maximum price by multiplying your net cost by 57% ($3.25×0.57=$1.853) and adding your net cost to the result ($3.25+$1.853=$5.103). Your maximum price for this slip is therefore $5.10.

(c) Rule 3: Articles of a category listed on your chart, but having a net cost lower than the lowest cost listed for that category. If the article you are pricing has a net cost lower than the lowest net cost listed for that category in column 2 of your chart, you figure your maximum price by applying to the net cost of the article the percentage markup listed in column 4 for the lowest net cost shown for that category.

Example 6: You wish to price a girl's sweater costing $1.94 net. The lowest net cost which you have listed for category 208 is $2.07, for which you have listed a percentage markup of 55.6%. Therefore your maximum price is $3.02. ($1.94×0.556=$1.079; $1.94+$1.079=$3.019.)

(d) Rule 4: Articles of a category listed on your chart, but having a net cost between two net costs listed for that category. If the article you are pricing has a net cost between two net costs listed for that category in column 3 of your chart, you figure your maximum price by applying to the net cost of the article the percentage markup listed in column 4 for the lower of these two net costs.

Example 7: You wish to price a man's shirt costing $1.47 net. You have not listed any net cost of $1.47 for category 117, but you have listed net costs of $1.50 and $1.46. Your $1.46 net cost has a percentage markup of 54%. Therefore, your maximum price is $2.26 per shirt ($1.47×0.54=$0.79; $1.47+$0.794=$2.264).

(e) Rule 5: Articles in a category comparable to a category listed on your chart. If the article you are pricing does not belong to a category which is listed in column 1 of your chart, look in Appendix D where you will find for each category a list of other categories which are "comparable" to that category. See whether you have listed in column 1 of your chart the first of the comparable categories shown in Appendix D for the category to which the article you are pricing belongs. If you have not listed the first comparable category, see whether you have listed the second comparable category in column 1, then the third, and so forth, until you find a category which is listed on your chart. Then figure your maximum price by using Rule 1, 2, 3, or 4 as if the article you are pricing belonged in that category.

Example 8: You have not listed category 701 on your chart, but now purchase a bedroom suite at a net cost of $85.00. You look in Appendix D, and find that categories 706, 707, 711, and 721 are listed as comparable to category 701. Then you look in column 1 of your chart to see whether you have listed any of these categories. You have not listed category 706 on your chart, but you have listed category 707. Rule 5 requires you to figure your maximum price for this bedroom suite as if it belonged to category 707. You find that you have listed a net cost of $85.00 in column 2 for category 707, and an offering price of $150.00 in column 3 for that net cost. You therefore apply Rule 1, and your ceiling price for the bedroom suite is $150.00.

(f) Rule 6: Articles of a category which cannot be priced under any of the foregoing rules. If the article you are pricing cannot be priced under any of the foregoing rules in this section and you have filed a base date pricing chart, you figure your maximum price under this rule. If you cannot price under this rule you determine your price under section 10.

(1) Articles which belong to Categories 101–607 inclusive. (i) If the article you are pricing is included in any category from 101–607 except categories 204, 214 or 353 and you have at least three categories of this group[12] on your chart, you list as many of these categories as you have on your chart, setting forth opposite each, your average percentage markup[13] for each category.

(ii) Compute the "group average" for these categories. You do this by adding together all the average markups for the categories you have listed and dividing this sum by the number of categories which you have listed.

(iii) You next turn to the table in Appendix E. The top row of the chart is divided into a series of percentage brackets. In the first column to the left find the category number which includes the article you are pricing. Follow this category number across and find the markup which appears in the column under the percentage bracket which includes the "group average" which you computed under subdivision (ii). This is your percentage of markup over cost for the new category. If, however, in pricing a nonfurniture category your group average is over 101 or if, in pricing a furniture category your group average is over 127, you find your percentage markup over cost by multiplying your group average by the multiplier listed for that category in Appendix G.

Example: If you are a house to house seller and have a "group average" of 150 for your categories in the group 101 to 607, inclusive, and you now wish to sell handbag. (category 218) which you find you must price under this rule, you determine your markup over net cost as follows: refer to the multiplier opposite category 218 in Appendix G. There you will find the figure 1.045. This means that your markup on cost for handbags is 156.8 (150×1.045=156.75).

[Subparagraph (iii) Amended by Am. 10, 11 F.R. 2987, effective 3-19-46]

(iv) Multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup. Add the result to the net cost of the article. This final result is your maximum price for the article you are pricing.

Example 9: You wish to price a set of boys' ear muffs on which your net cost is 50 cents. Ear muffs belong to Category 123 on the MPR 580 chart. You find, on examining your chart, that neither this category, nor any one of the "comparable" categories 103, 107, 112, or 218 is listed on your chart.

Since category 123 belongs to the group of categories numbered from 101–607 inclusive, you look on your chart to find whether you have listed at least three categories in this group. If you do not have at least three such categories listed on your chart, (excluding categories 204, 214, and 353) you cannot use this pricing rule and the ear muffs must be priced under section 10.

Let us assume that actually you have listed on your chart articles belonging to eight categories of this group of numbers. These categories have percentage markups over cost as follows:

Category:	Average percentage markup
102	63
105	63
110	63
116	65
215	62
217	68

You next compute your "group average" for all these categories by adding the average markups for these categories and dividing the result by the number of categories which you have listed above (509÷8). Your "group average" is 63.625%.

You next turn to the table in Appendix E. In the first column to the left you will find a series of category numbers. Follow this column downward until you reach category 123. Follow this row across the table until you come to the percentage bracket appearing in the top row of the table which includes your "group average"— in this case the bracket designated "over 62 including 65." At this point you will find that the allowable percentage markup for category 123 is 65.7%. This is your percentage markup for this category and for the article you are pricing.

You next multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup ($.50×65.7=$.3285). Add this figure to your net cost of the article you are pricing ($.50+$.3285). The result ($.8285 or $.83) is your ceiling price for the article you are pricing.

(2) Articles which belong to categories 701–752 inclusive. If the article you are pricing is included in one of the categories from 701–752 inclusive, and you have at least three categories of this group on your chart, you list as many of these categories as you have on your chart, setting forth opposite each, your average percentage markup for each category and figure your ceiling price by using the same method as set forth in subparagraph (1) (ii), (iii) and (iv).

(3) Articles which belong to categories 801–854 inclusive. If the article you are pricing is included in one of the categories from 801–854 inclusive, and you have at least three categories of this group on your chart, you list as many of these categories as you have on your chart, setting forth opposite each, your average percentage markup for each category and figure your ceiling price by using the same method as set forth in subparagraph (1) (ii), (iii) and (iv).

(4) Articles which belong to categories which cannot be priced under this pricing rule. If the article you are pricing is included in categories 204, 214, 353 or in any other category which cannot be priced under this pricing rule, you price such article under Section 10.

[Paragraph (f) added by Am. 9, 11 F.R. 1739, effective 3-6-46]

SEC. 8. When you must begin to use the pricing rules in section 7. (a) All sellers other than mail-order establishments. Except as provided in paragraph (b) below, you must begin to use pricing rules 1 to 5 inclusive of section 7, where applicable, on April 20, 1945, and rule 6 of that section, if applicable on March 6, 1946, and after whichever of these dates applies to you, you may not offer, sell or deliver any article covered by this regulation at a price higher than the maximum prices fixed under section 7 of this regulation.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45, and Am. 9, 11 F.R. 1739, effective 3-6-46]

(b) Special provision for mail order establishments. If you are a mail order establishment as defined in section 1 (c) (2), the pricing rules in section 7 do not apply to any deliveries you make by mail in response to mail orders based upon any of your catalogs, booklets, circulars, flyers, or other forms of printed lists which were printed before the base date. Your maximum prices for deliveries by mail in response to mail orders based on such printed price lists, must be fixed under the regulation covering retail sales of each article on the base date. All provisions of this regulation except the pricing rules in section 7 do apply.

ARTICLE IV—MAXIMUM PRICES IN SPECIAL CASES

SEC. 9. "Up stream" and "cross stream" sales and sales of "cross stream" articles to ultimate consumers—(a) Maximum prices for "up stream" sales. Your maximum price for a sale of any article covered by this regulation to any person other than an individual ultimate consumer, another retailer, or an industrial, commercial, or institutional user, is the net cost of that article to you.

(b) Maximum prices for "cross stream" sales. (1) Your maximum price for a sale to another retailer of any article covered by this regulation shall be the sum of the following items:

(i) Your invoice cost less all discounts including cash discounts.

(ii) Any OPA adjustment charge appearing on your supplier's invoice.

(iii) Your incoming freight cost which you have separately paid.

(iv) The handling charge, if any, which you customarily made when selling articles covered by this regulation to another retailer immediately prior to March 1945. However, this charge may be added only if your records show your customary March 1942 handling charge or your method of establishing your handling charge in accordance with OPA regulations in effect before March 19, 1945, for such sales. In no event, however, may your handling charge exceed 10% of the costs listed in (i), (ii) and (iii), above.

You must give to the retailer an invoice which must state separately each item making up your costs as itemized in this subparagraph (1).

(2) If you customarily made sales of commodities covered by this regulation to other retailers immediately prior to March 1945 on which you figured your price by granting a specific discount from your retail price, you may continue to make such sales (excepting sales of articles purchased by you from other retailers), but only if your records show your customary March 1942 discount or your method of establishing a discount for such sales in accordance with OPA regulations in effect before March 19, 1945.

On such sales you must furnish the buyer with an invoice which, in addition to showing your retail price as established by this regulation and the discount you granted, must contain the following notice:

NOTICE OF CEILING PRICE

Under section 9 of Maximum Price Regulation 580 you may not sell the above articles to consumers at prices higher than our retail ceiling price shown on this invoice.

(c) Maximum prices for sales to ultimate consumers of articles purchased from other retailers. (1) If you purchase articles covered by this regulation from another retailer and pay the seller his costs permitted to him under paragraph (b) (1), you must determine your maximum price for sales of these articles to ultimate consumers in accordance with section 7, taking your net cost from your supplier's invoice and excluding all freight, adjustment and handling charges.

(2) If you purchase articles covered by this regulation and pay the seller his retail price less a specified discount, you must use as your maximum price for sales of those articles to ultimate consumers the seller's retail price as stated on his invoice to you.

[Sec. 9 amended by Am. 5 10 F.R. 9962, effective 8-15-45]

SEC. 10. Maximum prices for sellers who cannot price under other sections of the regulation. (a) If you cannot fix your ceiling price for an article under section 7, 9, 12, 13 or General Retail Order No. 3, you figure your ceiling price for that article under this section. However, you may not sell or deliver an article which you are required to price under this section until you have first filed with your OPA District Office whichever of the reports, set forth below, is applicable to you.

(1) Retailers who have never priced under section 10 prior to March 6, 1946. (i) On and after March 6, 1946 if you have never priced an article under this section you figure your ceiling price for all articles which must be priced under this section as follows: Turn to the table in Appendix F. On the left side is listed a column of category numbers; opposite each category number is a percentage markup. Find the percentage markup for the category to which the article you are pricing belongs. Multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup. Add the result, so obtained, to the net cost of the article. The result is your ceiling price for the article you are pricing.

(ii) Reports. You may not sell or deliver any article which you are required

[11] If you are an outlet of a chain not included in a group of outlets for which your central office is permitted to use the same pricing chart in accordance with section 1 (c), and if your chart was not prepared on the basis of net cost of articles to your central office, "your supplier's maximum price" for articles shipped to you by your central office is the amount shown on your central office's invoice to you correctly prepared under General Order No. 1 issued under section 23 of this regulation.

[12] Group as defined in this regulation includes any category which appears in this series of category numbers excluding categories 204, 214 and 353.

[13] Computations under this section are based on markups over cost. If you are on the "retail system," that is, if your chart markups are expressed as percentages of selling prices, you must convert your category markups to markups over cost. You do this by subtracting your average percentage markup over sales for the category from 100%. You divide the result thus obtained into your percentage of markup on selling price. After the percentage of markup on selling price for all your categories have been converted to markups on cost you proceed as set forth above.

to price under this section until you have filed with your OPA District Office two copies of one of whichever of the following reports is applicable, signed by you or your duly authorized agent, and have received from OPA a written acknowledgment thereof.

(a) If you have filed a base date pricing chart, a statement to that effect, and a list of the categories you intend to price under subdivision (i);

(b) If you have not filed a base date pricing chart, a statement to that effect and a statement containing the following information:

(1) Your name and address or your proposed name and address and the names and addresses of all owners, stockholders or officers of the business establishment. (Owners holding less than 10% of the total number of shares of corporate applicants need not be listed.)

(2) The date or the proposed date of the organization of the business establishment.

(3) Your previous business connections (if the business is individually owned) or the previous connections of the owners, stockholders or officers of the business establishment with any business handling MPR 580 merchandise or related merchandise.

(4) The names and addresses of other selling establishments under this regulation which you own or operate, if you are an individual owner, or which any of the owners, stockholders or officers of the business establishment own or operate.

(6) The type of store you operate or intend to operate (specialty shop, drygoods, or men's furnishings, etc.).

(7) The class of merchandise and cost line which you handle or propose to handle (low, medium or high priced; regular or novelty; popular or exclusive).

(8) The amount of annual business you have done, for the 12 month period preceding date of application.

(9) Special services which you offer or intend to offer; installment selling, charge accounts, other credit terms, or free delivery service, etc.

(10) A list of names and addresses of three sellers whose method of doing business is most nearly like yours or like the type of business you intend to conduct.

(11) If you are a leased department, the name and address of the prior lessee.

(2) Retailers who have priced articles under section 10 prior to March 6, 1946. If you have priced any article under section 10 prior to March 6, 1946, you determine your ceiling prices for articles required to be priced under this section as follows:

(i) Your ceiling price for an article properly determined, under this section prior to March 6, 1946, shall remain the ceiling price of that article until April 1, 1946.

(ii) You fix the ceiling price of an article for which you have not determined a ceiling price prior to March 6, 1946, under the provisions of the regulation which on the base date covered sales at retail of the article you are pricing. Any price thus determined shall remain the ceiling price of that article until April 1, 1946.

(iii) On and after April 1, 1946, you figure your ceiling price for all articles which you have prior to that date priced under section 10 and all articles which you price under this section after April 1, 1946, as follows: Turn to the table in Appendix F. On the left hand side is listed a column of category numbers with a percentage markup opposite each. Find the percentage markup for the category to which the article you are pricing belongs. Multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup. Add the result, so obtained, to the net cost of the article. The result is your ceiling price for the article you are pricing.

(iv) Reports. After April 1, 1946, you may not sell or deliver any article which you are required to price under this section until you have filed with your OPA District Office, two copies of one of whichever of the following reports is applicable, signed by you or a duly authorized agent and have received from OPA a written acknowledgment thereof:

(a) If you have filed a base date pricing chart, a statement to that effect, and a list of the categories you intend to price under this subparagraph (2);

(b) If you have not filed a base date pricing chart, a statement to that effect and a further statement containing the following information:

(1) Your name and address.

(2) A list of all the articles priced by you under this section which you sold or offered for sale on March 6, 1946 setting forth your last invoice net cost for such article, your ceiling price therefor (which should not be higher than the ceiling price legally established under section 10), the regulation or order and section under which you determined your prices.

(3) The names and addresses of your three most competitive sellers of the same class.

(v) Exception. Where prior to April 1, 1946 you have made application pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, because you priced pursuant to section 10 between March 19, 1945 and February 14, 1946 and had proper markups higher than those in Appendix F, you determine the ceiling prices for articles required to be priced under this section in accordance with subdivisions (i) through (iv), except that the date April 15, 1946 may be substituted for the date April 1, 1946 wherever it appears in subdivisions (i), (ii) and (iii).

[Subparagraph (v) added by Am. 12, 11 F.R. 3483, effective 4-1-46]

(b) Application for markups in excess of Appendix F. (1) You may apply to the OPA District Office having jurisdiction over the area in which your business is located for authorization to use markups in excess of those set forth in Appendix F, and the OPA may, by order, authorize such higher markups if it appears that:

(i) You already own one or more established stores selling MPR 580 merchandise with markups higher than those set forth in Appendix F; or

(ii) You already own one or more establishments selling goods not covered by MPR 580 at markups, which for such goods represent markups higher than average; or

(iii) You, (if you are an individually owned establishment), or any of the principal stockholders or managing officers had previous experience in selling MPR 580 merchandise or related commodities as an owner, officer, principal, or employee in an executive or managerial capacity in a business handling MPR 580 merchandise at markups higher than than those listed in Appendix F and have not operated at or below the markups set forth in Appendix F since the base period; or

(iv) You priced pursuant to section 10 between March 19, 1945 and February 14, 1946, and your properly determined prices resulted in markups in excess of those in Appendix F.

[Subparagraph (iv) added by Am. 12, 11 F.R. 3483, effective 4-1-46]

(2) Filing and contents of application. Applications must be made by filing with your OPA District Office two copies of a separate letter signed by you or a duly authorized agent. Such letter must set forth any additional information, which, together with the information given in your report filed under paragraph (b), establishes that you meet at least one of the conditions set forth in paragraph (b) (1).

(c) The authorization granted in paragraph (a) or any authorization issued pursuant to paragraph (b) or (d) may be revised or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

(d) Applications by sellers who repair or recondition. If you do not have a base date pricing chart and you are in or propose to enter the business of regularly buying used or imperfect articles for the purpose of repairing and reconditioning them and selling them as reconditioned or repaired, you may apply to your OPA District Office for a pricing method which will reflect your costs of repairing or reconditioning the articles which you sell. In such a case, the OPA may, by order permit you to add to the ceiling price established under this section the actual net cost of reconditioning or repairing the articles which you sell. In no case shall the cost of reconditioning or repair include a cost greater than that required to restore the article to a factory standard article of the same type.

[Paragraph (c) amended and (d) added by Am. 13, effective 5-22-46]

[Sec. 10 amended by Am. 2 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45; Am. 5, 10 F.R. 9962, effective 8-15-45; Am. 6, 10 F.R. 12602, effective 10-4-45, and Am. 9, 11 F.R. 1739, effective 3-6-46]

SEC. 11. How you may fix uniform maximum prices for more than one store. If you operate or intend to operate more than one store (as defined in section 1 (e) (1)), and if you wish to apply to the OPA for permission to fix uniform maximum prices for all or for certain articles covered by this regulation in all or some of these stores, you may apply under Revised Supplementary Order 13.

SEC. 12. Transfers of business.—(a) How a transferee fixes his maximum prices. This section applies to you if (1) after the base date, you purchase or otherwise acquire a substantial part of the business, assets, or stock in trade of any business which sells or sold (between December 31, 1944 and the base date) any articles covered by this regulation at retail, and (2) you carry on the business or continue to sell at retail articles in any category covered by this regulation and sold by your transferor before the transfer, and (3) you carry on the business or continue to sell in a store separate from any other store previously owned or operated by you for the sale of such articles at retail. If this section applies to you, your maximum prices are the same as those which your transferor would have had if the transfer had not taken place (except as provided in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section). Your obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same as if the transfer had not taken place. The transferor must either preserve and make available to you or turn over to you all records of transactions before the transfer which you need to comply with this regulation.

(b) Filing charts. If your transferor has not already filed a chart, you must file a chart based on his experience on the base date, using the base date which he would have used if no transfer had occurred. If your transferor has filed a chart, you may file a chart based on his experience, or, if you prefer, you may file with the OPA District Office where your transferor filed his chart, a statement showing your business name and address and the date of the transfer and stating that you intend to figure your ceiling prices on the basis of your transferor's chart. If the transferor's records are not available to you, you must fix your maximum prices under section 10.

(c) Transfers to acquire a higher price. No person shall buy, sell, transfer, lease, or exchange the business, assets or stock in trade of any business for the purpose of securing higher or different maximum prices or for the purpose of securing any other benefit which may be prohibited to him by this regulation.

(d) Mergers and combinations. If, after the base date, two or more sellers merge, consolidate, or combine and continue to operate as one seller, the seller who continues to operate shall fix his maximum prices under this regulation as if he were the seller who had the largest dollar volume of sales of articles covered by this regulation during the 12 months immediately preceding the merger or combination.

SEC. 13. Uniform dollar-and-cents prices for certain articles.—(a) How prices are established. The OPA may by order, upon application, establish dollar-and-cent retail ceiling prices for branded articles whenever it appears that:

(1) The article (or an article of the same type) was sold at retail at substantially uniform prices for a period immediately prior to March 19, 1945. OPA may establish uniform retail ceiling prices for any article if the applicant has received or is eligible to receive an order under this section for any of his articles.

If the applicant had a policy of uniform retail prices for his branded merchandise and can show that the article was sold at substantially uniform prices except for a limited area, OPA may establish uniform retail ceiling prices for the article and require retailers in the area in which prices were not maintained to sell in accordance with the pricing provisions of this regulation. Uniform retail prices may be established for separate zones (not to exceed five zones) where the applicant can show that such differential was maintained as part of his uniform pricing policy immediately prior to March 19, 1945.

Wherever an applicant ceased production of the article because of wartime restrictions or war contracts, the substantial uniformity of applicant's retail prices shall be determined by his last selling period.

(2) The price requested for the article is no higher than the existing level of ceiling prices under this regulation.

Orders issued under this section will remain effective unless revoked or suspended by the Administrator. Orders will be revoked or suspended only if the Administrator is satisfied that such revocation or suspension is not inconsistent with the effective control of prices.

(b) What the order may contain. (1) An order may be issued under this section establishing uniform ceiling prices for all retail sales of an article covered by this regulation although the retail seller may not otherwise be subject to this regulation. A ceiling price thus established shall apply in place of the ceiling price that would otherwise have been determined under sections 7, 10, 11 and 12 of this regulation or under the provisions of any other regulation. Except as provided by the order, all of the provisions of this or whatever regulations would otherwise have applied shall remain applicable in all other respects.

(2) An order issued under this section will include a provision requiring the applicant to tag or ticket the article with the retail ceiling price and other specified information.

(3) An order issued under this section will require the applicant to send copies of the order and any subsequent amendments thereto to those purchasers for resale of the articles covered by the order.

(4) An order issued under this section will ordinarily be in the form of applicant's selling price and retail ceiling price relationships. Such an order will ordinarily require the applicant to submit, from time to time as specified in the order, a description of the articles which he is pricing pursuant to the terms of the order and any other information that may be required by the terms of the order.

(c) Who may apply. (1) A manufacturer, or a wholesaler of a branded article may apply under this section if he can submit the information required by paragraph (d).

(2) A group of manufacturers selling the same article under the same brand name may apply as a group under this section if they can submit the information required by paragraph (d).

(d) What the application must contain. Two copies of each application must be filed with the Consumer Goods Price Division, Washington 25, D. C. The application must contain the following:

(1) Business name and address of the applicant.

(2) A complete identification of the article for which the price is sought including:

(i) The brand name identifying the article, and its style or lot number.

(ii) Applicant's ceiling price.

(iii) An identification of the regulation and the section in that regulation or the identification of the order issued by the OPA under which his ceiling price was established.

(iv) His invoice price and terms to various classes of retailers.

(v) His suggested retail price, if any, immediately prior to March 19, 1945. [If he had a suggested retail price prior to March 19, 1945, he should submit evidence to show his method of requiring retail price maintenance, such as national advertising, catalogues sent to retailers, advertising mats furnished retailers, copies of letters enforcing retail price maintenance, etc. If he had no suggested retail price prior to March 19, 1945, or did not attempt to enforce his suggested retail price, but can show that the article was sold at substantially uniform prices, he should submit a list of the names and addresses, giving their retail selling price of the article immediately prior to March 19, 1945, of all of his retail customers in fifteen cities representing a cross section of his customers.]

(3) The uniform retail ceiling prices requested for the article.

(4) In the case of wholesalers applying under this section, the name and address of the manufacturer of the article and the manufacturer's style or lot numbers.

(5) In the case of a group of manufacturers applying for a single order covering the articles manufactured in common by the group, the application must contain, in addition to the requirements of subparagraph (2) above, evidence to show that each manufacturer of the group, who sold the article, maintained the same retail prices on the same article with the same brand.

[Sec. 13 amended by Am. 4, 10 F.R. 4611, effective 4-25-45; Am. 5, 10 F.R. 9962, effective 8-15-45 and Am. 11, 11 F.R. 3481, effective 4-7-46]

ARTICLE V—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 14. How to treat taxes. The ceiling prices determined under the pricing rules in section 7 are your ceiling prices exclusive of tax. If the tax law permits the tax to be separately stated, you may charge or collect the tax on the sale or delivery of the article in addition to the ceiling price fixed under the pricing rules: Provided, That you state the tax separately. This applies, however, only to a tax on a particular sale or delivery such as a sales tax or a compensating use tax. You may separately state the tax by any method you choose, except that the Retail Federal Excise Tax on fur-trimmed articles and certain items of leather goods and other articles imposed by the Revenue Act of 1943 must be stated as provided in Supplementary Order 85.[14]

SEC. 15. Marking, tagging, and posting. On and after August 1, 1945, you must mark either the maximum price or the selling price of each article covered by this regulation by either of the methods described in paragraphs (b) and (c), in a manner plainly visible to, and understandable by, the purchasing public. In addition, each article which you receive on or after May 10, 1945, must be marked or tagged as required by this paragraph.

(b) Marking. You may mark the maximum price or the selling price on the shelf, bin, rack, or other holder or container upon or in which the article is kept provided all the articles kept on or in the shelf, bin, rack, holder or container have the same maximum price or selling price.

(c) Tagging. If you do not wish to mark the prices as described in (b), you must mark the maximum price or the selling price on each article itself by writing the price directly on the article or by attaching to the article a tag or ticket stating the maximum price or selling price.

(d) Ways to mark or tag maximum prices. If you wish to mark or tag your maximum prices, you may do so in either of the following ways:

(1) "Ceiling Price $-----," or
(2) "Our Ceiling, $-----."

(e) How to mark or tag selling prices. If you do not wish to mark or tag your maximum prices, you must mark or tag your selling price as follows: "OPA Price, $-----."

(f) Posting. If you wish to mark or tag articles with the selling price as described in (e), you must also post in a prominent and clearly visible position in your store, a sign stating the following:

The "OPA Price" marked or tagged on merchandise in this store is no higher than the OPA ceiling price of the articles.

(g) How to mark or tag articles on and after May 10, 1945. On and after May 10, 1945 you may not offer or sell any article covered by this regulation unless it is marked or tagged with the maximum price or the selling price under this regulation. However, until August 1, 1945, the words "Ceiling Price", "Our Ceiling", or "OPA Price" need not be shown on the marking or tag except in the case of articles which you received on or after May 10, 1945.

(h) Visibility of marking. If you adopt the method in (b) above, the maximum price or selling price of each article offered for sale must be clearly visible to the purchaser at the place in your store where it is offered for sale. The price for an article must not be obscured by or combined with the marking of prices of other articles or commodities. Note that you may not adopt the method described in (b) above if the articles are kept in a container, room, or place not readily visible to the purchaser.

(i) By mail order establishments. (1) Mail order establishments must mark their maximum prices for articles listed in printed price lists which have been printed after the base date, in either of the following ways:

(i) State the maximum price for each article covered by this regulation and listed in the price list, at the place in the publication where the article is listed.

(ii) Print on the front cover of each printed price list (or on the front page of any list that has no cover) the following statement:

NOTICE TO CONSUMERS

No price for any article listed or described herein exceeds the ceiling price for that article, as determined under the applicable maximum price regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration. As required by that Office, we will, upon request, furnish you with a statement of our maximum prices on any of the commodities listed about which you inquire.

If you use this method, you must, upon request, furnish to any customer who requests it a statement of your maximum price for any articles listed or described in your printed price listed and covered by this regulation.

(2) Any mail order establishment may apply to its OPA District Office for permission to mark its maximum prices in some way different from that described in (1). The application must describe the manner in which the seller wishes to mark his maximum prices and must show why the requirements of (1) are inequitable or inappropriate as applied to the applicant's business, and that the requested method of marking is substantially in line with the requirements of (1).

[Sec. 15 amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45]

SEC. 16. Records. The records required by this section must be kept for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. All such records must be kept at your store, except that a chain subject to a uniform pricing order or a chain which files its chart with the Central Pricing Office, Washington, D. C., or a person who sells through salesmen making sales at uniform prices, must keep all the records required by this section at the seller's main office (or at the office indicated in the seller's uniform pricing order).

(a) Current records—(1) Preserving invoices. You must preserve the purchase invoices which you receive on and after April 20, 1945, for all articles covered by this regulation. You must keep these invoices in alphabetical, numerical, or chronological order, or according to some other recognized filing system. Upon request of any authorized agent of the OPA, you must let him examine your purchase invoices for any articles covered by this regulation.

(2) "Retailing" invoices. Before selling or offering for sale any article covered by this regulation which is delivered to you on or after April 20, 1945, you must "retail" the invoice, that is, you must mark your first selling price for each article on the invoice covering your purchase of the article, and the number of the sections or the pricing rules under MPR 580 or the general retail order or other order under which you figured your maximum price for the article. If under section 10, you are required to fix your ceiling prices under the pricing provisions of any other regulations, state the regulation and the section therein under which you fixed your ceiling. (The pricing rule and method may be stated merely as "Rule 1" or "Rule 3" or "Rule 6" or "MPR 177 section 2 (a)" or "GMPR section 3 (a)" or "Appendix F" of section 10 or Order No. of "sec 10.") If the invoice does not state the quantity of each article, style, model or lot number which it covers, you must also enter the quantity on each invoice.

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Am. 6, 10 F.R. 12602, effective 10-4-45 and Am. 9, 11 F.R. 1739, effective 3-6-46]

(3) Recording different selling prices. If you wish to show that you have sold any articles at prices different from the selling prices marked on your purchase invoice under (2) above, you must keep a record of all sales you make of those articles at prices different from such selling prices. The record must show each such different selling price at which you sell the articles and the quantity you sold at each price and must identify the article by style, model, lot or invoice number, or in some other way. The record just described may be kept in a separate list, or if you wish, it may be kept by entering the different selling prices and quantities on your purchase invoice. In this case you need not identify the article.

(4) If you customarily prepared your sales slips in more than one copy, you must preserve for at least 6 months after delivery a duplicate copy of each sales slip delivered by you pursuant to section 17.

(5) If, under section 10, you must fix your maximum prices for any articles under the provisions of the GMPR,[15] MPR 142,[16] MPR 177,[17] MPR 210,[18] or MPR 332,[19] you must keep, for each of these articles, all of the records required by the regulation under which you fix your maximum prices for that article.

(6) If you wish to fix a ceiling price under this regulation for any article in a "general" category (as described in Appendix C), and if that article is not specifically listed in that category in Appendix C and was not offered for sale by you on your base date, you must enter the name of that article in column 1 of the copy of your chart which you have kept for your own use. (You need not file an amendment of your chart to show this entry.)

(b) Base date records. You must preserve for inspection by the OPA, the last invoice which you received before your base date for each style, model, or lot number of the articles offered for sale by you on your base date, and all other records and data such as sales slips, inventory records, work sheets, etc., used by you in preparing your chart, or showing your costs and offering prices on your base date.

(c) Records under previously applicable regulations. You must preserve for inspection by the OPA all your records under the GMPR, MPR 142, MPR 177, MPR 210 and MPR 332.

[Paragraph (c) added by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45]

SEC. 17. Sales slips. Every seller who has customarily given his customers a sales slip, receipt, or similar evidence of purchase must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer, such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each article sold and the price received for it.

SEC. 18. What acts are prohibited by this regulation. On and after April 20, 1945, regardless of any contract or other obligation, the following practices are forbidden:

(a) Charging more than maximum prices. Every person is prohibited from selling or delivering any article at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation. A lower price may, of course, be charged.

(b) Buying for more than maximum price. Every person is prohibited from buying or receiving, in the course of trade or business, any article sold in violation of any of the provisions of this regulation.

(c) Changing customary terms of sale. Every person is prohibited from changing his customary terms, discounts, allowances, or price differentials on sales of articles, if the change results in a higher net price. This includes differentials allowed to cash purchasers by sellers who customarily extend credit.

(d) Combination sales. Every person is prohibited from requiring any purchaser to buy or agree to buy any other article, service, package, or wrapper in connection with the sale or delivery of any article covered by this regulation. Every person is likewise prohibited from making a sale of articles which is conditioned directly or indirectly on the purchase of any other commodity or service. (Matched sets, however, if designed by the manufacturer for sale at a unit price, and so purchased by the seller, may be sold at a unit price unless such sale is prohibited by any order of the War Production Board; and matched groupings of furniture articles (covered by categories 701-722) may also be sold at a unit price as suites or sets, if all the articles in the grouping were produced by the same manufacturer).

(e) Indirect price increases. Every person is prohibited from doing any other act which directly or indirectly increases, above the maximum price, the consideration paid for any article or delivery of any article, or, for the purposes of evading the price limitations set forth in this regulation, to purchase, deliver, contract, deal, or otherwise operate with or through any other person under common control with, controlled by, controlling, or otherwise affiliated with the seller. No person shall do any other act which directly or indirectly increases the consideration paid for any article. Any practice which is a device to secure the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price is as much a violation as an outright sale above the maximum price.

(f) Indirect violations. Every person is prohibited from agreeing, offering, soliciting, or attempting to do any of the acts prohibited by this regulation.

SEC. 19. Licensing and enforcement—(a) Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[20] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of this regulation. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

(b) Penalties. Any person who violates any provisions of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 20. Relation to other maximum price regulations—(a) Regulations superseded. Except as provided in sections 8, 10 and 16 (a) (5), the following regulations shall not apply and this regulation shall apply to sales at retail of articles described in Appendix C of this regulation:

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45]

(1) The General Maximum Price Regulation.

(2) Maximum Price Regulation 142—Retail Prices for Summer Seasonal Commodities.

(3) Maximum Price Regulation 177—Men's and Boys' Tailored Clothing.

(4) Maximum Price Regulation 210—Retail and Wholesale Prices for Fall and Winter Seasonal Commodities.

(5) Maximum Price Regulation 332—Simplified Men's and Boys' Shirts and Pajamas.

(6) Maximum Price Regulation 178[21] (Women's Fur Garments) insofar as that regulation applies to sales by retailers of fur hats and muffs.

[Subparagraph (6) added by Am. 2]

(b) Imported commodities. This regulation applies to imported as well as domestic commodities except those you import. If you are the "importer" of the commodities, as that term is defined in the Maximum Import Price Regulation," you must establish your maximum prices for them under that regulation.

(c) Sales of yard goods to manufacturers. This regulation does not apply to sales of yard goods to persons who fabricate commodities from such yard goods, or who furnish such yard goods to the fabricators for production into commodities, whether or not such finished commodities are covered by this regulation. Such sales of yard goods are covered by the applicable regulation, such as MPR 39 (Woven Decorated Fabrics), MPR 118 (Cotton Products); MPR 127[23] (Finished Piece Goods); MPR 163 (Woolen and Worsted Civilian Apparel Fabrics); MPR 508 (Rayon Knit Fabrics and the Knitting Thereof), or the GMPR.

[Paragraph (c) added by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45]

SEC. 21. Where this regulation applies. This regulation applies in the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 22. Petitions to amend this regulation. Any person may file a petition for an amendment of general applicability to any provision of this regulation in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[24]

SEC. 23. Orders modifying this regulation. The provisions of this regulation, as applied to certain commodities or persons subject to this regulation, may be modified by general orders under this section, or by orders under the Maximum Import Price Regulation or any regulation covering the establishment of manufacturers' ceiling prices for articles covered by this regulation.

SEC. 24. Other definitions. (a) Unless a specific provision or the context otherwise requires, the definitions in § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to the terms used in this regulation.

(b) An article is "bought and sold in substantially the same form" if the article which you sell belongs to the same category as the article you bought, and if, before offering it for sale, you have not added to the article you sell, materials which cost you more than 10% of the net cost (as defined in section 7) of the original article. If you have added to the article, materials which cost you more than 10% of the net cost of the original article, or if the change you make causes you to be a manufacturer under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188,[25] it is not bought and sold in substantially the same form and therefore is not covered by this regulation.

SEC. 25. Delegation of authority. Any Regional office of the OPA, or such other offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate Regional office, may act on all: (a) base date pricing charts and amendments thereto filed or required by sections 2 and 6, respectively; (b) authorizations, revisions and modifications of authorizations under section 10 and all reports and applications filed pursuant to that section; and (c) applications by mail order establishments under section 15 (i) (2).

[Sec. 25 added by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 4236, effective 4-18-45; amended by Am. 5, 10 F.R. 9962, effective 8-15-45 and Am. 10, 11 F.R. 2987, effective 3-19-46]
